AMES — Roger S. Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Hanson of Goodell and a 1950 graduate of Belmond High school, has been elected to membership in Phi Kappa Phi, national scholastic society. To qualify for membership in the society, undergraduate or graduate students must have a high grade average and be approved by a selection committee.

This is the highest scholarship award given at Iowa State college. Primary objective of Phi Kappa Phi is to emphasize scholarship and stimulate mental achievement.

Iowa State's chapter of Phi Kappa Phi was established in 1911 and was the sixth in the nation. There are now 60 such chapters all over the nation, with a total membership of 72,000.

Collision Prompts Judgment Petition

Carl Barkema of Latimer this week entered in district court at Clarion a suit for $487.49 as outgrowth of an accident that took place two miles east of Belmond last July 21. Defendants in the case are the Supreme Baking company and a truck driver for the firm, Walter L. Smelser.

According to the plaintiff's petition, he was driving east on the gravel road extending east from Belmond when his '53 Buick was hit at an intersection by the bakery truck that Smelser was driving. The truck was going south.

Barkema charges that Smelser's negligence was the cause of the accident. Cost of repairs to the Buick ran $473.49 and the plaintiff says he also had to pay a $14 tow charge.

FIGURINE DEMONSTRATION

Helen Pfleider of Minneapolis, an expert in the art of figurine painting, will give a demonstration Friday at 1:30 p. m. in the basement of the Odd Fellows hall. Her appearance is sponsored by Jim's Paint and Wallpaper store.

King and Queen's Coronation Tops Fun Nite Program

Crowning of King and Queen will again be the highlight of the annual Wright county 4-H Fun Nite when the 1954 edition is held tomorrow (Friday) night at the Clarion grade school auditorium. Twelve original skits, prepared jointly by the boys' and girls' clubs of the various townships, will provide the evening's entertainment.

Each of the 4-H clubs has named two voting delegates to cast ballots for first and second choices among the candidates for King and Queen. The boys elect the Queen and the girls pick the King.

After several numbers by the girls' 4-H chorus, the skits will be announced and the King and Queen candidates introduced by Glenda Wilson and Delos Poolman, presidents of the girls and boys county organizations. Coronation of the new 4-H Fun Nite Rulers will be in the charge of Grant township's Jerry and Judy Woodin, 1953 King and Queen.

Skits prepared by clubs from the Belmond vicinity will be: "Do Si Do," Belmond Busy Bees and Pleasant Pioneers; "Here Comes Peter Cottontail," Norway Jolly Joy Makers and Ramblers; "Kitchen Madness," Iowa U-Go-I-Go and Hawkeyes; "Swapping Partners," Grant Go-Getters and Growers.

King and Queen candidates from neighboring townships will be: Tom McNulty, Pleasant Pioneers; John Mathre, Norway Ramblers; Cecil Hill, Iowa Hawkeyes; Francis Larick, Grant Growers; Mary Alice Studebaker, Belmond Busy Bees; Connie Jergensen, Norway Jolly Joy Makers; Dawn Whitten, Iowa U-Go-I-Go; Margie Murphy, Grant Go-Getters.

Easter Seal Sale Brings Local Aid

Mrs. A. C. Hanson, Belmond representative on the county committee of the Iowa Crippled Children's Society, says that the annual drive for funds is currently being conducted in the form of Easter Seal sales. Coin containers have also been placed at the schools and in local restaurants to augment the proceeds from the seal purchases.

Belmond's response to the appeal of the ICCS has regularly been generous, according to Mrs. Hanson. Last year this community contributed $228.90, in 1952 the amount was $262.87 and in 1951 it came to $197. Fifty per cent of the proceeds goes to the national and state societies; the other half is retained for use in the county.

Funds are spent locally to purchase glasses for needy youngsters, fit crippled tots with special shoes and to satisfy similar needs. Mrs. Hanson reports that $80 in county funds has been spent locally in the past six months. She considers the cause as highly worthy and hopes that Belmond residents will support it with their customary generosity.

County's Teachers Will Hear McNeal

Two teachers meetings are scheduled for this week, which members of the Belmond school faculty are expected to attend. This evening the Wright County Council of the Iowa State Teachers association is holding a meeting at the Belmond High school auditorium for all teachers of the county, rural and town. State Representative Clark McNeal will speak on recent and anticipated school legislation.

Tomorrow, an all-day meeting of the North Central district of the teachers' association will be held at Fort Dodge. This assemblage will not doubt meet with the particular approval of the school children, since it will mean a day's vacation from classes.

7—Count 'em—7 Cash Prizes

Five numbers "came out of the hat" in the process of seeking a Cash Gift Day winner this week — but not one of them brought forth a claimant. At 2:00 p.m. Tuesday, any of the following numbers would have been good for $25: No. 138, No. 307, No. 389 and No. 2,235. At 3:00 o'clock, the draw for $225 brought out No. 1,679. But, again, there was no taker. Next Tuesday day there will be SEVEN (7 — count 'em—7) prize-winning numbers. There will be six different numbers at 2:00 p.m. worth $25 each; and THE number, at 3:00 o'clock, will haul down $250. Just bear in mind, YOUR number's good for naught — unless you're on hand to present it, if drawn.

Red Cross Drive Behind Schedule

Returns from the current Red Cross fund campaign have been coming in at a rather distressingly slow rate, according to Mrs. Robert Garms, drive chairman. The campaign got underway three weeks ago today; but solicitors' receipts deposited at the bank by Tuesday afternoon showed a total of only $666.25 turned in, compared to a goal of $1,405.

This year's chapter goal is some $400 less than the amount assigned a year ago, so it was reasonably expected by those in charge of the campaign that the mark should be reached with relative ease. At the end of four weeks' time a year ago, returns were very nearly up to the goal figure.

Mrs. Garms reminds all who have not yet been contacted that it is vitally important for Belmond to at least attain its goal. Not only does the community owe its fair share toward the important national and international welfare projects of the organization, but the local chapter needs its portion of the campaign proceeds to carry on the summer swimming program and to meet other local obligations.

All workers are urged by Mrs. Garms to complete their canvasses as soon as possible and make their reports so an accurate check can be made on exactly how the campaign stands.

Opening Scheduled For Auto-Electric Concern Saturday

George Swaroff, lately of Mason City, has purchased the equipment of the former Leeth Auto-Electric Service and announces in today's paper that he is re-opening the business on Saturday of this week as George's Auto-Electric Service.

Mr. Swaroff has had nine years' experience in auto-electric and motor tune-up work as an employee of Floyd and Leonard Auto-Electric Service at Mason City. In his advertisement in this issue he lists the various types of work he is prepared to handle.

He is married and has three children—Ruth Ann, nine, Tom, five, and David, who will be a year old next month. For the time being his family will continue to live in Mason City. Mr. Swaroff plans to obtain living quarters here and spend the weekends with his family until he can bring his wife and children here.

Mr. Swaroff got a good grounding in electrical work during World War II, when he served three years with the USAAF. He was electrician in the crew of a B-17 and served a year and a half with a bomber group stationed in Italy. He was discharged with a rating of Staff Sergeant.

HUGH ATTENDS MEETING

Principal Clair Hugh attended a meeting of Iowa schoolmen held Friday and Saturday of last week at Iowa City. Keynote of the conference was set by N. D. McComb, Des Moines superintendent of schools, who delivered an address on the topic, "Needed Reforms in Interscholastic Athletics in Secondary Schools."

State Superintendent Finally Hands Down Ruling; Wright Board of Education Likely Will Fight It

Declared wishes of Wright county residents as to school district affiliation were very largely disregarded in a decision handed down Wednesday of last week by Jessie M Parker, state superintendent of public instruction. Said decision was rendered in response to an appeal heard in Des Moines on Jan. 5, during which the Hancock county board of education protested certain actions taken in determining boundaries for the proposed Kanawha Community School district.

Roy Henderson, counsel for the Belmond reorganization committee during its activities of the past year, reports that the 10-page document received from the state superintendent in no degree affects territory in the newly organized Belmond Community School district.

Norway Area Involved

However, the ruling does affect some 860 acres of Norway township land which the Wright board considers should logically be attached to the reorganized Belmond district. This area is conceded to the proposed Kanawha district by Miss Parker's ruling, although only one resident family has indicated a desire to be affiliated with the Kanawha district. All other eligible voters in the area have designated a preference for attachment to the Belmond district.

This particular area was excluded from both the Belmond and Kanawha reorganization plans, being left temporarily as an independent "island." In view of the expressed sentiments of the residents therein, Mr. Henderson says, the Wright county board has indicated it will defend the majority's right to a free choice.

30 Days to Appeal

Thirty days is allowed by law for the Wright board members to choose a course of action. They can either appeal the decision to the district court; or they can initiate action in that court in the form of a writ of certiorari. By the latter action, the Wright board would challenge the legality of the state ruling and seek to have it set aside by the court.

A protest by the Hancock board over inclusion of approximately a section and a half of Twin Lake township land (Hancock county) in the new Belmond district was overruled by Miss Parker. She noted that the plans of both county boards recognized inclusion of this land in the Belmond district and it was legally voted upon last December. No other area in Hancock county figured in the appeal.

Clarion, Renwick Affected

Besides the "island" territory near the east edge of Norway township, the Hancock appeal protested exclusion of approximately 10 additional sections of Norway land from the proposed Kanawha district. With a few exceptions, families residing on these disputed properties are at present served by the Clarion and Renwick schools and have expressed a desire to have these properties included in a Clarion or Renwick reorganized district at some later date. Belmond's new district is not involved in this phase of the controversy.

Jr. Hi Operetta Takes to Boards Tomorrow Night

This year's junior high school operetta might appropriately have been presented nine days earlier — on March 17, St. Patrick's Day, instead of this Friday, March 26—considering that the locale of the production is "the auld sod," itself. And truly, the spirit of old Ireland holds sway throughout "Kathleen, the Maid of Killarney," which Eldoris Bunnell's young cast will present at 8:00 p. m. tomorrow at the high school auditorium.

Taking leading roles are Donna Nolan, as "the Maid of Killareny;" Connie Gabrielson, as her nurse; Larry Anderson, who's enamoured of Kathleen; Karen Chapman, Kathleen's rival; and Wayne Pals, who as Timothy O'Toole is responsible for some highjinks that Nurse Bridget fears to be the work of "the little people."

Bridget's efforts to outwit the leprechauns and Kathleen's hopes of winning a royal prize for designing a royal kerchief of lace provide the operetta's plot.

Man 77 Accused Of Dog Poisoning

William T. Pohlman, 77, custodian of the Clarion city dump grounds, was in the county jail this week charged with obtaining poison under an assumed name and poisoning domestic animals. He pleaded not guilty last Thursday when brought before Mayor Henry Jenkins and continues in custody for having failed to post $700 in bonds.

The elderly man was arrested after four Clarion dogs had died in two days from strychnine poisoning, and another had been saved only by emergency treatment by a veterinarian. The arm of the law reached out for Pohlman when it was discovered that the day before the first poisoning, he had bought a quantity of strychnine from a county seat drug store under a false name.

Pohlman denies responsibility for the dogs' deaths. He told Mayor Jenkins he bought the poison to dispose of some mice that infested a shack at the dump grounds.

Five Top Ratings To Belmond FFA

Five gold medal ratings were earned by Belmond entries in the Future Farmer sub-district contest held Wednesday of last week at Humboldt, qualifying each of them to compete in the district contest this Saturday at Story City.

Top ratings went to the parliamentary procedure team, to Bob McLaughlin in public speaking, Airell Clark on his secretary's book, Jack Spitler on his treasurer's book and Tim Trees on his reporter's scrapbook.

On the parliamentary procedure team were Larry Wolters, Tim Trees, Vernon McLaughlin, Gary Gabrielson and Tommy Stadtlander. Both Kenneth Halfpap and Richard Christiansen are continuing to work with the team as alternates, ready to fill the vacancy if sickness or any other cause should prevent a regular member from competing.

Brain Injury Ends Mrs. Gabrielson's Life at Age of 37

Death came to Mrs. Norman Gabrielson, age 37, last Friday at Rochester, Minn., where she had been rushed for major surgery after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage six days earlier. She had first been taken to Belmond Community hospital. She was stricken as she performed usual chores of the day about her farm home on Saturday morning, March, 13.

Examination locally indicated that she had suffered a ruptured aneurysm, the latter being a dilation of an artery in the brain which produces a weakness in the wall of the blood vessel.

Taken to Mayo Clinic

On recommendation of her physician, Mrs. Gabrielson was taken to Mayo Clinic where she could be operated upon by a specialist in brain surgery. However, even the expert services of the clinic proved inadequate to save her life and she died Friday evening, some time after the operation had been completed.

She leaves her husband and four children—Connie, Nancy, Norma Jean and Ted, the eldest being in seventh grade.

Born in Canada

Marion Georgina Artiss was born Oct. 10, 1916, in Winnipeg, Canada, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aubry Artiss. When she was seven years old, the family moved to Glendale, Calif. While living in California, she wed Norman Gabrielson on Nov. 15, 1939. They moved to Belmond, her husband's original home, in 1947.

Besides her husband and children, Mrs. Gabrielson is survived by her mother, a brother and a sister. Her father preceded her in death.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. O. M. Severseike at St. Olaf Lutheran church on Tuesday at 2:00 p. m. Special music was provided by a quartet composed of Mrs. Gerhard Thompson, Mrs. Thomas Mathre, Wilmer Hauge and Bernt Berg of Garner, with Mrs. H. C. Simerson at the organ. Fulton Funeral Home was in charge of the services and burial was in the Belmond cemetery.

DORCAS BAKE SALE

A bake sale will be conducted at Tip Top grocery Saturday by the Dorcas society of the Immanuel Reformed church. Selling will start at 10:00 a.m.

FFA to Sponsor Two-Hour Show

Added entertainment to make up a two-hour show will accompany the Town and Country Quiz which Clay Rusk, popular WHO quizmaster, will conduct at the high school auditorium next Wednesday night under sponsorship of the Future Farmers of America. The show will start at 8:00 p. m.

As announced earlier, the panels for the quiz will include: Town—Mrs. R. H. Gowdy, Mrs. Lois Hammond, Walt Hotvet and Lem Long; Country—Mrs. James Barry, Mrs. S. P. Leinbach, Dwight Tyrrell and Vernon McLaughlin. Brief comments on Belmond's history and industrial development will be given by Clark McNeal and Pat Gallagher.

This portion of the performance will be broadcast by tape recording over WHO, Des Moines, at a later date that has not yet been announced.

Another highlight of the evening will be a game of "Twenty Questions," with Mr. Rusk as the master of ceremonies. On the panel for this event will be Mrs. Don Nolan, Mrs. Phyllis Pals, Gus Taylor and Earl Sheller.

Several home talents acts will fill out the evening's entertainment. They will include the BHS girls' trio—Elinor Ellis, Sandra Simerson and Karen Hanson; Ralph Jenison and his violin and harmonica; Carolyn Classick, marimba soloist; Raymond and Norman Pals, guitar and accordion.

Will Conduct Quiz Next Week

Parent-Teachers To Meet Monday

Next-to-last meeting of the current school year will be held by the Belmond Parent-Teachers association next Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the high school auditorium. Efforts are being made to obtain a speaker from the state department of public instruction.

Rev. Leo Widdel, chairman of the program committee, says a discussion is planned on the educational benefits to be expected from the recently achieved reorganization. Jessie M. Parker, state superintendent, has promised to send a representative from her department if it is at all possible.

Cleon Brady, PTA president, believes the evening's topic will be of very general interest and urges a good turn-out of parents from throughout the reorganized district.

Ground Breaking For Station Soon

Fire Chief A. W. Johnson says that ground will be broken for the new fire station some time next week, weather permitting. Funds for completely financing the project have not yet been obtained, he stated Wednesday, but the goal of $9,000 now appears well within reach.

"We are confident that more donations will still be coming in," Treasurer George Hansen, head of the finance committee, says. "The important thing now is for these contributions to be received as soon as possible, so we'll know just what we have to work with."

He offers the reminder that donors can give their money to any member of the fire department, or leave it at The Independent.

PUBLIC SALE SATURDAY

Saturday at 1:00 p. m., a public sale will be conducted by the Harry W. Green Estate at the residence located eight blocks north of Main street on Sixth avenue NE. A number of farm machinery items and a quantity of household goods will be offered. Lloyd Stevens will be auctioneer.

League of Voters to Hear Head of Vinton's State School for Blind

• • •

Will Address Women Voters

D. W. Overbeay, superintendent of the Iowa Braille and Sight-Saving school at Vinton, will be speaker at the annual meeting of the Belmond chapter of the League of Women Voters, to be held next Wednesday at St. John Lutheran church. This will be a luncheon meeting. Business will include an election to fill two offices and two directorships.

Mr. Overbeay will tell of the program that is carried on at the Vinton school, which since 1943 has included sight-saving therapy for pupils with partial vision as well as special training for the sightless. Students at the school can obtain academic training that extends through the four high school grades.

To demonstrate what the Vinton school is achieving, Mr. Overbeay is bringing with him two students who enjoy new hope for the future because of training received there. The superintendent will also show some movies that depict life and activities at the school.

Retiring officers of the League are Mildred Schultz, second vice president, and Matilda Skovlin, treasurer. Mrs. Roy Henderson and Mrs. G. J. Hruska are completing terms as directors, also. Nominees for the respective positions are Mrs. Robert Dawson of Clarion, Mrs. Robert Garms of Belmond, Mrs. Alre Watts of Clarion and Mrs. Jay Knuths of Galt.

Other business to come before the meeting will include adoption of the 1954-55 budget and selection of a local activity project for the year's agenda. Voting delegates to represent the Belmond chapter at the state convention of the League, May 6-7 at Ames, will also be elected at next week's meeting.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Orrin Jacobson, current president, the local League of Women Voters has enjoyed a successful year. Achievements included the establishment of a rural unit, the only one of its kind in the United States. There are 16 members in the rural unit and 31 in the town unit, giving Belmond a very large membership in comparison with chapters of much bigger communities in the state.

MRS. SCHULTZ ATTENDS PARLEY AT DES MOINES

Mrs. Mildred Schultz on Thursday of last week attended a dinner at Hotel Fort Des Moines in Des Moines given by the State Board of Education. She attended the function as a representative of the Iowa League of Women Voters in her capacity as a member of the state education committee.

Following the dinner, officials and representatives from a number of state organizations heard a discussion of the problems and policies of the State Board of Education.

Institutions under jurisdiction of the board are the University of Iowa, Iowa State college, the state Sight-Saving School at Vinton, School for the the Deaf at Council Bluffs and the tuberculosis sanitorium at Oakdale.

OBITUARY

HAROLD NEILSON

Harold Neilson was born December 13, 1902, in Norway. He was the second youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Neilson. In 1918, at 16 years of age, he immigrated to the United States. While he was still in Norway his father passed away.

He continued to live with his mother, attending the church of his parents, the Lutheran church. Mr. Neilson was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran church. He never changed from this church, although he attended different churches at different times while in this country.

In the year 1931, Harold Neilson and Rena Groen were wed and the following year they moved to Idaho, where they resided to the present date. Mr. Neilson had not been feeling well during late months. Nevertheless, his death came with shocking unexpectedness on Thursday, March 11, 1954, after he suffered a fatal heart attack near his home in Idaho. He passed away at the age of 51 years, two months and 26 days.

He leaves his wife, Rena; one sister, Mrs. Martina Hallingsted of Minneapolis; three brothers, Stenard and Anskar of Norway, and Erling of Dakota City, Iowa; and a host of friends and relatives. There were no children of this marriage.

His father and mother and six sisters and brothers preceded him in death.

Memorial services were held on Saturday, March 13, at Caldwell, Idaho. The final services for Mr. Neilson were held at the Boone Funeral Home Chapel in Belmond. Rev. Ralph Meyer was in charge of this service.

MRS. IDA KING

Mrs. Ida King was born Nov. 27, 1871, at York, Pa., daughter of Abel and Mary Fetrow. She died at the age 82 yeaars, three months and a day at Methodist hospital, Peoria, Ill., on Feb. 28, 1954.

She was wed in 1893 to Henry Desing and two children were born to them: Mable (Mrs. Leo) Veeder of Belmond and Fred Desing of Peoria, Ill. The deceased lived in Wellman from 1893 until 1940. She spent her remaining years with her children. She was a member of the Baptist church from 1893 until her death and belonged to the Rebekah lodge for 44 years.

Mrs. King wed George King in 1918, her first husband having died in 1909. She was also preceded in death by her parents, brothers and sisters. Mr. King passed away in 1936.

Besides her two children, she is survived by six grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held March 2 at the Wellman Baptist church and interment was in the Wellman cemetery.

"Be yourself"

SO ADVISED THE FAMILY DOCTOR in trying to protect a bereaved woman against the misguided efforts of friends to impart false cheer to her.

"It is a mistake," he told her, "to act any different from the way you feel, pretending to be gay when you feel sad. If you should really feel like laughing—laugh; if you need a good cry—cry. Keep busy at something useful. Then you will discover, as others have, that time heals all wounds."

ARRANGEMENTS MADE for this coming Sunday will have the Waldorf College choir of Forest City appearing in an evening concert at St. Olaf Lutheran church, starting at 8:00 o'clock. This 62-voice a capella group is in its 35th season — and its 26th under the direction of Odvin Hagen. It has traveled widely over the United States and is hailed as one of the nation's finest choral organizations. The local concert is open to the public. An offering will be taken to help finance the choir's '54 spring tour, which will take it to the west coast.

MRS. MINNIE HAUPT

Wilhemena Ludwig was born April 12, 1869, at Sandwich, Ill., daughter of Gustav and Sophia Ludwig. She spent her early years at that community and here attended the Baptist church. In May of 1892 she was wed to Ernest Haupt. They moved to a farm southeast of Belmond and later, in 1921, moved to Belmond. Two children were born to them, a daughter Erma and son Earl.

Mrs. Haupt passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Erma Johnson, on Feb. 24, 1954. Funeral services were held at the Methodist church on Feb. 27, Rev. J. Heber Miller conducting the rites and Boone Funeral Home in charge. Burial was in the Belmond cemetery.

Surviving are her son and daughter; two sisters—Bertha Lehman and Pauline Boehme of Chicago, and a twin brother, Otto Ludwig of Leland, Ill. She also leaves four grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Mr. Haupt preceded her in death in January of 1935. Also preceding her were four sisters and two brothers.

"I couldn't believe my eyes"

"There's no tractor to compare with it"

These are words of WD-45 Tractor owners.

From coast to coast, farmers who own the WD-45 are praising the performance of this great new tractor. And there's no doubt about the reasons for such high praise — it's performance . . . and price!

The new POWER-CRATER engine gives you the power you've always wanted. This mighty power plant plus AUTOMATIC TRACTION BOOSTER lets the WD-45 pull three bottoms almost effortlessly through fields often considered impossible to plow.

And conveniences, like SNAP-COUPLER, POWER-SHIFT wheels, and TWO-CLUTCH POWER CONTROL add up to a tractor that's unmatched in features and performance . . .

One demonstration will prove it. And the price will save you hundreds of dollars. Let us show you.

SNAP-COUPLER and PC CRATER are Allis-Chalmers trademarks.

Belmond to Have More Than Ever In Music Contest

Belmond High school will have the largest number of entries in the state vocal and instrumental music contests this year that has ever represented the school in musical competition. Accounting for the considerable increase in the number of competitors is the entry of 17 instrumental soloists and nine small instrumental groups in addition to the customary list of vocalists.

Last year Roland Brom regarded that only a handful of his band members were ready for individual competition and Belmond had only about a half dozen entries in the instrumental division. It was the first time since 1947 that BHS had entered any instrumentalists. This spring, with two year's of his training behind them, Mr. Brom considers that a lot more of his proteges are ready to hold their own in competition.

12 Vocal Soloists

Eldoris Bunnell's vocalists have regularly made an enviable showing in the state contests. This year she has entered 12 soloists and two small groups. Her soloists will be: Sandra Simerson, Elinor Ellis, Margo Gowdy, Karen Hanson, Larry Larson, Keith Madsen, Gene Mehl, Norman Pals, LeRoy Smith, Pat Smith, Ronnie Hansen and Larry Mennenga. Last year, Margo Gowdy, Karen Hanson and Gene Mehl were awarded top ratings in the state finals.

Go to Britt, April 10

Mrs. Bunnell will have her girls' trio, girls' sextet, boys' quartet and madrigal in the group contests. Mr. Brom has entered the following instrumental groups: two clarinet trios, flute trio, woodwind quintet, woodwind sextet, brass quartet, brass sextet, brass quintet and saxophone quartet.

These individual musicians and groups will compete in the preliminary contest at Britt on April 10. Winners of I ratings will go on to one of the regional state contests later in the spring.

Rev. Herbert Nelson Writes of Voyage to Africa

(From Henry Nelson, The Independent has received the following excerpts from letters lately written by his son, Rev. Herbert Nelson, who is en route to a South African mission field.)

Crossing of the Atlantic was a pleasant one, indeed. Sailing was fairly smooth. None of the family became ill, for which we were very thankful. The first Sunday we spent aboard ship we worshipped at the morning Anglican service, a very beautiful service conducted by the captain of the ship. At the evening service, I was asked to preach the sermon and felt very much at home doing so.

We did enjoy the comforts aboard the "Queen Mary." She is a very fine ship, indeed, and English hospitality is really gracious. You can imagine us at our first meal here in a swanky tearoom. Nothing must be out of order — and with our three children, this was a problem. So as not to cause further embarrassment to the waitresses, we had meals brought to the children in their rooms thereafter.

Ship Service Excellent

Oh yes, you might be interested to know we were wakened up with tea being brought to our bedside. Breakfast follows later. At night, we put our shoes outside our room doors and, presto, in the morning all are polished.

Before reaching England, we stopped a few hours at Cherbourg, France, and then sailed into South Hampton, England. We spent a night at a London hotel. Everyone knows we are Americans, we stick out like sore thumbs. Our speech, clothes, eating habits and actions—all these give us away.

Visit War Bride

The following day we went by train to Manchester, England, where we visited Mrs. Eva Tompkins' family. Mrs. Tompkins was an English war bride who was a member of our church in Elroy, Wis. They went to no end to make us comfortable, in spite of coal rationing. They have difficulty keeping one room warm. The only thing they were unable to do was to make the sun shine. Fog and mist were the daily morning greeting.

The countryside is so pretty. Evidently the ground does not freeze here like in Iowa and Wisconsin. Weather has been cool but not as cold outside in degrees; very damp. Farmers are already busy in the fields plowing. The grass and winter wheat is very green and beautiful.

Famous Places Seen

We have already seen some important and interesting places and things here in England. We saw Buckingham Palace, St. James Park — where the Queen's children play, Adfmiralty Arch—where the Queen's party drives under, changing of the guards, Houses of Parliament, Big Ben clock, Westminster Abbey, Churchill's home, the War Offices — where Churchill and Eisenhower planned the second front in Europe, St. Paul's cathedral amidst the blocks and blocks of bombed out buildings, Old London and London Bridge.

You should have heard our Julene and Bruce sing "London Bridge is Falling Down"! I think our most interesting place was the Wax Works, where there are wax models of important people in the world living as well as dead. It makes history live to visit this place.

Stop-Over in Holland

After visiting in England 11 days we were aboard the S. S. "Warwick Castle" on Feb. 26th and again started our journey, crossing the English Channel and stopping a day at Rotterdam, Holland. It really is a job keeping track of all the different currency we have to use at different places.

We went sight-seeing in Holland and saw the World Peace Building, which Andrew Carnegie gave to peace-loving nations. It was a beautiful place. Each country of the world gave something to furnish it.

Holland is a very clean country and the country has much land irrigated. The cities have very intricate canal system running down the middle of the towns. After touring Rotterdam, Delft and The Hague, we ate our dinner at a hotel in The Hague.

It really is an education to see the different cultures and customs of various peoples. The way they eat, talk, drive cars, etc.

(The Nelsons left Holland on Feb. 27th for Durban, South Africa. Henry Nelson says air mail will reach his son and family by addressing it to Rev. Herbert Nelson, c/o SS Warwick Castle, Capetown or Durban, South Africa. They expect to reach Durban March 24th or 27th and continue then to Hlabisa Mission Station, where they will study the first year. Their address thereafter will be c/o Hlabisa Mission Station, Hlabisa, South Africa.)

Supervisors OK 2 F-M Projects

Way was cleared for the formal letting of two farm-to-market road contracts when the Wright county board of supervisors last week concurred with the Iowa State Highway commission on award of the jobs to the two low bidders.

County P, also known as the Morse lake road, will benefit from the two projects. They involve grading of 2.98 miles of the road, starting about two miles west of the lake and extending on in the same direction, and installation of an I-bridge at the west end of the graded stretch.

Booth and Olson of Sioux City was low bidder on the grading job with a figure of $13,929.79; and the bridge job goes to Ray Yegge and Sons of Boone on a bid for $14,704.56. The bridge is to be 20x55 feet in dimension.

Faris Meets With Council of IHSAA

Supt. Don Faris was in Iowa City last Friday and Saturday to attend sessions of the representative council of the Iowa High School Athletic association. He represents Class A schools of the north central district on the council.

Mr. Faris reports that the major subject of discussion before the council was whether or not the next state tourament should be held in Des Moines' new Memorial Coliseum, rather than the University of Iowa fieldhouse at Iowa City.

It was informally decided by the group that the change in site may be approved, providing the new arena is ready for use in time next year and that the rental charge is not too high. The council generally favored Des Moines because of its more central location.

WILL OPPOSE McNEAL

First contest for a Wright county elective post in the 1954 general election developed last week when William Cressey, retired railroadman of Clarion, filed as a candidate for Democratic nomination to the office of state representative. He is unopposed in the primary and will run against Clark McNeal of Belmond, the Republican incumbent. There is still only one primary contest in prospect. It is between Myron Price of Clarion and C. K. Paulson of Dows, who both seek GOP nomination for county auditor.

Out ahead!

A fast start, they say, is important in a race. And I'm telling you -- a fast start is necessary in this business of becoming a layer. Thank goodness, I am 'way out ahead because my boss gives me Ren-O-Sal in the drinking water. It helps me grow faster, aids against cecal coccidiosis, and can help me lay sooner and better! If you would like to have your chicks move out ahead, give 'em Ren-O-Sal right from the start. And when you think of Ren-O-Sal, ask for --

Baseball Practice Starts Next Week

Coach Jim Crimmings plans to start baseball drills next week, anticipating a good turn-out of candidates for the BHS nine. Prospects appear fairly bright, thanks to seasoning that quite a number of diamond hopefuls derived from Junior Legion ball last summer.

Biggest problem facing Coach Crimmings is to discover or develop another pitcher or two. Ken Loats is the only "regular" hurler who is returning. Several other boys did a bit of twirling during the summer season but none was particularly impressive.

Four other lettermen, besides Loats, are expected to report for the squad. They are Don Hoppel, Gene Mehl, LeRoy Smith and Bob Barry. Others from last spring's roster who will likely be contending for team positions include Arlo Stoltenberg, Dale Caquelin, Keith Madsen, Bob McLaughlin and Larry McMurray.

Among the boys who played Legion ball last summer and likely to be reporting as Bronco candidates this spring are Jerry Chandler, Bill Murray, Ron Steenblock, Jerry Dorr, Ervin Johnson, Arlyn Frohling and Dione Harty.

—PAT'S—
SPORTS SHORTS

We note that Klemme High will not have girls basketball after this season. Not enough interest on the part of the girls is the explanation. It's our guess that school reorganization may do what the critics of the sport have never succeeded in doing — reduce it to a minor status in Iowa. As schools grow larger (which will widely occur as reorganization sweeps through the state) the greater range of activities offered usually sees participation in girls basketball hit the skids.

Of course, the sport's enthusiastic fans invariably point out that Boone, Valley of West Des Moines and several other large schools still field sextets. But they are glaring exceptions rather than the rule.

Belmond, Clarion, Hampton, Iowa Falls — practically all the present Class A schools in this area in earlier days had girls basketball as an interscholastic sport. Belmond dropped it back in the early '20's if we're not mistaken. We'd lay a small bet the next five years will see the sport definitely on the downgrade. Should the state tourney in due time be a casualty, a lot of followers might miss the spectacle. On the other hand, many a TV spectator has been left wondering if competition of this sort does much FOR a girl.

—PSS—

Don Mewes, the young Kanawha pitcher who led KHS to the state baseball title a couple of years ago, has been given a contract with the Baltimore Orioles' farm team at Thomasville, Ga. He reported for spring training on Thursday of last week.

Jack Lansing, who scouts this area for the Orioles (carrying on in the same capacity as when they were the St. Louis Browns) tells us that the Baltimore club will hold a tryout camp here again this year. This will be the third season that trials have been conducted at Belmond. Quite a number of players have gotten "pro" contracts on the strength of their showings here. This year's camp will be the first week in June. More details will be forthcoming later.

—PSS—

When we reviewed the talent that Coach Crimmings will have next season in basketball, we neglected to take into account that several promising candidates will be acquired from Goodell. Tommy Lowenberg showed to good advantage with this year's GHS quintet and may very well be among the top contenders for a regular position with the Broncos. And several other Goodellians will no doubt be contending for membership on the varsity squad.

—PSS—

This week sees basketball activity at BHS brought to a close with holding of the annual intramural tournament. Varsity cagers and sophomore members of the Colt squad will be ineligible to take part, as one purpose of the tourney is to unearth previously unsuspected talent. Each of the high school classes, and the junior high, will have a team contending for the class title. The results were not obtainable for this week's paper.

—PSS—

Belmond will have only a small representation at the annual tournament of the Iowa State Women's Bowling association this year, since the meet is being held 'way down yonder in Burlington. That's quite a distance as a crow flies—and altogether too durned far by car, most of the girls seem to think. For the first year since opening of the Bowl-Mor revived local interest in bowling there will be no Belmond teams in the state competition. Ethel Brunes, Ethel Avery Avery, Lois Ann Hafermann and Donna Robertson are the only ones we've heard of who plan the trek. They will enter in singles and doubles, taking their turn on the lanes this Saturday.

$1.30 MORE INCOME PER HEN

Yes, Hy-Lines do lay more . . . pay more than other chickens. Here's proof from 1,182 poultry raisers who tested Hy-Lines against other chickens the last three years. Hy-Lines averaged over 3 dozen more eggs per bird in 11 months of lay. That's about $1.30 extra income per hen, based on the 3 year average egg price.

Multiply the number of birds in your flock by $1.30. Couldn't you put that extra income to good use?

About Egg Quality

Once upon a time in a big city, a housewife went shopping. When she stopped at the egg counter, she decided to buy the most expensive eggs because it was her husband's birthday. And boy how he liked eggs. He ate one every morning for breakfast, fried . . . I mean the egg was fried, not the husband — except maybe on weekends.

Anyway, the wife fried one of these expensive eggs the next morn for breakfast. Her husband went into fits of delight. Oh, My, how he did smack his lips and gnash his choppers against one another. "Oh boy," he said, "fry me another egg like that. Boy are they ever good." So she did, and he did eat about 7 eggs which made him late for work Since he was the boss he didn't get fired.

Every morning thereafter, this man's wife fried 4 eggs for his breakfast. Even though the eggs were more expensive.

Moral: Good eggs, even though they cost more, are what the city egg eaters want. Fresh eggs are novelties to a lot of city folks. There's no reason in the world why they won't eat more eggs if they get fresh ones. And if they eat more, you'll get more money for 'em.

So, it's up to poultrymen and egg buyers to give 'em high quality fresh eggs. A hen lays fresh eggs. To keep 'em fresh, keep them cool — but not frozen, of course. Hot eggs can lose their quality in a couple of hours. And those eggs don't: 1. taste good, 2. bring high prices.

The way to keep quality high is to gather the eggs often, hold them in a cool, damp room, and market them at least twice a week. Time is another great stealer of egg quality—the quicker we get eggs to the eater, the better they'll taste.

Good eggs can increase consumption of eggs. The more the city folks eat the more money we'll get for our eggs. And goodness knows we can use it.

Van Buskirk Rites Held on Saturday

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the EUB church for Loyd Van Buskirk, 57, who took his own life two days earlier. According to Kenneth F. Boughton, Hancock county coroner, the Goodell farmer killed himself with a shotgun blast. Mr. Van Buskirk had been in poor health and his act was attributed to depression caused by the illness.

Rev. Park E. Miller conducted the final rites and burial was in Amsterdam. Fulton Funeral Home was in charge. Pallbearers were Ed Haupt, Nels Bock, Harry Ruka, Amos Hanson, Walter Lauden and Howard Dominy.

Born Aug. 3, 1896, son of Harrison and Sarah Van Buskirk, at Blairsburg, the deceased was a long-time resident of the Goodell vicinity. His parents moved to Hickory Grove neighborhood in 1910. He wed Annie Brass on June 30, 1920, and 11 children were born to them.

For many years they have operated the family farm a mile north and one and a half west of Goodell. Mr. Van Buskirk followed the occupation of farming without interruption except for a period of military service during World War I.

Surviving are Mrs. Van Buskirk and the following children: Owen and Earl of Brownsville, Minn.; Mrs. Ray Yagger of Tonawanda, N. Y.; Mrs. Richard Finn of Dexter, Minn.; Mrs. Richard Lauen of Colorado Springs, Colo.; Gerald at home. IT APPEARS ALGONA MAY GET PARKING METERS, IF PUBLIC WANTS 'EM OR NOT

Every now and then the suggested of installing parking meters in Belmond's downtown area pops up as "the" solution to the ever-present problem of congestion during heavy shopping periods. Some more murmurs along this line have perceptible just lately. We hope the idea won't get beyond the murmur stage; and we're quite confident it won't.

Algona is currently involved in a hullabaloo over parking meters. It appears that its city council is determined to go ahead with passage of an ordinance for meter installation, despite the fact that a canvass of business establishments revealed opposition to the idea by a vote of 139 to 17.

Few in Algona apparently favor such a resolution except Mayor Linda Clapsaddle, three members of the council — and the meter salesmen. In whose behalf the city administration would be acting if it does decide to place the meters in use seems somewhat open to question. There is a notable lack of enthusiasm for the ordinance on the part of the police, on whose shoulders would fall responsibility for enforcing it.

A relatively moderate amount of off-street parking would ease the local problem to the point where it would not be one of major proportions. Our own council has shown itself sensitive to wishes of its constituents, whenever a choice was offered. (We have previously pointed out that the city fathers had no alternative when they introduced the recent increase in water rates.)

It's our guess that they'd find the public sympathetic toward any effort made in the line of acquiring space close to Main street that could be converted into permanent parking areas. It's a bull that will have to be taken by the horns, sooner or later.

SO—WRIGHT PAYS 63% MORE FOR GRADER BLADES THAN NEIGHBOR CERRO GORDO

About this time next month, the report on proceedings of the Wright county board of supervisors is due to provide one of the most pleasing bits of reading that it offers in the course of each year's time. At that time — if the board follows the precedent of the past two years — bids will be solicited for furnishing the county's requirements in the way of gasoline and diesel fuel for the succeeding 12 months.

Since the supervisors resumed this practice in 1952, after an extended period of time during which contracts for road department fuels were merely handed out according to the whim of the board, the county has saved close to $5.000.

This contract-letting on motor fuels stands out like a beacon light because it is virtually the only purchasing the county does during the year on a low-bid basis. It remains the contention of this newspaper that aggregate savings of very considerable proportions could be achieved if the practice were extended to a great many other material and equipment items that are now bought without recourse to bids.

We read with considerable interest in last Thursday's Mason City Globe-Gazette that the Cerro Gordo county supervisors have lately let contracts for purchase of grader blades, gasoline and diesel fuel — all being awarded on low, competitive bids. Since all such bids are let by specification, it is to be presumed that they got what they wanted in each case.

It is interesting to note that Cerro Gordo succeeded in buying six-inch grader blades at a price of 68 cents a foot. The latest purchase of similar blades by the Wright supervisors (in January) was at the price $1.11 per foot.

Our neighbors got a mighty fine price on their fuels, too — 3.651 below tank wagon price on gasoline and 1.851 under wagon price on diesel oil. These prices were a bit better than the 3 13 and 1.1 that represented the low fuel bids submitted to our board last year.

These comparisons should provide ample evidence that our supervisors are simply missing the boat by not buying by bid all those items that lend themselves to this sort of arrangement. It resulted in more economical purchases of fuel, certainly. And after all — $5,000 here, $5,000 there; it all adds up!

THOSE CRIPPLED KIDS DON'T ASK MUCH OF US; SO BUY THOSE EASTER SEALS

Last week the people of Iowa were given their annual opportunity to support a most worthy cause when the 1954 Easter Seals of the Iowa Society for Crippled Children were placed in the mail. Mrs. A. C. Hanson, who is local chairman for the drive, informs us that Belmond has been generous in support of this project — and we were mighty happy to hear it.

These seals help handicapped children by providing funds for clinics, hospitals, rehabilitation centers and special schools; by training speech correctionists, physical therapists, occupational therapists, teachers, nurses and similar specialists; by supplying the best knowledge, methods and equipment that modern science and research can produce.

But all this is just a means to an end. Dr. Wendell Johnson of Iowa City, president of the State Easter Seal Society, cites the actual goal when he notes: "These are the things you are buying when you buy Easter Seals — and this means you are helping give crippled kids a smiling and USEFUL future." In that word "useful" should lie the key to your pocketbook. Many a child who would otherwise be dependent on others for a lifetime is transformed into a self-supporting, self-sufficient individual through the magic of rehabilitation.

It's little that these youngsters ask of us; and they ask it only once a year. Buy those seals — and use them on your correspondence to let all know that you're doing YOUR, small part.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, The Board of Supervisors of Wright County, Iowa, contemplate the improvement of the extension of County Trunk Road "L", Federal Secondary Route No. 291 from the East line of Wright Street, east .67 miles to a point 709 feet west of the center of Section 26-91-26 (corporation line) in the City of Eagle Grove, Iowa, by grading and the construction of 7" reinforced concrete pavement 22 feet in width, the said improvement to be paid for out of Wright County Farm to Market Road Funds, and

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors also contemplate the improvement of Federal Secondary Route No. 1665 from the north line of Broadway to a point 11 feet south of the W¼ Corner of said Sec. 26-91-26 at Second Street North in the said City of Eagle Grove, by grading and the construction of 7" reinforced concrete pavement 22 feet in width, the said improvement to be paid for out of Wright County Farm to Market Road Funds, and

WHEREAS, the City Council of the said City of Eagle Grove has offered to pay all engineering costs in connection with the surveys, design and general and resident supervision for the said improvement and has employed Carl P. Lechner, Engineer, d/b/a Lechner Engineering Company of Ames, Iowa, to furnish the required engineering services in consideration of the allocation of said Farm to Market Road Funds to the project as herein described, and

WHEREAS, Wright County is in need of the said engineering services and the said Carl P. Lechner, Engineer, is qualified to provide such services and has agreed to perform all such necessary services under the direction of the County Engineer and subject to the approval of the Iowa State Highway Commission.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Board of Supervisors of Wright County hereby accept the offer of the City council of the City of Eagle Grove to furnish engineering services and approve the action of the said City Council (copy of Resolution attached) employing Carl P. Lechner, Engineer, and hereby authorize and direct the County Engineer to use the services of Carl P. Lechner as special assistant for all such services necessary to the project, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Board of Supervisors agrees to the allocation of Farm to Market Road Funds for the construction of the said improvement as herein described.

The foregoing resolution was adopted on motion by Christopher, seconded by Kelling, and carried.

Minutes were read and approved.

Mrs. F. Aldinger Will Head Drive For Cancer Fund

Mrs. Florence Aldinger of Rowan, who is chairman of the Wright county chapter of the American Cancer Society, has been appointed to head the fund-raising campaign to be conducted in the county during next month's Cancer Crusade. Appointment was made by John Williams, Red Oak, chairman of the Iowa division of ACS.

Last year Wright county more than doubled its fund quota during the campaign directed by Mrs. Glen Wilson of Eagle Grove. Both last year and this, Belmond's contribution toward the Cancer Crusade has come from the Community Chest. A check for $700 has already been delivered to Mrs. Aldinger from the Chest fund for 1954.

April has been designated by Congress as "Cancer Control Month," and Mrs. Aldinger says that twin objectives will be pursued during the period of the Cancer Crusade: (1) promotion of an educational program designed to save lives in this county (40 residents died of cancer in 1952); and (2) solicitation of funds to strike back at cancer through research. Mrs. Aldinger reports that one out of every six deaths in Iowa during 1952 resulted from cancer.

WRIGHT WOMEN'S CHORUS TO SING AT CONFERENCE

Wright County Women's Chorus will be presented as an entertainment feature of the Family Life conference being held on the Iowa State college campus today and tomorrow. Mrs. Robert Kay of Clarion is director of the group and Mrs. Harold Simerson of Belmond is the accompanist. The chorus will sing at the opening of the Friday afternoon session.

"Roots of Family Happiness" is the general theme of the two-day conference, sponsored by the division of home economics for the benefit of Iowa parents. Speakers, panel discussions and research reports in the field of family relationships are headlining the program.

Wright Bond Sale 'Way Up over '54

Popularity of United States savings bonds as an investment for individuals in Iowa continues to grow, with February purchases of series E and H bonds amounting to $13,783,630, 42 per cent more than Iowa purchases in February of last year.

Charles Kramer of Clarion, Wright county chairman of the savings bonds division, announces that E and H bond sales in this county for February amounted to $116,143, compared with purchases of $98,310 for February, 1953.

"The 42 per cent increase makes Iowa look very good in view of the national picture," Mr. Kramer says, "because the average national increase was 16 per cent.

"One of the most important factors in Iowa's record increase is the acceptance of the series H bond, which pays 3 per cent interest, compounded semi-annually, when held to maturity, but the owner gets an interest check each six months rather than waiting until maturity of the bond. Iowa's purchases for that type of savings bond last month were 122 per cent greater than a year ago."

Purchases of E and H bonds for February of 1954 and 1953 are shown for adjacent counties: Franklin county, $65,412 and $56,148; Hancock, $95,931 and $42,592; Humboldt, $56,665 and $47,327.

ROWAN SOLDIER HELPING REBUILD KOREAN SCHOOL

7TH DIV., KOREA—Pfc. Dwight W. Groom, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Groom, Rowan, Iowa, is helping to build a schoolhouse in Korea.

Members of his unit, Company K of the 7th Infantry Division's 32d Regiment, are rebuilding a three-room primary school as part of the Armed Forces Assistance to Korea program.

He's saving money

He'd probably pay more for his cigarettes if it weren't for advertising. The cigarette manufacturers use advertising as their lowest cost way to get across news and information about their products. On the average, advertising for a pack of cigarettes amounts to less than ¼¢.

Selling goods this way makes mass production possible—which means lower production costs, lower selling costs, lower prices.

Yes, advertising is a low-cost selling method that helps keep your living costs down.

TWELVE PAGES

BOL. 34 NO. 25 OFFICIAL CITY PAPER BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, APRIL 1, 1954 OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Ye Ed noted recently in his former hometown paper, the Grinnell Herald-Register, that 10 of his cronies of a few years back have seen fit to support will power with financial risk in a joint effort to break the cigaret habit. All have signed a pledge, drafted in strictest legal form by an attorney who is one of their number.

In this document it is agreed that the first of the Nicotineless Ten to take so much as a puff on a cigaret must pay each of his confreres $5. In other words, it'll cost the first man $45 to stumble. In turn, the next must lay out $40, the next thereafter $35, etc.

Should all in due time succumb to the urge, the last man can nonchalantly light his cigaret with a five-spot and still be 40 bucks to the good. After the experiment had been in progress a week, one of the weaker participants was overheard muttering plaintively, "Golly! If that first cigaret cost only $22.50 instead of $45 . . ."

—M-S—

That "want ad" in last week's paper inserted by an unidentified job-hunter, asking $600 a month and expenses, created somewhat of a furore. So far, 13 mothers of "three, fine children" have identified themselves as the "nagging wife" described in the ad — and given the old man a raking over the coals (at the same time hoping that he connects with the job); and 21 men have advised the Independent that if the advertiser gets more replies than he can handle, they'd be interested in a crack at one of the extra offers. . . . "Dutch" Thompsen told us that ad described HIM to a "T" — except he's got four children (he was just kidding, Emma) . . . . And Ron Courson says that, rumors to the contrary notwithstanding, the mystery man is NOT now on the payroll of Courson Agency.

—M-S—

Mainstreeter Gallagher, who has served among the judges for the annual VFW Auxiliary's patriotic essay contest for the past four years, was extremely impressed by the accurate spelling noticeable in this year's crop of literary efforts. Hardly a handful of words were misspelled in the entire set of essays.

Being a bit of a stickler on the matter of spelling, efforts on this score in the previous years all but set his teeth on edge. How come the kids entering this year's contest were so markedly more adept in the spelling art than many (too many) of their predecessors, he can't understand.

Gallagher once had a professor at Columbia university who rewarded literary proficiency with a figurative "big red apple." He feels that every one of the '54 essayists — and their teachers — deserve a large, juicy "Delicious," apiece.

—M-S—

Many friends of the former Belmond High school coach, John Prasch, and his wife will be glad to learn that they are the happy parents of a son, born March 19th. The Prasches, who now live in Racine, Wis, have been married for 13 years; but Thomas Johann is their first offspring. The new heir weighed in at only 5 lbs. 8 oz. Dorothy Prasch added to the birth announcement: "Tommy is such a little mite; but we're SO proud of him."

—M-S—

One of those Tinkers to Evers to Chance, triple-play errors caught us off base last week, much to our regret. Originally the date of March 26 had been set for the Junior High operetta. Apparently "Hoofbeats," the school newspaper, got ahold of an out-dated calendar when it reported the evening of the performance; and, unaware the "Hoofbeats" story was wrong, we picked up the date from that source.

If the district teachers meeting hadn't been scheduled for last Friday, everything would have been all right.

But because of this confab, the operetta was rescheduled for THIS Friday, April 2nd. It's going to be a good show and we hope you'll all be there. Also, we sincerely hope that not many were led astray and stood futilely waiting for the doors to open last Friday night. We'd like to say it'll never happen again. But under the same set of circumstances, it could—it COULD.

Janelle Johnson's Essay Placed 1st

Janelle Johnson, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Johnson, was judged winner of first place in the 1954 patriotic essay contest sponsored by the local Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Twenty-four Belmond High school submitted entries, written on the topic, "Building Through Citizenship."

Second place was won by Karen Hanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hanson; and third by Margo Gowdy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Gowdy. All of the prize-winners are seniors. First place carried with it a cash award of $10, second $5 and third $2.50.

Judges of the contest were Mrs. Clair Hugh, Rev. William Schorman and Pat Gallagher. Besides the winners, they named as deserving of special mention the essays written by Sandra Kamm and Connie Hill, a freshman and sophomore, respectively; and that of Larry Mennenga, another senior. The judges report that the general level of excellence among the essays was remarkably high.

General Mills Will Locate New Feed Plant in Belmond

GMI-Union Scrap May Invoke Strike Here

Hope still existed Wednesday that developments within the last 24 to 36 hours before the deadline might avert a declared strike of the American Federation of Grain Millers (AFL) against General Mills, Inc. As this newspaper went to press, a strike call stood for 12:01 a.m. Friday; but entrance of a U. S. labor conciliator into the picture on Wednesday left open the possibility that the dispute might be resolved.

At 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday, Conciliator Carl Calgren met with union and company officials at Minneapolis in a last ditch effort to bring agreement and avert the strike. Order for the strike had been received by the Belmond local of the Grain Millers union subsequent to a breakdown in negotiations between General Mills and the federation over particulars of a new master agreement.

Union V.P. Here

George D. Weiny of Keokuk, general vice president of the International Federation of Grain Millers, spoke before a gathering of local union members on Tuesday night. He told them that the union submitted a package agreement to GMI which is similar to one negotiated with Pillsbury, Russell-Miller and Standard Milling companies.

In an interview granted The Independent, Weiny said that the three other firms have offered the union this specific agreement and that it has been approved by the Federation's negotiating committee. General Mills, however, has refused — he said — to permit inclusion of one paragraph which the union regards as the heart of the agreement.

This paragraph deals with scheduling of work shifts, other than normal schedulings. According to Weiny, the exact counterpart of the paragraph has been a part of the master agreement with General Mills for the past six years, so near as he could remember.

Weiny stated the GMI has chosen not to sign an extension agreement to cover a period of further negotiation. He declared that the union is determined to stick by its guns on the matter of work-shift schedulings and that the strike is inevitable unless General Mills concedes on this point.

Most Issues Resolved

A release received from GMI President C. H. Bell on Tuesday stated: "During the past two weeks the union and General Mills have reached agreement on most issues involved in continuation of the master agreement between the company and the Federation of Grain Millers."

Most of the issues that have been resolved were proposed by the union, stated the GMI bulletin, with the company making the concession necessary to achieve agreement. On two issues, though, the company requested the union to "give a little."

One of these involves the paragraph referred to by Weiny. Inclusion of this provision, declared the GMI statement, "would limit the company's authority to manage its scheduling operations more than it would restrict our principal competitors and make it extremely difficult to keep the plants operating."

The other point of contention involves the employee retirement system and the health association. It was pointed out by the company that out of a total of some 20 demands by the company and the union, only three remain unsettled. The third involves certain exceptions to the payment of time and one-half for Saturday in certain swing-shift plants, the principle itself having been conceded by the company.

"We believe that we all owe it to the nation—which is struggling to keep a recession from becoming a depression—to keep negotiating in the hope of reaching a solution, rather than to have a strike over these three issues," stated President Bell.

No Strike Benefits

Since the Grain Millers union has no arrangement for providing strike benefits, members of the local union recognize that a strike of any great duration would work a great hardship on them. Larry Greenwood, president of the Belmond local, stated Wednesday that it is the common hope of the union members that the dispute can be successfully resolved in short order.

Besides the GMI plant at Belmond, 26 others are involved by the strike order. The Rossford, Ohio, plant of which Glenn Martin, former General Mills employee here, is now superintendent would be among those shut down if the strike goes through.

CHIEF JOHNSON BREAKS GROUND FOR NEW STATION

Erection of New Fire Station Will Get Underway Next Week

Actually, ground was already pretty well "broken" last Saturday afternoon when Fire Chief A. W. Johnson was photographed as he turned the first, ceremonial spadeful of earth preparatory to construction of the new fire station. Wallace Cramer, Fire Department secretary (left), and George Hansen, treasurer, watched the performance. Visible in the background is the ditch — and resulting dirt piles — dug earlier in the day to make way for the sewer line to the station.

A. R. Dorr Sons and Leo Dorr will build the new fire hall. They expected to have digging done for footings, and the footings poured, before the end of this week. It is hoped that good progress on actual construction of the building will have been made in another week's time.

Chief Johnson says that donations to the building fund are still coming in but that the amount has not yet reached a total sufficient to finish the interior in the manner that is desired. Contributions will be gratefully received by any members of the fire department or can be left at the Independent office with Treasurer Hansen.

No Details Given On Construction Date, Other Data

Big news that had been traveling "the grapevine" in Belmond for a period of some months became official on Monday of this week with announcement that a good-sized feed mill will soon be added to the local facilities of General Mills, Inc. Complete details regarding the new business enterprise were not released, but enough was told to make clear that the plant will be an important addition to the industrial and commercial economy of this community.

From General Mills' department of public services at Minneapolis the following release was issued to newspapers and press services: "General Mills will build a large, modern, 'push-button' feed mill in Belmond, Ia., President Charles H. Bell announced today (Monday)."

50,000-Ton Capacity

"The new plant, which will adjoin the company's soybean plant in Belmond, is expected to be operating by the end of the calendar year. It will be capable of manufacturing the company's full line of formula feeds. Annual capacity of the plant (based on a 16-hour day, five-day week) will be 50,000 tons.

"The plant will comprise three new structures: a concrete silo, a mill building and a warehouse building. Modern, efficient equipment will include a pneumatic unloading system; virtually all ingredients will be handled in bulk. President Bell said that the new plant will be capable of serving the rapidly growing demands of the company in the area between Kansas City and Minneapolis. General Mills already has feed mills in those two cities, as well as seven others throughout the country.

Package and Bulk Feeds

"Formula feed products to be manufactured at the plant will be packed in 50-lb. paper bags and 100-lb. textile bags. Bulk deliveries will also be handled.

"General Mills has been in Belmond since 1943, when the soybean plant was constructed. The company has an annual payroll at Belmond in excess of $500,000, and spends nearly $15 million annually in Iowa for soybeans.

"During the past 10 years, Bell pointed out, both the Belmond community and the company have benefited from this economic boost, and from the civic activities of General Mills employees (who, with their families, constitute 25 per cent of the town's population.)

"Appreciation Days" Cited

"Last summer the Belmond Chamber of Commerce and the company held a week-long "Appreciation Days" celebration, to commemorate 10 years of friendly relations between the plant and the community."

Efforts were made to obtain more specific details from Minneapolis headquarters regarding the new plant, but few were available at this time. No building contracts have as yet been let and the time that construction will be started is still uncertain. It was announced, however, that a formal ground-breaking ceremony is planned when actual work on the new plant units can be launched.

Should Boost Feed Sales

Representatives of the GMI feed division are enthusiastic over the benefits that Larro SureFeeds will derive in this territory from establishment of the new manufacturing unit. At present there are only two Larro dealers in Wright county, Followwill Implement company of Belmond and Feller Grain company, with elevators at Solberg and Cornelia. It is anticipated that many more franchises will be arranged when the new plant is in operation.

General Mills feeds have been handicapped competitively in this area because supplies have to be shipped in from Minneapolis or Kansas City, at considerable cost in the way of freight. Once the feeds can be distributed from the Belmond plant, it is expected that Larro feeds will be sharply competitive and enjoy much wider use in this area than they have in the past.

Stanley Ahlstrom, Eva Ainger Head VFW and Auxiliary

Stanley Ahlstrom was installed as new commander of Pierce-Ziegler Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at a special meeting held on Wednesday night of last week at the Veterans' Memorial hall. He succeeds Ed Reasoner as head of the organization. Bob Churchouse, a past commander of the VFW, served as installing officer.

Other officers installed were: Earl Cronk, Senior Vice Commander; Martial Holtzbauer, Junior Vice Commander; Marvin Pals, Adjutant; Keith Chandler, Officer of the Day; Merle Bonte, trustee for a three-year term; Gus Taylor, Chaplain; Marvin Meinders, Service Officer; and Ted Volding, Quartermaster.

Eva Ainger was named as 1954-55 president of the VFW Auxiliary when that group held its annual election at the regular meeting on March 10. Others who will take office in the course of installation ceremonies to be held on April 14, with Doris Mussellman as installing officer, are: Edna Green, Senior Vice President and Secretary; Wilma Korthas, Junior Vice President; Frances Dillon, Treasurer.

Also, Lottie Meinders, Chaplain; Lucille Stoltenberg, Conductress; Irene Stoffer, Patriotic Instructor; Bernie Chandler, Edna Eccles, Muriel Hankes and Alva Davis, Color Bearers; Esther Stoltenberg, Guard; Doris Musselman, Historian; Laura Sorenson, Lida Greenwood and Clara Thayer, Trustees; and Eunice Slining, Musician.

45 BHS STUDENTS' NAMES LISTED ON THIRD QUARTER HONOR ROLL

Forty-five students are included on the Belmond High school honor roll for the third nine-week period of the current school year, Principal Clair Hugh announced this week. Six of that number had a grade of A or A- in all subjects, to top the scholar list. Exactly half of the "super scholars" were seniors; each of the three lower grades had only one A-scholar apiece. At least a B average is required to qualify for the honor roll.

Straight-A students among the seniors were Peggy Finn, Karen Hanson and Janelle Johnson. The juniors' scholar of distinction was Ardith Johnson, the sophomores' Connie Hill, and the freshmen's Roland Jenison.

Only senior boy to rate the honor roll was Ken Loats, the Bronco basketball ace, who thereby gave his personal refutation to the charge that athletics are being over-emphasized to the detriment of the athlete. Other seniors on the list were Theatta Bunjer, Elinor Ellis, Margo Gowdy, Barbara Mariga and Sandra Simerson.

Keith Madsen, also a star on the basketball team, and Bob McLaughlin, the squad manager, demonstrated that they too found the sport left them sufficient time to master their studies. They were the only junior boys on the honor list. Girls who "made it" were: Betty Jo Bohning, Eloise Johnson, Jeanette Johnson, Carol Ann Leinbach, Carmen McLaughlin, Margaret Mussell and Beverly Sheriff.

Three boys and nine girls—in addition to Connie Hill—made the sophomore list. They were: Gary Gabrielson, Tim Trees, Larry Wolters; and Karen Bohning, Corrine Davenport, Sandra Didio, Marcia Henn, Elna Jenison, Maryellen Johnson, Neva Kyser, Annette Swenson and Sharon Thompsen.

Boys cut a heavier scholastic swathe among the freshmen than in any other class. Besides Roland Jenison, honor roll qualifiers included Marlin Daniels, Bill Murray, Paul Nassen and Everett Toft. Girls on the scholar list included Karon Bohning, Sandra Kamm, Joan Kriens, Beverly Meyer, Shirley Pals, Mary Alice Studebaker and Sandra Swenson.

HOME FROM LONG TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allison returned Friday afternoon from a four-week auto trip through the south. They enjoyed driving through the Cumberland and Smokey mountains and along both the east and west coasts of Florida. Stop-overs of several days were made at New Orleans, La., and at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Sportsman's Club Picks Studebaker As Its President for Coming Year

Charles Studebaker was elected president as members of the Sportsman's club chose officers for the new year at a meeting held last Friday night at the Veterans' Memorial hall. Others named to office were Glenn Thompson, vice president; Frank Long, secretary-treasurer.

All of the five directors were reelected for another year. They are Carroll Bamford, Clarence Hoppel, Jack Lobdell, Ray Brewer and Dr. A. M. Nelson. Retiring officers were: Wilmer Burk, president; Dr. R. E. Misner, vice president; and Glen Eccles, secretary-treasurer.

Under President Burk, the Sportsman's club had a year of unusual achievement. The members cooked the meat for the PTA smorgasbord held last spring to help finance the summer recreation program, and were responsible for serving the repast.

They carried on several conservation projects, fitting to the purpose of their organization. Some 13,000 trees and bushes were planted for wildlife cover, including locust, dogwood and multiflora rose. Two dams were built in the west branch of the Iowa river and the backed-up waters stocked with 15,000 small-mouth bass obtained from the state conservation commission.

In cooperation with the Wright County Issac Walton league, the sportsmen installed a stock gate at the south entrance to Morse lake.

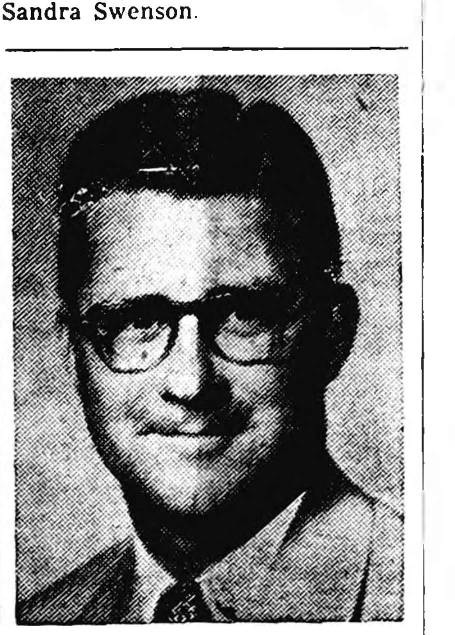
Club activities also included holding six trapshoots. A major highlight of the activity program was supervision of the Kiddies' Fish Day last summer, for which the club provided some of the prizes, also.

Wind-up event of the club year under President Burk was a fish fry held in January. Nearly 400 diners enjoyed the expertly prepared walleye fillets served at this affair. Mr. Studebaker praises his predecessor with acknowledgment that "last year's program, under Wilmer Burk, was one of the finest the club has ever had."

State FHA Office To Carol Leinbach

Carol Ann Leinbach, BHS junior and daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. P. Leinbach, last weekend was elected to a state office as Iowa chapters of the Future Homemakers of America met in convention at the Savery hotel, Des Moines. She will be state public relations chairman during the 1954-55 school year.

One hundred and 10 chapters sent 525 delegates to last week's convention held Thursday through Saturday. Belmond delegates were Gloria Rabe, Margaret Eccles, Ardith Johnson and Miss Leinbach. Advisor Carol Richards accompanied the girls.



SPEAKER at the Lions club banquet next Monday night for the Belmond High school basketball squads will be Frank "Bucky" O'Connor, University of Iowa's basketball coach (above). Besides his talk, a movie of Iowa's basketball victory over Indiana will highlight the program. Lions President Cecil Carstens says tickets are still available, "but if you don't have yours yet, better buy it quick."

$400 at Stake; Only $25 Won

Only one of the seven Cash Gift Day prizes drawn for last Tuesday found a taker. Mrs. Albert Smit presented No. 387 and claimed one of the $25 prizes at 2:00 p.m. Other numbers drawn at 2:00 o'clock were: 115, 276, 294, 3,048 and 3,397. The big prize at 3:00 p.m. — $250 — would have gone to the holder of No. 253, had that number been shown. Next week concludes the 10-week series of drawings that Belmond business firms launched in February. Cash Gifts will be the same as this week; there will be six, $25 prizes at stake at 2:00 p.m. and the award at 3:00 o'clock will be $250. Forty-two business firms are joining together to continue Cash Gift Days for another 10 weeks, starting April 13th.

RUMMAGE SALE

Martha Circle of the Methodist church will conduct a rummage sale at the church basement this Saturday, beginning at 9:00 a. m. A lunch, featuring creamed chicken and biscuits, will be served also, starting at 11:30 a. m.

Toastmaster Club Elects E. Elliott As New President

Ellis Elliott was installed as president of the Belmond Toastmasters club at a Ladies Night dinner held Friday evening at St. John American Lutheran church. He succeeds Don Bunnell as head of the speech-makers' organization. Chuck Hilton, business manager of Mason City radio station KGLO and past governor of Toastmaster District 19, was in charge of the installation.

Others who took office were: Dr. A. M. Larson, vice president; Dr. P. A. Rietz, secretary-treasurer; Rev. William Schorman, educational chairman; George Keleher, sergeant-at-arms; and Mr. Bunnell, deputy governor.

Hilton Serves as Critic

Guests besides the Toastmasters' wives and Mr. Hilton were the latter's son, Jim Hilton, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hildebrand. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. Hildebrand had served as judges of the local club's speech contest of several weeks ago to select a representative to take part in area competition.

In addition to installing the new officers, Mr. Hilton served as general critic for the evening. Impromptu speeches were presented by Clark McNeal and A. P. Thompsen and prepared talks were given by Don Bunnell and R. B. Thompson.

Bunnell in Contest

This Saturday at Webster City, Mr. Bunnell will compete in the Toastmasters' area speech contest. Each club provides one judge, who scores all contestants except his fellow club member. Mr. Thompson will accompany Mr. Bunnell as the judge from Belmond.

MRS. GEORGE HINMAN BACK AFTER SOJOURN IN HAWAII

Mrs. George Hinman arrived home on Tuesday of last week after spending seven months with her husband, BM3/c George Hinman, while he was stationed at Honolulu, T. H. For the time being, young Mrs. Hinman will make her home with her husband's mother, Mrs. Marjorie Hinman.

George has been transferred to Alaska, where his ship—the USS Hitchiti—is presently engaged in towing barges between islands of the Aleutian chain. He is due for discharge from Naval service this summer and expects to be back home sometime in July.

VFW Volunteers to Set Up Ground Observer Corps in Belmond

Pierce-Zieger Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has agreed to shoulder responsibility for setting up a local Ground Observer Corps and Ed Reasoner, who retired last week as commander of the post, has been appointed supervisor of the corps.

At the regular meeting of the VFW at 8 p. m. next Tuesday at the Veterans' Memorial hall, a U.S. Air Force representative of the Ground Observer Corps from the Des Moines Filter Center will talk to the Veterans. He will explain the need for aircraft spotters in Iowa and will show a film concerning the nation's air defense. This will be an open meeting and the general public is invited to attend.

The Ground Observer Corps is composed of civilian volunteers who man aircraft observation posts and filter centers throughout the United States to observe and report the movement of aircraft. Its goal is a well-trained corps to watch the skies in event of an enemy air attack on this country.

There are 385 Ground Observer posts in Iowa, but many of them are understaffed; and some are not manned at all. Belmond has been in the latter category, lacking organization and operational status. The purpose of Tuesday's meeting will be to stimulate interest in the Corps and to explain operation of the air defense warning system.

W. O. (jg) Leland B. Marks of Des Moines, operations and training officer of the Des Moines Filter Center, says that top Air Force officials consider that the United States is highly vulnerable to air attack by the enemy.

"It is known that Russia today has strategic air bases in the Arctic regions, within striking distance of the United States," Officer Marks states. "Recent reports indicate that these bases are equipped with 400 inter-continental turbo prop bombers, similar to our B-25. These aircraft have a speed of 450 mph and a range of 4,800 miles.

"They are equipped to deliver atomic bomb loads to the heartland of the United States. It is significant that the Russian Arctic bases are only 3,300 miles distant from Des Moines. Our radar system, due to operational and mechanical limitations, cannot carry the detection load alone. Air Force officials stress the need for human eyes and ears to detect the approach of unknown aircraft."

Therein lies the need for Ground Observer posts such as the Veterans propose to organize locally, according to Officer Marks. All of the points above will be amplified by the speaker at next Tuesday's VFW meeting. Ed Reasoner urges a good turn-out for the meeting.

BUILDING THROUGH DEMOCRACY

AN ESSAY

By Janelle Johnson

(Following is the essay that won first prize in the annual patriotic essay contest sponsored by the Belmond Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. It was written by Janelle Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Johnson. She is 18 and a senior in Belmond High school.)

The word "citizenship" has many different meanings, but they may be summarized as "a full, active memebership in a group, with a share in the rights and privileges given to all participants." In a dictatorship, good citizenship consists merely of keeping all the rules. In a democracy, it includes much more; for good citizens may have a part in making the laws by which they are governed

There are many groups in which we may claim membership First, we are citizens of our homes, and early in life we must learn to work together with the family, sharing joys and responsibilities. A short time later we become aware of our place in the church, the school and the community.

On a larger scale, we are citizens of our state, our country, and the world. For many years following the Revolutionary War, our national government was very weak, and people were inclined to be more proud of their state citizenship than of their American citizenship Today it makes little difference what state we are from, for we belong to a much more important body, the United States of America.

Isolationism Outdated

Proud as we may be of this citizenship, however, we must remember that at the same time we are international citizens. The United States can never again isolate itself, and any action taken in this nation is felt throughout the world.

Let us compare civilization to a large building, the foundation of which was laid thousands of years ago in the Tigris-Euphrates valley. Each individual citizen may be considered a brick in this structure. All are of equal importance, and all must do their part faithfully, for as "a chain is only as strong as its weakest link," so the world is only as great as its most careless citizens. The mortar that is needed to hold the bricks together is, I believe, the philosophy of democratic government.

The definition of citizenship implies that there are certain rights which membership in a group affords. We are familiar with our privileges as citizenships of the United States. The Bill of Rights has guaranteed us the freedom of speech, for example, and the freedom of worship and trial by jury. There is another right which we should greatly appreciate. That is the opportunity to raise our position. We are not bound by social classes, as has been the case in so many countries throughout history.

All Deserve Same Rights

Citizenship consists not only of rights and privileges, but of obligations, as well. It is our duty to vote for public officials whom we think will do the best for our country. Also, we are responsible for seeing that others in this country, and in foreign nations, are provided with the opportunities to which they are entitled.

Let us not be like the Pharisee in the parable, who thanked God that he was not lke other people. It is not enough to say, "I am proud that I live in America. Look at the freedom that we enjoy as compared to that in other countries. See how much higher our standard of living is, and how much more scientific and industrial knowledge we have." We must also strive that others might obtain these privileges which we hold so dear.

Our country has become great and strong because, throughout the years, it has had good citizens. Now is the time to begin building a better world through good international citizenship.

CHICK CHATS

Start Fall Feeding Program Now

You hear a lot from chicken experts on how to feed your laying flock. And there's just about as many methods of feeding as there are experts. Most all of the ways the experts talk about are sometimes good—if you follow them well and START THEM EARLY IN THE CHICK'S LIFE.

Generally speaking, there are four basic methods for feeding chicks. The easiest way is the "all-mash" system. After feeding the chicks starter for 1 weeks, gradually replace it with 16 to 17 precent laying mash. Don't feed grain. And house the pullets before they're laying 10 percent. A modification of this all-mash program is to feed oats with the mash during the range period

In the second method, you control the grain After 8 weeks of starter, start hand feeling whole oats. At 10 weeks, gradually replace the starter with 20% laying mash. Feed the whole grains in the afternoon. The grains shouldn't total over 50% of the ration. In other words, feed at least as many lbs. of mash as of grain. When the birds start laying, cut the grain back to 8 lbs per 100 birds daily. After a 3 or 4 months' production, increase the grain to 12 lbs. per 100 birds daily. Grain feeding should be reduced if production lags.

The third method is called "Free Choice Corn." Start feeding whole corn in self feeders at 8 weeks. At 10 weeks, gradually change the starter to 22-24% mash. Birds should eat enough corn to balance their own ration.

Cafeteria style is the fourth basic method. At 8 weeks, put limited amounts of whole corn and oats in front of the birds—along with the starter, of course. Gradually, increase the amount of whole grain. At 10 weeks, gradually replace starter with 25-27% balancer. Continue feeding corn and oats free choice. Devote at least 60% of the feeder space to the balancer.

With all of these methods, you make them work properly Pullets in the house should have 4 to 6 inches of feeder space each

And notice that all the feeding programs begin when the birds are about 8 weeks old That's important—especially when you're feeding free choice corn or cafeteria style. Starting the program early teaches the birds not to over eat grain Keep watching so they don't overdo the grain eating Lots of corn puts fat on the pullets but fat pullets don't lay eggs fast enough and they are more subject to blowouts.

Stick to the feeding program until you're sure it won't work Then back up For instance, if the birds overeat grain under the cafeteria style, feed the free choice corn method. Or if they overeat corn, control all the grain—changing the mash as listed in the second method.

Don't go from free choice corn to cafeteria (from method three to method four or from two to three). You'll just double your troubles.

See this column next week for an interesting new feeding program. You may find it to your liking.

Beth Robie, John Hagie Reign Over 4-H'ers' Fun Nite

Approximately 1,200 4-H'ers and friends witnessed the coronation of Beth Robie, Dayton Dandies, and John Hagie, Lincoln Leaders, as Queen and King as high point of the annual Wright county 4-H Fun Nite festivities last Friday at Clarion

Applause filled the grade school auditorium as the 1953 King and Queen, Jerry and Judy Woodin of Grant township, presented awards to their successors and mementoes of the occasion to each of the other King and Queen candidates. Miss Robie was given a sterling silver bracelet and Hagie a 4-H pen and pencil set. Each of the Queen contenders received a set of silver 4-H earrings and the King candidates received 4-H automatic pencils

Skits Well Received

The dozen skits presented by the 4-H clubs of the county were well received. Most were in a humorous vein, but the concluding skit introduced a serious note. It dealt with the significance of Easter. Two numbers by the county 4-H chorus were enjoyed.

Receipts from the Fun Nite program are used to send volunteer leaders to state and district training schools, 4-H chaperones to state and district events, to meet Rally Day expenses, to purchase music for the 4-H chorus and meet other costs of the club program

Two Emcees

Emceeing the Fun Nite entertainment were the county 4-H presidents, Glenda Wilson and Delos Poolman. Committee members and leaders who assisted with the event were: Mrs Clarence Whitten, Mrs Thomas Mathre, Mrs Merle Poolman, Mrs James Grimm, Mrs Ray Hagie, Mrs Ira Studebaker, Jr and Mrs Ed Campbell

Also, Homer Lyons, Wendell Swanson, Floyd Robie, Kenneth Tillman, Lawrence Murphy, Albert Moellering, L R Oberhauser, Ray Aldrich and Extension Director A R Bowman

Elma Fire Victim Buys Tavern Here

Leo Tonn, who was among the businessmen "burned out" when a disastrous fire swept the little town of Elma on March 4th, today joined the ranks of Belmond business proprietors when he took possession of Curt's Pool Hall. He has purchased the business from Curt Luick and leased its quarters from Ed Olson.

Mr Tonn and his wife will, for the time being, live in two rooms over the recreation establishment. They have four children, only one of whom is still living at home. Their daughter Shirley, 16, will finish out the school year at Elma and then join her parents here. The Tonns also have two married sons and a married daughter.

At Elma, Mr. Tonn had a clothing store and a tavern occupying separate premises. Both were destroyed by the fire. Mr Tonn painfully admits he had "only about enough insurance to cover the two front doors." He had cancelled $4,000 in insurance coverage on the two businesses only a matter of weeks before the fire.

A native of Riceville, Mr Tonn had been in business at Elma for a period of eight years. He moved to the Howard county community in northeast Iowa after his discharge from Naval service in 1946.

During World War II, he saw approximately three years of Navy duty, most of the time being spent aboard the light cruiser USS Cleveland as a butcher and later as a cook. He held the rating of Ship's Cook 3/c at the time of his discharge. Mr Tonn is a current member of the American Legion.

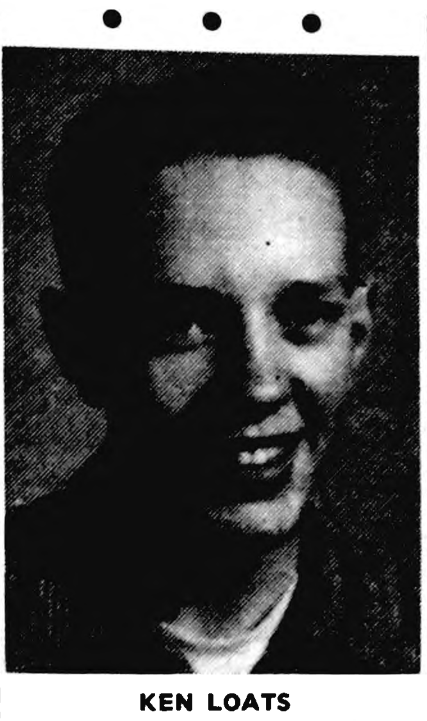
Ken Loats on IDPA's 4th All-State

• • •



KEN LOATS
Broncos' First "All-Stater"

Recognition came to Co-Captain Ken Loats last week such as no other BHS basketball player has gained in the entire history of the school when he was placed on the 4th all-state team of the Iowa Daily Press association. This distinction rated the lanky, blond star as one of the 12 finest forwards in the entire state.

Ken's team mate and the Broncos' other co-captain, Don Hoppel, was accorded a place at guard on the IDPA honor roll. This twin tribute to the two, retiring seniors will be regarded as a fitting one by followers of the BHS 1953-54 cage fortunes, for this pair played major roles in giving the Broncos the finest record ever produced by a Purple and White team — 23 victories in 25 games.

Loats Top Scorer

Loats was Belmond's top scorer, one of the finest defensive players in the North Iowa conference and an excellent rebounder. His work under the boards played a key part in more than one Bronco win. Although in the early part of the season he played little more than half the time—and in the first Forest City game was sidelined for all but a qaurter because of infected tonsils — Ken averaged 13 points per tilt over the season. In the last half of the season he really hit his scoring stride, averaging 16.3 for the final 13 games.

At 6 feet and ½ inch, and 160 pounds, Loats frequently found himself lined up against taller and heavier opponents. But his excellent timing and heady play compensated for such physical handicaps as he had to contend with, on occasion, and he was more than a match for every adversary he faced. In compiling 327 points for the year, Ken turned in several performances that Bronco fans will remember for a long time to come.

Holds Scoring Record

One was against Britt, on the Eagles' court, when he set a new BHS individual scoring mark with 35 points and contributed materially to the new Bronco team record of 94 points. Another highlight of the season was Kenny's 20-point night against Iowa Falls in the district tournament — and his all-around play easily matched his scoring achievement. He also turned in an outstanding game in the sub-state finals against Carroll, pouring in 19 points and impressively demonstrating his defensive ability at the same time.

Heavy support for the Bronco ace was undoubtedly received from coaches throughout the NI conference (ballots of more than 2,000 coaches and officials determine the IDPA selections). Time and time again as the BHS crew racked up a victory, opposing mentors commented after the game, "I'd give plenty to have that No. 35 on MY outfit."

Hoppel made up for slight stature with eagle-eye marksmanship and cagey defensive play. Though only 5-7 and weighing a meager 135, Don more often than not outscored, as well as outfought, rival forwards much larger than himself. He chalked up a total of 271 points for an average of approximately 11 per game and was the Broncos' second highest scorer.

Three Broncs Get On D.M. Register Cage Honor Roll

Three Belmond cagers were placed on the all-state honor roll as Jack North's annual Iowa high school selections were published last Sunday. Ken Loats, Don Hoppel and Larry Larson were the cagers given recognition.

As in the IDPA selections, two Bronco opponents were placed on the Des Moines Register on all-state teams. Floyd Wilkens of Carroll was rated a 3rd team choice and Lyle Frahm of Manning made the 6th team. The IDPA placed Frahm ahead of Wilkens, however.

Six North Iowa conference players, in addition to the Belmond trio, were listed on North's lengthy honor roll. They were Osbrink and Riekena (FC), Ron Snater and Daryle Jass (Garner), Swenson (LM) and Winter (BC). All but Snater were similarly recognized by the Iowa Daily Press association.

Kinseth Keglers Take City Crown; New Records Set in Most Divisions

Records fell in practically all divisions during the annual city bowling tournament of the Belmond Men's Bowling association conducted last week at Bowl-Mor Lanes. Perhaps the outstanding performance was the joint effort of George Sharp and Roger Kinseth in the doubles, which regained for them the cty title they shared last year. They joined forces for a record-smashing gross total of 1,239 pins, compared to the 1,194 that won duo laurels for them a year ago.

Very nearly as impressive were the marks posted by Kinseth's Hot-Pointers in the team scramble and Fred Pals in the all-events. Kinseth's garnered 2,895 pins to beat the Latimer Legion's winning total of last season by 84. Pals, in spite of a weak 532 gross in the singles, set a new standard of 1,792 in the all-events by harvesting 613 pins in the team event and 647 in doubles. With a 42-pin handicap, he had a net 605 in the two-man competition. Jerry Quigley was the all-events winner in '53 with 1,709.

This year's all-events race was a tough one in which to make any money. Ed Albers took second place with a very respectable 1,788; Fred Gordon was third with 1,761; and with a 1,743, Pete Pals could do no better than fourth.

Following Kinseth's in team competition, the other three money winners were Thompsen's Clothiers with 2,734, Independent with 2,718 and Rowan with 2,704. The team champs' big score owed a lot to the "scratch" 662 racked up by Ed Albers. Other individual series by members of the team were: Mel McMannus 546, Jack Lobdell 572, Rog Kinseth 545 and Kenny Kinseth 472. The Hot-Pointers carried a 96-pin handicap.

Pete Pals grabbed the singles title with a 601 effort, 52 pins under the total that gave first place to R. B. Thompson last year. In fact, there were three singles series over 600 a year ago. Pete got his winning total on games scores of 204-180-184, plus a 33-pin handicap. Others in the money were: 2nd, Jim Mariga, 593; tied for 3rd and 4th, Gary Brothers and Dale Caquelin, 588; 5th, Arlo Stoltenber, 587; 6th Maynard Holmgaard, 577; 7th, Anson Avery, 575; 8th, Ralph Jones, 570.

Prize money in the various events was divided as follows: team (17 entries) — 1st $34, 2nd $25.50, 3rd $17, 4th $8.50; singles (42 entries) — 1st $8.40, 2nd $7.14, 3rd and 4th (tie) $5.80, 5th $4.62, 6th $3.78, 7th $3.36 and 8th $2.94; doubles (29 entries) — 1st $23.20, 2nd $17.40, 3rd $11.60, 4th $5.80; all-events (38 entries) — 1st $15.20, 2nd $11.40, 3rd $7.60, 4th $3.80.

—PAT'S—
SPORTS SHORTS

This columnist has always felt that the Iowa Daily Press association's all-state selections come closer to reflecting "grass roots" sentiment than do the Des Moines Register teams. Just a bit too often the major schools seem to get the inside track in the Register nominations. Consequently, we were especially proud to see Ken Loats rate so high in the IDPA rankings. It was an honor well deserved. Our personal congratulations go to both Ken and to Donny Hoppel, who was one of a half dozen North Iowa conference stars who made the Daily Press honor roll. Also to Larry Larson, a Register nominee.

It was interesting to note that ALL the NI all-conference 1st team choices made IDPA honorable mention except Merle Garman of Britt. Those who won recognition were John Osbrink (FC), Jon Swenson (LM), Daryle Jass (Garner) and Hoppel. In addition, Ben Riekena (FC) and Floyd "Chub" Winter (BC) from the all-conference 2nd team also made the Daily Press honor roll.

—PSS—

Two adversaries the Broncs met during the season made one of the IDPA honor teams — and four others, besides those from the conference, were placed on the honor roll. Highest rank to a BHS opponent went to Manning's Lyle Frahm, who was assigned a 2nd team berth at forward. Matched with Loats at a 4th-team forward post was Floyd Wilkens of Carroll.

Four non-NI players who opposed the Broncs were accorded honorable mention—all of them as forwards. They were Dean Peters of Sheffield, Gary Muhlenbruck of Franklin Consolidated, Jim Crabbe of Eagle Grove and Keith Thorpe of Iowa Falls.

Take note that of the 15 different teams that Belmond faced in the course of the season, 10 possessed stars deemed by the IDPA to be worthy of statewide recognition. That hardly suggests that the Broncs established that 23-2 won-lost record against push-over opposition. Surely, we OWE them a hearty salute. . . . Got your banquet ticket yet?

—PSS—

It was virtually a forgone conclusion that Loats would not rate so high in the D. M. Register's all-state rankings as in the IDPA's. Jack North and his selection board apparently place much more importance on appearance in the state tournament than is reflected in the Daily Press choices. Out of the IDPA's 32 "all-staters," 12 were on teams in the "sweet 16" and 20 were named from non-tourney teams. Among Jack North's first 30 "all-staters" were 17 players from teams that appeared at Iowa City. Only 13 were chosen from also-rans.

—PSS—

Without doubt the most senseless omission from BOTH the all-state honors rolls, in the viewpoint of Belmond fans, was skipping over of Keith Madsen. Mind you, 142 guards were listed by the Register —plus 14 more on the honor teams —yet the fiesty Bronco guard did not get a nod!

Both Carroll guards were mentioned (in fact, the whole Carroll team was), both Brannick boys from Dows, Richard Showalter of Alexander, Lowell Stribe of Manning, Bob Smith of Eagl Grove.

It would be our guess that Coach Crimmings wouldn't have traded Madsen for any one in the lot, even though a half foot in height might have been gained. We suspect, further, that Jim wouldn't have exchanged LeRoy Smith for 80 per cent of the forwards honored. But that's how it goes with you "all" teams.

—PSS—

Dutch's Clothiers could very well have run off with the booster division in this year's state bowling tournament — if the Thompsen keglers had hit their stride in the team event instead of all strutting their stuff in the singles. Their efforts in the singles would have given them a team total of 2,883 (with 10 pins handicap), which is considerably better than the score that won the booster championship last year.

Those singles scores ran: Arlo Stoltenberg 601, Fred Gordon 593, "Dutch" Thompsen 571, Jim Mariga 569 and Johhny Pederson 550. All five performances stand a good chance to finish "in the money."

Only one of the Clothiers' doubles scores is likely to click for cash. Gordon and Mariga combined for a 581-530—1,111. In the team event, Dutch's gang hit for well under 2,600. They bowled in the state classic at Muscatine weekend before last. This coming weekend, three more Belmond teams will have their innings. Kinseth's Hot-Pointers, Independent Printers and Texaco will make the long trek.

Linda Bonte's 'A' Average Puts Her 1st on Honor Roll

Linda Bonte daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Bonte, led the junior high school honor roll for the third nine-week period with a perfect grade-point total of 24. This indicates that the seventh-grader had A's in all of her six subjects. Gladys Darrah, junior high principal, says she cannot recall of this achievement being matched at any time during the nine years that she has been a teacher in Belmond.

A total of 18 grade-points (four for A, three for B, etc.) is required for honor roll qualification. Miss Darrah reported this week that eight other seventh grade pupils had this total or more: Howard Musseli 23, Daryl Bohning 22, Karen Chapman 21, Dennis Vanness, Cynthia Saunders and Connie Gabrielson 20 each. Lois Riekens and Lorrine Davenport 18 each.

Seventeen eighth-graders were on the honor list, led by Sara Simerson with 22 points and DaDean Obrecht with 21 Those with 20 were — JoAnn McMannus, William Halfwassen and John Studebaker; 19 — Nadine Rabe, Charlotte Rokke, Linda Davenport, Donna Nolan, Sandra Soma, 18 — Meredith Jenison, Paul Kalkwarf, Marlene Benson, Eloise Kirkendall, Douglas Nodland, Wilma Pruisman and Charlotte Studebaker

Miss Darrah added that Judy Oberhauser was certain of inclusion on the eighth grade list but technically has not yet qualified as absence from school due to chickenpox has kept her from completing the quarter's work, to date.

D. L. Morse Ends 38-Year Career In Law Profession

D. L. Morse, 71, former Belmond resident who for the past 38 years has practiced law at Blue Earth, Minn., on Monday of last week announced his retirement. Mr. Morse said the fact that he has been in ailing health since the first of this year led to his decision.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Morse, the Minnesota attorney grew to manhood here and is a graduate of Belmond High school. He obtained his pre-law training at Cornell college, Mount Vernon, and then earned his law degree at the University of Minnesota, graduating in 1909

He practiced his profession at Wells, Minn., for about five years before forming a law partnership with the late Henry J. Frundt at Blue Earth in 1915. Since 1938 he has been associated with his original partner's son, John H. Frundt

Mr. Morse gained a high reputation in Minnesota legal circles, as evidenced by the positions of responsibility in which he served during his long career. He was a member of the state board of law examiners from 1921 to 1944 and was president of the board during his last eight years of membership on it. Since 1944 he has served on the board of governors of the Minnesota State Bar association.

He also is a past vice president of the district bar association and a former city attorney of Blue Earth. He has been active in Kiwanis International, was a charter member of the Blue Earth club and its first president In 1939 he was lieutenant-governor of the Minnesota-Dakota district.

County School Aid On Bus Operation Totaled $30,445

Wright county schools received $30,445.51 in state aid toward cost of transporting rural students to and from school during the 1952-53 school year. According to County Supt. C. W. Sankey, who released the information last weekend, this was almost a thousand dollars less than the equivalent figure for the previous year.

Closing of more and more rural schools over the state has resulted in the transportation fund falling progressively shorter of covering transportation costs. Total cost for transportation of all rural students in the county came to $84,256.83, so the state money covered only 36.1 per cent of the expense.

Allowances to most of the county school districts had to be slightly reduced last year, due to reduction in the county's share of the state appropriation for school transportation purposes. Belmond's, however, was somewhat increased because a larger number of rural students were enrolled in the Belmond schools Division of the fund is made on a per-pupil basis, with the factors of distance and type of road covered entering into the computations.

Belmond got $5,564.53 last year, figured at $23.185 per pupil In 1951-52 the local school system received $5,444.75 in state transportation aid.

Per-pupil allowances for other school districts in the county figured: $24.05 for Eagle Grove, $25.139 for Woolstock, $23.01 for Rowan, $22.82 for Woolstock, $22.98 for Dows and $22.21 for Clarion Total allowances for these communities came to: Clarion $6,214.55, Eagle Grove $4,139.08 Goldfield $3,297.36, Rowan $2,587.07 and Woolstock $1,043.27.

Jury Impanelled For Damage Suit

Jurors were impanelled Monday to hear the damage suit currently being heard in Wright county district court, John F. Rietema vs. Louise E. Gardiner, administratrix of the estate of Leslie R Gardiner, deceased, Leon Lester and the Moorman Chemical Co.

This suit is an outgrowth of the fatal accident two miles north and 8½ west of Belmond on June 5, 1953, that claimed the life of Gardiner, Rowan feed salesman. The car he was driving and the vehicle driven by the plaintiff collided, Gardiner receiving injuries that caused his death before he could be taken to the Belmond hospital.

It is understood that cross petitions entered by the defendants will be given simultaneous consideration by the court.

When hearing of the case got under way Tuesday morning, the court room was nearly filled with spectators, indicating an unusally wide, general interest in the case.

Two Belmond jurors were chosen, E. R. Strait and Regina Hewlett. Others on the jury are: Wilma Wakefield, Avron Peyton and Edna Henley, Clarion; Robert Ryan and Norris Olson, Eagle Grove; Iris Ericksen, Luella Jacobson and Merrill Telleen, Dows; Gerald Nelson, Renwick; and Marcella Halfwassen, Pleasant township (Meservey).

BELMOND CLUB WOMEN TAKE PROMINENT PART AT COUNTY GATHERING

Belmond women played a prominent part in the annual convention of the Wright County Federation of Women's clubs held Monday morning and afternoon at the Clarion Presbyterian church. Mrs. Clair Bonte, a member of the Culture Study club, presided over the sessions as chairman of the county federation.

Mrs. L. B. Oberhauser presented a talk on the subject, "The House of Womanhood." She is director of the federated clubs of the Sixth District. As district committeewoman on legislation, Mrs. S. P. Leinbach was heard briefly on matters concerning her committee.

Mrs. James Barry was present in her capacity as secretary-treasurer of the county organization. Mrs. Paul Jenison served as pianist for the afternoon memorial service and Mrs. Ella Luick led the collect or prayer. These women who participated in the program are all Progress club members.

Major speaker was Mrs. J. L. Lush of Ames, third vice president of the Iowa Federation. She had as her topic, "European Ramblings," and told of various experiences during tours she has taken in Europe.

Other Belmond delegates, besides those already mentioned, were Mrs. Rex Fetrow, Mrs. L. B. Kallestad and Mrs. A. C. Lieuwen.

State Educator Speaker at PTA

Paul Wallace of Des Moines, who is on the staff of the state department of public instruction, was speaker at the Parent-Teachers meeting held Monday night. He reviewed the requirements of a sound educational program.

A special resolution was passed by the PTA commending Coach Jim Crummings and his staff for the achievements of the athletic department during the current school year.

Consideration was given to continuation of the summer recreation program and a report was given on the program conducted last year. No specific action was taken toward setting up the coming summer's program, but it was agreed that at least some of the vacation-time activities of the past few years should again be carried on.

Red Cross Attains Its Campaign Goal; $1,587 Turned In

As chairmen of most of the solicitation areas got in their reports the latter part of last week and the early part of the current week, the goal for the 1954 Red Cross fund drive was reached and passed. Mrs. Robert Garms, general chairman of the campaign, reported Tuesday afternoon that total returns were then up to $1,587.75. This was $182.75 in excess of the assigned goal.

Mrs. Garms expressed her thanks to all who assisted in conduct of the drive and the appreciation of herself and the local chapter committee for the public response to the drive. This was the second consecutive year that Mrs. Garms has headed the campaign, and on both occasions the goal has been met with some to spare.

However, even with the goal achieved, the local share of the campaign proceeds will fall short of financing the annual, summer swimming program that the Belmond chapter sponsors. Consequently, Mrs. Garms urges any persons who were not contacted during the drive to leave their contributions at the First State bank. It is essential, she stresses, that the drive produce as large a sum as possible to assure continuation of the swimming program and other chapter projects.

Three Local FFA Entries Advance

Belmond Future Farmers earned three gold medal ratings in the district FFA judging conducted last Saturday at Story City. The entries that thereby earned the right to contend for state Gold Medals at Davenport later this month were Airell Clark's secretary's book, Jack Spitler's treasurer record and the scrapbook of Reporter Tim Trees.

Friendly Service chapter of the FFA will also be represented at Davenport by a chapter exhibit. Last year the BHS exhibit was among those winning top, state ratings.

A silver medal rating was awarded Belmond's all-sophomore parliamentary procedure team consisting of Larry Wolters, Tim Trees, Vernon McLaughlin, Gary Gabrielson and Tommy Stadtlander. With the experience they gained this year, Adviser Don Collinson believes this group will be serious contenders for a Gold Medal in next year's state contest.

Bob McLaughlin, the BHS representative in public speaking, also was given a next-to-highest rating at Story City..

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Killius attended the funeral Monday in Mason City of two and a half year old Julie Bailey of Clarion. Little Julie was killed Friday evening in a car-truck crash near Ventura. The Baileys are renters in the Killius home in Clarion. Mrs. Bailey and six year old Cindy remain in critical condition.

Wright Supervisors' Expense Claims Show Downturn During Year of '52

Evidence that Wright county is losing its reputation for having one of the most "expensive" boards of supervisors in the state was very apparent in a tabulation on 1952 board costs released this week by the Iowa Taxpayers association.

For several years preceding the one in question, Wright's supervisors had earned the dubious distinciton of costing their constituents more on a per-person basis than some 90 to 95 per cent of the counties in Iowa.

However, with the general turnover in Wright board membership that has seen all but one elected supervisor replaced in the past couple of years, a new restraint has been shown by the board in entering per diem and mileage claims.

Wright Expense Reduced

Comparative figures provided by the Taxpayers association show that in 1951, the boards in only three of the 49 counties in the 15,000-25,000 population bracket operated at a higher per-person cost than Wright's. The per-person cost of the Wright board figured at 79 cents. In 1952, boards from nine of the 49 counties were costlier than Wright's.

In 1952, the Wright supervisors' expenses came down to 73 cents on a per-person basis (calculated on the county's population of 19,652, compared with total board costs of $14,251). In only two other counties among the 49 did the boards effect a reduction in their per-person cost of operation between 1951 and '52. One of these was Hancock, where the figure was cut from 72 to 65 cents.

Buena Vista Costs Lowest

In Wright's population group, 16 other counties have five-man boards. Average per-person cost for these boards was 69 cents, or only four cents less than the figure for the Wright supervisors. However, the low-cost board among the 49 in the entire population bracket was Buena Vista's, which is comprised of five supervisors. It had the low '51 cost at 20 cents per person and continued low in '52 at 21 cents. The high-cost board in both years was Palo Alto's, with 94 cents in 1951 and $1.04 in '52.

Supervisory costs include: per diem pay for regular and special meetings and committee work; mileage for travel to meetings and other travel required by county business; per diem and mileage for drainage work; and miscellaneous (occasional meals, etc.). Drainage expense is assessed against the drainage district involved, rather than being paid out of county funds.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Swenson and family spent Friday evening in the Roy Cummings home at Crystal Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vestweber spent last week visiting relatives and friends at Storm Lake and in South Dakota.

Halfpap In Crew Of Plane Carrier

FAR EAST (FHTNC) — Bernard E. Halfpap, machinist's mate fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Halfpap of Belmond, Ia., is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Essex, with the UN's power patrol off the east coast of Korea and in the Sea of Japan. The Essex began her third tour of duty in the Far East when she rejoined Task Force 77 in the Orient in January.

With her new, streamlined island structure and redesigned flight and hangar decks, the ship would hardly be recognized today by the first pilots who landed aboard her 10 years ago. In her "new look," the Essex has the distinction of being the oldest active carrier in the fleet, yet one of the most modern.

How they save money on cars

Sure, the prices of cars are up. But they'd probably be higher if it weren't for advertising. Both the dealer and the manufacturer use advertising as their low-cost way to get across news about their products.

Selling more goods this way makes mass production possible which means lower production costs, lower selling costs, lower prices than would otherwise occur.

Yes, advertising is a low-cost selling method that helps hold your living costs down.

GOODELL NEWS

BY MRS. AMOS HANSON

DANIEL CONWELL DIES

Word was received last week of the death of Daniel Conwell, 92, on Wednesday at Iowa City. He was the father of Owen Conwell of Clear Lake, former Goodell resident, and had become acquainted with many Goodellians during visits here. Besides Owen, he is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. Jim Gaten of Carroll; and two other sons, Dr. R. Conwell of Iowa City and Dr. D. Conwell of Wichita, Kans.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Halfpop went to Mason City Sunday and were dinner guests in the home of her son, Harry Cline. In the afternoon, they visited in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Leonard Lowenberg.

Mrs. Roy Davis and Lela of Kanawha, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Davis, Darlene and Janis and Dixie Garber of Rockford were supper guests Sunday in the home of relatives, the Donald Burks.

OUR FARM NEIGHBORS

MARVIN C. HINDMAN

We decided that the subject of our interview keeps pretty busy, after watching him go for about 20 minutes before we could visit.

At the Hindman farm, 6 miles east of Goodell, Marvin and his hired man were hauling more feed for the 22 cattle and 280 head of feeder pigs and then began to set up the hammermill to grind cobs for bedding.

The Hindman's farm 210 acres, 160 of which they own and on which Marvin has lived the past 21 years this fall.

In talking about feeder pigs, Marvin said he had some trouble with diseased ones last year, so he let them alone for about 6 months and seems to be getting along OK again, but doesn't intend to raise any of his own for at least another year.

He is milking 6 cows and at present has 22 purebred Hereford cows, starting his herd 12 years ago.

The Hindman's like Hy Line pullets and have 1500 coming this spring.

The family of four including Larrie, a senior in Meservey high school, and David 7 live in a large 1½ story modern brick home built in 1940.

Marvin said he became a customer of the bank, who sponsors these interviews, in 1938 when he sealed his first corn.

WE PRESENT AS INSPIRING A MESSAGE AS YOUNG AMERICA HAS EVER SPOKEN

If you can read the following essay without feeling a sting in your eyes, a lump in your throat and swelling pride in your heart, we suggest you give your sense of patriotism a careful examination. It was written by a 16-year-old Ohio girl, Elizabeth Ellen Evans; and it was passed on to us by Bill Dempsey, local American Legion commander. It was the national winner in a contest conducted by the Firestone Tire and Rubber company, in which more than a million U. S. high school students competed. We regard it as a privilege to present it to our readers. Even if you saw and heard the young author present it personally on television, we're sure you will want to read the words, yourself.

I SPEAK FOR DEMOCRACY

by Elizabeth Ellen Evans

I am an American.
Listen to my words, Fascist, Communist.
Listen well, for my country is a strong country, and my message is a strong message.
I am an American, and I speak for democracy.
My ancestors have left their blood on the green at Lexington and the snow at Valley Forge
. . . on the walls of Fort Sumter and the fields at Gettysburg
. . . on the waters of the River Marne and in the shadows of the Argonne Forest
. . . on the beachheads of Salerno and Normandy and the sands of Okinawa
. . . on the bare, bleak hills called Pork Chop and Old Baldy and Heartbreak Ridge.
A million and more of my countrymen have died for freedom.
My country is their eternal monument.
They live on in the laughter of a small boy as he watches a circus clown's antics
. . . and in the sweet, delicious coldness of the first bite of peppermint ice cream on the Fourth of July
. . . in the little tenseness of a baseball crowd as the umpire calls "Batter up!"
. . . and in the high school band's rendition of "Stars and Stripes Forever" in the Memorial Day parade
. . . in the clear, sharp ring of a school bell on a fall morning
. . . and in the triumph of a six-year-old as he reads aloud for the first time.

They live on in the eyes of an Ohio farmer surveying his acres of corn and potatoes and pasture
. . . and in the brilliant gold of hundreds of acres of wheat stretching across the flat miles of Kansas
. . . in the milling of cattle in the stockyards of Chicago
. . . the precision of an assembly line in an automobile factory in Detroit
. . . and the perpetual red glow of the nocturnal skylines of Pittsburgh and Birmingham and Gary.

They live on in the voice of a young Jewish boy saying the sacred words from the Torah: "Hear O Israel: the Lord our God, the Lord is One. Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy might."
. . . and in the voice of a Catholic girl praying: "Hail, Mary, full of grace, the Lord is with thee . . ."
. . . and in the voice of a Protestant boy singing: "A mighty Fortress is our God, A Bulwark never failing . . ."

An American named Carl Sandburg wrote these words:

> "I know a Jew fishcrier down on Maxwell Street with a voice like a north wind blowing over corn stubble in January.
> He dangles herring before prospective customers evincing a joy identical with that of Pavlova dancing.
> His face is that of a man terribly glad to be selling fish, terribly glad that God made fish, and customers to whom he may call his wares from a pushcart."

There is a voice in the soul of every human being that cries out to be free. America has answered that voice.

America has offered freedom and opportunity such as no land before her has ever known, to a Jew fishcrier down on Maxwell Street with the face of a man terribly glad to be selling fish.
She has given him the right to own his pushcart, to sell his herring on Maxwell Street,
. . . she has given him an education for his children, and a tremendous faith in the nation that has made these things his.

Multiply that fishcrier by 160,000,000—160,000,000 mechanics and farmers and housewives and coal miners and truck drivers and chemists and lawyers and plumbers and priests—all glad, terribly glad to be what they are, terribly glad to be free to work and eat and sleep and speak and love and pray and live as they desire, as they believe!
And those 160,000,000 Americans—those 160,000,000 free Americans — have more roast beef and mashed potatoes, the yield of American labor and land;
. . . more automobiles and telephones,
. . . more safety razors and bathtubs,
. . . more Orlon sweaters and aureomycin,
the fruits of American initiative and enterprise;
. . . more public schools and life insurance policies,
the symbols of American security and faith in the future;
. . . more laughter and song—
than any other people on earth!

This is my answer, Fascist, Communist!
Show me a country greater than our country, show me a people more energetic, creative, progressive—bigger - hearted and happier than our people, not until then will I consider your way of life.
For I am an American, and I speak for democracy.

Little Prospect of Quick Strike Settlement at Present

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Manager "Cec" Carstens of IEL &P was more than mite embarrassed this week when solicitous friends inquired why he had his left hand heavily encased in bandages. The light and power company always urges its clients, "When your furnace gives you trouble, call in a trained service man." Mr. Carstens swears that next time he'll do just that.

Seems his furnace went out during the weekend and he attempted to re-light the pilot by tossing ignited paper in the furnace door. An immediate puff of flame enveloped the hand that had just released the paper—and "Cec" made a hurry-up trip to the hospital for first aid.

He finds some consolation in the fact that he did NOT follow the often recommended procedure for re-lighting an extinguished pilot by using a long, paper taper. Had he been trying to guide such an implement into the furnace's innards he'd have had his face where the hand was—and the end result, he shudders to contemplate.

—M-S—

So that local, canine friends will not miss the item, we have plucked the following "personal" from this week's Meservey news to pass along, verbatim: "Shirley Ostendorf and Marian Wessels, accompanied by the former's dog Sandy, a Cocker Spaniel, were Belmond business callers Friday. The latter consulted a veterinarian."

—M-S—

Kite-flying is certainly enjoying a revival as a youthful pastime in Belmond this spring. Can't remember a recent year when so many kites have been in evidence. Every decent "flying afternoon," a half-dozen or more are aloft over Kirkendall's pasture. We suspect that some of the boys are enjoying the thrill of flying a kite for the first time.

Mrs. Glenn Eccles called up Ye Ed on Sunday afternoon to reports that whole flotilla of kites was in the air north of the Barry adition. Twenty-one persons (including a scattering of adults) were participating in the fun, either in an active or advisory capacity.

It's been somewhat of a disappointment to Ye Ed to see nary a homemade model take to the breeze. There can't be half the satisfaction to flying a "store-boughten" kite that there is to seeing a personally created masterpiece flutter gracefully with the wind. He'd also like to see an old fashioned box kite join the company sometime, too.

—M-S—

If memory serves correctly, those box kites always were considerably more tempermental than the orthodox variety and more persuasion was required to get them flying on an even keel. A favorite childhood recollection of Ye Ed's deals with and eight-foot giant of a box kite that was constructed for the specific purpose of bearing skyward a kerosene lantern. As we recall, the project was somewhat hampered by the fact that the wind usually died down at dusk (and when else should an illuminated kite be flown?). But the endeavor was ultimately blessed with success; the mammoth kite not only carried the latern to the heavens, but the flyer had to dig in his heels to avoid taking off, also.

—M-S—

About a dozen and a half interested 3rd-graders from Garner were particularly impressed members of the audience on Wednesday of last week when D. W. Overbeay and several of his blind students from the state school at Vinton appeared at the meeting of the League of Women Voters. The youngsters, who were accompanied by their teacher, had a special reason for making the trip.

Their teacher has taught them the mysteries of the Braille system of reading and writing, and they have been carrying on correspondence with handicapped boys and girls at the Braille and Sight-Saving school.

Of particular interest to the young guests was a demonstration given by a girl who this year is a senior at the Vinton institution. She not only showed the degree of adeptness which the blind can acquire in writing by this method, but also read aloud from a Braille copy of the Reader's Digest. Without doubt, the little visitors appreciated much more than their elders the patience and determination that lay behind the exhibition.

Two Pick Off $25

"The big one" got away as drawings were held Tuesday to find winners for the weekly Cash Gifts put up by Belmond businessmen, but—two of the $25 cash awards found claimants. Those picking off the prizes were Mrs. Joe Kaduce (No. 216)—whose sister, Mrs. Albert Smit, matched the performance last week; and Mrs. Johannes Pals of Meservey (No. 196). No. 2,435 would have taken home the $250 gift at 3:00 o'clock, but it wasn't presented. Other 2:00 p. m. numbers which, like the two winners, would have been good for $25 apiece were: 318, 271, 1,937 and 2,781. Next Tuesday amounts drawn for will be the same as this week—six $25 Cash Gifts at 2:00 o'clock and a $250 transfusion for your bank account at 3:00 p. m.

$12,000 Awarded To John Rietema In Accident Suit

In accord with a verdict rendered last Saturday by jury in the case of John F. Rietmea vs. Louise Gardiner, administratix for the estate of Leslie R. Gardiner, deceased, Leon Lester and Moorman Chemical company, a judgment of $12,000 and costs was rendered in favor of the plaintiff.

The entire week was devoted to hearing of this case in Wright county district course, with Judge H. C. Nichol on the bench. The jury was impanelled on Monday and the next four days were spent in hearing testimony.

At mid-morning on Saturday, the jury was instructed by Judge Nichol and the members then retired to deliberate. A sealed verdict, which had been agreed upon by consels for the principal parties, was returned at 6.00 p. m.

Rietema had sued for $35,000 for damage to his car and personal injuries received when his car and that of the late Leslie Gardiner of Rowan collided on a gravel road northwest of Belmond last June 5. Gardiner was a salesman for Moorman's and Lester, who was a passenger in the car, was the Rowan man's sales supervisor.

Mrs. Gardiner had filed a cross-petition asking judgment in amount equal to that sought by sought by Rietema. It was automatically dismissed by the jury's action. Lester had also filed a cross-petition against Rietema and Mrs. Gardiner, asking $21,923.44 in damages. The jury found against the plaintiff, in this instance.

MARY LOU BAKER SANG IN ISC CAMPUS SONG-FEST

AMES — Mary Lou Baker, Belmond, was a choirister for Welch hall at Sor-Dor, annual song-fest for sororities and dormitories at Iowa State college. Twenty-four voices are chosen from each rresidence.

This sing was conducted Sunday afternoon, April 4, with 16 of the 19 residences on campus competing. It is sponsored by Sigma Alpha Iota, women's music professional fraternity.

Trophies were awarded to the sorority and the dormitory entering the best musical groups. Welch hall's chorus was judged second among the sororities.

MRS. McBURNEY DIES

Mrs. A. C. Lieuwen last week received word from Philip McBurney of Boynton Beach, Fla., former Belmond resident, that his wife died on March 27. Interment took place in a cemetery at Cedar Rapids last Thursday.

Members of the faculty that will be teaching in Belmond Community School district next fall were given an across-the-board raise of $150 as school boards of the Community district and Belmond Independent district set salaries Tuesday evening. This increase will be in addition to the annual raises of $100 (for two years) and $50 (for three years) that automatically go to those who have been in the Belmond system for five years or less.

Bert Kalkwarf, president of the Independent board, says that teachers' salaries in schools of larger size are going up next fall throughout this area. In order to assure the best, possible faculty for the schools in the Belmond district, the local board regarded that it had no choice but to follow the trend. Mr. Kalkwarf cited that $150 increases were also voted at Northwood, $240 at Lake Mills, $185 at Mason City and $300 at Ames.

Faris' Salary Raised

Supt. Don Faris has been rewarded for a highly competent administrative job, Mr. Kalkwarf added, in the form of a three-year contract at the figure of $7,200 annually. This included a bonus raise of $450 above the $150 amount granted most of the other faculty members. Next fall Mr. Faris will be starting his eighth year as head of-the local schools.

Teachers who put in 10 to 12 months of the year at their duties will get an extra $50 apiece, making a total increase of $200. In this category are Principal Clair Hugh, Band Director Roland Brom, Coach Jim Crimmings, Homemaking Instructor Carol Richards and the vocational agriculture instructor. Don Collinson, present "ag" instructor, is among the teachers not intending to return. He plans to become an agricultural missionary.

Eight Vacancies to Fill

Besides the vocational agriculture assignment, seven other vacancies in the faculty will have to be filled. One was caused by the death of Mrs. Artie Baker, and the following teachers have informed the board they do not plan to return next fall: Eldoris Bunnell, Dean Hughes, Annette Green, Hildreth Tlach, Gertrude Lee, Mrs. Maretta Ness Holton and Mrs. Rose Dunbar Beavers. Information regarding six new teachers who have already signed contracts will be released next week, according to Mr. Faris

After waiving the rule during the current year in order to fill out the faculty last fall, the requirement that all teachers in the Belmond system must have at least a two-year standard certificate will be rigidly observed during the coming school year, Mr. Faris says. Most of the present teachers already had training sufficient to meet this stipulation, he adds. The few who fell short are planning to qualify for the necessary certificate by attending summer school.

Board Sends Out Notice of Appeal On School Ruling

Notice that the Wright county board of education intends to appeal a recent ruling of State Supt. Jessie M. Parker regarding school areas in Norway township was served this week on the Hancock county board of education. Hancock County Supt. C. F. Whitney and Edmund Andregg of Britt, president of the Hancock board.

County Attorney Ben Birdsall said Tuesday that similar notice would be served before the end of the week on Miss Parker and Dwight G. Rider of Fort Dodge, president of the state board of education.

Formal appeal from the Parker ruling will be filed in district court at Clarion this Friday, Mr. Birdsall added. This action stems from a decision Miss Parker rendered on an earlier appeal directed to her by the Hancock board. The Hancock body protested certain land assignments that came out of reorganization planning carried on by the Wright and Hancock boards, acting jointly.

It is the contention of the Wright board that Miss Parker exceeded her legal authority in assuming personal responsibility for assigning disputed land areas to the proposed Kanawha Community School district.

Supplementary action will be sought in the Polk county district court by the Wright board. Mr. Birdsall said he planned to file at Des Moines, either today or tomorrow, a petition for review of Miss Parker's acts and for a writ of certiorari. Plaintiffs to this petition will include, besides the Wright board, 124 landowners or residents who would be affected by the Parker ruling.

If the writ is issued by the Polk court, the state superintendent's ruling would be declared void. Miss Parker's decision was released on March 17 and the Wright board had a period of 30 days in which to enter an appeal.

SPEECH CONTEST HELD

Don Bunnell, Belmond representative in the area speech contest of Toastmasters International held last Saturday at Webster City, was not placed as one of the two top entrants. Floyd Woodard of Webster City, was awarded first and will advance to the district contest. His topic was "How Can We Best Combat Juvenile Delinquency?" Second-place winner, and alternate for the district competition, was Don Thomas of Mason City. Other place listings were not announced.

PICKET DUTY is the lot of all idle members of Belmond local of the Grain Millers union (AFL) while the current strike is on at the General Mills plant. With 88 men subject to this detail and four serving at a time for four-hour shifts, it brings "the duty" to each man about once every four days. When The Independent photographer took the above picture of this unprecedented activity at the plant, Don Smith (left) and "Bud" Stoffer comprised the picket detail at the north driveway to the GMI grounds.

Interested Group Hears Talk Given By Head of State School at Vinton

Explosion of Soot Causes Extensive Damage to Church

Rev. O. M. Severseike says it will be impossible to hold services at St. Olaf church for several weeks due to damage done a week ago Sunday when the oil-buring furnace in the basement exploded. Although no fire occurred, the entire interior of the church was blackened with soot and it will not be usable until thoroughly cleaned and redecorated.

The mishap took place following a concert by the St. Olaf college choir. Lunch was being served in the basement but most of the singers had already gone out to their bus. Clothing of all persons still in the church was badly soiled by the soot.

Only last fall the whole interior of the church had been redecorated, so the members were especially dismayed to see all the work and expense of that effort go for naught. Pastor Severseike says he believes, however, that insurance will completely cover the damage done.

GIFT TO HOSPITAL

Administrator Jack Shepard reports that a memorial gift of $6.00 has been received by Belmond Community hospital in the name of the late Mrs. Norman Gabrielson.

D. W. Overbeay, superintendent of the state Braille and Sight-Saving school at Vinton, found himself with an attentive and keenly interested audience at the special meeting of the League of Women Voters held Wednesday of last week at St. John American Lutheran church. About 60 members and guests of the organization attended the luncheon that preceded the talk, and a number of other persons joined the group to hear the Vinton visitor's remarks and witness some of his young charges exhibit the skills they have acquired at the state institution.

It was explained by Mr. Overbeay that the title, "School for the Blind," was abandoned several years ago in deference to the sensitivity of some of the parents sending children to the school. By no means all the students are totally blind, he added; many have partial vision, but to insufficient degree that they can be educated in public schools.

Accompanying Mr. Overbeay were a girl who is a high school senior, a woman who serves as music instructor for the handicapped children and eight boys who make up her double quartet. The music teacher told the audience that her charges are currently preparing for state music competition, just the same as the students in hundreds of public schools throughout the state.

Several numbers were presented by the double quartet, four of the boys performed as a quartet and one of them offered a bass solo. The senior girl demonstrated the Braille method of reading and writing with the help of a board equipped with six light bulbs, representing the half-dozen dots that comprise the basis of the system. She also did some writing in Braille and read aloud from a Braille magazine.

A favorable vote by the League members on recommendations of the nominating committee elected the following new officers: Mrs. Robert Dawson of Clarion, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Robert Garms of Belmond, treasurer; Mrs. Alre Watts of Clarion and Mrs. Jay Knuths of Galt, directors. Mrs. Orrin Jacobson continues for another year as League president.

Meeting Launches Cancer Campaign

Wright county chapter of the Iowa Division of the American Cancer Society held its kick-off meeting for the annual April Crusade at the Clarion Legion hall Tuesday afternoon of last week. Mrs. Florence Aldinger of Dows, chapter president and chairman of the fund-raising campaign, conducted the meeting.

Betty Tracy, county health nurse, gave a report on the service program of the county chapter. She also introduced the nurse who is to replace her, Audrey Engen. A new cancer film produced for the Iowa Division by the State University of Iowa, entitled "One in Five," was shown.

Dr. C. P. Hawkins of Clarion gave an informative talk about cancer and afterwards answered questions from the audience.

Mrs. Aldinger has appointed the following township chairmen to oversee the Crusade drive in their particular areas in the Belmond vicinity: Mrs. Don Markham, Belmond township; Mrs. Lester Buseman, Pleasant; Mrs. Ivan Valley, Iowa; Mrs. Lynn Thompson, Grant; and Mrs. Grant Jurgensen, Norway.

The community of Belmond does not take part in the Cancer Crusade, since an appropriation of $700 for the Cancer Society is included in the Community Chest budget.

Neither GM, Union Shows Any Intent Of Changing Stand

On Wednesday of this week, no break appeared in prospect in connection to the six-day-old strike of the American Federation of Grain Millers against General Mills, Inc. By latest word from Minneapolis, where negotiations were carried on before the strike went into effect at 12:01 a. m. last Friday, no meetings between GMI and union representatives have been held since that time and none are at present planned. Neither have either of the disputants sought to have federal conciliators re-enter the picture.

Some 4.600 union employees in in 27 General Mills milling plants have been left idle by the strike order. At the local plant, 96 men are members of the union. All of these have been off the job since the strike was called except for eight men on the plant protection crew.

Final Pay Friday

Final "pay day" for the idle union members, for the duration of the strike, will be tomorrow. There is a week's lag in making out and delivering pay checks of local GMI employees, so those they will pick up at the plant office on Friday will represent the wages earned last week prior to time of the strike.

All told, the weekly payroll for union employees at the Belmond plant approximates $9,000.

Because of the delayed paychecks, no financial crimp due to the strike was being felt seriously among the striking workers this week — nor in Belmond stores. It was a foregone conclusion, though, that a critical problem would be posed to both the employees and to local store owners if the strike lasts over any extended period of time.

Both Standing Pat

In the meantime, President Larry Greenwood of the Grain Millers local says there has been no information from the Federation headquarters to indicate any shift in the union's determination to maintain its stand. The status insofar as General Mills' intentions are concerned appears the same. Major bone of contention is a provision concerned with scheduling of work shifts. Basic wages are not involved, since they are negotiated by the individual locals.

Subsequent to the walk-out of striking workmen last week, GMI President C. H. Bell authorized the following statment: "The management of General Mills sincerely regrets that the union felt it necessary to call a nationwide strike against the company. The management feels that the issue involved was one that should properly be resolved by negotiation and that the employees of General Mills and the public they serve will be needlessly inconvenienced. The employees alone will suffer an economic loss of about $400,000 per week.

GMI Ready to Negotiate

"The management of General Mills is ready and willing to resume negotiations at any time. There remains but one real issue, a somewhat technical clause in the present contract referring to certain types of work scheduling. The question of swing shifts is not involved, and the paragraphs in the contract providing for their negotiation are not in dispute."

After last-minute efforts of federal negotiators failed to bring company and union into agreement, President Bell stated: "Somehow in these negotiations there seems to have developed a fear that the company position is indicative of some future intent to institute oppressive practices which would disregard the rights and welfare of our employees.

No Statement from Union

"Such is so far from our intent that we take this means of assuring our employees . . . that our entire purpose is to preserve the obviously necessary right to meet business necessities as they arise. That is also in our employees' interest, for they cannot prosper unless we also are successful in meeting the needs of our customers."

Union President Greenwood was contaceted by The Independent and asked if he had any statement that his organization might wish to make at this point. He said there was none, but promised to avail himself of these columns for that purpose if the occasion should later arise.

SEVEN SCHEDULED TO JOIN ST. JOHN CHURCH SUNDAY

Seven young people of St. John Lutheran church who for the past two years have been devoting their Saturday forenoons to learning of the Catechism and its application in their lives will be formally received into communicant membership of the church Sunday morning.

Those who will receive the rite of Confirmation and thus confirm the faith spoken for them by their sponsors at the time of Holy Baptism are Sharon Koppernagel, Mary Pals, Helen Pals, Diane Vestweber, Paul Kalkwarf, Marlin Pals and Eugene Widdel.

Seven Varsity Cagers, Seven Froshmores Get Letters at Banquet

Seven BHS varsity cagers were awarded letters and the same number of freshmen and sophomores received monograms as more than 150 basketball fans attended the Lions club banquet honoring the Broncos and Colts at Veterans' Memorial hall Monday night.

Recipients of major B's were Co-captains Ken Loats and Don Hoppel, Larry Larsen, Keith Madsen, LeRoy Smith, Ronnie Hanson and Gene Mehl. Only the first three will be lost by graduation this spring.

Winners of minor B's were Bruce Hall, Roger "Joe" Smith, Dale Caquelin, Gary Meyer, Jerry Chandler, Larry Schimp and Arlo Stoltenberg. All but Chandler and Schimp are sophomores.

McNeal Em-Cees Affair

Master-of-ceremonies Clark McNeal introduced the various guests of honor and the men who were instrumental in planning the banquet. Taking their moment in the spotlight were Lions President Cecil Carstens, Dr. A. M. Larson—who planned the evening's program, Supt. Don Faris, Principal Clair Hugh, Coaches Elwyn Jacobs and Jim Crimmings—who in turn introduced their squad members and awarded the letters, and Frank "Bucky" O'Connor, University of Iowa basketball coach, who was the major speaker.

No doubt was left as to the esteem in which Coach Crimmings is held when the crowd gave him a standing ovation when his name was called by Mr. McNeal. The same honor was accorded Coach O'Connor, whose sophomore-studded team was a surprise runner-up in the Big Ten conference.

Broncs Won Reputation

When the recent basketball season was just getting well started, Coach Crimmings promised, "Before the year's out, a lot of people will know about Belmond who've not been aware of us before." Coach O'Connor made it clear that the Broncos' DID win a widely respected reputation. He informed the sports fans that as he's been making the spring banquet circuit, the excellence of the 1953-54 Belmond team has come up in conversations time and time again.

In the portion of his remarks address primarily to the players, O'Connor stressed two points. First, he told them that "winning takes care of itself when members of a team play up to 110 per cent of their ability, as we describe it at Iowa. That will beat the most of them. In fact, you'll never lose a game unless you run up against an outfit that has definitely greater ability, which exerts itself to the same degree."

Books Important, Too

His second point dealt with the importance of giving ample attention to studies. Any boy capable of mastering the refined techniques and complicated plays of modern sport has to have the brains to do well in his courses, the Iowa coach declared. He emphasized that it matters little how able an athlete may be if ineligibility keeps him on the bench.

Following his talk, O'Connor showed a film of the Iowa-Ohio State game which the Hawkeyes won by an 84-71 margin to wind up their season. It gave many of the local fans their first opportunity to see the Hawks in action and they were highly impressed with the excellence of the Iowa team.

Managers Rewarded

Besides the cagers who were rewarded with letters Monday night, the BHS coaches presented B's to Bob McLaughlin and Dave Hall, who were varsity and froshmore managers, respectively. They also gave recognition to the players of both squads who did not qualify for monograms.

Those who were out all or most of the season for the varsity were: Bob Barry, a senior; and the following juniors—Terry Johnson, Ron Steenblock, Billy Swenson, Jerry Dorr, Pat Smith and Kyle Mennenga. Two sophomores, "Joe" Smith and Bruce Hall, were promoted to the varsity at the end of the season.

Andy Miller One Of New Directors Heading Sheepmen

Andy Miller of Belmond and Harold Dexter of Dows were elected as new directors of the Wright County Sheep Producers association at the annual meeting of that organization held Thursday of last week at Clarion. Si Schrage of Eagle Grove, an incumbent director, was reelected. All will serve terms of two years.

Mr. Schrage was chosen as president of the association, succeeding himself in that office. Louis Burt of Clarion was elected treasurer and Aaron Bowman, county extension director, as secretary-treasurer. Holdover directors are Mr. Burt and Pete Enge of Renwick.

Profits from sheep feeding will depend on margins in buying and selling and not on feeding margins, the sheepmen were told by Eugene Francis, specialist from Iowa State college. This will be the case because of high feed costs, he explained. He warned local sheep producers to get their native lambs on the market early to get in ahead of the rush of western lambs.

Present trend of wool prices, the gathering was told by Glen Burlingmeier, manager of the Iowa Sheep and Wool Growers association, is a little higher than a month ago. He remarked that loan value of wool is 90 per cent of parity. Currently, this would represent 53 cents per pound on average U. S. wool.

GM District Man Will Settle Here

Art Stegner of Minneapolis, district sales manager for the Larro feeds area that includes most of Iowa and parts of six other states, was in Belmond on Monday and Tuesday making preliminary arrangements for transferring his headquarters here.

He stated that Belmond will become an important cog in the production and distribution machinery of the General Mills feed division when the new feed plant is completed here and consequently will be the ideal location for him to direct his sales operations from.

Mr Stegner is in his fifth year with the General Mills feed division. He took over his present district the end of last year. Prior to last December he was manager for an eastern district and had his headquarters at Iron Mountain, Mich.

The newcomer is married and has two children — a daughter Peggy, age two, and a son Mike, who will soon be seven. Mr. Stegner is at present looking for satisfactory housing accomodations and plans to move his family here as soon as his efforts meet with success. He hopes to be settled here within a month's time.

According to Mr. Stegner, choice of Belmond as his new headquarters will involve establishment of a sales office here.

NEW MAN ON DRAFT BOARD

Effective last Thursday, Dick McGonigle of Clarion became a member of the Wright county selective service board. He succeeds Leon "Bud" Stark, also of Clarion, who had served on the board for 5½ years. McGonigle is a World War II veteran and was recalled for a year's duty during the Korean conflict.

Whelan Completes Engineer Course

FORT LEONARD WOOD, MO.—Pvt. Dwight T. Whelan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Whelan, Belmond, Iowa, recently completed engineer basic training here with a unit of the 6th Armored Division.

Since entering the Army, he has received eight weeks basic training in the fundamentals of Army life and the use of infantry weapons and an additional eight weeks engineer training.

In engineering basic training here, Private Whelan was taught the use of pioneer and power tools, construction of fixed and floating bridges and related subjects, besides additional combat skills.

At the end of the training cycle with the famed "Super Sixth," the men completing training here are selected either to attend specialist schools or as replacements for other units.

Aid Payments Off 5% In 6 Months

Public assistance payments in Wright county have taken rather a marked downturn in the past six months. A drop of more than five per cent is shown by comparison of March payments with those of August, 1953.

Biggest reduction has been in the old age assistance roll. A total of 243 were receiving this type of assistance last August, compared to 229 last month. Outlay to old age pensioners was $12,723 in March and $13,584.50 the end of last summer.

One needy-blind case has dropped from the books, leaving seven now receiving $388.50 in aid compared to $431 that was going to eight individuals in August.

Dependent children cases have gone up from 15 to 18, with 51 youngsters involved. In August, only 44 children were receiving assistance. The total amount of aid to children then was $1,587.50, last month it came to $1,680.50.

County 99 Short Of '53 FB Quota

As of the 1st of April, the Wright County Farm Bureau had less than 100 members still to sign up to reach its 1954 quota of 1,339, but only three townships had reached their assigned totals.

Grant township was one over its quota of 107, Troy had one more than the 69 it needed, and Liberty had surpassed its 91 quota by a total of five. Altogether, 99 more members were needed to attain the county goal.

On a percentage basis, Belmond township was farther behind in its membership campaign that any other in the county. With 78 needed, it had 62 members paid up. Pleasant was about in the same boat, with 59 out of a required 72 on its membership roll.

County ASC Will Conduct Campaign To Get Much of '53 Crops Resealed

Wrigth county ASC office will conduct a vigorous campaign to get a record amount of price-supported 1953 crops resealed on the farms where produced, according to ASC Office Manager O. J. Hanson, as part of the Department of Agriculture's plans for handling the biggest grain storage job in history. The special national reseal program will be limited in Iowa to corn, wheat, oats and flaxseed, it is reported by county ASC committee.

Resealing provides the key to the storage problem in Iowa this year, according to the state ASC office. Government binsite capacity in Iowa was increased by approximately 52 million bushels last year. Bin storage in Wright County was increased by 1,122,000 bushels and both government and commercial facilities are expected to be further increased this year. However, it is estimated that at least 40 million bushels of Iowa corn under loan must be resealed in 1954 to solve the storage problem in this state.

Higher Sealing Rate Seen

A storage payment in line with the 1954 Uniform Grain Storage Agreement rates will be paid farmers who reseal their 1953 price-supported grain, it has been announced by the Department of Agriculture. The new rate is expected to be two or three cents higher than the 13-per-bushel allowance in effect last year.

Along with the campaign for resealing, there will be a drive for construction or purchase of long-needed additional storage facilities on the farms. Additional storage space is greatly needed on many farms to carry on regular operations more efficiently and to premit the operators to take full advantage of price support programs.

Storage Loans Offered

Farm storage facility loans, which offer farmers up to 80 per cent of the cost of new storage structures, will be available all through the present year and up to June 30, 1955. These loans carry four per cent interest and can be paid off in four annual installments.

A total of 880 such loans were completed in Iowa last year and partially financed total farm storage space for nearly ¾ million bushels of grain. The average loan was $1,322 and the average per bushel cost of the structures was 42.7 cents.

Can Convert to Loan

Under the new reseal program, Iowa farmers having purchase agreements on 1953 corn, wheat, oats and flaxseed will be permitted to convert them into price support loans for the extended one-year period.

Farmers who hold their grain until the maturity date for the resealed 1953-crop grain will receive a full storage payment for the entire period. If a farmer pays off his loan prior to maturity, he will receive a prorated storage payment. The eligibility requirements with respect to quality and storage for the reseal program will be the same as for the regular 1953 loan program.

You get 5 sticks with 18 wrappings for only a nickel—the same price as 40 years ago. Gum manufacturers use advertising as their lowest-cost way to spread news and information about their products. Selling this way makes mass production possible—which means lower production costs, lower selling costs, lower prices.

Yes, advertising is a low-cost selling method that helps keep your living costs down.

County Bowling Tourney Will Open At Clarion on Friday of Next Week

Hiatt Alleys at Clarion will be site of the third, annual Wright county bowling tournament. The tourney competition will be held over three, consecutive weekends starting April 16. Matches will be rolled on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays during those weekends.

Don Busick, now in military service, won the 1952 championship when the meet was held at Bowl-Mor Lanes. Last year the tourney was conducted at the Eagle Bowl, Eagle Grove, and again a "hometowner," Ray Bohonek, was the winner.

Any bowler regularly active in league competition at Belmond, Clarion or Eagle Grove is eligible to take part in the tournament. Qualifying scores must be turned in by this coming Sunday. Three lines are to be rolled to qualify, with the entrant declaring before he rolls his qualifying series.

There were some complaints last year in regard to bowlers with small, league handicaps ending up in the lower flights of the tournament. This year, if an entrant qualifies with a lower score than his league average as of March 21, his average will determine his tourney flight rather than his qualifying score.

Thirty-two bowlers will be placed in the championship flight and 16 in each of the others. Trophies will go to all flight winners and cash prizes to the top three men in the title flight and two top finishers in the lower flights. As in the past, matches will be rolled on a "scratch" basis.

—PAT'S SPORTS SHORTS

"Nothing succeeds like success," says the old axiom; but the Bowl-Mor management will assure you that that is a lot of malarky. The recent handicap tournament conducted at the local alleys saw exceptionally fine scores winning little more than coffee money, because they were chalked up early in the meet and succeeded mainly in scaring off potential adversaries — and entry money.

Bruce Osmundson's (Forest City) 272 and Gary Brothers' 265, both tallied on the first of the four weekends over which the meet extended, "killed" the singles jackpot — but DEAD. Only 10 keglers invested a dollar in that event, with the result that those two, fine scores paid off at $4 and $3, respectfully.

Brothers ended up with nearly a fourth of the total prize money. A total of $222 went into the kitty and Gary grabbed $53 of it. He won 1st-week field prizes of $10 each for high scratch and high handicap series, $30 in the handicap singles and that $3 in the jackpot. All the money places were determined in the first two weekends except 3rd and 4th places in the handicap singles, which went to J. Chezik (Waverly) on an 818 and Don Nielsen, 809.

—PSS—

Ed Albers set a new qualifying mark for the Wright county pin tourney by blasting out a nifty 704 on lines of 203-245-256. Qualifying scores can still be posted through this Sunday evening, but it is extremely unlikely that Eddie's yeoman effort will be approached. Other early scores posted by Belmond pinmen were a 591 by Anson Avery, 539 by Jack Crosby and a far-under-par 503 by Jack Lobdell. Since Jack carries a league average of 176, a 528 will go on the qualifying sheet for him instead of that 503, under this year's rules.

—PSS—

Although the football season is still five months off, BHS is already assured of the biggest grid squad of the school's history when equipment is issued next fall. Last week Coach Jim Crimmings called a meeting of gridiron candidates and found himself with a roster of 66. Since Goodell has not yet been heard from, and there may be a few additions from the local farm area, too, it's entirely possible that 75 Broncos will be out there digging turf when the first practice is called. Looks as if competition for starting assignments might be a bit stiff, huh?

—PSS—

Many a local sports fan will be gratified to see the increased interest in track at BHS this spring. Lack of speed was one of the big shortcomings of last year's Bronco football team — and where can you better develop speed than on the cinder track? There are several, leading backfield candidates on the track roster. Experience they gain in the next couple of months might well enable them to round those ends at a faster clip next fall.

—PSS—

If the Purple and White cagers show the same accuracy from the freethrow line next season as they did this, that new rule on charity tosses should be very much in their favor. The one-and-one rule is out the window, you probably noticed. Hereafter, there'll be two shots for violations against a man in the act of shooting — and during the final three minutes, the same as before. But other fouls will assure only ONE gratis try.

However, if the attempt is made, the shooter's accuracy will be rewarded with ANOTHER ATTEMPT.

Just for curiosity's sake, we checked back over the last six regular schedule games of the season just ended, to see wether the Broncs would have been helped or hindered by the new regulation. In those tilts, they made their first try on the one-and-one 58 times — and their opponents converted the first chance only 39 times.

Greater Interest Shown in Track

Coach "Jake" Jacobs reported last week that close to a dozen and a half candidates had already signed up for the Bronco track squad and that he is hopeful the number will reach 25. Interest in the sport seems to be greater this spring than it has been in a number of years.

Only two lettermen are on the roster—Bruce Hall, who showed promise last season in the 440, and Dwight Beavers, whose specialty is the distance events.

With a fair amount of speed represented on the squad, prospects look fairly bright for developing a respectable sprint relay team as well as some better than fair individual performers.

Besides the two B-men, those who have signified interest in track are: Keith Madsen, Dave Hall, Merrill Jenison, Marlin Jenison, Smith, Ronald Smith, Gary Meyer, Gordon Morris, Jim Gealow, Dave Long, Gene Quigley, Marlin Mehl and Kyle Mennenga.

Events which Coach Jacobs plans, at this time, to have his boys compete in are: the Charles City Invitational, Mohawk Relays at Mason City, North Iowa conference meet and Cowboy Relays at Clarion. If sufficient ability is shown by members of the squad, Belmond will likely compete in the state district meet for this area, also.

18 Candidates Out For Diamond Nine

Led by five, returning letterwinners, 18 boys are currently contending for positions on the BHS baseball team. Those who have previously won letters in the sport are Ken Loats, Gene Mehl, Don Hoppel, LeRoy Smith and Bob Barry.

Coach Jim Crimmings said last weekend that no games had yet been carded at that time. He planned to line up opposition for the first tilts within a matter of the next few days, though.

He said no effort was being made to schedule games very far in advance, considering the undependability of spring weather in these parts; but that as the season progresses, most of the games will be arranged on a short-notice basis with nearby teams that have open dates.

Belmond Locals

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Bayliss, Janeal and Lena Bayliss were Sunday guests in the Dave Pierce home at Hanlontown.

Mr and Mrs Art Awe spent the weekend in Austin, Minn, at the home of Mrs. Awe's sister, Mrs. Charlie Ulrich.

I wish to express my sincere thanks to all who remembered me with letters, cards, flowers, gifts and visits while I was in the hospital and since I have been at home. A special thank you to the doctors and hospital staff for their fine care. Mrs. Lambert Barkema 26t1*

I wish to thank all my neighbors, friends and relatives for the nice cards, gifts and visits while I was in the hospital; also the doctors and hospital staff for their fine care. Vern Schluter. 26t1*

IN MEMORIAM

When shadows fall about us
And sad hearts are alone,
There is a Strength that comes to us
Far greater than our own.
There is a Love that comforts,
There is a Light to lead,
There is a Heavenly Father
Who understands our need!

In memory of our mother, Mrs. Anna Eide, who passed away one year ago, April 7th. The children. 26t1*

BROWER AND JOHNSON WEDDING RITES HELD SATURDAY, MARCH 27

Miss Charlene Rae Brower, foster daughter of Mrs. Erma Leonard, became the bride of Kenneth Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tolferd Johnson, Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock, March 27, at Trinity Lutheran church. The double-ring ceremony was read by Rev. O. M. Severseike before a candle lit altar.

Wayne Ebert of Clarion, organist, played the nuptial music and also accompanied Ralph Joy of Clarion as he sang "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by Kenneth Severson, wore a white satin gown, fashioned with a pointed waistline at the back and front of the dress. The bodice was designed with a roll collar and full length sleeves, pointed over her wrists. The satin overskirt, made over double net, was edged with imported lace and ended in a cathedral train. Her finger-tip length veil was attached to a Juliet cap of petals. She carried a white Bible on which rested a gardenia with ribbon streamers decorated with stephanotis, also a 100 year old handkerchief belonging to Miss Ida Carr of Clarion. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Kenneth Severson as matron of honor wore a rose formal and a talisman rose corsage.

Donald Baker, cousin of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Clifford Christensen of Scarville and Leslie Tegland. Candlelighters were David Christensen of Scarville and Sidney Severson.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Kenneth Severson home for the wedding party and the immediate families. Refreshments included the three-tier wedding cake and ice cream wedding slippers.

The groom graduated from Clarion High school, served in the U. S. Army for two years, part of the time in Germany, and is now employed by the Farmers Grain company.

Following a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are at home in Belmond.

DELORIS NELSON WED AT BURBANK, CALIF.

Deloris Elaine Nelson and Elmer LeRoy Allen exchanged wedding vows Sunday, March 21, at two o'clock in the afternoon in the chapel of the First Baptist church at Burbank, Calif. Rev. Dale Goodrick officiated in the double-ring ceremony.

Best man and matron of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Duane M. Nelson of San Fernando, Calif., brother and sister-in-law of the bride.

Mrs. Allen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marson Nelson and is a graduate of Belmond High school. Mr. Allen is the son of Roy E. Allen of LaCrosse, Kans. He graduated from LaCrosse High school and is now attending National Schools in Los Angeles, Calif., where he is taking a course in electronics.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party traveled to San Fernando, where a reception was held in the Duane Nelson home.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Marson Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Draper of Belmond, Mr. and Mrs. Al Lotspeich of Mojave, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Dale Nelson and Roger Nelson of Santa Barbara, Calif., Alma Christianson of Burbank, Calif., and Gary Goodew of Los Angeles, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen are now making their home at 4171 South Figueroa, Los Angeles.

Belmond Keglers Get Four 600's

Like a crew from here that bowled in the state pin tournament at Muscatine two weeks earlier, the Belmond contingent of keglers that made the long trip last weekend did rather spectacularly in the singles—but had little to show for their doubles and team efforts. Sixteen local pinmen had their go at the tournament alley s Sunday.

Gary Brothers turned in the best performance with a 633 series, followed closely by Ed Albers with 629. Jack Lobdell and George Infelt had 614 and 600, respectively. Not far behind were Rog Kinseth with 596 and Anson Avery with 567

All of these scores would have been good for fair to sizeable chunks of prize cash in most previous years, but scores have been running exceptionally high at Muscatine and at this point it looks questionable if a 567 will so much as return entry money. By the end of the Sunday morning shift in singles, 52 scores of 600 or better had already been recorded with well over half the meet still to be run off

NOBODY SHOULD KICK WHEN SERVICE RENDERED JUSTIFIES COST INCURRED

"What's the matter with the sheriff's office?" is an inquiry we have yet to hear. A highly competent job is being done by our county custodians of the law, Sheriff Bob Blecker and Deputy Dale Walrod. As a consequence, we thought little of it when recent release regarding the cost of operating the various sheriffs' offices in the state showed expenses in Wright to be running slightly above average.

According to the Iowa Taxpayers association, it cost $11,756 in 1952 to conduct the business of this office. Figured on a per-person basis (against our poulation of 19,652) it cost each of us 60 cents that year for county law enforcement. We'd say that we got our money's worth—regardless of the fact that the state average was 52 cents.

In the past couple of years Sheriff Blecker has deemed it advisable to have a daytime secretary on duty in his office, thus freeing both himself and his deputy from the necessity of "standing watch" over the phone and enabling both to devote full time to matters of law enforcement. A moderate increase in office expense has resulted, but we'd say it is money sensibly spent.

The Independent has not been backward in pointing out what it regards as questionable expenditures of the public's money. Being "close to home" and more easily subject to plugging than leaks on a state and national level, we've admittedly kept quite a sharp eye on county costs that seem higher than they need to be. So it was a source of satisfaction to look over those sheriffs' office figures and find Wright's reasonably in line with the services performed.

JUST BE HAPPY THE "STATE" IS NOT HELPING YOU MANAGE YOUR BUDGET

So you're been having trouble making ends meet, you say? Coffee at more than a dollar a pound is outrageous? And buying spring duds has put a crimp in the budget that's a sin and a shame?

Well, dry your tears. Pretend for a moment that this weekend's shopping has to be done at prices prevailing in Warsaw, Poland, behind yonder Iron Curtain.

According to the U. S. News and World Report, that pound of luxury coffee would cost you $50 in American money. How about some beefsteak —at $3 to $5 per pound? If you're not finicky, there's horsemeat at only $1.50.

That new, spring sweater Sis wants for school wear will set you back $187. Those shoes that Dad thought he'd better have for Easter? He'll decide the old brogans will do when he looks at that $231.25 price tag.

Pretty awful what we have to put up with under the obsolete free enterprise system, isn't it? Oh happy Poles, ridden of the blight of competitive industry and blessed with a state-controlled economy that protects the laboring man from leeching profiteers.

Ah, well! So let's have another cup of coffee—and go ahead and buy that Easter hat.

BIRDWATCHERS, BE ALERT; NOW COMES THE SEASON OF ODD FEATHERED FAUNA

Birds are on the wing, crocuses are poking inquisitive noses above ground and we are permitted the optimistic hope that the time of winter is o'er. Bob Hullihan of the State Safety Department's publicity staff informs us that other harbingers of the vernal season are appearing on the highways and byways. Hear his story.

'Tis Spring, says the poet, hark now to the call of the Screaming Brake, a bird of ruffled plumage found in great numbers along Iowa highways this time of year. The student of highway lore knows too, of course, that the cunning Crushed Grill and the charmingly awkward Crumpled Fender are to be found where Screaming Brakes congregate.

Watch for them as you drive along Spring's highway. The rewards of nature are great. The keen observer will also watch for that hardy plant, the Blooming Idiot—found along highways in all seasons, but especially prevalent and varied in the spring.

The Blooming Idiot is slightly poisonous on contact, so nature lovers should curb their enthusiasm and keep a safe distance. But observe them by all means. Their fantastic shapes and pretensions are wonders of nature.

It is quite permissable, of course, for the private citizen to pluck one or a bouquet of those Blooming Idiots if due caution is used. They should be turned over to the nearest highway patrol or police officer. These men are great nature lovers and quite expert at arranging Blooming Idiots in very satisfactory displays before traffic judges.

Still another lovely child of Spring is the Aggrieved Honk, a bird heard in the midst of slow-moving traffic. The sound of the Honk usually means you are about to catch sight of a Foolish Passer, a related bird. But you must look sharp. The Foolish Passer is a short-lived bird and strangely prone to dashing himself to death against oncoming autos.

'Tis Spring, says the poet. And the sap is rising.

CORN GROWERS WARNED—YOU CAN'T HAVE YOUR CAKE AND EAT IT, TOO

Allan Kline, head of the American Farm Bureau Federation, has warned that farmers of this area are simply inviting bigger headaches for themselves by "voting on acreage allotments—with nitrogen." A recent poll conducted by Iowa State college, comments the "Farm Bureau Spokesman," strongly suggests that Mr. Kline has it figured about right. About a third of the farmers said they planned to "cooperate" by reducing corn acreage, but admitted they intend to increase their per-acre yields by adding fertilizer, using more corn seed and taking their poorest acres out of corn.

If farmers give only lip service toward aiding the government's effort to continue supports and yet keep controls to a minimum, there's trouble brewing. As for the two-thirds who refuse to even make a gesture towards cooperations, the "Spokesman" suggests they're making their own bed—and will have no gripe coming if it turns out NOT to be of roses.

Why fine car buyers are swinging to Ford

Worth more when you buy it . . .
Worth more when you sell it!

A small price tag buys them one of America's truly fine cars. And here's how:

In the new '54 Ford, you get the same modern type of overhead-valve engine . . . the same road-hugging ride . . . the careful interior decorating . . . the same quality construction . . . and the same optional* power assists you'd expect to find in cars costing hundreds of dollars more. So why pay more? This is the question smart car buyers are asking themselves. And that is why you'll often find two Fords proudly parked in driveways where there used to be but one costly car!

Take power: Only Ford, among all low-priced cars, offers you a Y-block V-8 engine. Only Ford, in its field, offers an I-block Six. And both of these new deep-block engines are the most modern in the industry . . . with overhead valves, low-friction design, high-turbulence combustion chambers, and deep-block construction.

Take ride: Ford's new Ball-Joint Front Suspension is the greatest advance in chassis design in 20 years. Your Ford not only steers easier, but will keep that "new car feel" far longer. And so many points of wear have been eliminated you have only 4 lubrication points in the entire front suspension system.

Take power assists*: Fordomatic Drive is the only "automatic" in its field to combine the smoothness of a fluid torque converter and the "Go" of an automatic intermediate gear. And you can have Ford Master-Guide Power Steering, Swift Sure Power Brakes, power lifts on all four side windows and a 4-Way Power Seat.

Take a Test Drive . . . and you'll want to drive it home! FORD

Hy-Line CHICKS
Average $1.30 MORE income per hen

A fat egg check can be your weekly reward for buying Hy-Lines. In over 1,000 Divided Flock Tests, Hy-Lines brought in $1.30 more income per hen than other chickens, using average egg prices for the test years. And that's $1.30 more in only 11 months of lay.

Because Hy-Lines don't take as much feed per dozen eggs produced, not such a big chunk of your egg check goes for feed. That fat Hy-Line egg check leaves lots of room for groceries and clothes.

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Belmond mothers will get a little foretaste of summer vacation—a bit of "hardening up," as it were, in preparation for the not-far-distant time that will find the kids around home all day long—when the local schools enjoy a two-day, Easter holiday. There will be no classes on Friday or next Monday.

Hank and Esther Stoltenberg and daughter Arlene enjoyed a king-sized thrill when the early morning rush of getting ready for work was interrupted at 6:30 a. m. Monday by a phone call—from Spain. It was the Stoltenbergs' son, FT3/c Gene Stoltenberg.

After inquiring if breakfast was ready. Gene explained that the purpose of the call was to find out what in heck was happening to all his mail. All his folks could do was assure him it was being dispatched in the customary quantities.

Gene, who is aboard the destroyer escort USS McCaffery, could not identify the port he was calling from. He said the call was being made at 2:30 p. m., by his time. Esther says Gene's voice came through clear as a bell—and the conversation made all concerned feel real good.

It would amaze "old timers" of World War II, what can be done with a weekend pass these days! Airman Bob Jenison got a ride on a patrol bomber Saturday morning from Jacksonville, Fla., to Sioux City and then hitch-hiked to Belmond. He arrived in Belmond about 8:30 p. m for a 12-hour stay with his "in-laws," Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson, and wife Nancy. At 8:30 the following morning, the Johnsons started back to Sioux City with their guest— and by Sunday night, Bob was back at his base. He will soon be transferred to Iceland, which prompted him to tackle the 2,600-mile round trip despite the short stay at home it allowed.

Louis Tokman is convinced that he's still intended to sell Fords and Mercurys for a while yet. Last Sunday morning his Mercury sedan was upset in a collision near Blairsburg and skidded some 30 yards on its top. But Louie's only injuries were a nickel-sized bruise on one leg—and a large "blister" on his billfold, which he had in his hip pocket. He figures he'd have lost more skin than the pocketbook did, if it hadn't served as a buffer; and would be eating his meals standing up, for a time.

Ye Ed. is inclined at times to view with envy the accomplishments of his fellow scribes. Any number are adept politicans, some are accomplished hobbyists in pursuits varying all the way from music to gardening, quite a few are gifted in public speaking—and too durned many can write a wittier, sharper phrase than this particular verb-chaser. But we'd like to ask 'em, one and all, here and now —how many of them can boast having midwifed a mess of kittens into the world?

Last Friday evening when your scribe arrived home for supper, he discovered the Gallagher cat had arrived at her time of travail. Misty's really too young for this sort of business—not yet a year old—and as the first kit made its appearance the inexperienced mother simply stared straight ahead with glazed eyes and made no move toward de-sacking her youngun and giving it the conventional lick of welcome.

Dismayed at this development and fearful for the life of the new arrival, Ye Ed deemed it necessary to declare a state of emergency, called for a scalpel (in the form of Mrs. G's sewing shears) and forthwith freed the tiny feline from its encompassing membrane, raised its nose to a dry area and watched with satisfaction as its lungs began to suck in life-giving air. This process was repeated a few minutes later as Misty, still in an apparent coma, gave birth to a second kitten.

—M-S—

When a third, all-white mite emerged, crisis suddenly reared its ugly head. No sign of breathing palpitated its tiny body. In ordinary circumstances, the mother would have remedied the matter with a few vigorous licks; but Misty was still hors de combat from her unfamiliar ordeal and made never a gesture toward her moribund offspring. But did Dr. G. waver? Did he blench? Frankly, he did both.

Let it be said, though, that in this moment of extremity he finally measured up to the occasion. With an uncertain fingertip, artificial respiration was applied in the form of gentle massage of the kit's motionless ribs. After an excruciating period of some 10 or 15 seconds, a tentative, bubbly gasp wracked the minute, furry frame. It was followed by another—and another—and No. 3 panted his way toward a full, feline life.

A while later Misty roused from her torpor and began to take over her maternal responsibilities. Under her own steam, she successfully launched a pair of black babies who in due time poined the trio of white ones that had been delivered by the Doctor Kildare of east Second street. . . . So let it be herewith known that the Gallaghers are back in the kitten business. Applications are now being received.

Crimmings Resigns Coaching Job; Seven New Teachers Sign Contracts

Another vacancy was added to the list mentioned in the accompanying story when Supt. Don Faris was advised on Monday by Coach Jim Crimmings that he has decided not to return to Belmond next fall. He has accepted a coaching position in a new, Catholic parochial school that is to be built at Carroll. This announcement will be a source of widespread regret among followers of the BHS football and basketball teams. While Crimmings' football record was not impressive, his strict-training policy—which won the praise of a large majority of the Broncos' backers—was in large part responsible. In two years under Crimmings' leadership, the BHS basketball teams won 40 games while losing only seven. And this coming fall, the Bronco football team may possibly challenge the cagers' success, thanks to Jim's "building" program.

Seven new teachers have been signed to contracts as members of the Belmond school faculty for the coming year, mainly to fill vacancies left by resignations. As of last weekend, four faculty assignments still remained to be filled, three consisting of replacements and the fourth being an additional member to teach shop classes and serve as assistant coach.

Only high school instructor acquired so far is the successor to Don Collinson as vocational agriculture teacher. Francis V. Kelly of Britt is taking this position. He is 24 years old, married, and has a daughter four years old. For the past two years he has been "voc. ag." instructor at Geneva.

Was USAAF Enlistee

After graduation from Britt High school in 1937, he farmed for three years with his father. In 1941 he enlisted in the U. S. Army Air corps. He became a radio communications specialist and served until November of 1945. After further education in radio after his discharge, he followed that line of work until enrolling as a student at Iowa State college in 1949. He received his Bachelor's degree in vocational agriculture in June of 1952.

Myrna Rae Cooper of Goldfield and Phyllis Mae Thompson of Lake Mills will replace the late Mrs. Artie Baker and Hildreth Tlach, respectively, as teachers of reading and language in fifth and sixth grades.

Ackley Teacher Hired

Miss Cooper is 20 years old. She holds a standard elementary certificate earned by two years' study at Eagle Grove Junior college and Iowa State Teachers college and during the current year has been teaching at Ackley. Miss Thompson, who is 19, was graduated from Lake Mills High school in 1952 and this spring completes a two-year course at Waldorf college, Forest City. She also possesses a standard elementary certificate.

New elementary teachers are Marian Joan Peterson, a 1950 Lake Mills High school graduate; Nannette Nelson of Mediapolis; and Jeanette Meyer, a graduate of Manly High school in 1952. They replace, respectively: Gertrude Lee, third grade; Maretta Ness Holton, second grade; and Rose Dunbar Beavers, first grade.

Two, Coming from Ellsworth

Miss Peterson, 21, has been teaching for the past two years at Ellsworth. She is a '52 graduate of Waldorf college and qualified there for a standard elementary certificate. Miss Nelson is also 21, graduated from Mediapolis High school in 1950 and this spring will receive a B. A. degree from Iowa State Teachers college, qualifying her for an advanced elementary certificate. A fourth member of the Ramsay school faculty, added as a first grade teacher due to the large kindergarten enrollment last fall, is Evelyn Ganstead, 21, 1950 Clarion High school graduate. Miss Gangstead completed work for her standard elementary certificate at Waldorf college in 1952 and the past two years has been teaching at Ellsworth.

To the names of those given last week, who do not intend to return to teaching position here next fall, Supt. Don Faris has added those of Helen Haupt and Mrs. Nettie Watermiller. The latter has been given a leave of absence during which she will complete her training requirements for a standard certificate.

Dinner to Honor Scouting Leaders

Arrowhead district of the Winnebago Council, Boys Scouts of America, will hold an Appreciation Dinner on Tuesday of next week at the Hampton VFW club, starting at 6:30 p. m. R. W. Courson, retiring chairman of the district— which includes Wright and Franklin counties—will preside over the program.

This dinner is an annual event to express appreciation to those who have been active in Scouting during the preceding year. All Scouters and their wives, Den Mothers and their husbands, and interested parents are cordially invited to attend. Tickets can be obtained from Mr. Courson or Don Nielsen, locally.

Rev. Richard Lingaard, Methodist minister at Rowan, will be the major speaker. The program will also include installation of Leonard Cramer of Clarion as the new district chairman.

L. W. Murray of Belmond and Merle MacMann of Hampton will take office as assistant chairmen. N. B. "Andy" Anderson of Clarion will be installed as new district commissioner, with John Robison of Hampton as his assistant.

Program events will feature Cub Scouts, Boys Scouts and Explorers from the two-county area.

Annual Egg Hunt Sunday Morning

Those optimistic women of Beta Sigma Phi are planning their annual Easter Egg Hunt for next Sunday morning. In recent years the big event has been snowed-out, sleeted-out and what have you, more often than not. But considering the benign countenance that Mother Nature has been wearing lately, the BSP members figure they have the fates on their side this year—for sure.

All children up to and including the age of nine are eligible to participate in the hunt. They are instructed to gather on the city library lawn at 8:00 a. m. sharp.

THREE IN APRIL DRAFT

Wright county's April draft quota numbers three men. Those who have been notified to report for induction on Tuesday of next week at Des Moines are: Donald Kiley, Goldfield; Bobby Ray Ferguson, Eagle Grove; Kenneth J. Wankin, Clarion.

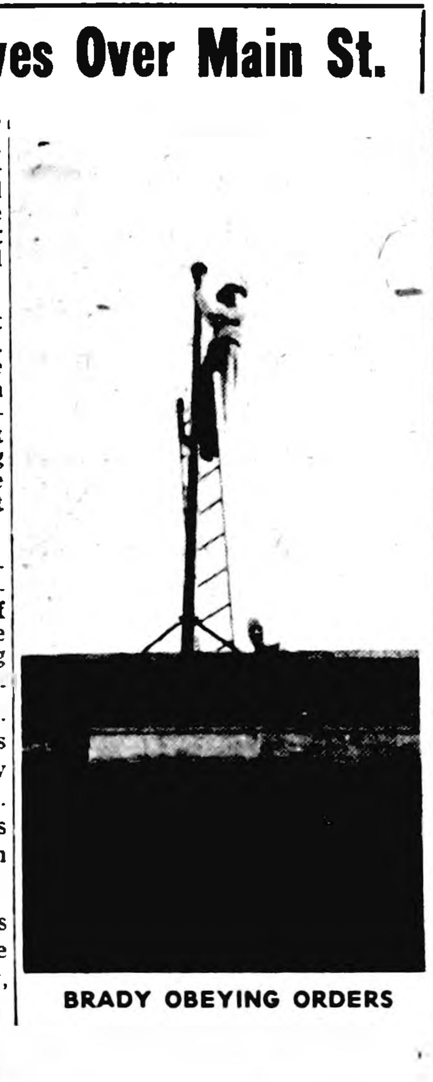
"Old Glory" Waves Over Main St.

"Old Glory" shall hereafter be a required embellishment of all U. S. post offices, whether in leased quarters or federally owned buildings, stated a communique received by all postmasters last week from Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

What effect the pronouncement had locally can be seen at right. Postmaster J. C. Brady got on the roof, got up a ladder and got on the ball. Carroll Bamford contributed his bit to this prompt performance of duty by holding the ladder. Cleon is pictured as he threaded the staff with a rope last Thursday morning.

It should be duly noted that previous absence of the colors reflected no negligence on the part of the incumbent postmaster. Before the recent order was issued, flying the flag over post offices occupying rented quarters was optional. Whether or not that option has been exercised locally during any part of the 30 years that the P. O. has been in its present location is doubtful. Certainly it hasn't been in recent years.

At any rate, the stars and stripes are now in daily evidence atop the post office. And really, you know, it looks kinda nice!



BRADY OBEYING ORDERS

Seniors to Hear Iowa U. Educator

John L. Davies, assistant professor of education at the University of Iowa and director of the university's bureau of correspondence, will be commencement speaker when Belmond High school graduation exercises are held on May 19. He will take as his topic, "Words to Live By."

Mr. Davies has been in school work for 25 years. For seven years he was Howard county superintendent of schools. He joined the SUI faculty eight years ago, after serving from 1944-46 in the U. S. Navy. His military duty included service as military government officer in the Philippines.

Since 1943, excepting the years in the Navy, he has been particularly active in the Iowa State Education association. For a year prior to donning uniform he was director of the ISEA field service. On his return to civilian life he was the association's director of research and assistant executive secretary for a year. Last year he was president of the Iowa State Education association.

JOHN L. DAVIES
Will Address '54 BHS Seniors

Can't GIVE The Stuff Away!

What goes on, anyway? For each of the last three weeks the sponsoring merchants behind Cash Gift Days have put $400 up for grabs—but during that period they've succeeded in getting rid of only $100. Two weeks ago, it was one of a half dozen $25 awards that found a claimant; last week, two of the $25 prizes "went;" and this week, just $25 again. Mrs. Lyle Barkema presented No. 5326 to take home 25 bucks at 2:00 p. m. this Tuesday. No one showed up at that hour with No. 5801, 6467, 6913, 7364 or 8005. And that $250 gift that's been hunting a "taker" each Tuesday at 3:00 o'clock for the past month seems to be leading strictly a charmed life. No. 6762 would have done the trick this week. Next Tuesday another try will be made: six $25 Cash Gifts at 2:00 p. m.; and that lovely, juicy $250 at 3:00. It COULD be YOURS!

Supervisors Again Asking Fuel Bids

Wright county's board of supervisors is currently advertising for sealed bids on the county's needs of gasoline and diesel fuel for the period of a year, estimated at 150,000 gallons and 50,000 gallons, respectively.

Bids are to be turned in at the county auditor's office for opening at 10:00 a. m. on Thursday of next week. Specifications and proposal forms can be obtained from the auditor.

Low bids a year ago were submitted by Sinclair Refining company and the fuels have been supplied by Jim Mariga, Belmond bulk dealer. The winning bids were 3.13 cents below posted tank wagon price on gasoline and 1.1 cents under wagon price on diesel fuel.

After abandoning the practice of buying vehicle fuels by bid for a number of years, the supervisors revived the policy two years ago. Savings to the county amounting to approximately $5,000 have been realized in the two-year period, compared to prices that were previously being paid in the absence of bids.

HELLO WORLD

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Osby of Kanawha are parents of a 6 lb. 14¼ oz. baby girl, Cheryl Lynn, born April 8.

A 7 lb. 9 oz. son was born April 9 to Mr. and Mrs. Darwyn Van Gorp. They have named him Dirk.

Cindy Lou is the name selected by Mr. and Mrs. Roland Steenblock for the 6 lb. 7 oz. daughter born to them April 11.

14 Soloists, Eight Small Groups Go To Final Contest

Belmond High school musicians established their best record ever as 40 entries represented BHS at the preliminary music contest held last Friday and Saturday at Britt. Twelve of Eldoris Bunnell's vocalists and groups were awarded Division I ratings, and top rating went to eight instrumental soloists and groups under the guidance of Roland Brom.

Top ratings to Maryellen Johnson, pianist, and Carolyn Classick, marimba soloist, gave Belmond a total of 22 entries that qualified to compete in the state contest at Perry on April 30 and May 1.

All but two of the remaining 18 BHS entries at Britt were given Division II ratings. The 22 state finalists compares to a total of 11 that won their way to to the state contest in 1953 and 10 in 1952.

12 Vocal Entries Advance

Eight vocal soloists won the right to seek state honors for Belmond two weeks hence. They were: Margo Gowdy, Elinor Ellis and Sandra Simerson, sopranos; Karen Hanson, treble voice low; Larry Larson and Gene Mehl, tenors; Norman Pals, baritone; and Ronnie Hansen, bass.

Vocal group that received top ratings were: girls trio—Misses Ellis, Simerson and Hanson; girls sextet—Margo Gowdy, Patsy Tracy, Barbara Mariga, Eloise Johnson, Audra and Geraldine Jenison; boys quartet—Larson, Mehl, Pals and Hansen; madrigal—Misses Ellis, Simerson, Gowdy, Hanson, Geraldine Jenison, Joan Kalkwarf, and Sam Leinbach, Keith Madsen, Hansen and Mehl.

8 I's to Brom Proteges

Instrumentalists who rated tops as soloists were: Phil Schmitz, French horn; Joan Kriens, flute; Carolyn Classick and Carmen McLaughlin, drums. Division I instrumental groups were: Clarinet trio — Margaret Mussell, Margo Gowdy, Faye Janssen; brass quartet—DaDean Obrecht and Paul Nassen, cornets, Kenneth Halfpap and Roger Lathrop, trombones.

Also the woodwind quintet— Carol Waddington, oboe, Joan Kriens, flute, Charlotte Studebaker, bassoon, Phil Schmitz, French horn, Margaret Mussell, clarinet; and woodwind chamber group— Faye Janssen and Carol Ann Leinbach, b-flat clarinets, Jerry McMurray, bass clarinet, Judy Oberhauser, flute, Phil Schmitz, French horn, and Carol Ann Waddington, oboe.

Iowa is divided into two parts for the finals of the state competition. Besides the contest at Perry, a similar one will be conducted at Iowa City.

ATTENDS IOOF MEETING

Local Delegate to Union Confab

Luverne Smith was chosen Monday night by Belmond local of the Grain Millers union (AFL) to be its official delegate to a policy meeting of the International Federation of Grain Millers that was held yesterday morning at Chicago.

Scheduling of this meeting was the only new development in the deadlock between the union and General Mills, Inc., as the resulting strike was about to enter its third week.

Actually, the specific purpose of the policy gathering was not to deal with the General Mills strike. The union delegates were called in to ratify master agreements that have been negotiated with the Pillsbury, Russell-Miller and Standard Milling companies.

Pillsbury Pact Differs

It was failure of negotiations over a similar master agreement between the Federation of Grain Millers and General Mills that led to the current strike, which has made idle the Belmond plant and some two dozen others in the General Mills organization.

The disputed paragraph over deviated work schedules, which has been the bone of contention in efforts to draft a new union-GMI agreement, does not have a counterpart in the agreement negotiated with Pillsbury. But according to Larry Greenwood, president of the Grain Millers local here, the agreements with the other two milling concerns do contain a nearly exact version of the paragraph on work-scheduling.

Strike Discussion Likely

Greenwood said Tuesday that it appeared certain that GMI strike would come in for thorough discussion at the Chicago parley, despite the fact that such was not the immediate purpose of calling in the delegates.

It is the privately expressed hope of a good many of the local men on strike that the policy get-together at Chicago may provide the opening wedge for resumption of negotiations. At mid-week, however, neither the union leaders nor company management had made any move toward that end.

'48-49 Gov't Corn Sale Price Down

Sales of 1948 and 1949 corn in government bins in Iowa may now be made at the local market price but at not less than 20 cents per bushel under the 1953 price support rate in the county where stored, it was reported this week by the Wright county ASC committee.

The 1953 price support rate in Iowa ranges by counties from $1.52 to $1.60 per bushel. Under the new sales plan, the minimum prices for 1948 and 1949 government bin corn in Iowa will range form $1.32 to $1.40 per bushel.

In this county the 1953 loan rate is $1.54, which means that 1948 and 1949 government-owned corn can be sold here for not less than $1.34 (county price support rate for 1953 minus 20 cents).

There are approximately 80 million bushels of 1948 and 1949 corn in CCC bins in this state. Approximately 1,250,000 bushels of corn produced in those years are stored at binsites in this county, according to ASC office manager O. J. Hanson.

All sales will be made through the county ASC office. Residents of the few counties in which there is no governmental corn available for sale may make purchases in other counties.

READY-MIX PLANT REOPENS

Belmond Ready-Mix Concrete company has re-opened for the season, according to Manager Bert Schoneman, and is now ready to deliver its product anywhere in this area. The plant was established here just about a year ago and is launching on its second season of operation. It is prepared to provide ready-to-pour concrete in any quantities, Mr. Schoenmen says.

Plan Upholstery Shop in Belmond

Mr. and Mrs. John Lind, lately of Clarion, plan to open an upholstery shop soon here in Belmond. They have rented the Stevens building adjoining Adams Pharmacy.

According to Mr. Lind, the shop will do all kinds of furniture upholstering and car cushion repairs. The Linds are experienced hands in this line of work, having engaged in the same field for several years at Clarion.

Definite information regarding opening date of the shop will be advertised next week.

INJURED FINGER

Tim Wilson had a finger injured while sawing wood at the Henry Wilson home in Miller, so Henry Wilson is working on the farm this week.

Tragic Accident Kills Farm Tot, 3

Christian Christensen, age three, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aage Christensen of Thornton, died Sunday afternoon at Belmond Community hospital from injuries suffered in a farm accident last Saturday afternoon.

The youngster had been riding in a wagon hitched to a tractor while his father seeded a field in oats. Someway, the tot apparently tumbled out the front of the wagon and both wheels on one side ran the length of the boys' body.

Immediately after the mishap, Mr. Christensen rushed his son to the Belmond hospital and he was admitted at 6:20 p. m. Saturday. It is reported that the wagon's weight crushed the tot's lungs.

LARGER SEWER SHOULD PUT END TO 'POND' AT CITY HALL CORNER

Belmond is expected to lose one of its trouble spots as a result of the lastest storm sewer improvement ordered by the city council. At its regular April meeting, the city fathers instructed Ed Bailey to construct a new storm sewer on the stretch of First street NE that extends from the Methodist church corner to the Iowa river.

Present eight-inch tile will be replaced with tile having twice that diameter. The resulting, improved drainage should eliminate the "pond" that has invariably stood at the city hall corner after every rain of consequence and also speed up disappearance of standing water in the block to the west, adjoining the city park.

Second stage of the dust-abatement program launched last year will be started within two to four weeks, according to present plans. Mayor Henry Hokel says that all streets that received initial treatments of asphalt will be scarified and a new coating of the oil applied. Those streets that were omitted from the program last summer will all be incorporated in the project this time, since city finances are taking care of the expense.

Other recent matters of city business have seen: appointment of Leo Dorr, Sr., and Lawrence Kelley to the Belmond Fire department, replacing Jim Mariga and Elmer Johnson; and council approval of the mayor's appointment of Russell Schaal to the city library board. Mr. Schaal fills the vacancy left by death of Dr. H. L. Gowdy.

At the April meeting of the council, the salary of Harry Lamb as sexton of the city cemetery was raised $25 per month, making the present figure $175.

FOUR LEADING AUTO EDITORS GO OVERBOARD FOR NEW MERCURY!

"HOT AS STRAIGHT TABASCO ON-THE-ROCKS"
Tom McCahill MECHANIX ILLUSTRATED

"The place where Mercury really shines this year, aside from its speed-over-the-ground performance, is in its handling and roadability . . . and what a difference ball-joint suspension makes!

"The guy who buys a '54 Merc will be getting a really new car, not a warmed-over old one. Some of Merc's competitors are . . . overdue for a change. When these changes come, the buyer of these competitors will be as out-of-date as an Indian-head penny."

"161-HP PUSH, BUT DRINKS NO MORE GAS THAN BEFORE"
Wilbur Shaw POPULAR SCIENCE MONTHLY

"Three years ago a Mercury engineer told us that the men in his department would never be satisfied until they designed an engine that ate up a lot less of its own power. Well, they've done it!

"When I drove the car on the test track in Dearborn, Mich., and again on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, I was struck by the smoothness of the power pick-up as the accelerator went down."

"THIS CAR IS A KNOCKOUT! . . . AND REAL EASY TO DRIVE!"
Walt Woron—Don MacDonald MOTOR TREND

"You'll like the 1954 Mercury, if you like power that'll make you sit back in your seat when you stomp the throttle.

"If there is no other reason for the increase in horsepower (now 161) the added acceleration for passing is enough.

"Lincoln-type ball-and-socket joints on Mercury's front wheels eliminate familiar kingpin, reduce front end vibration, and cut the number of forward grease fittings from 16 to four."

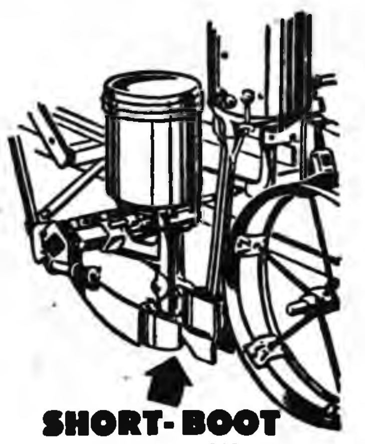
THE NEW LEADER in Corn Planters

It's the Allis-Chalmers Short-Drop Drill Planter—tractor-mounted with SNAP-COUPLER.

Examine this planter . . . try it in your field this spring, and you'll know the reasons. It's fast! It's accurate! And it's so easy to operate! At the end of the rows, hydraulic power lifts entire planter. Nothing to shut off. No time wasted.

Fertilizer hoppers can be removed and mounted on cultivator frame for side-dressing later in the season.

For corn — you can't buy a better planter. And the price is very low.



SHORT-BOOT ACCURACY!
Only 14 inches from seed can to soil.

GOODELL NEWS

BY MRS. AMOS HANSON

L. KLOTZBACH ORDAINED IN INDIANA, APRIL 4TH

Rev. Lewis Klotzbach was ordained Sunday, April 4, at the Christian Congregational church of Murray, Ind., where he is pastor. His brother, Rev. Floyd Klotzbach, is pastor at Hamilton, Ohio.

These young ministers are sons of Mr and Mrs. Levi Klotzbach, Goodell, and brothers of Mrs. Leslie Smock and Mrs. Walter Braner of Belmond.

The Raymond Michaelson family of Britt and Mrs. Scott Davis, Shirley and Sammie of Belmond were Sunday dinner guests in the home of the ladies' parents, the Alvis Berhows. They had attended church services here as their little niece, Rose Marie Schwichtenberg was baptized.

Mr. and Mrs. William Muhlenbruch went to Clarion Sunday and enjoyed the day in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Robert Dishman. Their year old grandson, Rodney Dishman, came home to stay with them while his parents went to Des Moines where Mr. Dishman will have examinations at the Veterans' hospital.

OUR FARM NEIGHBORS

GEORGE LIEUWEN

Out 4 miles southeast of Goodell lives a couple who have made hard work pay off with the ownership of a 120 acre farm that was purchased as recently as 1944 and another 80 acres a mile east of the home place that was bought in 1949.

The couple we speak of is Mr. and Mrs. George Lieuwen whose clean, well painted and modern set of farm buildings impressed us tremendously, since they are also the result of more hard work.

The Lieuwens have been a customer of this bank since they first started farming in 1932.

In speaking of their farming operations George said he grain farms and feeds hogs. Last year 21 Spotted Poland sows produced 186 pigs and this year he has 24 Last year it was 55 acres of corn, 40 of oats and some hay.

They have 375 Hy-Line pullets now and have 400 chicks coming.

The Lieuwens also have two daughters Shirley and Alice both of whom were recently married.

Variety, Iowa Brand

Last winter's dry spell started quite an argument down at the store. So, to decide things, Ed Peters checked with the weather bureau — and here is what he came up with:

Iowa actually averages 30 inches of snow per year, 32 inches of rain. Temperatures—winter 22.6, spring 48.6, summer 72.6, fall 51.6.

Nice variety! And we have that same pleasant variety in just about everything else here in Iowa —city or country living, recreation, types of food, everything! And, most important, we can choose the ones we prefer, reject the ones we don't.

That even goes for such things as Cousin Al's liking for Scandinavian-type cooking and his pot of coffee on the stove—or my liking to have a few bottles of beer in the ice box, or Ed's preference for his cup of tea.

Variety is, indeed, the spice of life. We have lots of variety here in Iowa . . . and the privilege of choosing what we prefer is the magic key to it all.

IOWA GOVERNMENT WILL BE STRONGER IF DEMOCRATIC REJUVINATION CLICKS

If Iowa Republicans put any stock in the old addage, "Where there is smoke, there is sure to be fire," they had better be looking to their laurels in this election year of 1954. Witness the fact that in this spring's primary there will be a Democratic nominee for every positon in the house of representatives.

It is hardly to be suspected that there will be any major desertion of habitual GOP voters from the party ranks. But some "weak sisters" among the Republican legislators probably will be—and should be—unseated.

Significance of the Democratic resurgence lies not in the possibility that Republican dominance over the legislature is likely to be threatened in the next general assembly, nor in the near future. It lies in the fact that general dissatisfaction over Republican handling of some major issues has inspired the state Democratic organization to throw off its lethargy and to view the future with renewed hope.

Acually, many a good Republican will concede that better state government can logically be expected as the fruit of keener party rivalry. The two-party system is a bulwark of democracy. Absence of such a system is threatening to deal a death blow to the Chinese Nationalist regime in Formosa. When Kemal Ataturk established the Turkish republic, he regarded party rivalry so essential to its success that he deliberately saw to it that TWO strong parties were formed.

Iowa has suffered rather than profited from the stranglehold that the GOP has held on state politics. It will be to the benefit of us all if the Republicans find it necessary to demonstrate why THEY should be kept in the driver's seat. We hope they'll take the new, Democratic challenge seriously.

SHED A TEAR FOR THE AIOVA FARMER, A PAWN TO THOSE HEARTLESS BANKS

Those Russians surely take the cake as unintentional humorists. Many an Iowan must have gotten a hearty chuckle out of last week's Associated Press report of the comments regarding this state that appear in the Great Soviet Encyclopedia. We hope that our poor, downtrodden farmers enjoyed a moment's mirth and brief surcease from their financial worries.

Should little Ivanovich and his classmates be asked to write an essay on Aiova (as the Tall Corn State is identified in the Reds' book of knowledge), they would report how our farms are being massed into huge, captialistic holdings. And he would dutifully relate that the unfortunate farmers are "deeply dependent upon the banks and are heavily in debt."

Wonder what he'd think if he knew that in 13 years' time in a single, agricultural county (Wright), farmers helped to buy a total of nearly $19,000,000 worth of government bonds; and that, despite "hard times," they've managed to hold onto an estimated 50 per cent or more of those bonds?

Wonder what he'd think if he knew that the banks curry the favor of the average Aiova farmer to a much greater degree than the farmer deems it necessary to curry favor of the bank? And that any bank in an agricultural area is at least as dependent on the farmer for its prosperity as the farmer is dependent on it? That a family tractor, car, Deepfreeze and television, along with electric lights and indoor plumbing, are taken for granted on most Aiova farms?

Wonder what the result would be if, overnight, the Encyclopedia Americana were to replace the Great Soviet Encyclopedia in Russian libraries and schools? Wouldn't there be the devil to pay, though?

HAVE YOU GIVEN THE CANCER CRUSADE ALL THE SUPPORT THAT YOU OWE IT?

This year the city of Belmond is investing 30 cents per person in one of the most dramatic fights that humankind has ever made against a mortal enemy. That's what the $700 appropriation from our Community Chest to the American Cancer Society amounts to per capita. What the share of each of us has been in creating that Pandora's Box, the atomic bomb, we wouldn't here venture to guess. But several hundred times 30 cents wouldn't touch it, you can be sure. Furthermore, we're not done paying—though we know not what we're buying, nor whether it will prove good or evil.

What our modest contribution toward the Cancer Crusade is helping to achieve is much more certainly to be foreseen. Heavy inroads on cancer's annual toll have already been made possible by our support of the Crusade, through education and improved medical techniques. Yet the current mortality rate dictates that 230,000 Americans this year will die of this disease; and 23 MILLION now living in the United States will ultimately succumb to its ravages.

In an adjacent column on this page is asked the question: "When will we find a real CURE for CANCER?" Below it we are told that the ACS is trying to find the answer as quickly as available funds permit. But last year, those funds—for research—amounted to only five million dollars. Far more than that was spent EACH DAY last year on atomic research. Is cancer research, by comparison, so inferior a potential force for human welfare that it deserves no more from us than it is receiving?

It is a preordained certainty that some who read these words will die of cancer. It is an equal certainty that sooner or later the elusive cure for cancer will be discovered. If it is SOONER, many now doomed to be victims of this killer will be saved.

Who among us would not give generously to speed the day of discovery if he knew that one to be saved was himself, a loved one, a good friend or neighbor? Think of that as you read the message on this page. One out of five is presently destined to be touched by cancer's scourge. Think of THAT as your eye falls on the coupon which states: "Enclosed is my contribution of $______ to the CANCER CRUSADE."

WHEN will we find a real CURE for CANCER?

HOW ABOUT CANCER—?

THE TRUTH is that this terrible disease can already be completely cured in about half of the cases . . . if caught in time.

THE OTHER HALF can be helped. They cannot yet—be saved.

RESEARCH aimed at a final, complete solution to the cancer problem is proceeding as fast as available funds permit. Last year, with the help of $5 million allocated by the American Cancer Society from donations made by Americans everywhere, encouraging progress was made.

BUT "ENCOURAGING PROGRESS" is not enough. More money is needed. After all, $5 million is less than four cents per American per year.

THIS YEAR—please—give more generously than ever. Won't you make your gift now to your unit of the American Cancer Society?

Wright Purchases Of Bonds Over 18 Million Since '41

Purchases of Series E and H United States savings bonds in Wright county from 1941 through February of this year totaled $18,824,633, according to King R. Palmer, state director of band sales for Iowa. In the same period, total purchases throughout the state have amounted to nearly $1,890,000,000.

Mr. Palmer reports that the per centage of retention on these bonds, nationally, has been 46 per cent. He believes that the per cent of bonds still outstanding in Iowa will come to 50 per cent or better and estimates that in Wright county at least $9,400,000 worth of the E and H bonds are still in the hands of their purchasers.

Iowa has regularly been a leading state in the purchase of savings bonds, Mr. Palmer says. In the first two months of this year, bonds bought in this state exceeded purchases in the same period of 1953 by 35 per cent, compared to a 16 per cent increase nationally.

Bond purchases in neighboring counties during the 13-year, two-month period totaled as follows: Franklin $11,935,355, Hamilton $18,349,518, Hancock $12,431,430, Hardin $19,440,669, Humboldt $11,217,854.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Humberg of Thornton and Mr. and Mrs. William Dieger were Sunday evening dinner guests in the Henry Dieger home.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Schroeder of Meservey were Sunday evening guests in the Gerald Draper home.

Card of Thanks

Many thanks to all who visited and sent gifts and cards to me while I was in the Belmond hospital; also thanks to the doctors and nurses for their care. Herman Brunes, Goodell. 27t1*

We wish to express our thanks to Reverend Walsh and Fulton Funeral Home; also many thanks to our neighbors, who brought our supper and the Rosary Society for serving the dinner at the time of William McSwiggin's death.

Chas. Dickinson family. 27t1*

We would like to thank the Meservey Fire Dept., neighbors and friends who helped put out the fire at our farm Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Smith 27t1

I wish to thank all my relatives and friends who remembered me with cards, flowers, gifts and visits while I was in the hospital. A special thanks to the doctors and nurses and nurse's aides for their wonderful care. Mrs. Emil Bock.

School Man Buys Bowl-Mor Alleys

Ownership of the Bowl-Mor Lanes changed hands last week, the purchaser being Charles C. Mullin of Wesley. Mr. Mullin has been superintendent of schools at Wesley for the past 11 years. He is also present mayor of that community.

Leo Gilligan, Bernold Kinseth, Anson Avery and Jack Lansing have been the joint proprietors of the Bowl-Mor since the recreation center was built in 1949.

Mr. Gilligan says that the present management will continue to operate the alleys until the end of the current bowling season. Mr. Mullin will take possession June 1.

The new owner has asked Jack Crosby to continue as manager of the Bowl-Mor next season, but as the sports page went to press an agreement on terms had not yet been reached.

Belmond Locals

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Benham visited C. M. Reeder at Clarion Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Grubbs of Boyd, Wis., were Sunday guests in the Everett Anderson home.

Mr. and Mrs Oscar Thayer of Northwood were Sunday dinner guests in the Gerald Ersland home.

Annual Beef Fest Of Cattle Feeders Set for April 20

Plans are under way for a record attendance of 400 at the Wright County Cattle Feeder's dinner and annual meeting to be held in the Legion Memorial Hall at Eagle Grove next Tuesday. Dean R. F. Patterson of the University of South Dakota and Francis Kutish of Iowa State College will speak.

Dean Patterson's remarks will deal primarily with world affairs. However, Mr. Kutish, who is an economist on the ISC staff, will discuss the cattle outlook in considerable detail.

Three directors will be elected for a two-year term at the business meeting presided over by W. P. Tyrrell, president of the Wright County Cattle Feeders association. Directors whose terms are expiring are W. P. Tyrrell of Belmond, Joe Tokheim of Eagle Grove and Leo Woodley of Clarion. Hold-over directors are John Schipull of Goldfield and H. B. Vanderlip of Dows.

Rib Roast Dinner

As customary, standing rib roast will be served by chefs from Geo. A. Hormel and Co. Enough for a pound per person of the uncooked ribs is being aged in the cooler now for the dinner.

Prizes will be awarded for the closest guesses for the market week of September 14-19, 1953, with a hat as the first prize. Those attending the dinner will guess again this year for the price of the top carload of cattle at Chicago for the week of October 25-30, 1954.

During the short business meeting, directors will be elected for the northeast quarter and the southwest quarter of the county and for the director-at-large.

400 Tickets for Sale

Only 400 tickets will be sold. Many cattle feeders have not been able to obtain tickets in the past because of the size of the room available for the dinner. The Legion Memorial Hall at Eagle Grove will accomodate about 100 more than could be seated in other locations where the dinners have been held.

Cattle feeders in the Belmond vicinity can obtain tickets from any of the following men: Belmond township—John Rokke, Roy McClure, Steve Hinman; Pleasant—C. C. Christie, Ira Studebaker, Jr., Lester Buseman; Iowa—W. P. Tyrrell, Joe Ziller, Howard Hansen; Norway— Hubert Heimstra, Abner Toftey, Olaf Eliason; Grant — Dewey Simmons, C. C. Woodin, Dale Hill.

NIECE OF MRS. WALLACE AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP

Nancy Mallinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mallinson of Sugar Creek, Mo., and a niece of Mrs. J. E. Wallace of Belmond, has been awarded a scholarship to the Lexington School for the Deaf in New York City and will enter in September for a year of special study.

Miss Mallinson has made the acquaintance of quite a number of people in Belmond during visits to this community. She has been a speech correctionists in the Jefferson City, Mo., public schools the past three years.

At Lexington School she will specialize in techniques for training deaf children. The school is affiliated with Columbia university and the year of graduate work will qualify her for a Master's Degree from Columbia.

CHICK CHATS

The Human Element In Raising Chickens—

A few years back, one of the big breeders of new chickens got a letter from one of his customers. This was nothing new. But the kind of letter this man sent was a kind they'd never gotten before.

The old gent wrote that his chickens were the nicest he'd ever had. He said they were glad to see him when he entered the hen house—even if he didn't have a feed bucket. They did a lot of singing in the hen house too. "They were nice friendly chickens," he commented.

It isn't often a poultryman will write a letter telling a breeder how friendly his chickens are. And the people around the office were a little bit amused—until they saw the production record the veteran poultryman's chickens made.

This fellow's flock averaged better than 250 eggs per hen housed—in an admittedly poorly constructed old hen house. The old gent also told one breeder about his feeder space and his feeding practices, too. They weren't too hot either. Yet his chickens made a fine record. The breeder stopped being amused and wondered how the old fellow made such a fine record.

I figure the fellow had what I call "the chicken touch." I can't exactly describe it. But this old man liked his chickens. He spent a lot of time with them. He was in the hen house often—he looked 'em over to make sure they were healthy. He made them as comfortable as he knew how.

The extra trouble he took with his flock paid off for him—even though he didn't have the best equipment to work with Just think how it could pay off if you had everything right—hen house, feeding program, disease control, the works.

The "Chicken Touch" is just as important in raising chickens as vaccination. You can have it too.

Act like there's a kind of "Be-Kind-To-Chickens Week". Knock on the door before you go into the house. At the risk of your neighbors wondering about your sanity, talk to the chickens. Act like they are friends of yours. They'll be tamer They won't hit the ceiling everytime you make a sudden move. Nervous chickens don't lay as many eggs as they could if you'd calm them down.

That isn't all there is to "the chicken touch" but it's quite a bit of it That last part is really enjoying yourself while working around chickens. That's hard to come by But it's worth it Seems like the chickens enjoy making you money in return

ELMER A. NISSEN

Elmer Anton Nissen, the fourth son of the late Jacob and Christina Nissen, was born at Meservey on February 10, 1891, and passed away at his home in Meservey on April 7, 1954 at the age of 63 years, one month and 27 days. He grew to manhood and lived all of his life in the Meservey vicinity.

He served in the armed forces during World War I, after which he returned to the farm. He lived and farmed with his brother Frank for nine years. Following the death of his father, he moved to the home place to live with his mother. There they lived until retirement to Meservey and they remained together until his mother's death in 1948. Since then he lived alone. He passed away suddenly at his home on the morning of April 7.

Elmer grew up under the influence of a Christian home. His association was with the EUB church.

His parents and a younger sister Erma preceded him in death. He is survived by three brothers—Albert of Iowa Falls, Irvin of Kamrar and Frank of Meservey.

Funeral services were held from the home of his brother Frank and at the Meservey Salem Evangelical United Brethren church on Friday afternoon at 1:30. Rev. Philip W. Pfaltzgraff was in charge. The pallbearers were: Henry Behrends, Carl Hopkey, Henry Wendel, C. K. Johnson, Charles Waddingham and Arnold Groen. Burial was in the Meservey cemetery.

Pianists Awarded Honors in Contest

Members of the Stephen Foster Piano club of Meservey participated in the festival sponsored by Iowa Federation of Music clubs at Hampton last Saturday. Those receiving superior rating were: Susan Bier, Alexander; Aurdrene Obrecht, Thornton; Shirley White, Bertha Shaw, Jo Ann Nordman, Kathleen Diddy and Dixie Lee Koenen, all of Meservey.

Those receiving excellent were: Keith Nielsen and Kathleen Jansen, Thornton, Dennis Foss, George Grosz and Sharon Dorenkamp, Meservey.

The Gobeli families held a gathering Sunday at the Carl Hopkey home as a farewell for Vern Gobeli, youngest son of Forest Gobeli of Rockford. Vern has enlisted and is leaving soon. Besides the family some friends also enjoyed the day with them. A pot-luck dinner was served.

SPORTS

Schedules Ended by Three Leagues; Tri-City Title Won by Only ½ Game

Three men's bowling leagues concluded their season's schedules at Bowl-Mor Lanes last week, with the championship race in two of them being closer than close right down to the wire. Meyer's Truck Line of Britt clinched the Tri-City crown by taking its first game with Lone Tree Tavern — then proceeded to drop the last two and nosed out the Alexander "66" Oilers by a mere one-half game.

In the Kanawha league, the title chase developed into a three-way contest right to the finish. After losing a pair to Nelson's Implement, DeKalb Hybrid took the final game and emerged with a one-game margin advantage over the Kanawha VFW and Knoll's Produce. Knoll's won its first two games from the Vets, but dropped the last one to tumble into a second-place tie.

Texaco Stays on Top

Texaco Service, which was the pace-setter in the Boardsplitter league during most of the season, stumbled into the league champion-ship as all of the three, top teams bowed to lower division teams by the margin of 2-to-1.

Of the three leagues that wound up their cards, the Boardsplitters turned in the best performances. Most outstanding of all was Jack Lobdell's high, individual series of 715. This was an all-time local record for league play. Ed Albers had high game with a 266. Best team series was turned in by the First State bank, a nifty 2,906. The Texaco champs had the best team game with a 1,044. Individual marks are "scratch;" team performances include handicap.

Hirsch Double Leader

Roger Hirsch took top laurels in the Tri-City league with a best game of 234 and high series of 646. Neither of the two leading quintets managed to cop team scoring honors. Highest game was a 981 produced by Lone Tree Tavern and the best series was a 2,736, turned in by Duer's.

In the Kanawha league, the VFW monopolized team honors. The Vets had the best game, 1,030; and biggest series, 2,759. Dr. Ralph Muhm had the highest, scratch game with a 250 and the 581 series of George Abbas took honors in that division.

Mr. and Mrs. George Tideback and boys of Laurens and Bill Tideback were Sunday guests in the Lloyd Miller home at Eldora.

17 BELMOND PINMEN TO CONTEND FOR TITLE IN COUNTY TOURNEY

Belmond will have 17 keglers among the 32 title contenders in the championship flight as the 3rd annual Wright county bowling tournament gets under way at Hiatt Alleys in Clarion tomorrow night. When qualifying scores were all posted Sunday night, Ed Albers remained at the top of the list with his 704. He was followed by O. Roepke of Eagle Grove at 616, Anson Avery 591 and Verne Schaeffer of Clarion with 582.

Ray Bohonek of Eagle Grove, '53 champion, failed to post a high enough score to make the championship flight and was relegated to the first flight. It is planned that hereafter the defending champ will automatically be assigned to the title flight the following year.

519 for Title Chance

A score of 519 or better was needed to get in the title bracket. Last year, scores of 501 or better made the grade. This time a 501 was required for a place in the first flight. Several in the top flight made the grade on season's average rather than qualifying score, the higher of the two being posted for each entry.

Finals on April 25

Sixteen men were placed in the 1st and 2nd flights and the remaining 19 in the 3rd flight. Friday at 7:30 p. m. the upper bracket of the championship flight will roll and at 8:30, the lower bracket. Second round matches are slated for 9:30 o'clock. Third round of the title flight is scheduled for 7:00 p. m. Sunday and the semi-finals and finals will be at 3:00 and 4:00 p. m., respectively, a week from Sunday.

Clarmond Opening Tentatively Set For 29th of April

Officers of Clarmond Country club have been making progress rather slowly insofar as plans for the club opening are concerned, according to President C. C. Christie. He says that no decision has been reached as to appointment of clubhouse custodian, and the definite opening date depends on that appointment.

As of this week, it was tentatively planned to launch the '54 season with a stag on the evening of April 29. This will hinge, however, upon whether a new custodian has been signed up.

All officers and directors of the club were reelected at the annual meeting of the stockholders held some time ago. Charles Bunn was retained as vice president and R. L. Davison as secretary. Both are Clarion members.

Continuing as directors are: B. C. Hewlett, R. A. Henderson, R. W. Courson and W. P. Tyrrell, Belmond; C. H. Crowe, B. A. Samson, C. R. Banwell and Mr. Davison, Clarion.

Dues will be the same as last year, ranging down from $35 for a family membership. Mr. Davison has directed an inqury to the internal revenue director at Des Moines as to whether the recent reduction in excise taxes affectss dues of this nature. It appears doubtful that this is the case but if the cut from 20 to 10 per cent does pertain to club dues, the membership fees will be reduced correspondingly, Mr. Christie says.

Kenneth Kee of Cornelia, who was caretaker of the golf course last year, will serve in the same capacity during the approaching season.

Belmond Locals

Mr. and Mrs. George Tideback and boys of Laurens spent the weekend in the Duane Tideback home.

Anson Avery New Bowling President

Anson Avery was elected president of the Belmond Bowling association as that organization held its annual meeting last Friday night at Bowl-Mor Lanes. He succeeds George Infelt as head of the association.

Other new officers are Chris Wendel of Meservey, vice president, succeeding Clarence Johnson of Kanawha; George Sharp, secretary, taking the place of R. B. Thompson; and Don Nielsen, treasurer, replacing Sharp.

Two new directors were elected, also—Lawrence Espe of Kanawha and Bill Hinckley of Rowan. The directors retiring from the board were Don Mathiason of Rowan and Dick Nutt.

Handicap Basis Changed

A discussion of existing rules led to a change in the manner of setting up league handicaps. In the past, the handicap figure has been determined by taking two-thirds of the difference between an individual average and 180 pins. Next season, the handicap will be 80 per cent of the difference between league average and 200 pins. Minimum score from which handicaps are figured remains 120.

It was decided that the fall season will be started the week of Labor Day and the 1954-55 schedule will again extend over a period of 30 weeks.

New Owner Present

Highlights of the meeting including award of trophies and checks to division winners in the recent men's city tournament. Charles C. Mullin of Wesley, new owner of the Bowl Mor, was introduced to the bowlers at the meeting.

Free, open bowling was permitted for the balance of the evening not required for the conduct of business and prizes of $5, $3 and $2 awarded for the three, top scores. The money went to El Albers with a 278, Gary Gartz 257 and Gary Brothers 235.

DEAD ON YOUR FEET?

These symptoms if due to a vitamin deficiency occur only when daily intake of vitamins B_1, B_2, and niacin is less than minimum daily requirements over a prolonged period. In themselves, they do not prove a dietary deficiency as they may have other causes or be due to functional conditions.

The basic cause of your trouble may be iron-and-vitamin starvation over a prolonged period. BEXEL, the Special high-potency Formula, supplies supplementary quantities of iron for rich red blood . . . pouring new strength and energy into your entire body.

Each wonder-working BEXEL capsule gives you more than 5 times the daily minimum requirements of blood-building iron; more than the daily minimum requirements of all the essential B-vitamins plus Vitamin B_{12} plus trace minerals.

Jack Spitler, Airell Clark to Get Iowa Farmer Degrees

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Remember last issue's story of how Louis Tokman's billfold saved him from painful, if not serious, injury when he was in an auto mishap weekend before last? Well, one of Louie's employees at Belmond Auto company had reason last Friday afternoon to wish he'd been wearing the lucky billfold for a hat. He can show you a perfect "x" on his forehead to explain why.

Lloyd Cunningham was standing outside the Belmond Auto company's body shop dickering on a paint job when LeRoy Wicks of Kanawha pulled up at the stop sign in a stock truck. A large safe was riding in the rear, and when the truck halted the safe rolled forward and sprung loose a heavy box-spreader hooked onto the sides of the truck box.

The heavy oak 2x4 carromed off Lloyd's noggin, dealing him such a heavy blow that in split the flesh to form the aforementioned "x". Why it didn't knock him out, Lloyd can't figure. He helpfully tossed the timber into the truck box—then realized blood was pouring down his face and dazedly crossed over to the garage, from whence John Carlin rushed him to the hospital for a patch job. On Monday, Lloyd was still displaying a sizeable "goose egg" on his brow.

Sheriff Bob Blecker warns Wright countians that the arrival of springs is bringing out itinerant peddlers like fishworms after a summer rain. They are making the rounds in steadily increasing numbers — tree-trimmers, photographers, cesspool cleaners, and what not. Bob urges householders to be fully satisfied they are dealing with responsible individuals before doing business with any of these transients. Better yet, he says, confine your business dealings to hometown businessmen you KNOW.

—M-S—

A report from one of our correspondents informs us that the Cub Scouts of Den 4 were taken to Clear Lake on Monday afternoon (by Mrs. Al Mennenga and Mrs. Lee Mussell) to visit the fish hatchery. "The boys took their lunch and fishing lines," according to our informant. We hope either: (1), that the boys exercised due discretion in pursuing their pastime at the hatchery; or (2), that the full story wasn't told and that their fishing equipment was intended for use in the less restricted waters of the nearby lake.

On-the-Nose Price Guess Wins Hat For F.E. Johnson

A capacity crowd of approximately 400 farmers and guests filled the Eagle Grove Legion Memorial hall Tuesday night for the annual spring banquet of the Wright County Cattle Feeders association. The three retiring members of the board of directors were all reelected to new terms in the course of the brief business meeting conducted by President W. P. Tyrrell.

Mr. Tyrrell was returned as director from the northeast quarter, Joe Tokheim of Eagle Grove from the southwest and Leo Woodley of Clarion as director-at-large.

Frank E. Johnson of Dows was announced the winner of the contest to guess the top Chicago market price for the week of Sept. 14-19, last fall. The actual figure was $30.25 per cwt., and Johnson hit it exactly. He was awarded a new hat for his prowess as a prognosticator.

Second prize, a stock whip, went to F. L. Bubeck of Clarion, who was only 15 cents off with a guess of $30.10. Stockmen's canes went to three men who tied for third: Dick Ersland of Belmond and Martin Larson of Clarion, who each guessed $30.50; and Si Schrage of Eagle Grove, president of the county sheepmen's association, with $30.

Francis Kutish, Iowa State college economist, gave his views of the cattle outlook. He predicted that cattle feeders may find fall prices below their liking because of the large number of finshed steers that will be ready for market then. He forecast that 1954 fall market will be definitely lower than this past year's.

Dean R. F. Patterson of South Dakota university's school of business delivered an address that was both entertaining and inspirational. His major premise was that Americans fear the future altogether too much, living as they do in the richest and most fortunate nation in the world.

FUNERAL HELD TUESDAY FOR MRS. FINN'S MOTHER

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Voight were held Tuesday at 2:00 p. m. in the Congregational church at Galt. She died last Friday at the Fort Dodge Mercy hospital.

Survivors include a son, Laurence of Council Bluffs; and two daughters, Mrs. Robert Finn of Belmond and Mrs. Floyd Hackbarth of Shell Rock. She also leaves eight grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Male Chorus of Mason City C-of-C Will Present Concert Next Tuesday

Belmond music lovers will be offered an unusual treat on Tuesday night of next week when the men's chorus of the Mason City Chamber of Commerce appears at the high school auditorium under sponsorship of Beta Sigma Phi sorority. The group's performance will serve as a "dress rehearsal" for its annual spring concert at Mason City and will follow the program prepared especially for that occasion.

There will be no admission charge for the concert, but a collection will be taken for the benefit of the Cancer Crusade. In addition, arrangements have made to obtain a special cancer film for showing during the program intermission.

Chorus One of Finest

Tom Mitchell is director of the Mason City chorus, which has earned the reputation of being one of the finest musical organizations of its kind in the entire midwest. Besides the choral numbers, the program will include a selection or two by Ann Good, a gifted soprano soloist who also serves as accompanist; a group of offerings by the male quartet; and several specialties that will lend interesting variety to the performance.

Edith Shirer, who is in charge of arrangements for Beta Sigma Phi, considers that the sorority has been extremely fortunate in obtaining the all-color movie, "One in Five," for showing in conjunction with the concert.

Film New This Month

This film was produced at the State University of Iowa for the Iowa Division of the American Cancer Society for use during the 1954 Cancer Crusade. It has been shown at cancer meetings throughout the state for the first time this month and is in great demand.

It dramatizes the fact that cancer currently strikes one out of every five persons in the nation and tells what is being done to reduce the dreadful toll of this No. 1 health menace. All parts in the movie are taken by SUI students and the film has won high praise, both for its excellence and for its effectiveness.

Both the members of Beta Sigma Phi and the personnel of the Mason City chorus hope that the high school auditorium will be packed for next Tuesday night's performance and that the cancer fund will materially benefit through the free-will offering. The program will start at 8:00 o'clock.

Hancock's Board Cancels Appeal; Kanawha to Vote

Last week the Hancock county board of education suddenly reversed its decision to contest the borders set for the proposed Kanawha Community School district. As a result, the way has been cleared for a vote on the Kanawha reorganization and voters in the area involved will cast their ballots on the issue Monday, May 3.

In a surprise move, legal representatives of the Hancock board this week sought and obtained consent decrees in Wright and Polk county district courts to consummate actions initiated in those courts by the Wright county board of education.

Effect of these decrees was to nullify the March 17th ruling of State Supt. Jessie M. Parker and the state board of public instruction favoring an appeal entered by the Hancock county board over certain Norway township land excluded from the proposed Kanawha district.

As the whole matter turns out, the Hancock board decided it advisable to vote on the area set up Dec. 3rd in its joint meeting with the Wright county board of education rather than pursue the territory dispute further.

By this decision, the prospective patrons of the reorganized Kanawha district are enabled to vote on the issue in time that the district can come into being July 1. Were the election further delayed, a whole year would have to pass before the new district could be set up. An area totaling some 88 sections is involved in the upcoming election.

SOLOISTS with the M. C. chorus next week will include Elmer Schey (above), music director of the Grafton schools. In past appearances, he has established himself as a great favorite among Mason City music lovers.

Assistant Coach, Speech Instructor Given Contracts

Two more vacancies in the Belmond school faculty were filled last week, according to Supt. Don Faris, and another one developed. Contracts were signed by Robert C. Kratky, who will teach shop classes and serve as assistant football coach, and Margaret M. Lapitz, who will teach high school English and be drama and speech director.

The vacancy occurred when the Goodell superintendent, Donald Oviatt, announced his decision not to return to the Belmond Communityl School staff next year. He has accepted a position as superintendent at Barnum for 1954-55. It has previously been planned that he would serve as elementary supervisor in the reorganized school system, along with teaching part-time in high school.

Kratky Was ISTC Captain

With Mr. Oviatt's departure, the decision to employ an elementary supervisor may not be acted upon this year. Mr. Faris says that it will depend upon how the necessary salary will fit into the instruction budget. The superintendent added that the school board still has under consideration a number of applicants for the coaching vacancy left open by Jim Crimmings' resignation, vocal music instructor and high school English teacher.

Assistant Coach Kratky is a native of Berwyn, Ill., a graduate of Morton High school, Cicero, Ill., and of Morton Junior college. He is 21 years old. He receives his Bachelor of Arts degree from Iowa State Teachers college at the end of the current semester. In both high school and college he was a varsity football player and a competitor in track. He captained the ISTC football team last fall.

Teacher Since 1937

Miss Lapitz, whose family home is at Britt, has been a teacher for 17 years. A graduate of Britt High school and junior college, she received a B. A. degree from the State University of Iowa in 1934. Since then she has taken a summer school course in dramatics at SUI and a year of graduate work at Drake university. Her engagement here marks a return to Wright county as a teacher as her first position was at Galt, back in 1937-38 when that community still had a high school.

In the intervening years she has taught in the high schools at Jordan, Thompson, Garner, Anamosa, Tripoli and Toledo, and in the junior high schools at Fort Madison and Iowa Falls.

Just $25 Went; That's All!

When numbers were drawn in advance for this week's Cash Gift Day, an extra one for 2:00 p. m. was accidently posted making a total of seven $25 chances instead of six. It was just as well that the slip was made, though. That seventh number was Tuesday's only prize winner. It (No. 5,247) was turned in by Mrs. Bennie R. Vierkant of Meservey. The unproductive 2:00 o'clock numbers were 5,163, 6,469, 6,270, 7,078, 7087 and 7,156. At 3:00 p. m., the pay-off number that would have been worth $250 was 7,027. Next week the group of 2:00 o'clock numbers will be purposely increased to seven—all worth $25; and the big one at 3:00 will again bring its holder $250, if presented.

D. Leonard Victim Of Heart Attack

Dan Leonard, former Wright county sheriff and bailiff of the district court for the past 21 years, lay near death at Clarion Memorial hospital this week as the result of a heart attack suffered two weeks ago.

Probably no other individual in the county has served in public office, on a part or full time basis, for as long a period of years as that covered by Mr. Leonard's career. He was 89 years old last summer. He first donned the badge of a part-time officer on the Clarion police force at the age of 16 or 17.

During the intervening years he served as chief of the county seat police, as deputy sheriff and for five terms as county sheriff. He first filled the latter office for three terms around the turn of the century. After a break of about 25 years, he was again voted into the sheriff's office in 1928 and served for another four years.

When R. E "Lefty" Wilson became sheriff in 1933, he appointed Dan as court bailiff and Mr. Leonard was still filling that post at the time he was stricken two weeks ago.

NEW STRIPES AND A WIFE FOR SHAHAN IN TWO WEEKS

April is proving a month of achievement for Allen Shahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Shahan. Last week he was promoted from the rating of Private First Class to that of Corporal at Fort Hood, Tex., where he's attached to the 504th Signal Battalion, U. S. Army.

Friday he'll arrive home on a week's furlough and next Tuesday will marry Viola Rowley of Kanawha at the Trinity Lutheran church. The newlyweds will leave for Fort Hood the following day.

TOT'S HEARING RESTORED

Mrs. Elmer Jacobson last week learned that a successful operation was performed recently to restore the hearing of her little grandson, Robbie White of Kenmore, N. Y. The youngster had been left virtually deaf by a sinus condition. Last Sunday Mrs. Jacobson enjoyed as an Easter gift a phone conversation with her son, Robert White of Kenmore, and his family.

Precinct Leaders To Plan Caucuses

Republican precinct chairmen of Wright county are asked by County Chairman M. B. Crabbe of Eagle Grove to lay plans for holding their precinct caucuses the week of May 3-7.

Chairmen in this vicinity are requested to advise The Independent where and when the gatherings will be held so these facts can be published next week.

Mr. Crabbe will make known at the same time the number of delegates to the county convention that each precinct should elect.

HOKELS BUY MOTEL

Mr. and Mrs. Lanny Hokel have purchased the Evergreen Motel on Highway 6 in Des Moines and took possession the first of this month. Their sons, Gary and Tommy, are staying with their grandparents, Mayor and Mrs. Henry Hokel, until the close of the school year.

Excellent Records In FFA Activities Bring Recognition

Tomorrow at the 26th annual FFA convention at Daveport, Future Farmers Airell Clark and Jack Spitler will receive the highest degree conferred on FFA members by the state organization—that of "Iowa Farmer."

Among the minimum qualifications that must be met by an applicant for the degree are: (1) he must have an outstanding program of supervised farming; (2) must have earned by his own efforts at farming, and either have on hand or invested, at least $500; (3) must have shown outstanding ability in leadership and cooperation in school, chapter and community activities.

193 of 9,659 Honored

Other strict qualifications, and final elimination of candidates by a committee on applications, reduces to not more than two per cent the ratio of Iowa Farmer degrees that can be awarded in any one year. Since there are 9,659 active FFA members in the state and only 193 are receiving the state degree, Belmond's Friendly Service chapter has done notably well to qualify two of its 40 members for the honor.

Airell and Jack bring to three the number of Iowa Farmers that Belmond has had the distinction of claiming. Last year—the first that the local chapter was eligible to make a nomination — Sherman Oberhauser received the degree.

Clark's Projects Outstanding

A BHS junior and secretary of the FFA chapter, Airell Clark has set up a truly outstanding program of supervised farming, in the opinion of Advisor Don Collinson. His projects include 71 market pigs, a purebred Angus beef cow and an Angus steer, 11 purebred Hampshire ewes with lambs and seven grade ewes with lambs, 22 acres of corn and 10 acres of soybeans.

He went to the state FFA convention last year as a member of the Belmond parliamentary procedure team, which rated as one of the best in the opinion of many who witnessed the competition. He is chairman of the chapter's supervised farming committee. Also, Airell has enjoyed good success exhibiting livestock at the Eagle Grove Junior Fair, Mason City's North Iowa Fair and the Iowa State Fair.

Spitler Chapter Treasurer

Jack Spitler is a senior and is treasurer of the local chapter. His farming projects are also exceptional and include 48 market hogs, seven purebred Hampshire ewes with lambs, 19 grade ewes with lambs, 18 acres of oats and 10 acres of corn. He is chairman of the chapter committee on cooperative activities. He, too, has done well as a livestock exhibitor at the Eagle Grove and North Iowa Fairs.

Besides attending the state convention to receive their Iowa Farmer degrees, both Airell and Jack have entries at Davenport competing for Gold Medal ratings. Airell's secretary's book advanced by earning a top rating in district competition, and Jacks' treasurer's book. The scrapbook of Reporter Tim Trees is entered in the state contest; also a chapter exhibit, the preparation of which has been directed by Harold Tendall and Herbert Pals.

Two Official Delegates

Bob McLaughlin and Larry Wolters are the chapter's official delegates to the parley at Davenport. Bob also is a member of the state FFA committee on camps, which will meet during the convention. Kyle Mennenga will sing with the state FFA chorus and Gary Gabrielson will play bass horn in the state band. Tom Stadtlander and Vernon McLaughlin complete the Belmond delegation.

The first of the state convention activities were scheduled for today and the event will continue through Friday and Saturday. Advisor Don Collinson accompanied the local contingent to Davenport.

GMI's Position Explained

Tommorrow the nationwide strike of the American Federation of Grain Millers (AFL) against General Mills, Inc., will begin its fourth week. No new developments came out of the policy meeting held last week at Chicago by the union and up to Wednesday morning of this week there was no hint that resumption of negotiations is imminent.

One question has been heard repeatedly in Belmond, from both GMI employees and from other townspeople. It concerns the changed attitude of the General Mills management toward one paragraph in the proposed master agreement with the union, which has formed the nub of the current dispute.

Why GMI Changed Stand

This paragraph has been in the union-GMI master agreement for four years and has to do with scheduling of plant operations. The Independent contacted Minneapolis headquarters of General Mills on Tuesday to invite comment on this matter.

While not going into specific details, a company spokesman stated that leaders of the Federation of Grain Millers have placed on the paragraph in question an interpretation that has introduced a wholly new issue. A management function is infringed upon by this interpretation, according to the GMI official, and this has led to the company's insistence that the paragraph on work scheduling be stricken from the master agreement.

Close Margins Cited

It was pointed out by the company spokesman that extremely close margins are involved in modern-day milling operations. For this reason it is regarded vital that management functions be kept distinctly apart from union jurisdiction. He stressed that wages are not involved in the existing deadlock.

So that employees on strike can have access to complete information concerning the company's stand, supervisory employees of the Belmond plant have been thoroughly briefed in that regard. The headquarters spokesman urged that Belmond plant workers take questions concerning the work-scheduling paragraph to their department supervisor.

It is fully appreciated by the company, said the official who was interviewed, that the workers made idle by the strike want the fullest information possible regarding the issues involved. He said he was confident that the supervisors can help the union members understand more clearly why GMI has taken the stand that it has.

EASTER EGG HUNTERS PROVE GOOD SLEUTHS

More than 250 colored Easter Eggs and 20 pounds of candy eggs were plucked from their hiding places as a crowd of children enjoyed Beta Sigma Phi sorority's annual Easter Egg Hunt last Sunday morning.

Winners of prizes ranged all the way from pre-schoolers to 3rd-graders. Those who carried home special awards for their sleuthing ability were: Maureen Smith, Timmy Lein, Paul Green, Larry Fleener and Billy Broshar.

Margaret Mussell 'Hoofbeats' Editor

Margaret Mussell has been chosen by present editors of "Hoofbeats," BHS student newspaper, to be editor-in-chief of the publication during the 1954-55 school year. She will have as assistants Carol Ann Leinbach and Corrine Davenport. Both Margaret and Carol Ann will be seniors next fall and Corrine will be a junior.

Other staff appointments have been made by the incoming and retiring editors, with the assistance of Advisor Margaretjean Butterworth, as follows: Dale Caquelin, sports editor, Arlo Wayne Stoltenberg and Bill Murray, assistants; Connie Hill and Sharon Thompsen, copy editors; Maryellen Johnson, dispatch editor.

New County Nurse Begins Her Duties

Effective last Thursday, Audrey Engen of Clarion became Wright county public health nurse, succeeding Elizabeth Tracy of Belmond. Miss Engen's appointment was made by the county board of supervisors after announcement by Miss Tracy that she was resigning April 15 in view of her plans to marry on April 24. She will wed Jim Malley of Joice.

A 1950 graduate of Clarion High school, the new county nurse obtained her nurse training at Kahler School of Nursing, Rochester, Minn. Following her graduation last September, she accepted employment at Clarion Memorial hospital.

Rural Women Will Have Their "Day" At E.G., April 27

Wright County Rural Women's Day will be held on Tuesday of next week at the Legion Memorial hall in Eagle Grove. Major highlight of the occasion will be presentation of the pageant, "I Hear America Singing," by the county rural women's chorus.

Another feature of the occasion will be an exhibit of pictures and garments constructed of new fabrics which have been produced in the course of this year's extension lessons. Mrs. Lloyd Howeter, exhibit chairman, is asking each township chairman to bring examples of work from her township.

The county women's committee held a meeting at the Clarion VFW hall earlier this month to plan the Rural Women's Day. At that time, the chairmen's reports were presented, also.

Mrs. R. G. Nolte, county committee chairman, introduced Margaret Kagrice of the extension service. Miss Kagrice presented suggestions for planning next year's program. The county committee will meet again on May 28.

FORMER BELMOND GIRL SUBMITS TO SERIOUS OPERATION ON HEART

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Ferguson returned to Belmond last Friday after spending two and a half weeks in Miami, Fla., to be with their daughter, Jean Palmer, while she underwent a serious heart operation.

Mrs. Palmer submitted to surgery on April 5 to correct a stricture of the aorta. Damage to the valve in this large artery leading to the heart had been caused by an attack of pneumonia Mrs. Palmer suffered last year.

According to Mrs. Ferguson, her daughter was on the operating table for two hours while one of the outstanding heart surgeons in the nation performed the operation. When the Fergusons left Miami last Monday on their return home, Mrs. Palmer was recuperating nicely from the surgery.

Mrs. Ferguson reports that the Heart Fund of the American Heart association took care of all expenses involved in the operation and the period of hospitalization that preceded and followed. In addition, Mrs. Palmer will benefit from the association's rehabilitation fund, which will underwrite special training that will prepare her for suitable employment upon her recovery.

Too much praise cannot be given the Heart association and its work, in the Fergusons' opinion. This agency is financed, jointly with the National Tuberculosis association, by funds derived from the annual sale of Christmas Seals.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson were accompanied on the trip home by their son-in-law, Ward Palmer, and grandson Terry. Ward is painting for the time being with Paul Rogalla. Terry will return to be with his mother as soon as her health will permit her to look after him.

3 Local Bowlers in Title Chase

Belmond bowlers stand in a better than fair way to monopolize honors in the Wright county bowling championships at Clarion when the semi-finals and finals are rolled off at Hiatt alleys this coming Sunday afternoon. Only one kegler, Marv Franzen of Eagle Grove, remains to block a Belmond sweep of the three pay-off places in the title flight.

At 3:00 p. m. Sunday, Franzen will meet up with Ed Albers of the Bowl-Mor contingent in the upper bracket semi-final match. Lower bracket opponents will be a pair of Belmondites, Fred Gordon and George Sharp.

Gordon Rallies to Win

Two local contenders had to go all out in their quarter-final matches to stay in the running. Albers was forced to come from behind to edge Vern Schaeffer of Eagle Grove, 509-490; and Gordon picked up 13 pins (192-179) in the final game to take the measure of Joe Thielen, Eagle Grove, by a three-pin margin. 573 to 570.

Sharp had easy pickings in his set-to with a fellow-townsman, Dave Robertson, in his quarter-final match. Dave had a lot of trouble getting his ball in the pocket and bowed by a 555-396 decision. Franzen advanced by trimming R. Wilcox of Eagle Grove.

First Round Results

Winners in the first round of the championship flight were: Albers over Dr. A. M Larson; Jack Crosby over C. Berryhill; Schaeffer over Dale Caquelin; Rog Kinseth over R. B. Thompson; Maynard Holmgaard over Anson Avery; Wilcox over O'Toole; Franzen over Arlo Stoltenberg; A. Mechem over Jim Mariga.

Thielen over O. Roepke; G. Bonde over Clair Hanson; Gordon over Bob Miller; Jack Lobdell over V. Bierl; Pete Pals over C. Winbigler; Robertson over Gary Brothers; Sharp over Wayne Rae; H. Tuttle over G. Stearns.

Lansing, Chapman Advance

Second round results were: Albers over Crosby; Schaeffer over Kinseth; Wilcox over Holmgaard; Franzen over Mechem; Thielen over Bonde; Gordon over Lobdell; Robertson over Pals; Sharp over Tuttle.

Belmond bowlers were still in the running for honrs in the three, lower flights after last weekend's tourney action. Jack Lansing reached the semi-finals of the 1st flight and John Chapman did likewise in the second, both with a pair of wins. John Pedersen was victor in his only matched to stay in contention in the tthird flight.

Belmond Locals

Mrs. Bertha Thompson of Des Moines and Mr. and Mrs. Rice of Mason City all visited with Gus Ziska on Sunday.

Kinseth's, Goodell Take Pin Honors In Their Leagues

Two more men's bowling leagues completed their seasons last week, leaving only the women with games yet to roll. The women's league has a 33-week season, compared to 30 for the men's leagues, and has three rounds to go including the present week.

Kinseth's Hot-Pointers made pretty much of a run-away out of the Mainstreeter league. Exhibiting the best balance of any team that has competed in the local leagues since bowling was revived here four years ago, the Kinseth gang finished with a seven-game lead over Thompsen's Clothiers, in second place. The Hot-Pointers won exactly two-thirds of their games, 60-30.

Albers Cops Honors

Prize pay-off in the Main Street league is on a scratch basis and Kinseth's had both high game (1,010) and high series (2,797). On a handicap basis, Mello Maid would have copped top honors in each division with 1,050 and 2,941. Individual high game was shared by Ed Albers and Gary Brothers, each with 267; and high series was a tie between Albers and Fred Gordon with 677's.

It is noteworthy that two of the three highest individual averages were compiled by members of Kinseth's team—Brothers, with 187; and Albers, 184. Gordon fit in between with a 185 average. Albers tied with Brothers for highest league average for the season with a 187 in the Boardsplitters league.

Goodell Wins Inter-City

Goodell wobbled into first place in the Inter-City league in spite of losing its final match to Dows, 2½-½. The Goodellians finished with a four-game spread on Woodward's with a record of 54½ won and 35½ lost. Rowan had the league's best series, a 2,863; and best game was turned in by Mussell's, 1,003. George Sharp's 601 was top, individual series; and Don Nielsen's single game of 263 was best in that department.

Competition in the women's league continues close, right to the finish. Only a game and a half separated the first three teams after last week's round of play—and Belmond Greenhouse, in 4th, was out by only 4½ games. With the leaders vying mainly against each other in the remaining three weeks, the championship very well may not be decided until the final week. At present, Swede's Tap Room, Rowat-Murray and Hamm's Beer hold the No. 1, 2 and 3 positions.

Bronco Nine Wins Baseball Opener; Loats, Mehl Shut Out Rowan, 7 to 0

Belmond High's baseball team won its season opener last Friday in fancy fashion, trimming Rowan in a six-inning contest with a 7-0 shut-out. Against the mound offerings of Ken Loats and Gene Mehl, the visitors were able to connect for only one hit. That was a single by Dan Aldrich in the first inning.

Against the combined pitching efforts of Baker and Hill—the latter taking over in the 4th frame—the Bronc batters gathered five safeties. Six bases on balls helped considerably in padding out the winners' score. Singles were hit by Loats, Arlo Stoltenberg, Mehl and Bill Murray and Dale Caquelin cracked out a two-bagger.

Chandler Impresses

Remarkably tight defensive ball was played, considering it was the first game of the season. Belmond was guilty of a couple of errors and one was chalked up against Rowan. Several sparkling plays were turned in, including the stab of a slashing liner by Jerry Chandler in the third that enabled him to cut off a runner at first base by a step.

Loats displayed an effective variety of slants that kept the Rowan boys hitting air a good share of the time. He struck out six out of the 15 batters he faced and surrendered only two passes. Mehl, making his first appearance as a moundsman, set down three men on strikes and issued only one base on balls in two innings.

At Rowan, Friday

Besides Loats and Mehl, who played right field until taking over the pitching chores, Belmond's line-up included: c, LeRoy Smith; 1b, Don Hoppel; 2b, Jerry Chandler; 3b, Bill Murray; ss, Bob Barry; lf, Arlyn Frohling, Dale Caquelin (2); cf, Stoltenberg, Jerry Dorr (4), Marlan Cunningham (6).

Coach Jim Crimmings hoped to arrange another game for the middle of this week, but at press time for this section had not completed arrangements. This Friday the team plays a return game at Rowan and on April 30 travels to Klemme. A joust with Garner is being negotiated, also.

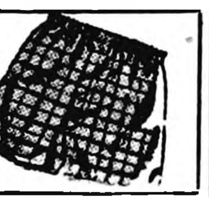
—PAT'S— SPORTS SHORTS



Take note that four boys in the starting line-up for Belmond in the baseball opener against Rowan are graduates of the peewee league. In general, they committed themselves very respectably, too. Jerry Chandler, Bill Murray, Arlo Stoltenberg and Arlyn Frohling were the quartet who've "advanced through the ranks." Incidentally, Chandler came through with THE fielding play of the day. Teaching 'em young pays off!

—PSS—

We at The Independent expect great things of that new, assistant football coach, Bob Kratky. The guy's a former printer's devil, and we're convinced that a little printer's ink in the blood does great things for a fellow. The owner of the Chicago printing shop where Bob worked gave him a mighty fine "recommend," too.

—PSS—

For a year or two there were suggestions that the bowling team bearing the banner of Thompsen's Clothiers should be "busted up"—like the Yankees. Just too good. After this past season, though, the heat should be off the Thompsen gang. Kinseth's Hot-Pointers made the Clothiers, and all the rest of the Mainstreeter entries, look like amateurs. A good share of the time, anyway.

—PSS—

Those Clothiers ended up the season nipping at the Hot-Pointers' heels, though. Kinseth's had high team series (scratch) for the league season with 2,797 pins. In their final outing, against Thompsen Office, the Clothiers missed the total by just two pins! Presumably this was the haberdashers' way of saying, "Just wait till next year!"

—PSS—

If you've got any ideas on the high school coaching situation, just pass 'em along to Don Faris and the school board members. Everybody else is. Looks to us as if the gents in the judgment seat (Mrs. Mussell, lone feminine member of the board, wisely declares it's their baby) stand a better than 50-50 chance to be "wrong," no matter what they do.

In the last analysis, though, it's the athletes themselves who'll make or break the new coach, whoever he may be. If they give him the same cooperation they gave Jim Crimmings, the Broncos will be plenty tough—in football as well as basketball.

It's not hard to figure that the kids will be the losers, more than anyone else, if they do otherwise. The current crop of athletes has the stuff to write a lot of history into the record books in the next year or so. Your scribe, for one, is confident they'll do it.

Dows Gets Started On Reorganization

Dows has joined the ranks of communities in this area seeking school reorganization and the first hearing on the proposed boundaries of Dows Community School district will be held on Tuesday of next week. As outlined in petitions asking its establishment, the district would contain between 85 and 90 sections.

According to those promoting the reorganization, more than 80 per cent of the qualified electors in the area signed the petitions. They held the signatures of 904 voters.

Four and a half sections, which presently constitute part of Dows Independent district, lie in Oakland township of Franklin county. The rest of the territory is more or less equally distributed in Blaine and Vernon townships of Wright county and Morgan township in Franklin.

Attorney R. A. Henderson of Belmond is serving as legal counsel for the Dows reorganization committee.

NURSE OFFERS REMINDER OF PRE-SCHOOL ROUNDUP

School Nurse Alta Smith reminds the parents of all pre-schoolers who will be enrolling next fall for kindergarten in Belmond Community School district that advance consulations are scheduled for next week.

Children from the area of the district that is in Wright county should be brought to the lunch room at the Belmond High school building next Wednesday or Thursday between the hours of 1:00 and 4:00 p. m. Hancock county totts should be taken to the Goodell school on Monday afternoon.

Birth certificates and immunization records, if the child has any, should be brought to the roundup. Any child who will reach the age of five by Nov. 15 is eligible for kindergarten registration.

Don't let a used car's price tag Blind you!

Remember! It's where you buy that counts. Check the price, of course. But check the dealer too!

An unusually "good deal" on a used car is not necessarily a good value. But we Ford Dealers can put rock bottom price tags on A-1 used cars because we don't depend upon used car profits to stay in business. We sell used cars mainly as a service to our customers who trade them for new cars. Naturally, we must keep these used cars moving to make room for the constant stream of trade-ins we get.

We know it pays to play square with you. We want your good will . . . your service business. And, some day, we want to sell you a new car or another used car. So our good reputation rides with the used cars we sell. When you can trust the dealer, you can trust the used car, too.

Hospital Staff's "Own" Coffee Cups Provide Comic "Clues" to Character

While teacup readings traditionally reveal the user's character—along with other odds and ends of clairvoyant information — at Belmond Community hospital it's coffee-cup readings that provide insight of such a nature. But at the hospital, said insight is gained by studying the outside rather than the inside of the cup.

This state of affairs came about when Henrietta Gartz of the kitchen staff registered a complaint regarding the undependability of her cup supply. As various members of the staff wandered in for a "coffee break," dirty cups piled up in considerable quantity and it was difficult to keep things "ship shape."

Kay Tideback, Artist

An obvious answer to the problem was to provide each staff member with a personal cup and individual responsibility for looking after it. This solution was forthwith adopted and now nearly three dozen cups hang in gleaming array at one corner of the kitchen.

So where does divulgence of character secrets come in? Well, Nurse Kay Tideback felt a bit of decoration would not be amiss so on each cup she has painted a cartoon appropriate to the owner, a pertinent phrase, or both. . . . The cups now make right interesting "reading."

Dr. Sam Leinbach's cup shows him baggy-eyed and woebegone "at 2:00 a. m." after an illy timed summons to the hospital; Dr. Arlo Pitcher's depicts a masked surgeon fondling a meat clever; Dr. Glenn Hruska's is embossed with a caricature of himself complete with cigar which he is "talking around."

Mary Wields the Whip

Nurse Supervisor Mary Meyer is libeled as a whip-cracking tyrant ordering "Get to work!"; Jan Shroyer, part-time nurse from Rowan whose major assignment is bathing patients is shown wildly declaring, "If I give one more bath, I'll scream!"; and Wanda Moore, surgery nurse, is portrayed proffering a can-opener selected from a tray of surgical utensils.

A bit of fun is had with pretty Audrey Soma, who is transformed into a glamorous goldfish lazing about in a water cooler, reporting on her latest date with the preliminary remark, "And then he said -"; Doris Musselman, custodian of the broom and dust-rag, takes the form of a forlorn Dust Hound commenting, "Dust? I never heard of it"; and Virginia Studebaker, nurse's aid who assists in the nursery, is pictured announcing with supreme satisfaction, "They're ALL dry!"

Eight Arms for Helen

Technician Helen McNulty is transmuted into an octupus, the inference being that the busy girl would be hard put to it to get all her multitudinous chores done if she had EIGHT arms; Administrator Jack Shepard, always concerned with seeing there's enough in the sock to meet the next payroll, is shown chasing the elusive dollar while cries of "Pay day?" pursue him; and Dr. A. M. Nelson, who's always ready with a gag, is pictured delivering the overture to his latest — "Stop me if you've heard this one."

So it goes. Thirty-three cups! (Well, 31 actually. A couple have already been broken.) Yep, it's an education to "read" those cups. Your reporter feels devilishly certain he knows the hospital bunch better now than he ever did before.

Magic?

Why, you perform it every day!

More wonderous than the vanishing rabbit in the top hat of a slight-of-hand artist, are the tricks of magic you perform countless times a day . . . every time you flick an electric switch. Imagine . . . sight-saving, gleaming light at your instant command. It's a miracle to match the feats of a mighty magician.

INDEED, during the early days of electric lights, when a pioneer bulb could first be made to glow, electric lighting was a carnival attraction. Unbelieving prophets of the day proclaimed that electricity would never rival gas for lighting.

How different our world is today! Toddlers safely serve as home lighting "foreman" . . . flicking the switches at will. The power of electricity has turned homes into palaces of comfort and conveniences. Television makes your living room a theatre . . . automatic kitchen and laundry appliances turn hours from drudgery to leisure.

Work, dreams, money, vision all play an important part in keeping an abundant supply of electricity ready for your every demand. Be among the informed leaders familiar with the exciting story of today's expansion program, designed to contribute to your comfort and prosperity during the years ahead.

Visiting around Iowa

by Joe Marsh

Iowa Prospers On Pork

"Curley" Collins is quite a hog raiser and proud of it.

He was prouder than ever when he showed us a report from the Meat Board, saying: "Iowa leads the nation in meat production".

"That's because we're so far ahead in pork," says Curley. "Let the vegetarians worry about that for a while!"

Well, Curley's figures probably won't bother the vegetable eaters. But they made me think . . . What would happen to Iowa if someone suddenly laid down a rule that we all had to become vegetarians! Or, what would happen to the "health food" industry if someone ruled that we must all eat nothing but meat!

Makes you realize how interdependent we are on one another. Take the millions of bushels of Iowa grain used in making beer. Right back to Iowa comes a by-product of brewing which helps hens to lay more eggs.

One helps the other. And our diversified tastes, and freedom of choice in how we work, eat, or think, makes this the great nation that it is.

Remember When?

FROM THE FILES OF YESTERYEAR

TEN YEARS AGO—

Belmond won two first ratings in the preliminary music contest at Hampton last Friday, the concert band and George Sharp with a tuba solo.

—1944—

With Quigley and Bob Nelson sharing pitching duties, Belmond dropped a five-inning game to Kanawha last Friday, 7 to 1.

—1944—

Publisher George Hansen now Printer 2/c at Camp Shoemaker, Calif., passes on the story of a pick-up softball game played by two battalion teams which was virtually won single-handed by the batting of a half-pint whose captain had relegated him to right field. The unidentified "shorty" turned out to be Phil Rizzuto of N. Y. Yankee fame!

—1944—

—1944—

Two men working on construction of the General Mills plant suffered injuries last Friday. Harley McCann received a severe leg fracture when he fell from a steel beam and Chris Steinwandt sustained painful leg bruises when a concrete carrier tipped over on him.

—1944—

Selective Service draftees inducted by the Army on April 12 included three Belmond men: Henry Johnson, Arthur William Rierson and Charles Studebaker.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—

It is reported that five minors were found in the rear of a local pool hall drinking intoxicating liquor when the establishment was raided last Saturday evening by a party headed by Sheriff R. E. Wilson.

—1934—

Belmond High scored 37 points to take second in the Mason City invitation track meet last Saturday. Don Goelz tallied 21¼ points and George Reinfeld 11¼.

—1934—

A. C. Hinman, Peter Svendsen, O. D. Jenison, George Thompson and C. H. Jennings attended a district meeting of creamery directors and managers at Waterloo last Tuesday.

—1934—

Goodell High school won its 23rd straight baseball game last Friday, drubbing Kanawha 18 to 3. Pitching duties were shared by Burk, Carpenter, Skinner and M. Zielie.

—1934—

A severe dust storm was whipped up by high winds in this and other parts of the state on Monday, disheartening housewives who had finished their spring cleaning.

—1934—

Fred Fulton announces in today's paper that he has moved his undertaking establishment from its former location into his own home.

—1934—

C. J. Papousek went to Newton last Thursday and brought back a carload of new Maytag washers.

THIRTY YEARS AGO—

—1924—

John Zook has started the construction of an addition to his building which the Swift produce station occupies. He plans to build a second story to cover his present office building.

—1924—

Field labor for the sugar beet fields has begun to come in large numbers the past week. The more than double last year's acreage which is under contract for this year will necessitate a much larger number of field laborers.

—1924—

W. C. Tyrrell, Jr., is now engaged in arranging a number of talks to be given by Mr. Allen of Michigan on beet sugar and its qualities. The talks will be given at various towns in northwest Iowa.

—1924—

Anton Boller of Goodell went to Chicago last Saturday with the intention of locating there.

—1924—

"The Eternal City" is being presented at the Lyric theatre next Wednesday and Thursday as a benefit for the American Legion. It stars Barbara LaMarr, Lionel Barrymore, Montague Love, Bert Lytell and Richard Bennett.

—1924—

Next Friday is Arbor Day, and the proper time to plant a tree.

FORTY YEARS AGO—

Thoe-Menzies Auto Co. has just completed a large extension to its building, made necessary by increasing business.

—1914—

St. John's Lutheran church will be completed in a short time now and it has a much improved appearance with the new spire.

—1914—

Will Luick has just finished putting in a big, 80-barrel cistern for L. L. Lathrop. Leon will be able to keep rain water on tap hereafter.

—1914—

Mr. and Mrs. C. Hill, parents of H. N. and A. W. Hill, arrived in Belmond last Saturday and will become citizens of this town. They will build a residence here this summer.

—1914—

—1914—

Mr. Hill, night clerk at the Rule hotel, received a visit from a son last week. The young man was on his way to Cleveland to join the American league baseball club as a catcher.

—1914—

C. C. McGuire has begun an extension to his store building, which will be about 17 feet in depth, to give him needed room.

—1914—

The Clarion council last week appointed a fire chief. That is a duty which the Belmond council has never performed but which is one of its proper duties.

FIFTY YEARS AGO—

George Crist came in Saturday from California and surprised his brother "Heinie," who was not expecting him. We can imagine how George enjoys the current wintry blasts after a winter spent among tropical flowers, orange blossoms and beautiful women.

—1904—

Bro. Pierce says Olaf has a "cute little station." What's the matter with the station agent, our old friend Jas. Mahoney; is he not "cute," too?

—1904—

Joe Costello was a Clarion visitor Monday and received a bouquet at the hands of Bro. Elder of the Democrat. Lucky Joe! Mighty few bouquets come from that source.

—1904—

We saw a check yesterday for $148 in payment for a few cases of eggs. The festive Iowa hen seems to be a more valuable chattel just now than the famous Iowa hog.

—1904—

At this writing the percolating breezes from the northwest bring to the imaginative mind visions of last winter's coal bills. We wonder if spring will ever come?

—1904—

H. C. Tyrrell advertises that he will sell soft wood for $3.50 per cord for the next 30 days.

—1904—

Wright county's Democrats appear deeply involved in civil warfare just at a time when either Hearst or Parker will need all the support he can get next fall.

CHICK CHATS

THE CHICKS ON RANGE

Pretty soon your chicks will be ready to roam the range. Maybe they're out there already. Most likely yours aren't. So I'd like to talk to you a little bit about the poultry range.

Choose your range now. Don't put 'em in a pasture where you ranged last year's birds. And above all, keep 'em away from the hens. Goodness, all the things that can happen if you don't isolate the pullets. Why, do you know that most experts think that chicks brooded near hens often die with big liver after they grow up and start laying? Seems to me that it'd pay to keep 'em separate—by at least 400 feet.

A green range is a big help in growing strong healthy pullets. Maybe it's because a lot of nice tasty bugs hang out in the green grass and the chickens get healthy eating them. However, the grass itself seems to be pretty tasty to the birds—if it's a nice green grass.

Shade is important on the range too. Chickens, unlike movie stars, don't like to spend time in the sun getting a tan. They figure it's just too darn hot. If you haven't got trees handy, put the range near a field of corn. The chickens will appreciate meandering up and down the rows eating corn borers, chinch bugs, etc. and keep cool while doing it.

Feeding and watering is an important part of raising chickens. I don't think anyone disagrees with that. But feeding and watering can be easier on range than carrying it out in buckets. Try a big tank to haul the water. Or use a plastic hose. It's pretty cheap and you can use it every year—if not for the chickens, you can use it in the tomato patch.

There must be easier ways to get the feed out to the range too. Use a covered barrel on skids, or something like that. Maybe you can figure out something better. I seem to have run dry.

Chicks have to stay healthy on range if you expect 'em to make money in the hen house. Keep 'em healthy on range. They need plenty of feed and clean water—plus no old hens around to pass on diseases.

Meeting Features A Mexican Motif

A Mexican motif predominated at the regular meeting of the Meservey American Legion Auxiliary held Wednesday night of last week at the schoolhouse. Information on Mexico, as one of the Pan-American countries, was given by Maxine Morris.

Frances Basener, music chairman sang a song of Mexico and led in group singing. Dixie Lee Koenen played a Mexican selection as a piano solo.

Lunch was served Mexican style by Ethel Wendel and Frances Basener. Each guest was presented with a flower to be worn in the hair and the table was decorated in Mexican style with handiwork and dolls from that country.

Thina Smith gave a report on child welfare, Irene Koenen on education and Ethel Wendel on civil defense. Ten dozen cookies were brought for the state hospital at Independence and scissors were bought for the children's home at Glenwood.

Future plans were made for county and district meetings that are coming up and for a May tea honoring all mothers.

BELMOND LOSES THREE OF "THE BEST" WITH THIS YEAR'S FACULTY TURN-OVER

It has to be taken for granted in every school that "teachers come, and teachers go." Some leave for reasons that need not be amplified; others depart for careers of domesticity or to seek greener pastures, having sufficed at their jobs without carving a very perceptible niche for themselves in the community. Then again there are those whose leaving causes deep and sincere regret.

Belmond is unfortunate this spring in losing three faculty members who plainly fit into the third category — Eldoris Bunnell, Don Collinson and Coach Jim Crimmings.

Under Mrs. Bunnell's direction, the BHS vocal music department has gained a steadily widening reputation for excellence. The quality of her training has been manifested in the constant development of her department, in the records her students have made in musical competition, in the fine entertainments they have provided the school patrons on many occasions, and in the fine records a number of her proteges have achieved in college.

It is no surprise to any of his friends that Don Collinson is abandoning the teaching profession for a field of endeavor that he regards to offer even greater opportunity for service. He soon will become an agricultural missionary and proposes to spend the rest of his lifetime in that work. Don has been an A-1 teacher of vocational agriculture, provided inspiring leadership for boys of the FFA and with the Methodist young people.

Jim Crimming's decision to give up his coaching job here to accept one bearing lighter responsibilities was greeted with keen dissappointment. All who witnessed the transformation in spirit he achieved at BHS in only two years' time wish he could have consolidated the gains made by remaining at least another year. It was Jim's judgment, however, that for reasons of health he could not wisely subject himself to the strain of the championship campaigns that appear in the offing for the Broncos next year. His numerous admirers will do well to accept this decision in good grace and wish Jim the good fortune he deserves in his future undertakings. Jim fought for the principle of conscientious training, shrugged off criticism while proving his point, and leaves athletics at Belmond High school on a distinctly higher plane than he found them.

It's teachers of the calibre of Mrs. Bunnell, Mr. Collinson and Mr. Crimmings who have done most to elevate public school education in these United States to a standard that is rightly envied by the rest of the world. Our community has benefited greatly by their time among us. May the future bring each of them the satisfaction they pursue and the rewards they deserve.

HAS SCIENCE FINALLY REDUCED WAR TO A PLAIN AND OBVIOUS ABSURDITY?

As modern science has seemingly approached the ultimate in horrible weapons, many an observer has chosen to regard their invention as simply another — and perhaps near-final — link in the chain of self-destruction that mankind appears intent on forging. These pessimists point out that the cross-bow, gun powder, the gatling gun and other devices have each in their day been regarded as so deadly that their very terribleness would jar men to their senses and bring an end to war. Since this did not result, the viewers-with-alarm ask why we should hope that the H-bomb and immeasureably deadlier cobalt bomb should be expected to achieve what cruel weapons of those earlier days so dismally failed to accomplish?

Nevertheless, there is some reason to hope that this time history may not repeat itself. A good friend of ours has dented more than one argument we've supported by observing, "Well, now, let's reduce that to an absurdity." This process, we've learned, in more cases than not is successful in knocking the props out from under a poorly conceived assumption.

Since man pitched his first rock at a neighbor, he's regarded war as the means of last resort for settling differences of opinion. As the centuries have passed, he has gone a long way toward reducing to an absurdity the hypothesis that war is a feasible solution to disagreements. Several times his ingenuity has pushed him to the threshold of unmistakable revelation that self-destruction is imminent unless he learns to live with himself in peace.

World War I saw poison gas briefly employed — then quickly forsaken in conflicts that followed. Similarly, there can be little question but what bacteriological weapons capable of spreading death on an unprecedented scale could easily have been produced for use in World War II. But, again, mutual restraint was exercised by the combatants.

Now, through nuclear fission, man has created a genie that dwarfs all past, evil powers of his invention. There are promising signs that he once more realizes he must keep the stopper in the bottle or invite his own destruction. Must he not inevitably be set to wondering: If the agonizing death of millions is too horrible to contemplate, what portion of that horde can be sacrificed to traditional weapons and leave war a "paying proposition"? If that question finds no answer, is it not possible that we're at last achieving the reductio ad absurdum that will make the falacy of war apparent for what it is?

IF YOU ASPIRE TO A "SHARE" IN THAT NEW FIRE STATION, THE TIME IS NOW

Belmond's new fire station is rapidly taking form. Within two weeks the shell of the structure will be completed; and the job may well be finished by the first of June.

Donations toward the project have been generous, but approximately $750 is still needed to see it through in proper fashion. Next week the Belmond Fire Department plans to publish an advertisement giving due recognition to all who have contributed to the cause up to that time — by name, not by amount.

Quite a number of well-wishers have expressed their intention of joining the list of donors but have so far neglected to do so. Most of them are not engaged in business downtown and as a result have not been directly contacted. This is an invitation to them to get their gifts in now, so their names can be included in the sponsorship ad.

The firemen have worked hard on this project. The finished station will be a source of pride to the entire community. Get in with your "bit," and enjoy the right to share in that pride.

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

You can't accuse Dr. L. R. Parsons of being the "unsettled" sort. Of course, he HAS moved three times since he originally opened his dental practice in Belmond — and Saturday he'll have his office open for business in its fifth location. But in view of the fact that Saturday marks the 35th anniversary of the date on which he first hung his shingle here, that shouldn't be much over par for the course.

With a grin, Doc explains his "gadabout" proclivities with the remark, "Well, now and then the rent falls due when you don't have it, you know. . ."

He's now moving into the quarters of the late Dr. H. L. Gowdy. He first practiced over the location now occupied by Belmond bakery; then over Bonte Hardware — when a bakery occupied that site. His next two spots were in defunct bank buildings — over what's now Infelt's, then to his present office. Guess he'll be settled hereafter, though. No other hotels to move into.

There's a hen on the Onno Suntken farm near Alexander who'll do 'most anything to get a day off. At least, it is to be presumed that laying two eggs in a day should signal a holiday for the day following. Tuesday, Mrs. Suntken brought to the Independent office a specimen of the hen's handiwork.

It was a complete, double egg — one inside the other. The exterior shell was a whopper, 10 inches in circumference the long way and seven inches the other. It contained the conventional yolk and white — and the second egg.

One of the Suntken youngsters, excitedly examining the unusual hen fruit, broke the outer shell before his mother got it to town. But the cracked remains were sufficient to impress US. It's our guess that after laying the superspheroid, that hen probably NEEDED a day's rest.

If you want to see a masterpiece of youthful ingenuity, don't fail to take a look at that FFA display in the window of Elliott's Hardware this weekend. It's a lulu. A 178-rpm motor had to be geared down to 10 rpm to revolve the photographs. And the rigging that makes the red arrows light up is really astounding.

Electrical contacts mounted on a coffee can lid synchronize the arrows with the appropriate pictures by means of a maze of dynamite wires and interior lights scavenged from old, junked Fords. Inner-tube insulation is used generously throughout the circuit. Herb Pals, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. L. Pals, was the master electrician who planned the illuminated arrows.

Two days before the state FFA convention last week, he decided he just couldn't whip the intricate job. But that night his sub-conscious mind must have got in some licks—for the next morning he scurried to school, ironed out the final "bugs" and soon had those arrow blinking on and off like magic.

—M-S—

Patrons of Belmond township school district No. 6 last week made clear that they regard themselves as belonging to the "Belmond community" in the fullest sense of the word. Their district will lose its identity on July 1, when Belmond Community School district comes into being.

That left these good people with approximately $120 in their school "social" fund, for which no further need exists. Joe Dana, school director for the district, was directed to see it put to good use. We'd say he did nobly.

After conferring with "Lu" Cox at the bank, Joe invested $75 in the Belmond Community Chest, contributed $25 to the firemen's station fund, and ordered $10 checks sent to the Red Cross and the Wright County Tuberculosis and Health association. To No. 6, we make a bow.

—M-S—

So long as there are farmers, they will divide into two classes—optimists and pessimists. Evidence to substantiate this indisputable statement was offered by the guesses the Wright County Cattle Feeders submitted last spring on what top, Chicago beef price was to be during the week of Sept. 14-19, 1953. The majority proved to be pessimists.

As reported last week, Frank Johnson of Dows hit the correct $30.25 figure right on the nose; and several other cattlemen and guests came mighty close.

On the average, though, the prognostications were on the low side. The average of all the guesses made was $3.53 per cwt. short of actuality; and the lowest guesser of all (who must have been very pleased at what the price WAS) guessed a meager $16.50. Highest prediction was $36.60.

Union and GMI Agree on Terms

Negotiations led to settlement of the American Federation of Grain Millers' strike against General Mills, Inc., at 3:00 a.m. last Friday, just three weeks and three hours after union employees had been called off the job in more than two dozen GMI plants, including Belmond's. Later in the morning, Local No. 25 of the Grain Millers was instructed by wire from union headquarters that its members were to resume wrok.

It is reported that a tentative master agreement has been drafted between the federation and General Mills and awaits final signature by representatives of the two parties. Differences over the work-scheduling paragraph that led to the strike were satisfactorily ironed out, both the union and company have announced, but details of the understanding arrived at have not been released.

On Saturday morning, members of the maintenance, meal warehouse and the milling and extraction crews were able to take up their jobs, the plant boilers having been started up Friday night. Schedule of production allowed for the refinery crew to go back to work Saturday night and all the striking employees were once again busy when the elevator crew was back on the job Monday morning.

Thus ended the first strike that has closed down the Belmond GMI plant since it first went into operation in the fall of 1944. As both company and union indicated satisfaction over the settlement, there was reason to believe that the dispute over work scheduling is not apt to give rise to further serious disagreement when the master agreement comes up for renegotiation two years hence.

Four Gold Medals Won by Belmond Future Farmers

Belmond's Future Farmers of America made a clean sweep of Gold Medal ratings with their four entries at the annual state FFA convention held last Thursday through Saturday at Davenport. It was the Friendly Service chapter's best showing ever in state competition and spoke highly of the leadership the boys have enjoyed under Advisor Don Collinson, who leaves the BHS faculty at the conclusion of the current term.

Gold Medals were awarded to only six of the 30 chapter exhibits displayed at Davenport, and Belmond's was acclaimed as one of the finest in the select group of winners. Top ratings also went to Jack Spitler, Airell Clark and Tim Trees for their treasurer's book, secretary's book and reporter's scrapbook, respectively.

Books Helped Win Medal

These books constituted a part of the chapter exhibit and counted heavily in the scoring, so they helped materially to win the coveted Gold Medal in the exhibit competition. Herb Pals and Harold Tendall were responsible for assembling the display. It had as its central feature the same three-panel exhibit of chapter work as was entered last year.

However, this central display—which also helped bring Belmond a Gold Medal rating last year—was extensively improved before being re-entered this time. The two side panels illustrate the FFA motto, Learning to Do, Doing to Learn; Earning to Live, Living to Serve," with appropriate photographs.

On Display at Elliott's

Work of the seven chapter committees is illustrated in the center panel. As pictures pertaining to each committee are mechanically revolved behind an open frame, a red arrow lights up pointing to the name of the particular committee to which the photo pertains. The chapter won a cash award of $6.25 on the exhibit, besides the medal.

Prof. Clarence Bundy, professor of vocational education at Iowa State college, has asked to borrow the Belmond display to be shown as a feature of the agricultural education open house exhibit during next month's Veishea celebration. It may be seen Thursday through Saturday of this week in a window at Elliott's Hardware.

As announced last week, both Airell Clark and Jack Spitler were elevated to the rank of Iowa Farmer at this year's FFA convention in recognition of their outstanding records as Future Farmers.

Queen Coronation Major Attraction Of Traditional Fete

Crowning of the May Queen will be major highlight of the annual May Fete to be presented next Tuesday evening at the high school gymnasium, starting at 8:00 o'clock. Five senior candidates for Queen have been selected by vote of the BHS student body: Susie Halfpap, Donna Lee, Audra Jenison, Janelle Johnson and Colleen White.

From this group, the members of the senior class will elect the girl to reign over the fete. She will be crowned by Ken Loats, Student Council president, at the outset of the program. The other candidates will escort the Queen.

During the coronation ceremony, little Virginia Collinson will serve as flower girl and Douglas Thompsen as crown-bearer. They are the daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Collinson and Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Thompsen, respectively.

Quartet Will Sing

As a salute to "Her Highness" at the conclusion of the ceremony, the boys quartet — Larry Larson, Gene Mehl, Norman Pals and Ronnie Hansen — will sing, "Sweetheart of Belmond High," accompanied by Eldoris Bunnell.

On the May Fete program will appear the following numbers: Swedish dance, "Bleking," 5th and 6th grade girls; tumbling by 5th and 6th grade boys; American folk dance to "Little Brown Jug," 7th grade girls; tumbling, 7th grade boys.

Badminton Demonstration

Demonstration of badminton — Kathy Dorr and Elaine Reichardt in singles, Margaret Eccles and Ardith Johnson vs. Arlene Stoltenberg and Geraldine Jenison in doubles; dance to the "Good Mood Polka," senior high school students; winding of the Maypole, 8th grade girls.

Patricia Motter, girls physical education instructor, has directed the girls' numbers and Coach Jim Crimmings those to be presented by the boys.

DAVID WELTHA

DONNA TEGGEN

Separate Vocal Music Instructors Hired to Teach in H.S. and Grades

Belmond's school system will have two vocal music teachers next year instead of one, according to Supt. Don Faris. David A. Weltha of Roland, who is to graduate this spring from St. Olaf college at Northfield, Minn., will be singing director in the high school. Donna Mae Teggen of Strawberry Point will be in charge of vocal training in the grades. She was graduated from Iowa State Teachers college last year.

Weltha and Miss Teggen will, together, fill the vacancy left by resignation of Eldoris Bunnell. In addition to their music work, however, both will instruct in class subjects. Weltha will teach high school English and social studies and Miss Teggen will teach English in junior high and the upper grades.

Weltha Korean Veteran

This will be Miss Teggen's second teaching assignment. She has been high school vocal music instructor at Jessup during the current year.

Weltha has been a member of the noted men's choir at St. Olaf college for the past two years and comes to Belmond highly recommended, as does Miss Teggen. A graduate of Roland Consolidated school, he saw Army service during the closing stages of World War II and was recalled to active duty in the fall of 1950 for service in Korea.

During the following year he was Operations Sergeant for Headquarters, IX Corps Artillery, while it took part in three campaigns including the severe Communist spring offensive of 1951. He was a Master Sergeant at the time of his return to civilian life.

Coach Search Continues

Mr. Faris says the search for a new coach is continuing and several likely prospects are scheduled for interviews during the next few days or have already been here for that purpose. A committee of five drawn from membership of both the retiring school board and the board of the new Belmond Community School district, has been assigned responsibility for engaging the new mentor. In the group are L. W. Murray, Ira Studebaker, Jr., and Dr. S. P. Leinbach of the old board and Carl Green and Gerald McNulty of the incoming board.

It is expected by Mr. Faris that the committee will make its selection by Tuesday of next week.

No Money Went

Eight numbers were drawn last Tuesday for Cash Gift Day prizes, but nary a one of 'em produced a winner. Next week, the Cash Gift committee is going "all out" in an effort to get rid of some money. There will be TEN numbers worth cash. Eight worth $25 apiece will be posted at 2:00 p. m. and the 3:00 o'clock jackpot will be divided into two prizes of $150 each.

Concert Scheduled Wednesday Night

Belmond High school's band, girls glee club and mixed chorus will present a joint concert next Wednesday evening at the school gymnasium, starting at 8:00 o'clock.

While this will constitute the annual spring concert of these organizations, it will also serve in the form of a "dress rehearsal" for their appearance on the following Friday in the state competition for large music groups. This contest will be held at Story City.

Roland Brom's band musicians and Eldoris Bunnell's vocalists enjoyed unprecedented success in the preliminary contest for solists and small groups this spring, indicating that the quality of the larger ensembles is at a high peak, also. Consequently, the concert promises to be an unusually fine one.

This Friday, the 22 sololsts and small groups that won I ratings at Britt are competing in the state contest at Perry.

FRED FINN RITES HELD

Funeral servvices were conducted at St. Francis church Tuesday afternoon by Rev. R. A. Ormsby for Fred Finn of Aurora, Ill., former Belmond resident. He was the son of Mrs. Tom Finn. Fulton Funeral Home was in charge of the services and burial was in St. Francis cemetery. Mr. Finn passed away at Aurora last Friday at the age of 51.

2 FFA Boys Buy Prize Hampshire

While attending the state convention of the Future Farmers of America at Davenport last weekend, Airell Clark and Jack Spitler made a side-trip into Illinois to obtain a prize addition to their growing herds of purebred Hampshire sheep. Their purchase was made at Deep Valley Farm, Fiatt, Ill., one of the midwest's leading breeders of fine Hampshires.

There they bought jointly for $300 a young ram that made an outstanding record in show competition last season. The animal was judged 5th in his class at the International Livestock show at Chicago and later placed second at the American Royal in Kansas City.

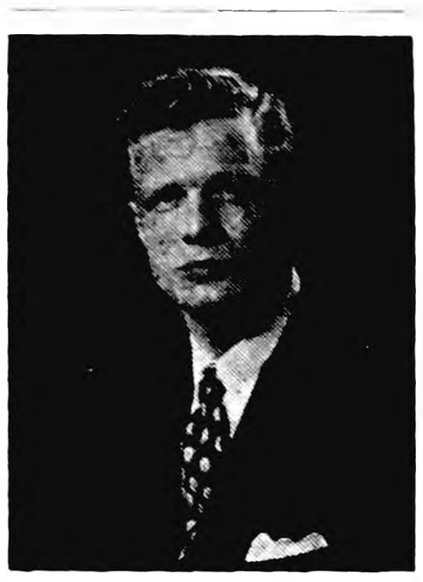
G. Draper Jailed For Beating Wife

Gerald Draper, farmer residing northwest of Belmond, last Friday began serving a 30-day term in the county jail at Clarion after conviction on a charge of assault and battery. He had been arrested in Belmond early Friday morning after severely beating his wife.

On Saturday morning his wife Valva filed petition for a divorce from Draper, charging cruel and inhuman treatment. The petition stated they were married on Aug. 27, 1943 and had lived together as man and wife until Thursday, April 22, 1954.

She asked custody of their five children. Her petition requested a temporary writ of injunction to restrain the defendant from molesting her while action on the divorce is pending. Judge G. H. Hill ordered such writ to be issued by the district court. A $5,000 writ of attachment was also issued to prevent the defendant from disposing of property.

On Monday, Draper was named as defendant in a petition for judgment entered in Wright countyty district court by E. C. Buntenbach of Garner. The plaintiff asks judgment in the amount of $5,644.-20 for monies owed him by Draper, interest due, attorney and court costs.



ROBERT L. SWEANY
Program Advisor for C-of-C

National C-of-C Advisor to Speak To Local Chamber

Robert L. Sweany, national program advisor for the North Central division of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, will be guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the local Chamber to be held at 6:30 o'clock this (Thursday) evening at Veterans' Memorial hall. President Bob Garms urges a good turn-out for the meeting and says that members will be most welcome to bring guests.

Working out of the Chicago divisional office of the U. S. Chamber, Mr. Sweany serves as advisor to 207 community Chambers that are organized in Iowa, Wisconsin, northern Illinois and the upper peninsula of Michigan. He represents the legislative, education and service department of the North Central division.

Spencer Shaw, manager of the North Central division, has written to Secretary Luin Cox that, "Mr. Sweany has an unusual understanding of the influence of local community, civic and educational problems. His outstanding ability as a public speaker and his friendly, enthusiastic spirit promptly win the whole-hearted approval of all who hear him."

Precinct Leaders Set Caucus Dates

Belmond Ward 1—Jones cafe Pine Room, Monday, 7:30 p. m.; Ward 2—C. C. Christie residence, Monday, 8:00 p. m.; Ward 3 — Clark McNeal residence, Monday, 8:00 p. m.

Belmond township — L. B. Oberhauser home, Tuesday, 8:00 p. m.; Pleasant — Dr. S. P. Leinbach home, Friday, May 7, 8:00 p. m.; Norway — Norway Center school, Tuesday, 8:00 p. m.

LIONS CLUB WILL RESUME TYRRELL PARK CLEAN-UP

Lions President Cecil Carstens reports that a club committee plans to stake out projected clean-up work at Tyrrell park tomorrow in preparation for resuming the job started last fall.

On Friday of next week, Lions will be asked to turn out at 5:00 p. m. to get the actual work underway. Tractors and other equipment will be on hand to help out.

Belmond's Boy Scout troop 16 and Explorer post 16 have voted to make the park clean-up their summer project. They will be out to assist the Lions next week.

Standard Oil Has Lowest Fuel Bids

Sharp competition for the contracts to supply Wright county with vehicle fuels for the next year's time resulted in unusually low bids last Thursday, Auditor Roger Charlson reports.

Low bidder on both gasoline and diesel fuel prices was the Standard Oil company, which offered to supply the former at 3.34 cents below posted tank wagon price and the latter at 1.6 cents under posted price.

Four other firms bid on the contracts. Actually, the Phillips Petroleum company made the same bid on diesel fuel as Standard Oil, but was four-tenths of a cent higher on gasoline. It was agreed by the county supervisors to let both contracts to Standard, under the circumstances.

Other bidders were Sinclair Refining company, which provided the county fuels for the past year, Socony-Vacuum and Skelly.

Under the bids accepted, the estimated 150,000 gallons of gasoline and 50,000 gallons of diesel fuel the county will need for the year will cost approximately $600 less than under the Sinclair contract.

Compared to the straight, tank-wagon price the county was paying for its vehicle fuels prior to resumption of accepting bids—in 1952—the new contract will represent a savings of close to $6,000.

Hotvet Will Head High School PTA

Three, separate Parent-Teachers associations have been organized for Belmond Community School district for the next school year, with different sets of officers for the Belmond senior and junior high and Ramsay elementary school and for the Goodell school.

New Belmond officers were elected Monday night. Walt Hotvet is president of the high school group, with M. B. Dannewitz as vice president and Jeanette Neuman, secretary.

Mrs. Merle Bonte heads the Ramsay association. The vice president will be Mrs. Guy McClenahan and the secretary, Mary Ann Greiman. Goodell has elected its officers, but Cleon Brady, retiring PTA president, has not yet been informed who they are.

Next Monday evening, officers of the three groups are to meet at Belmond to select an over-all chairman and lay plans for coordinating their activities for the 1954-55 school year.

CLARMOND CLUB TO OPEN WITH STAG THIS EVENING

Opening stag of the season will be held at Clarmond Country club this evening, marking the start of the new year's activities. President C. C. Christie reminds all last-year members they have the privilege of bringing a guest to this affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barber of Clarion have been re-hired as clubhouse custodians. They have spent the past week cleaning the clubhouse and doing some redecorating in preparation for the opening.

KINSETH PROMOTED

Mrs. Roland Kinseth has received word that her husband was recently promoted to Airman 2nd Class. He is serving with the 5001st Installation Squadron in Alaska.

Bob McLaughlin Belmond Delegate to Boys State

Bob McLaughlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McLaughlin, will be sent to Hawkeye Boys State at Camp Dodge, Des Moines, June 6-13 under sponsorship of Eimbrink post of the American Legion. His selection was made by a panel of five Belmond High school teachers and two members of the Student Council.

Although Bob has been very busy in extracurricular activities, they obviously have not been indulged in to the sacrifice of studies. Now a junior, he has not failed to make the honor roll a single quarter since he entered high school.

He is president of the Friendly Service chapter of Future Farmers of America and has been outstanding in FFA work. This year he is a member of the Student Council as representative of the junior class. At a recent conference of the North Central district of the Iowa Association of Student Councils, Bob was elected to the district's Senior Panel for next year.

Last fall Bob made a letter as end on the football team and during the past basketball season he served as team manager. This spring, he has been out for track. His activities have also included playing trombone in the band and taking a lead role in this year's junior class play.

Keith Madsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Madsen, was named alternate delegate to Boys State. He has been a stand-out in both football and basketball and this spring is a contender for a track letter. He also has made regular appearances on the honor roll. Keith has participated in vocal music activities and is in the madrigal group that is seeking honors in the state contest this weekend.

ARNOLD JENISON ACCEPTS POST AT MARSHTOWN

Arnold Jenison, a graduate last December from the Iowa State college school of engineering, has accepted a position as assistant city engineer at Marshalltown. He will start on the new assignment May 1.

Since graduation, Arnold has been an engineer with the Iowa State Highway commission, Ames.

ON ISTC HONOR ROLL

Shirley Bohning, freshman student at Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls, was among those enrolled at ISTC who qualified on the honor roll for the winter quarter by maintaining a grade average of 3.25 or better.

Group to Attend GOP Conference

Belmond's organization of Republican Women plans to have a delegation at the annual spring conference of the 6th District, Iowa Council of Republican Women, at Fort Dodge on Wednesday of next week. All women of the GOP in this community are cordially invited to make the trip.

Reservations for the noon luncheon are to be made by Monday, so women wishing to attend the conference should inform Mrs. Russell Schaal, local president, by Saturday. The first session in the morning starts at 10:00 o'clock. Rides will be arranged to assure arrival in time to register.

Guest speaker at the luncheon will be Rep. Thomas E. Martin of Iowa City, Republican candidate for U. S. Senator. A majority of the candidates for GOP state nominations in the spring primaries will make an appearance at the conference, also.

W. P. RILEY DIES IN ILLINOIS; ONCE LIVED NEAR BELMOND

Funeral services were held Wednesday of last week at McLean, Ill., for W. P. Riley 78, former resident of Belmond. Mr. Riley farmed southwest of this community for a number of years, moving back to his original home state of Illinois about 10 or 12 years ago.

The deceased was preceded in death by his wife and a daughter, Laura Belle. Surviving are two sons, Leo P. of Peoria, Ill., and Charles of Minneapolis, Minn. Wife of the latter is the former Josie Kallestad, once of Belmond.

NINA "de COURSON" WINS PRAISE WITH BRUSSELS OPERATIC DEBUT

Nina Courson on April 17th enjoyed the high spot of her operatic career, to date, when she sang the title role in Massenet's "Thais" at the Royal Belgian Opera in Brussels. That she won generous praise with her performance made the occasion doubly thrilling for the erstwhile Belmond girl, daughter of Mrs. Lucia Courson.

Last weekend Mrs. Courson received from Nina a clipping from the leading Brussels daily, "Le Soir," in which the opera was reviewed by the newspaper's music critic.

"The newcomer, Miss Nina de Courson," he wrote "has all the attractive traits and charm of the beautiful courtesan. She is elegant and extremely graceful. While the voice in the medium may not be complete, her upper voice is full and pure.

"Sometimes one senses she is somewhat disturbed by the French text (Miss de Courson is American), but her efforts to pronounce more clearly are praiseworthy. She showed herself to be an intelligent artist, notably in the moving scene where she fights against the strange influence of Athanael, who wishes to lead her to a life of penance and a new existence of austerity."

Miss Courson enclosed with the letter and clipping to her mother a photo showing the sumptuous interior of the opera house where "Thais" was presented. She wrote that the company was to present two more performances—one last Thursday and another this evening.

Nina was invited to participate on Tuesday of this week in a short-wave radio broadcast being beamed to the United States, during which she was to sing several numbers and also have an opportunity to speak to her mother. Unfortunately, the broadcast could not be heard locally.

Garner Man Files For A New Trial

Leon Lester of Garner recently in district court at Clarion filed a motion for new trial as a result of the jury decision rendered about 10 days earlier in the Rietema-Gardiner accident suit. Lester was one of the co-defendants against whom John Rietema, Norway township farmer, was granted a judgment for $12,000 and costs.

As the Rowan man's sales supervisor, Lester was riding with the late Leslie R. Gardiner on June 5th of last year when the latter's car and that of Rietema collided on a gravel road. The Moorman Chemical company, for whom both men worked, was listed as a defendant along with Mrs. Gardiner, as administratrix of her husband's estate.

Lester's petition contends that no evidence presented during the initial trial of the case indicated that he in any way contributed to the negligence that was responsible for the accident. The petition summarizes, "That upon the whole record the defendant, Leon Lester, has not had a fair trial."

● OBITUARY

JOHN C. SMITH

Funeral services were held Saturday, April 17, at the home for John C. Smith, 91, for 52 years a resident of the Rowan community. The rites were conducted by Rev. R. E. Lingaard, pastor of the Rowan Methodist church, and burial was in Rowan cemetery. Pallbearers were Harold "Tobby" Johnson, Perle LaGue, John McAlpine, Francis Morris, Wilbur Lineweaver and Hubert Tudor.

Born near Sheffield in Bureau county, Ill., on Feb. 22, 1863, Mr. Smith was the son of Robert W. and Jane Murphy Smith. He was the last survivor of 10 children. He grew to manhood at his birthplace and eventually farmed for himself in that vicinity.

On Dec 20, 1863, he was wed to Kate Shire. Five children were born to them, one dying in infancy. Those still living are Percy of Lake Park, Lester and LeRoy of Rowan and Mrs. Loran (Gladys) Tudor of Charles City.

In 1902 the Smiths moved to a farm southeast of Rowan and the year following to the place that was Mr Smith's home for a half century. He passed away at his home on April 14. His wife preceded him in death in 1935. Besides the four children, the deceased is survived by six grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Letter from Rev. Herbert Nelson Tells of His New Home in Africa

Following are excerpts from a letter lately received by Rev. and Mrs. O. M. Severseike from Rev. Herbert Nelson, who this month took up his work at a South African mission station.

We are happy to inform you that we're now situated in our new home in sunny Africa. We docked in Durban on March 26th. Ten fellow missionaries were waiting on shore, watching us steam in. It was a royal welcome, we can assure you.

The trip up-country to Zululand and Hlabissa was beautiful. The lovely steep hills and the flowers reminded us of Wisconsin. There are no farms as you know them; only native kraals dotting the hillsides and along the roadsides.

Fruit Plentiful

Our house here is spacious, with a huge veranda and yard. We have pineapples, tangerines, bananas, avocadoes and lemons growing near the house. Winter gardens are now coming up. All fresh vegetables are available. There are only two general stores here in Hlabissa, a butcher shop, gas station and post office besides the mission station, school and hospital.

At present we employ four native servants (three girls and a boy). A cook, laundry girl, children's maid and a boy who gathers and chops wood. It surprises us how the children have taken to Mary, who cares for them while we are at language school.

Now Studying Zulu

Our children have adjusted quickly to their new surroundings. Bruce is very observing and makes friends quickly with the native Zulus. Julene is a little more reserved. Brenda just jabbers on, trying to talk—Zulu or English, we don't know which.

We have been studying the Zulu language for a little over a week now but already know nearly 100 words. Putting words into sentences is the most difficult. We are planning to start Julene in school at Eshowe after Easter vacation. There are 19 missionary children staying at the mission hostel and attending the government school. Eshowe is 100 miles from Hlabissa.

Services Draw Crowds

Easter morning we shall have a sunrise service for Europeans (whites). I will have the opportunity to bring the message in English. At 11:00 a. m. the native pastor, Bengu, will bring the message to some 500 Zulus here at Hlabissa Lutheran. The church will be "filled" as it has been at each Lenten and Sunday service.

All 19 rows of backless benches will be filled as well as the center aisle and in front of the church, clear up to the altar. (These people, of course, will squat on the floor.) Their singing, even without an organ or piano, is just wonderful with real harmony. Any choir in the States would welcome the deep basses and altos of this congregation.

Gloria is the Busy Bees' nominee for county office. On the campaign committee for Rally Day are Mary Alice Studebaker, Sandra and Sara Simerson, Miriam Kalkwarf, Judy Oberhauser and Marilyn Mennenga.

Committees for the Mothers' Tea were named: refreshments—Carol Ann Waddington, Kathryn McLaughlin, Judy Oberhauser, Sandra Swenson; program—Shirley Pals, Marjorie Johnson, Imogene and Sharon Strait; recreation—Linda Hauge, LaVonne Wessels, Sandra Stoltenberg; gifts—Karon Bohning, Carol Finn.

Mary Alice Studebaker made a pie crust; Marilyn Mennenga and LaVonne Wessels made the custard filling for it. Nadine Rabe gave a record talk on "Nocturne in E-Flat." Karon Bohning moderated a discussion on "Milk in the Diet." On the panel were Carol Ann Waddington, Katherine Hunst, Linda Hauge and Kathryn McLaughlin.

No Wright Girls Winners of 1954 Nursing Awards

Wright county had no winners among the 50 girls from 41 Iowa counties selected as 1954 winners of nurses' scholarships awarded by the Iowa division of the American Cancer Society. One near-neighbor was in the list announced last week, however—Karen Hoover of Corwith, in Hancock county.

Miss Hoover was the seventh from this general vicinity to receive one of the three-year scholarships since the grants were first established in 1949. Bettie Lowenberg of Goodell was a winner in that year. She has now completed her training and is employed in the office of a Mason City physician. She is one of 79 who got scholarships in 1949-50, who are now practing their professions.

Other winners from this area who are at present in training are: Mary Negrete, Belmond, 1951; Betty Lou Dempsey of Goodell, Ruth Thompson and Margaret Thul of Clarion, 1952; and Cheryl Schultz, Clarion, 1953.

CHICK CHATS

SOMETHING TO DO THIS SUMMER

If you have an extra three or four days this summer and the fishing's no good anyway, here's a little project you can work on to make you some more money this fall. Of course, you have to have the right kind of chickens for it.

In fact, the "right kind of chickens" are responsible for this project. These chickens lay a lot of eggs in a year's time. But they don't stop after a year. They keep on laying for a few months.

Now, it's a shame to sell these hens for meat prices when you know they can still lay lots of big, high-priced eggs. But the pullets are ready to lay and they should go into the laying house.

Now for the project. Put the hens in another building until they quit laying for one reason or another. You say you don't have another laying house? Well, it doesn't have to be laying a house. Your project is to convert one of those old, idle buildings into temporary laying quarters for next fall's old hens.

It's not too hard to do either. Nests will be the main problem. And the old box-type nests aren't hard to build out of some scrap lumber. In fact, scrap lumber can be used to build simple feeders. Buckets can serve as awterers.

Of course, you have to close up the house so the chickens won't leak out. But there's no use closing up all the air holes. The hens will probably quit laying before the weather gets too awful cold for them. Besides, leaving plenty of air holes means you can crowd the birds in a little without hurting them.

Put plenty of feeders space, nests, and watering buckets in an old horse barn, and you'll have yourself some extra cash next fall.

JOHN KOENEN

John Koenen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aeiko Koenen, passed away on April 9 and funeral services were held on April 12 at the Meservey Reformed church. Rev. E. Kampmann officiated over the rites and Fulton Funeral Home was in charge. Burial was in the Meservey cemetery.

Mr. Koenen was born at Latimer on April 24, 1887. On April 25, 1911, he was wed to Annie Eckhoff. Five children were born to them. After farming in the Meservey vicinity most of his life, Mr. Koenen retired in 1947 and moved to town to spend his remaining years.

A heart ailment had caused his health to decline in recent years. Cancer ultimately caused his death when surgery was impossible due to his heart condition. His death came at the age of 66 years, 11 months and 15 days.

Survivors include his wife; a son, Virgil, of Meservey; three daughters—Mrs. Edna Trager of Belmond, Mrs. Leona Wenzel of Meservey and Mrs. Phyllis Steenhard of Thornton; also 12 grandchildren.

Preceding Mr. Koenen in death, besides his parents, were a son, Elvin, in 1948; three brothers—Harm, Joe and Aeiko; and three sisters—Mrs. Dena Boelman, Mrs. Minnie Dirks and Mrs. Lena Kaduce.

The Meservey band went to Alexander Wednesday evening to play. The Chapin and Alexander bands played also.

PRE-SCHOOL ROUNDUP SET FOR THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Lillian Wille, Alexander kindergarten teacher, announces that the annual pre-school roundup for children who will be enrolling in kindergarten next fall will be held Thursday of next week at the home economics room. It will start at 2:30 p. m.

Any youngsters who will be reaching the age of five by Nov. 15 or before will be eligible to register. Miss Wille says it is important that all parents with children who will be enrolling for the first time should bring them to the roundup.

Mrs. Paul Pippert and Paullette of Kansas City, Mo., have been guests in the Leonard Switzer home for several days. They accompanied Mrs. Switzer and the children to Thor Saturday where they visited in the Lloyd Abrams home until Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Myers and girls visited Sunday afternoon in the homes of Fred Stadtlander and Elbert Langdon in Rowan.

Audience Enjoys 3-Band Concert

Listeners very nearly filled the Alexander High school gym last Wednesday evening as a tri-school concert was presented by the bands of Alexander, Chapin and Meservey Consolidated schools. Each of the musical groups presented a portion of the program, which was concluded by the entire ensemble playing four numbers under the direction of Dr. Charles Theno, assistant professor of music at Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls.

Chapin's band opened the music fest with three selections conducted by that school's instrumental music director, William Zabilka. Then the Alexander band took the spotlight, led by Mrs. Peggy Jetmund.

Several specialties featured the Alexander portion of the program. Marjorie Barkema appeared as a clarinet soloist, Eldon Schulte sang a bass solo, and two numbers were presented by the male quartet consisting of Dennis Scott, Bob Krukow, Wayne Bohning and Schulte.

Meservey's band offered five numbers under the baton of Alice Folkedahl, MHS music instructor, and the girls' sextet was heard in two selections.

Doctor Theno put the massed bands through their paces during an intensive practice session in afternoon and the four numbers played by the ensemble of nearly 100 pieces were keenly enjoyed by the audience. The musicians, en masse, were heard in "Storm King" March, Finlayson; "Two Moods" Overture, Grundmaan; "Queen City" March, W. H. Boorn, and "The Star Spangled Banner," Key.

The concert was regarded by the listeners as one of the finest musical treats that Alexandrians have been offered in a long time and there is a widely prevailing hope that the event can be repeated.

303 Extra Doz. Eggs
per 100 Hens

Hy-Lines REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

$1.30 MORE INCOME PER HEN

Yes, Hy-Lines do lay more . . . pay more than other chickens. Here's proof from 1,182 poultry raisers who tested Hy-Lines against other chickens the last three years. Hy-Lines averaged over 3 dozen more eggs per bird in 11 months of lay. That's about $1.30 extra income per hen, based on the 3 year average egg price.

Multiply the number of birds in your flock by $1.30. Couldn't you put that extra income to good use?

VEEP'S JOB IS GAINING NEW PRESTIGE WITH NIXON "UNOFFICIAL" SPOKESMAN

President Eisenhower made it clear soon after he took office that he didn't intend to consign Vice President Richard R. Nixon to the status of a mere figurehead. It is doubtful that many foresaw, however, what importance Mr. Nixon was due to attain in the administration. Twice, very recently, the vice president as an unofficial spokesman has plainly "fronted" for the adminstration with statements on vital issues.

First he suggested that the entry of U. S. troops into the Indo-China conflict might well come about if French containment of Communist aggression in that sector appears certain of failure. If the impact of his remark was as great in Leningrad as in other foregn capitals, it can be safely guessed it furrowed some brows in the Kremlin.

Next, the vice president let it be known in an off-the-record press conference with editors attending a meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Publishers that he regards J. Robert Oppenheimer a "loyal American" despite the fact that "information in his file . . . makes (an apparent) case of security risk." That the source of this statement — which at first was attributed simply to a "high official" — was later openly indentified makes it most obvious that President Eisenhower wished it to be made.

What political future lies ahead for Richard Nixon is hard to predict specifically; but he certainly seems destined to attain dignity and stature of a scope unprecedented in his office. And his influence in the Republican party ranks is increasing accordingly, if the turn-out he attracted to last week's GOP rally at Des Moines is any criterion.

STRIKE'S OVER, NO BAD HARM DONE; MAYBE WE'LL EVEN BENEFIT FROM IT

Big smiles wreathed the faces of all concerned when word was received last Friday that the impasse leading to the Grain Miller's strike against General Mills, Inc., had been resolved and that production would be promptly resumed at the struck plants. Since this strike was a new experiences for Belmond and introduced a grave threat to the welfare of the entire community, it was gratifying to us townspeople — as well as to the plant officials and employees — that the business was cleared up before serious consequences were suffered.

As for The Independent's part in reporting the affair, we hope that our sincere effort to remain objective and impartial was both apparent and successful. Local plant operations were, in fact, not greatly involved in the issues at stake. But unions have achieved their strength by unified action and there can be no gainsaying the fact that that strength has been the instrument for gaining many deserved benefits for labor. So we were "in" it.

On the other hand, there are some areas of responsiblity that must be reserved for management as it pursues its endless battle to meet competition, on the success of which hinges the jobs of its employees and the benefits that its workers enjoy. It is our understanding that a clarification of where management functions leave off and union authority begins was the crux of the dispute that gave rise to the strike.

We are told that, in settlement of the issue, essential prerogatives of GMI management were conceded; and at the same time, rights of the workers were satisfactorily safeguarded. So everyone should be satisfied over the outcome. It is regrettable that the same end could not have been achieved by pre-strike negotiations; but no crucial harm was done and it should be easy to let bygones be bygones.

General Mills, its plant employees—and certainly Belmond, as a community—have all profited by the absence of serious union-management strife on the local level. We can't help but feel that this sample of "what it's like" will make all parties more alert to the need of working out future differences amicably. If this should prove the case, then perhaps we've all GAINED something from the strike.

SUCCESSORS TO OLD ELECTRIC BELT PROVE PEOPLE DO REMAIN GULLIBLE

One article advertised in the files of yesteryear that has always intrigued this writer while gathering the weekly "Remember When?" items is the "electric belt." It apparently held wide favor around the turn of the century and for some years following. Just how this gimmick operated has never been clear our mind, but it was humdinger. It was "guaranteed" to "cure" practically anything from la grippe to cancer.

We've reflected, more than once, that the American public has lost much of its gullibility. But last week we received a communique from the Iowa Deparment of Health that left us wondering if we haven't been giving credit where none was due.

Perhaps the appearance of greater sophistication on the part of the public has simply been created by the successful fight of the U. S. Food and Drug Administration to keep these trick cure-alls very largely out of the public's reach. Only last month 13 electrical "health" devices were barred from shipment in interstate commerce by an injunction issued by the federal district court at San Francisco.

These little beauties, it seems, were the successors to the electric belt and have been enjoying wide patronage. They've been "curing" anemia, cancer and colds, taking the ache out of hornet stings, eliminating dizziness and confusion. Wonderful gadgets!

All you had to do was send a sample of dried blood to a practitioner owning one of these gizmos, he'd analyze your ailments with the do-hickey and then set its dials to cure you by short wave. Distance was no factor. Forwarding of the required fee WAS a factor, of course.

But when the thingumbob blithely diagnosed a spot of coal-tar dye to indicate the sender had systemic toxemia, the Food and Drug Administration cocked an amazed eyebrow. It also discovered that the machines couldn't differentiate bird and animal blood from bonafide blood of man; and that they couldn't tell if the fluid was drawn from a living being or a corpse.

So if you've been thinking of getting yourself fixed up by an Oscilloclast, Oscillotron or Depolatron, we're afraid you'll just have to continue to suffer. Uncle Sam says they won't help. Of course, you might scour the attic for an old electric belt.

HOW POULTRY RAISERS PROFIT 3 WAYS WITH REN-O-SAL

1. ● GROWTH—Because it provides a remarkable growth stimulating chemical, REN-O-SAL helps birds grow faster, feather faster color better, and generally develop into a sturdy, mature chicken sooner.

2. ● CECAL COCCIDIOSIS PROTECTION—In addition to faster growth, REN-O-SAL prevents the spread of deadly cecal coccidiosis. This is important during the principal growing period, when birds are subject to this disease.

3. ● EGGS — REN-O-SAL also helps pullets lay earlier and more eggs. Yes, pullets that have had REN-O-SAL in the drinking water from hatching start to lay earlier and will lay more eggs per year.

Franzen Trims Gordon to Take County Pin Title

Marv Frazen, Eagle Grove druggist, took the measure of a pair of Belmond opponents in the semi-finals and finals of the third annual Wright county bowling tournament at Clarion to take home the '54 championship Sunday afternoon. He trimmed Ed Albers in the semi-finals, 530 to 480, and then won from Fred Gordon in the title round, 538-483.

Gordon was far off form with lines of 160-145-178 in the finals after having a 172-168-224—564 against George Sharp in the semi's. Sharp's semifinal score was 167-171-121—459. Albers had 166-156-158 against Frazen's 155-172-203, but came back strong to wallop Sharp in the consolation match for 3rd place, 194-170-193—557 to his opponent's 180-166-184—530.

Gordon Loses Lead

With an opening 149 in the finals, Franzen started his second line 11 pins behind Gordon. But the second game found Fred having frequent split trouble and the druggist's 193 left him 39 pins to the good. Franzen rolled a steady 196 for his final line to take the championship trophy and a check for $16. Gordon was also awarded a trophy and got $10 in prize money, while Albers received $6.

A pair of Kanawha keglers brought glory to the Bowl-Mor delegation by winning top honors in the 1st flight and the runner-up spot in the 3rd. Hank Riekens trimmed Jack Lansing in the 1st-flight semi's, 475-425, then came back with 208-177-155—541 in the finals against 163-131-168—472 for Ben Gilbert of Clarion.

Goodrich Beats Sheriff

John Goodrich of Kanawha nosed out Sheriff Bob Blecker, 449-443, in the 3rd flight semi-finals but bowed to Ben Eilers of Clarion in the finals, 464 to 426. Eilers picked up $12 in prize money to $7.00 for Goodrich. Cash awards in the 1st and 2nd flights were $10 and $6.00. there being fewer entries in those flights.

Denny Payne of Clarion was 2nd flight winner over George Wallukait of Eagle Grove, 498-469. Wallukait beat John Chapman of Belmond in the semi-finals, 539 to 432.

Tracksters Total 8 Points in Meet

Belmond High school's track team racked up eight points to tie for 6th place at the Comet Relays last Friday at Charles City, competing in Class C. Coach E. R. Jacobs was quite well satisfied with the Broncs' showing, considering this was their first meet of the season.

Points were won by the mile and 440 relay teams, each of which grabbed a fourth place. With Ron Steenblock running the anchor lap, the mile crew was barely edged out of third.

Others on the mile team were Bruce Hall, Marlin Jenison and "Joe" Smith, running in that ordr. Jenison and Smith were the final two men on the 440 quartet; Keith Madsen led off and was followed by Dave Long.

Madsen and Hall competed in the broad jump and Eugene Nicholson and Gary Meyer in the shot. They failed to finish in the money, as did the 880-yard and medley relay teams.

Coach Jacobs will have several relay teams at the Mohawk Relays tomorrow night at Mason City. He says rivalry for positions on the teams is sharp and some changes in the line-ups may be made.

● Belmond Locals

Elmer Rowley and sons, Keith and Ed ,and daughter Viola, and Sharon Evans, all of Kanawha, and Janet Slining were Sunday dinner guests in the Stanley Shahan home.

Meservey Beaten By Broncos, 6-1

Belmond High's baseball team was able to manage only two hits Monday night in its third start of the year—but that was two more than the visiting Meservey team could get and the Broncs ended up with a 6-1 victory.

Ken Loats held the visitors scoreless through four innings, fanning four batters and facing only 12 men during his stint. Dale Caquelin took over in the fifth and three Belmond errors in that frame gave Meservey its lone tally.

Morgan Greer pitched good ball for the losers, but six passes and three errors by his team mates hampered his efforts. Jerry Chandler and Gene Mehl were the only Broncs to get safe hits off the Meservey moundsman.

Sectional Tourney Opens on Monday

Belmond has been assigned to the sectional baseball tournament at Kanawha and the Bronco nine will see first action on Monday of next week at 3:30 p. m against Klemme. At 2:00 o'clock on the same afternoon, Kanawha will face Eagle Grove. These games are in the lower bracket of the tournament.

Clarion and Goodell both drew first-round byes in the upper bracket and will cross bats at 3:30 p. m next Wednesday in a semi-final clash. At 2:00 p. m. on Wednesday, the two lower-bracket winners will tangle. The finals are slated for Friday of next week at 3:00 p. m.

The host Kanawha team is regarded as the meet favorite, although Mason City proved on Thursday of last week that the Bulldogs can be whipped. Kanawha lost to the MHS nine, 5 to 2, for their first defeat of the season.

Belmond Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stadtlander and family visited in the Emil Dencklau home at Vincent Sunday.

Worth More, and Buyers are Proving it!

FORD is Americas best seller!

National new car registration figures* for the latest six-month period available show Ford out front by thousands!

DURING THE SIX-MONTH PERIOD ending with February—the latest half-year in which national registration figures are available—Ford outsold its nearest competitor by thousands.

The main reason why Ford is so definitely the buyer's choice is simply that:

Ford is, without doubt, the "Worth More" car—America's best buy on a dollar-for-dollar basis!

Take engines—Ford offers the 130-h.p. Y-block V-8 or the 115-h.p. I-block Six, both with engineering advances that make these engines the most modern in the industry.

Take comfort—Only Ford in its field has the revolutionary new Ball-Joint Front Suspension that provides riding and handling ease never before approached in a car in the Ford field.

GOODELL NEWS

BY MRS. AMOS HANSON

Major Sandberg Returning to U.S.

Maj. Carl R. Sandberg, U. S. Army, informed his father, O. Sandberg, in a long distance telephone conversation that he has Army orders for transfer to the United States next month. The call was made to express greetings to the elder Mr. Sandberg on the occasion of his 88th birthday.

For the past three years, Major Sandberg has been stationed in Africa. He says that he, his wife and two children, Bill and Carla, will leave for the States on May 9th. Carl will have a month's furlough before reporting about July 1 to his new duty station, Fort Belvoir, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brede accompanied by Ione Christie and Margaret Brede went to Potosi, Wis., Tuesday and on Wednesday attended the funeral of an uncle, Frank Buss. They returned home Monday having stayed for a visit among relatives. Roy Brede stayed in the home of his nephew, Dale Brede, while Margaret was on this trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Halfpop went to Mason City Wednesday where they visited Fred Aldrich of Mason City who is a surgical patient in the Mercy hospital. Mrs. Aldrich and Mrs. Halfpop are cousins. They also visited in the Leonard Lowenberg home.

Mrs. H. O. Sandberg of Clear Lake spent Tuesday evening of last week in the Sandberg-Hanson home while Mr. Sandberg was holding a special meeting with the local town officers.

The Dan Veldhouse family, who have recently lived in Chicago, Ill., moved Friday into the Dale Steenblock property. Mr. Veldhouse is now employed on a farm near Kanawha.

RENTS D-X STATION

Marvin Pals of Belmond has rented the north D-X service station on Highway 69 and will be in business there.

Future School Plans Explained At P. T. A.

Supt. Don Faris of Belmond was guest speaker at the P. T. A. meeting held Monday evening of last week in the local school. He talked on the New Belmond Community school. The grades taught in the Goodell building next year will be the kindergarten through the 6th grades. Art and vocal music will be added to the curriculum. The upper 6 grades will attend school in Belmond.

Mrs. J. H. Campbell, Bobby and Michelle, Ledyard, visited Tuesday of last week among friends. Mr. Campbell was superintendent of the Goodell school four years previous to their moving to a like position at Ledyard a year ago.

Hamblin Allaben of Traer accompanied by Marilyn McNutt, student at ISTC, Cedar Falls, came Saturday evening and visited overnight in the parental Robert McNutt home. The former is a brother of Mrs. McNutt.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cunningham, Marlin, Kirk and Glenda of Belmond and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cunningham were Sunday dinner guests in the Harold Cunningham home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Kropp were Des Moines and Clarion business callers Thursday and on Saturday transacted business in Mason City and en route home visited friends, the Don Newmans, at Rockwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Luverne Thompson of Corwith came over Sunday and enjoyed dinner with her parents, the Anton Bensons. In the afternoon, the Bensons' granddaughter, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Veldhouse and two children of Kanawha, visited them.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Martin and Freddie of North Liberty spent Sunday in the parental Dan Martin home.

Goodell Will Vote On Gas Franchise

Goodell voters will have an opportunity on May 26 to vote on the proposition of granting the Iowa Electric Light and Power company a franchise to supply the Goodell community with natural gas.

A decision to hold the election was reached Tuesday night of last week when town officers conferred with H. O. Sandberg of Clear Lake, district commercial supervisor for the IEL&P.

Iowa Electric Light and Power cannot seek authorization from the Federal Power Commission to supply Goodell with gas unless the company has been granted a franchise. If the election issue is approved by the voters, this step will be taken.

There would be a lag, probably of a year's time or more, before gas could actually be supplied. But Northern Natural Gas is now piping sufficient gas into this area to provide for several additional communities. Steps are also being launched in Corwith, Kanawha and Klemme to bring gas to those towns, if franchises are granted and the FPC approves.

Beverly Sheriff Has Party On Her Birthday Anniversary

Beverly Sheriff had a birthday Friday and celebrated it by inviting to her home 32 friends from the Belmond and Goodell school. The evening was spent playing "500" followed by a lovely luncheon served by Mrs. Sheriff.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Klotzbach visited from Tuesday until Friday in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Walter Braner, at Alexander.

Mrs. Selma Johnson, her granddaughter, Mrs. Robert Jenison, and Ricky of Belmond came up Friday afternoon to visit the latter's great grandparents, the O. Sandbergs. Mrs. Johnson also called on her childhood friend, Mrs. Laton Avery and these two ladies were invited over to Sandbergs for coffee. Mrs. Jenison enjoyed a telephone visit with Bob from Jacksonville, Fla., and he was leaving on Friday for six months service in Iceland.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sheriff, Beverly and Bob were Sunday dinner guests in the Don Sheriff home at Thornton. Jeffrey and Timmy Sheriff, who had spent a few days here, returned to their home at Thornton.

Delwyn Brede and John Burgess, seniors in the Klemme High school enjoyed Skip Day Friday. They spent the day in Minnesota, attending the Ice Follies and visited the Ford plant in Minneapolis and state prison at Stillwater.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Miller and Mike concluded a week's visit in the parental Rev. P. E. Miller home and left Tuesday for their home in Chino, Calif. En route they will visit her brother in Belle Plaine.

Roger Hanson, senior at ISC Ames, was initiated last Tuesday evening with a group of 108 instructors and seniors into Phi Kappa Phi National Honorary Scholastic Fraternity. A banquet was also held.

The Rosary Society will serve lunches at the Belmond Sales barn during May.

The school children who have had dental cards the past school year brought them in Saturday and were taken to Garner to see the movie "Lassie."

Mr. and Mrs. William Muhlenbruch and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Muhlenbruch and two children went to Sheffield Sunday and were dinner guests in the Fred Plagge home. In the evening, they visited in the Fred Stadtlander home at Rowan. These two ladies are sisters of William Muhlenbruch.

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Benson and three children visited Thursday evening in the parental Anton Benson home. They recently moved from Jewell to Hampton and Milford is doing long distance trucking.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cunningham and his mother, Mrs. Herman Cunningham, went to Boone Saturday to visit the latter's mother, Mrs. Mary Boone, who lives at the Lutheran home there.

Norman Gabrielson and four children of Belmond were Sunday dinner guests in the home of his sister, Mrs. Kenneth Boller.

Mrs. Percy Bamford, Mrs. Walter Schleiffarth and Mrs. Loran Bamford of Belmond came to the Anton Benson home Friday afternoon to help Mrs. Benson celebrate her birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess York of Story City were guests Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Harris.

Auxiliary Provides Treats for Folks At County Home

Providing the month's treat of entertainment and refreshments at the Hancock county home was the April assignment of the Auxiliary of Robbins-Christenson American Legion Post of Goodell.

A contingent of Auxiliary members went to the home at Duncan on Thursday of last week. They took with them 19 dozen cookies and arranged for musical entertainment, which was provided by the accordion trio made up by Jon Green, Lester VerHelst and Billy Ayers. Forty-four men and women are living at the county home.

Women who participated in the project were Mesdames V. E. Harris, Kenneth Eldredge, Kenneth Boller, L. H. Wilson, Ira Langlitz, Arthur Ruka, Alvis Berhow and Amos Hanson. On their return to Goodell, the women enjoyed coffee at the Harris home.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY FRIDAY NIGHT — MUMPS PERMITTING

Barring possible interference from a current epidemic of mumps, the Goodell High school senior play, "Taming the Brat," will be presented Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the community hall.

The three-act comedy by Earl Louis Russell is directed by Mrs. William Ayers. All members of the senior class have been assigned roles and the cast is supplemented by several players from the other classes.

Wade Johnston of Estherville and Kenneth Bergeson of Gruver visited Saturday and Sunday in the homes of the former's sisters, Mrs. O. W. Myers and Mrs. Oscar Olson. Kenneth is a grandson of the Myers.

Mrs. Dale Brede assisted with the reception at the wedding of Clarence Larson and Donna Hevilin which was held at the Methodist church in Klemme Sunday at 4:00 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kuhlers and two sons of Belmond were Sunday evening visitors in the home of relatives, the Charles Halfpops.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Boller and Mrs. Bill Boller took Barbara Boller back to her work at Mason City Sunday evening. Mrs. Bill Boller visited her cousin, Ingvol Jacobson of Thompson, who is a patient at the Park hospital with a fractured back.

Rev. and Mrs. Park E. Miller will leave Wednesday of next week for Cedar Falls to attend the annual Evangelical United Brethern Conference to be held at Riverview park. Henry Nolte, the delegate, will not be able to attend so the alternate, Mrs. H. L. Carpenter, will accompany the Millers there.

Mesdames Herman Heginger, Arthur Ruka, E. J. Schneider, Oscar Olson, Robert McNutt and Amos Hanson went to Garner a week ago Tuesday afternoon and attended the Hancock county rural Women's Day program held at the memorial building. Many fine things were on the program including the women's rural chorus. Refreshments of coffee and cup cakes were served.

Mrs. James Trumbell and her friend, Mrs. Mabel Abrams, who lives in the Trumbell home at Mason City, came Thursday to spend a few days in the home of the former's son, Harry Trumbell. Friday the two ladies spent the day in the Willis Knisley home.

Mrs. Gladys Murphy of Tacoma, Wash., came Saturday to spend a few days in the home of her relative, Mrs. Laton Avery. Mrs. Murphy is making an extended visit with her brother, Charles Schmalle, at Garner. Mrs. Pat Dillon of Belmond visited over Sunday in the Avery home.

OUR FARM NEIGHBORS

CHRIS LAUEN

We have had the pleasure of visiting with several of the Lauen brothers and we hoped to meet two more of them the other day as we stopped at the Lauen Brothers farm 7½ miles NE of Goodell.

This place has been the home of Herman and Chris Lauen since they were born. The brothers, who have always worked together, now own the 160 acres and rent an additional 80 acres to the NE.

It was our pleasure to find one of the brothers, Chris, at home. Chris is the bachelor of the family of 6 brothers and 1 sister. The father, Herman, had just passed away at the age of 88.

We found a nice set of buildings on the farm including a new 3000 bushel round steel crib that dries the corn with forced air from a large fan. Chris commented that it had worked out very satisfactorily.

He also said that they averaged 40 head of Herefords on feed each year as well as 150 head of feeder pigs. They had 30 sows this spring that are already producing.

As far as hobby's their's is fishing and they prefer local fishing. Chris mentioned they did enjoy a trip to northern Minnesota occasionally.

Both men, and their father before them have been customers of this bank for many years.

28-Year-Old E.G. Woman Arrested On Forgery Count

Finding of a billfold in the women's washroom of a Humboldt bank recently led to solution of a series of forgeries—and the arrest of a 28-year-old Eagle Grove woman who is accused of having perpetrated the criminal penmanship.

As reported last week by Sheriff Bob Blecker, the first link in the rather strange chain of events was in the form of the loss of a billfold last December by Martha Kabele of Goldfield, who teaches school at Dows.

According to Frances Johnston of Eagle Grove, he found the billfold and turned it over to his wife Patricia, with instructions to see that it was returned. Instead, the young wife allegedly used credentials and specimens of the owner's handwriting contained in the billfold as means of committing four forgeries.

Two checks for $10 each were passed at Clarion stores and another in the same amount at a Webster City business house. Just before the billfold was abandoned at the Humboldt Trust and Savings bank, a fourth false instrument for $20 had been cashed at that establishment.

Because three women had evidenced a suspicious amount of concern over a man who was held by county authorities on a forgery charge earlier this year, an investigation into their identities was conducted in search of a clue to the latest string of forgeries. Mrs. Johnston turned out to be one of them and questioning led to her arrest.

A week ago Thursday she received first hearing in the court of Mayor Mitchell at Eagle Grove. She waived to the grand jury and bond was set at $1,000. She was held in the county jail until the specified sum was posted on the following Saturday.

F.B. Again Plans To Get-Out-Vote

Wright County Farm Bureau is planning another "Get-Out-the-Vote" campaign in conjunction with the June 7th primary election. Primary responsibility for the project will be shouldered by the Farm Bureau women Mrs. Lawrence Woodley of Rowan, chairman of the bureau's citizenship committee, will direct the campaign. Also on the committee are the various township women's vice chairmen.

"Our voting record in Iowa is poor," Mrs. Woodley says. "Even in 1952, with a presidential election to popularize voting, less than one-fourth of the eligible voters in Iowa participated in the primary. In 1950, the figure was less than 22 per cent casting ballots; and in the off-year of 1946, only 16.5 per cent of those eligible exercised their franchise.

"We hope that every organized group in the county—church, civic, veterans, women's clubs and others—will join the Farm Bureau in urging all the voters of the county to cast their ballots on June 7. We are not interested in party politics; but we are interested in good government, and urge all voters to study the issues and candidates and to exercise their choice at the polls."

A cash award of $100 will be made by the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation to the county in each Farm Bureau district of the state which has the highest percentage of participation in the coming primary.

In 1952, Winnebago was the county in this district that received a similar prize. It had a turn-out of 41.3 per cent at the polls compared to Wright's 35.2. Farm Bureau women in every township of this county will organize their forces between now and election day to remind their neighbors of their voting responsibilities.

DOGS

are all right in their place, but from the complaints coming to the mayors office too many dogs and children in this city are over-active in molesting new garden and flower plots and freshly seeded lawns. It is urgently requested that dog owners and parents of the children respect the privacy of their neighbors and restrain their dogs and children at this time before creating further difficulties.

NOTICE

NOW IS THE TIME TO CLEAN-UP

All Yards, Alleys and Streets

At this season when many of our citizens have brightened their part of the community by removing all rubbish, refuse and other unsightly remnants of winter and have arranged garden and flower plots, it is the recommendation of the Mayor and Council of the City of Belmond that everyone carry out the idea of sprucing up for spring, thus making for a truly inviting appearance and continuing the very desirable reputation our city enjoys as a good place to live.

WHY IT MAY COST YOU MORE TO BUY A "LOW-PRICED" CAR

Let us show you how some cars price-tagged less than a Mercury can cost more—when you figure the deal we can make on your present car, over-all operating cost, and Mercury's proved record of high trade-in value.

PACE-SETTING STYLING KEEPS MERCURY AHEAD OF ITS FIELD—HELPS KEEP TRADE-IN VALUE HIGH

This new Mercury proves that extra power doesn't have to cost you extra money—when you buy, or while you drive. A new 161-hp V-8 can give greater economy than previous engines, which were famous for economy. And Mercury's famous stamina has been increased still further by new engine design, and new ball-joint front wheel suspension. This means longer engine life, less tire wear, lower upkeep.

But the biggest bonus of all is Mercury's higher trade-in value. According to authoritative independent surveys of used car prices, Mercury leads all other cars in its field. This indicates that your Mercury will probably return a higher percentage of your original investment at trade-in time. This, plus Mercury's famous record for economy, brings its true cost down in many cases below so-called "lowest-priced" cars.

We'll be glad to give you facts on this amazing economy story, and you'll be pleasantly surprised with the deal we can give you on your present car. So see us—and drive a Mercury.

TWELVE PAGES

VOL. 34 NO. 30 — OFFICIAL CITY PAPER — BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, MAY 6, 1954 — OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER — THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Elsewhere on this page appears a story on the Mainstreeters' 1954 selection for Belmond "Mother of the Year." Mrs. F. O. Fitts is this year's choice and is 9th that this column has picked since the Mother's Day feature was established in 1946. We hope that readers of The Independent enjoy reading about these otherwise unsung, outstanding Mothers-of-the-Year as much as we enjoy publicizing their motherly virtues.

As in the past, THE "Mother" will receive from the Mainstreeters a Mother's Day bouquet of roses in recognition of her selection to bear this year's title. And each of her predecessors will receive a rosebud.

The past recipients of the title are: Mrs. Sam Johnson, 1946; Mrs. Mary "Molly" Barry, 1947; Mrs. Mary Lister Dillon, 1948; Mrs. H. F. Petersen, 1949; Mrs. Nic Nelson, 1950; Mrs. Charles Gealow, 1951; Mrs. D. D. Pals 1952; and Mrs. J. W. McLaughlin, 1953. To each and every one of 'em—our sincerest regards and our wish that they may enjoy many more, happy years.

Chalk up a credit to the BHS Student Council—and to members of the student body—for sparing a thought during these busy school days to others less fortunate. Last Thursday, the council conducted a drive in the various home rooms for special CARE packages to be sent to Korea. A total of $33.33 was contributed, which will go for the purchase of school supplies critically needed by students in Korean schools.

—M-S—

Good old Iowa! We note in our files that the first weekend in February, thermometers here were registering in the low 70's—and kids were blithely ambling to school in their shirtsleeves. And the first weekend in May? The mercury descended to a garden-nipping 27 degrees and sent mothers scurrying to haul out snowsuits and winter coats that had been freshly cleaned and consigned to the mothballs (they thought) until next fall. Spring? Phooey!

—M-S—

If you notice the old town has taken on a new brightness in the form of gay-colored house dresses, aprons, school dresses, play togs and what not, that yard-goods promotion of Woodward's last weekend largely accounts for it.

With the print goods on sale at only 25 cents a yard and available in scores of pretty patterns, Manager Chet Hiddleston says the women descended on those bolts of material like a horde of grasshoppers on a pea patch.

He estimated Monday that close to 1,600 yards of the special-purchase cloth went over the counters in the course of the sale. That adds up to a LOT of basting, tucking and sewing. And a boost to a lot of family budgets, too.

—M-S—

Mrs. Onno Suntken came sallying into The Independent office last Saturday morning with a gleam in her eye. She said that some of her friends accused her of indulging in a bit of innocent hocus-pocus with that Main Street story last week about a king-size egg laid by one of her hens. All the Independent gang was in the backshop helping Louise Johnson, general factotum of the front office, celebrate her birthday with a spot of coffee and cake.

Mrs. S. strode foward us, bearing a paper sack and an aluminum pan. That first egg was cracked when she brought it to the newspaper office This time she had EVIDENCE —intact.

From the sack she took an egg even bigger than the first one. She cracked it open on the pan edge. Inside was a yolk—the white—and ANOTHER completely formed egg! "Gathered it last night," Mrs. S. informed us, adding, "You tell them there's nothing phony about these eggs." . . . Folks, there's nothing phony about those eggs. But what in the world's gotten into that hen, we can't figure!

—M-S—

What a bunch of punk mathematicians read The Independent. Either that, or you're not reading the paper thoroughly. Ye Ed really fouled up a calculation, quickly made on his cuff, while writing last week's story on the county vehicle fuel contract lettings. So what happened?

It was like seeing a kid roll a snowball and getting ready to duck—only to find the attack fail to develop. Ye Ed thought FOR SURE that several readers would relegate him to the bottom of the class in arithmetic. And nothin' happened!

Anyway, we said that the successful bids on gasoline and diesel fuel this year would result in a savings of about $600 to the county, compared to the previous year's contracts. At our leisure, we figured again — and the amount SHOULD have been only $70. No wonder our income tax always seems to run high!

Mrs. F. O. Fitts Named '54 "Mother of the Year"

• • •

MRS. F. O. FITTS

She Returns Favors Fast

The Independent's Mainstreeters present as their 1954 selection as Belmond's "Mother of the Year," Mrs. F. O. Fitts—whose motherly interests encompass not only her own family, but an entire neighborhood and a great host of friends.

Specifically, she is mother to Corri Fitts of Marshall, Minn., Thera Fitts and Onnalee (Mrs. Claude) Benson. She also holds status of grandmother to Corri's son and daughter, Orvis Fitts of Mason City and Joan (Mrs. Phil) Braun of St. Louis, Mo.; and the Bensons' children, Don C. Benson of Rock Island, Ill., and Marilyn (Mrs. Robert) Tucker of Hartford, Conn. Mrs. Fitts also takes great pride in her two grandchildren, the little son and daughter of Orvis.

But Mrs. Fitts possesses loving generosity—that prime virtue of motherhood—in such ample quantity that she needs lavish it on many outside the immediate family circle in order to "use it up."

Patroness of Orphanage

According to her children, it is a most characteristic remark of Mrs. Fitts as she finishes up a batch of baking or a piece of fancy work to observe, "Now I haven't given anything to So-and-So for a LONG time." And she forthwith sees to it that a plate full of cookies or beautifully crocheted set of pillow slips goes to the "neglected" friend.

Also representative of 1954's "Mother" is the interest she has maintained for many, many years in the non-demoninational Christian Home for Orphans at Council Bluffs. She has contributed innumerable small, cash gifts to the institution, has knitted many garments for the young residents and has also conducted numerous one-woman clothing drives to round up used apparel that the orphanage badly needed.

Home A "Cookie Depot"

Mrs. Fitts' home has become a widely recognized "cookie depot" among children of her neighborhood—and even farther afield She loves children and easily and quickly wins their affection.

Her pastimes of baking, knitting, crocheting, quilt-making and raising flowers have all been a means to the end of carrying on her favorite hobby, that of "sharing."

Born in South Dakota 83 years ago last month, Mary Catherine Stoutenburg Fitts came to Belmond in 1894 with her husband, the late F. O. Fitts, who died in 1926. The children say their mother bestowed one distinction upon them in that each of them was born in a railroad station. Their father was station agent, employed here by the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern Railway, which was later absorbed by the Rock Island line.

Star Charter Member

Mrs. Fitts took an active part in community social and civic activities in her younger days. She is a charter member of the Belmond chapter of the Order of Eastern Star and was once Worthy Matron of that lodge. She is also a longtime member of the Rebekahs. She has been a very loyal member of the Methodist Ladies Aid society, her work with that organization even pre-dating her membership in the church.

A tolerant woman in most regards, there is one thing Mrs Fitts cannot tolerate. That is being "indebted" to a neighbor or friend Any small favor done her is inevitably and promptly returned, with interest. That's how it is with Belmond's "Mother of the Year" for '54.

NEW BHS HEAD COACH AND ATHLETIC DIRECTOR, DICK HOBBS, HAS BUILT UP IMPRESSIVE RECORD

DICK HOBBS

He's Been A "Winning" Coach

Selection of Dick Hobbs, a Simpson college graduate and current coach at Sigourney High school, as Belmond High school athletic director and head coach has been announced by the five-man committee assigned responsibility for picking a successor to Coach Jim Crimmings.

Hobbs was the unanimous and enthusiastic choice of the committee members, who believe Belmond has acquired in the 33-year-old ex-Marine one of the most promising high school mentors in the state. He has established very outstanding records at the schools where he has coached and credits the strict training regimen that he's required of his athletes as being in part responsible for his coaching success.

Marine for Four Years

The new coach is married and has a daughter seven years old. He is a native of Chariton, where his versatility made him a star in football, basketball and track. After attending Chariton Junior college for a year, following graduation from high school in 1940, he enrolled at Simpson and as a freshman at the Indianola college was named all-conference end in his first season of Iowa conference competition.

For four years his college career was interrupted by World War II service in the U. S. Marine corps. Following his discharge, he returned to Simpson and had won two letters in basketball and four each in football and track by the time he received his diploma in 1948.

First Coached at Essex

Hobb's first coaching job was at Essex. The previous year this school had gone through a miserable football season and when Hobbs took over there was small prospect of much improvement. But the Essex gridders came through with seven wins and a tie, against only two defeats, and were recognized as one of the best coached outfits in southeast Iowa. Essex had no gymnasium, which made participation in basketball a tough proposition — and led Hobbs to seek a job elsewhere the following year.

In his five years at Sigourney, Hobbs has done one of the finest coaching jobs seen in Iowa high school sports circles in some time. Sigourney was something less than a sports power in its area when the new coach took over; but in only two years time it had seen its athletic program rejunivated to the point that the school was invited to become a member of the strong Iowa-Cedar conference, southern division.

Competing with such schools as Montezuma, Brookyln, Belle Plaine, Tama and Traer, the Sigourney teams began to win a heavy percentage of their games. In the last three football seasons his gridders have lost only two games and last fall won the loop championship and went undefeated. For the five years, his football teams had a record of 24 victories, 11 losses and six ties.

This success was virtually repeated in basketball. Hobbs' quintets at Sigourney have won 60 games, while losing only 28, and in 1952-53 took the Iowa-Cedar title. For the past two seasons his cagers have advanced aas far as sub-state play.

Track Team Outstanding

In track, Hobbs has produced teams at least on a par with his football and basketball aggregations. His runners and field athletes have become a state power in this sport and won trophies by the basketful. They were second in their class in the state indoor meet, topped the field in the Ottumwa, Oskaloosa and Fort Madison Relays, and are expected to enjoy continued success during the remainder of the season.

As athletic director, Hobbs will have general supervision over all BHS sports. He will be head coach in both football and basketball and have the responsibility for setting up schedules, engaging officials and look after all other details concerned with the athletic program.

BHS Entries Get Eight Division I Ratings at Perry

Belmond High school entries in the state music contest at Perry last Friday earned the largest number of Division I ratings that the school has made to date in state competition for soloists and small groups. Three vocal groups and two soloists and two instrumental groups and two solo performances — a total of eight — received top ratings.

Several other Belmond entries that were considered by members of the audience as highly deserving of I ratings got lost in the shuffle. But the contest judges are required to put in better than a 12-hour day at their task, and some rather perplexing decisions always result as the exhausting day wears along.

Classick Double Winner

Top performer for BHS was Carolyn Classick, who was a double winner, with I ratings as a soloist on both the marimba and snare drum. The two singers placed in Division I were Elinor Ellis, treble voice medium, and Norman Pals, baritone. Three soloists whom Director Eldoris Bunnell regards as definitely more capable than a year ago when they rated I's — Karen Hanson, Margo Gowdy and Gene Mehl — were given only II ratings this time.

Suffering the same fate was the girls trio — Misses Ellis, Hanson and Sandra Simerson — which had drawn high praise from rival instructors during the contest competition. However, the girls sextet, boys quartet and madrigal group came through with flying colors.

Five Groups Rated I's

Comprising the sextet are: Margo Gowdy, Patsy Tracy, Barbara Mariga, Eloise Johnson, Audra and Geraldine Jenison. In the quartet are: Mehl, Pals, Larry Larson and Ronnie Hansen. And the madrigal members are: Misses Ellis, Simerson, Gowdy, Hanson, Geraldine Jenison and Joan Kalkwarf, Mehl, Hansen, Keith Madsen and Sam Leinbach.

Margaret Mussell, Faye Janssen and Margo Gowdy made up the clarinet trio and members of the brass quartet were DaDean Obrecht and Paul Nassen, cornets, Kenneth Halfpap and Roger Lathrop, trombones.

Altogether, Belmond had 22 soloist and group entries competing at Perry. All of the vocal soloists and groups that missed I ratings were accorded II's. Not all of the final, instrumental ratings were immediately known; but Band Director Roland Brom felt his musicians did very satisfactorily, considering that this was the first year of contest competition for most of them.

QUIZ BROADCAST SATURDAY

Broadcast of the recent Belmond Town and Country Quiz, which was sponsored by the BHS Future Farmers, is scheduled over WHO, Des Moines, this coming Saturday evening. Don Collinson, FFA advisor, says no notification has been received as to the exact time; but this feature is customarily heard over WHO at 8:00 or 9:00 p. m. Exact time will be published in WHO's radio log for Saturday in the Des Moines papers.

Hotvet Will Head Joint PTA Group

Walt Hotvet, president of the senior and junior high school unit of the Parent-Teachers association for the coming year, was chosen Monday night to head up the Belmond Community School district PTA organization.

Officers of the three PTA units, including those of Ramsay elementary school and the Goodell school, met at Belmond to elect joint officers and discuss over-all plans for the coming year.

Besides Mr. Hotvet as chairman, the group named Mrs. Clarice Carlson of the Goodell faculty as vice chairman and Mrs. Guy McClenahan as secretary-treasurer.

Three were named on a committee to draft by-laws for the combined association. They were M. B. Dannewitz and Mrs. Lee Mussell of Belmond and Mrs. George Stille of Goodell.

Pat Gallagher was appointed chairman of the PTA's summer recreation program, with other committee members being Mr. Dannewitz and a third yet to be named.

Mr. Hotvet also named Mr. Gallagher to be the PTA institutional representative on the local Cub Scout committee.

Plans for the summer recreation program are still incomplete, it was made known at the Monday meeting, and no selection of a director has as yet been made. Relatively detailed plans are expected to be available soon, and the director will likely be named by the end of the week.

Ted Krebs Opens Business to Mix, Grind Stock Feed

Ted Krebs, who comes here from Chicago, is this week announcing a feed grinding and mixing service which he will operate from his home at 703 Second st. NE.

Mrs. Krebs is the former Edna Mennenga, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mennenga. The Krebs have two childr [illegible] therine, age five, who is in kindergarten; and Teddy, age three.

Mr. Krebs recently purchased a Champion hammermill and two-ton batch mixer, mounted on a new Ford truck chassis. Krebs Feed Grinding and Mixing Service will do custom work at the farm by appointment.

His portable equipment enables him to do feed grinding and mixing simultaneously, to produce a more balanced feed, Mr. Krebs says. He can, however, perform either of the two operations separately if it is required.

He says that the combination service represents quite a time-saver for the farmer and also is economical in that it prevents loss in the mixing process, since the mineral and protein are added directly into the mixer.

$40 TO CANCER FUND

Mrs. Ernest Johnson reports that Delta Nu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was able to make a contribution of $40 to the research fund of the Iowa Division, American Cancer Society, from contributions received at the concert of Mason City's Chamber of Commerce chorus.

LOWENBERG PROMOTED

Richard J. Lowenberg, who has been stationed in Japan with the U. S. Air Force for the past three years, was recently advanced in rating to Airman First Class.

Seniors Will Give Play on May 14th

"Mother is a Freshman," this year's BHS senior class play, will be presented at the high school auditorium on Friday of next week at 8:00 p. m. The three-act comedy is under the direction of Dean Hughes and will include a cast of 15.

Leads in the play are taken by Patsy Tracy, as a sophomore at Pointer college; Barbara Mariga, as her mother, who wins a scholarship and enrolls at the school as a freshman; Larry Larson, as Miss Tracy's heart interest; and Roger Ubben, as a professor who catches Mama's fancy.

ADVANCES IN MASONRY

Clark McNeal last Saturday at the Scottish Rite temple, Des Moines, completed work to receive the 32nd degree in Masonry. He was accompanied to Des Moines by Mrs. McNeal and two of his fellow Masons from Belmond, Henry Larsen and Chris Groen.

CHESK-CHA-MAY GROUP

Chesk-Cha-May group of the Camp Fire Girls met Thursday afternoon of last week at the library basement. The girls made May Baskets, filled them with snapdragons and took them around to shut-ins. Mary Carlin served treats.

$650 IN PRIZES NEXT WEEK!

In an attempt to get rid of some of the stuff before it begins getting mouldy, the Cash Gift Day committee is laying $650—that's right, 650 big, beautiful bucks—on the line next Tuesday afternoon. These gift dollars have been living charmed lives for weeks, now. So the committee is going to continue the buckshot principle in a heroic effort to unload some of the cash. This week there were 10 separate prizes; eight for $25 apiece at 2:00 p. m. and two for $150 each at 3:00. George Dorr came up with the one and only winning number—No. 1,825, good for $25. Next Tuesday there will again be eight $25 awards set up for 2:00 o'clock, and THREE for $150 each at 3:00. The committee reminds Belmond shoppers that, to win, they need only present one of the drawn numbers at any of the 42 participating business houses within five minutes after 2:00 or after 3:00 p. m. The "bullseye" will be reported to the Independent office and the check will be made out here.

Lesson: Don't Rush So Fast You Don't Get There at All

Bob Garms of the Farmers Implement company last Thursday received an object lesson demonstrating the fact it is possible to hurry so fast that you don't get there at all.

As president of the Chamber of Commerce, Bob was rushing home from a business jaunt to St. Ansgar so he could be at the evening Chamber dinner at which Robert L. Sweany, national C-of-C program advisor, was to be the speaker.

It was about 6:00 p. m. and Bob was "making time" when he hit the highway curb as he negotiated the bend in No. 69 adjacent to the county gravel pit, north of town. His '52, ¾-ton Chevrolet pickup went out of control and ended up in the east ditch.

By good fortune, Bob escaped virtually unharmed; but the truck was smashed up almost beyond repair. A field cultivator he was carrying in the rear of the truck suffered little damage.

Bob did not make the dinner.

May Queen Crown To Audra Jenison

Audra Jenison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vere Jenison, was crowned as May Queen at the annual May Fete held last night at the high school gymnasium. She was elected by the senior class from a field of five senior girls, who had earlier been chosen as candidates by popular vote of the student body.

Ken Loats, president of the Student Council, crowned Queen Audra. The other contenders for the Queen's title—Susie Halfpap, Janelle Johnson, Donna Lee and Colleen White—participated in the festivities as "princesses."

Hanson to Present Recital on Sunday

Jerry Hanson, whose fine voice has brought pleasure to Belmond audiences on a number of occasions in recent years, will present a recital at Trinity Lutheran church next Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. It will be open to the public, without charge.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hanson, Jerry will graduate from St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., this spring with a bachelor's degree in music education.

MRS. PETERSON DIES

Funeral services for Mrs. Charles Peterson were attended last Monday at Hampton by Mr. and Mrs. Oren Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hanson and Melvin Hanson. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson were for many years residents of Belmond, during which time he was a rural mail carrier for a while and later operated the local theater.

LEGION POSTS, AUXILIARIES OF COUNTY TO MEET HERE

Bill Dempsey, commander of Eimbrink Post, announces that a joint meeting of American Legion posts and Legion Auxiliary units of Wright county will be held at the Veterans' Memorial hall next Monday evening at 7:00 p. m. All attending are asked to bring a covered dish and table service for the pot-luck supper that will precede the program. Meat, bread and coffee will be provided by the Belmond Legion.

TWO NEW FIREMEN

Two additions to the Belmond Fire department were made by action of the city council at its meeting Monday night. Leland "Bud" Barkema and Ed Gabrielson are the new members. They take the places of Dan Boone and Rodney Urdahl on the department roster.

CAFE HAS NEW BOOTHS

The Belmond Cafe is lately resplendent with new booths, the seats of which are handsomely finished in grey-blue, upholstered plastic material. Proprietor Marson Nelson is rightfully proud of the improvement and warned that mention of it "had better appear in The Independent." It's done!

JERRY HANSON GETS ORDERS FOR DUTY WITH AIR FORCE

Jerry Hanson, senior from Belmond, and a member of the Air Force ROTC detachment at St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., has received official notification to report for active duty with the U. S. Air Force.

Cadet Hanson will report Sept. 16 to the processing center nearest his home. After processing has been completed, he will report to a primary flight training school to begin pilot training as a second lieutenant on Oct. 17.

P. O. HAS EXAM DATES

Postmaster J. C. Brady says that a schedule of driver's license examination dates for Clarion, Eagle Grove and other nearby points has been placed on the post office bulletin board for the convenience of the public.

Auxiliary Chooses Carolyn Classick As Belmond's Girls State Delegate

Carolyn Classick, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Classick, has been selected by the American Legion Auxiliary as Belmond's representative to Hawkeye Girls State. She was chosen from among the girls in the BHS junior class by popular vote of the Auxiliary members.

This year's Girls State will be held on the campus of Iowa State Teachers college at Cedar Falls during the period of June 13-20.

Besides ranking well towards the top of her class scholastically, Miss Classick has found time for extensive participation in extra-curricular activities. She has been particularly outstanding in music, and only last weekend she was awarded Division I ratings at the state music contest at Perry for solo performances on both the marimba and snare drum.

This was the first time any Belmond entry has ever won top rating in two classes of state competition. Carolyn is a member of the concert band and sings with the mixed chorus and girls glee club. She has made frequent public appearances as a marimba soloist and also serves as assistant organist for the Congregational church.

She is a member of the Student Council and has been active in both the Future Homemakers of America and the Girls Athletic association. Despite her busy schedule of school activities, she finds time to serve as a nurse's aide at Belmond Community hospital.

Jeanette Johnson, daughter of Mrs. Julius Johnson, has been chosen by the Auxiliary as alternate delegate to Girls State. Should circumstances prevent Carolyn from attending the gathering, Jeanette would be the Belmond representative.

A Girl of Many Activites

Only Belmond Twp (2 Voters) Against Kanawha Proposal

Only the 320-acre area in Belmond township independent school district voted against affiliation with the new Kanawha Community School district as voters of the proposed district went to the polls Monday. The consolidation issue carried by healthy majorities in all of the other seven districts involved, consisting of about 88 sections of land.

There were only two qualified voters in the corner of Belmond township that had been included in the Kanawha plan, and both of them voted against the proposal. It is probable that the 320 acres will be attached to Belmond Community School district by action of the Wright county board of education.

Of 828 ballots cast in the Kanawha election, 742 favored the reorganization. By districts the voting went as follows, with yes and no votes listed in that order: Kanawha 400 and 15, Amsterdam township 125 and 20, Erin 24 and 4, Magor 42 and 1, Twin Lake 43 and 23; Boone and Norway (in Wright county), 16-2 and 92-19, respectively.

WSCS Installation Scheduled May 13

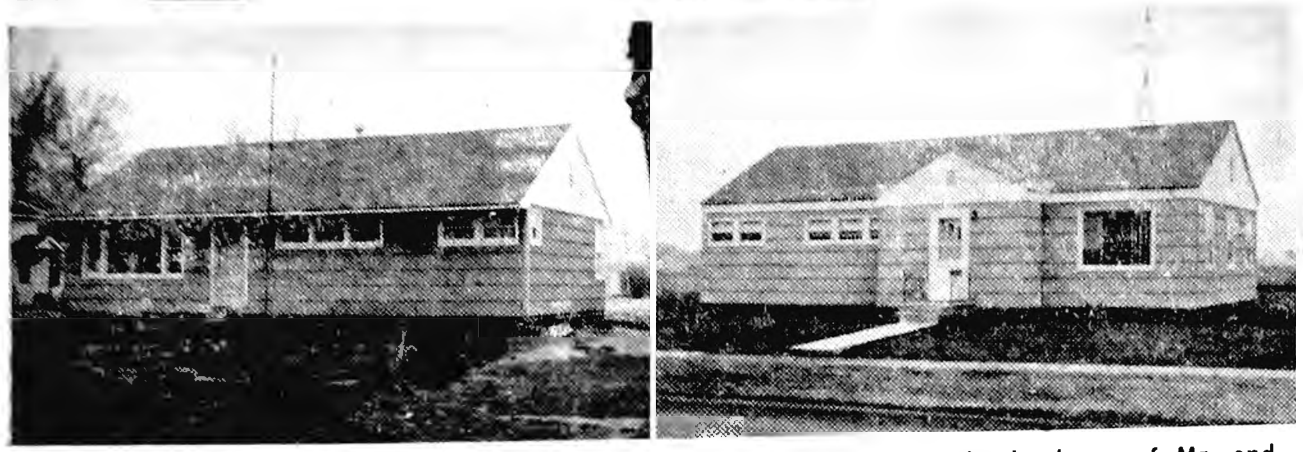
New officers of the WSCS of the Methodist church will be installed at the society's regular monthly meeting scheduled for Thursday of next week. Attention is called to the fact that the May meeting is scheduled a week later than the customary meeting date of the first Thursday.

A covered dish luncheon at 1:00 o'clock will precede the afternoon's program and business session. Included on the program will be talks by Rev J. Heber Miller and Mrs. R. E. McGowan of Renwick, vice president of the North Iowa Conference.

All members of the society are urged to be present at this meeting. There will be no circle meetings during the month of May.

DIVORCE CASE DISMISSED

Valva Draper, on Tuesday of this week, dismissed the petition for divorce she had filed against her husband, George Draper, on April 23. After serving several days of a 30-day county jail sentence on a charge of assault and battery, Draper appealed the sentence and posted bond to obtain his freedom pending a hearing on the appeal.



TWO HOME-WAY HOMES that have been added to the growing list of new, Belmond residences in the past year through the auspices of John Van Gerpen, local Home-Way dealer, are pictured above. At left is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Kennedy, in the 700 block on Third street NE; the other, which was erected on East Main street, is owned by Mr. and Mrs. James Larson.

Van Gerpen Hears Of Latest Trends In 'Prefab' Homes

Significant changes in the home building pattern of America were forecast and applauded as leaders in one segement of the booming prefabricated house manufacturing industry recently held their national sales meeting at Dixon, Ill. The prefabricated home salesmen, with their wives and members of the sales organization, numbered 225.

These were the dealers for GBH-Way Homes, Inc., of the Walnut, Ill. The entire upper midwest was represented, with Home-Way dealers present from as far away as Pennsylvania and Nebraska. Mr. and Mrs. John Van Gerpen of Belmond were among those attending.

Clifford M. Hill, president of the Walnut organization, observed that the FHA and VA have spurred the "prefab" industry by helping make building credit easier. Another significant trend, he said, is toward larger prefabricated houses. The three-bedroom house is much more popular now than formerly and many families are asking for four bedrooms.

Among the new features which were "unveiled" and discussed for the sales organization, a new and modern low-pitch roof line was given top interest. This latest development of the Walnut research and planning division uses newly developed roof trusses for a house that is 24 feet wide, with three-foot extended cornices.

And Hy-Lines STAY At Work
. 40% Fewer Culls
. Few Broody Hens

Yes, Hy-Lines stay on the job. No big "set-down" strikes from a bunch of broody hens. Very few loafers standing around the waterers — eating that expensive feed. Yes, Hy-Lines stay on the job — shelling out eggs. Divided Flock Tests show that you can expect 40% fewer culls in a Hy-Line flock. And that annoying "broodiness feature" found in so many crossbreds is largely eliminated. If you want profit-making, "stay-on-the-job" layers, put Hy-Lines in your brooder this spring.

Rowat-Murray Takes Women's Bowling League Title

Winning five of its last six games, the Rowat-Murray entry in the women's bowling league last week picked up its first league championship. Entering the final two rounds, the lady engineers were tied for 1st with Swede's Tap room. But the R-M crew knocked off their chief rival on Friday before last, 2 to 1, and then swept the final series with Thompson's Hybrid to take the title by a three-game margin.

Oddly enough, the champions figured in none of the season's top performances, on either a team or individual basis. Deloris Withers of the Hamm's Beer quintet in her next-to-last outing turned in the best series of the year — and one of the best in the five years of women's league competition — with a robust 558. She also had the best average at 158, followed by Mary Gordon of the Belmond Greenhouse team with 154.

Mrs. Gordon turned in the top game, a 224, followed closely by Genevieve Smith with 223. Mrs. Gordon also played a key part in helping the Greenhouse gang win high team game honors on a score of 828. Miss Withers contributed generously toward Hamm's high team series of 2,224. The Greenhouse was only three pns behind on series with a 2,221 and Mello Maid was a close third with 2,217.

Rowat-Murray has twice won team honors in the city tournament but had not prevously been able to top the feld in league play. On the R-M five are Phyllis Pals, Donna Robertson, Virginia Courson, Emma Hotvet and Lois Hafermann. Until the later stages of the season, Lois Murray filled the position taken over by Mrs. Courson.

MR. AND MRS. JIM MALLOY

TRACY-MALLOY RITES CONDUCTED APRIL 24, ST. FRANCIS CHURCH

Miss Betty Tracy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Tracy of Belmond, and Jim Malloy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Malloy of Joice, were married Saturday morning, April 24, at St. Francis Catholic church at a nuptial High Mass by Rev. Vincent Walsh, who performed the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a two-piece dress of eggshell faille with navy accessories. She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and pink sweet peas.

Joe Malloy of Joice, brother of the groom, was best man. Bob Tracy, brother of the bride, and John Grund of Joice were ushers. Acolytes were Jimmy Brady and Emmet Studebaker.

Mrs. Clifford Johnson, organist, played the nuptial music. The Mass of St. Cecilia was sung by the choir and Sharon Malloy, sister of the groom, sang "Panis Angelicus".

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Tracy home. Mrs. John Lewis of Mason City, cousin of the bride, cut the three-tier wedding cake, Mrs. Howard Crowley of Mason City, cousin of the bride, served the ice cream and Mrs. Duane Tideback, sister of the bride, poured. Mary Ann Malloy of Sioux City and Elinor Malloy of Mason City were in charge of the guest book and the gifts.

A 1:00 o'clock dinner was served to the immediate relatives with Margot Gowdy and Barbara Mariga as waitresses.

The bride has been employed as public health nurse in Wright county.

After a short trip, Mr. and Mrs. Malloy will be at home at Joice, where he is engaged in farming.

MISS VIOLA ROWLEY, CPL. ROGER SHAHAN MARRIED APRIL 27

Miss Viola Rowley, daughter of Elmer J. Rowley of Kanawha, became the bride of Cpl. Allen W. Shahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Shahan, Tuesday, April 27, 7:30 o'clock at Trinity Lutheran church. The Rev. O. M. Severseike officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. Harold Simerson, organist, played the nuptial music and accompanied Don Leverton of Goldfield as he sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because".

Sharon Evans of Kanawha was bridesmaid and Roger Shahan, brother of the groom, was best man.

The bride wore a medium blue suit and her attendant wore a powder blue dress, both having white accessories and pink rose corsages. The groom wore the dress uniform of the U. S. Army.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors for about 55 persons. The three-tier wedding cake, topped by a minature bride and grom, was cut by Mrs. Don Leverton.

Mrs. Leverton was also in charge of the guest book. Waitresses were Carolee Studer of Kanwha, Doris and Ethel Rasmussen of Goldfield. cousins of the groom.

Corporal and Mrs. Shahan left Wednesday for Gatesville, Texas, where they will make their home as he is stationed with the U. S. Army at Fort Hood near there.

● OBITUARY

MRS. ANNA VOUGHT

Funeral services were held Tuesday, April 20, at the Galt Congregational church for Mrs. Anna Vought. She died the preceding Friday at Fort Dodge Lutheran hospital of a heart attack, just five days after submitting to major surgery. Burial was in Union Cemetery at Livermore, where Eastern Star rites were observed.

Born at Livermore on April 21, 1883, Anna Tunison was the daughter of Ira and Ruth Tunison. She was wed on Dec. 18, 1906, to Valentine Vought at Livermore. Except for a few years in Oregon, they lived continuously on the Vought farm near Livermore until moving to Wright county in 1934. Thep spent the remainedr of their lives in the Belmond and Galt vicinities.

Mr. Vought passed away in 1949. Also preceding Mrs. Vought in death were three children, Jewel, Eva and Wilfred. Surviving are a twin son and daughter, Laurence of Council Bluffs and Laura (Mrs. Robert) Finn of Belmond; and another daughter, Reta (Mrs. Floyd) Hackbarth of Shell Rock. Survivors also include eight grandchildren and one great grandchild; a brother, Merritt Tunison of Riverside, Calif.; and six sisters — Mrs. Blanche Scott of Eagle Grove, Mrs. Maggie Schultz of Staples, Minn., Mrs. Ray Johns of Waterloo, Mrs. Ernest Miller of Livermore, Mrs. Leonard Perkins of Corvallis, Ore., and Mrs. Laurence Nichols of Mason City.

Mrs. Vought was a member of the Galt Congregational church and of the Livermore chapter of the Order of Eastern Star.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lobdell, David, Robert, Jr., and Cathy of Ottumwa spent the weekend visiting relatives in Belmond and Clarion.

Visiting around Iowa

by Joe Marsh

Iowa's Bearded Governors

Know how many Iowa governors wore beards?

There were ten . . . their pictures are right there in the new Official Register. Also, four governors were semi-bald, seven wore moustaches.

Iowa has had some governors with unusual peculiarities, too, including one who refused to eat off a plate if it had a flower picture in the middle.

But, come to think of it, those differences run about the same for Iowa folks as a whole. It really wouldn't be very interesting, either, if all of us were alike! Differences in people make "personality", make folks more enjoyable.

When neighbors drop in at our house, some like a cup of tea, some coffee, some a temperate glass of beer. Some talk crops, some world problems or politics. But each of us respects the other's right of choice.

That's what is important . . . realizing that folks aren't all alike, don't prefer the same things . . . and that the other fellow's preferences are just as important as our own.

D-X ETHYL
New with UCL-plus

Twenty years ago we introduced history's most famous gasoline additive, the D-X upper-cylinder lubricant. Now we present its successor, all-inclusive UCL-plus. A new-process upper-cylinder lubricant fortified with exclusive chemicals it's yours only in D-X. That's why D-X alone gives you all the extras!

EXTRA protection!—Our new D-X Ethyl with UCL-plus gives your engine super top-cylinder lubrication for protection against wear. It reduces knock caused by carbon. It helps prevent spark plug fouling, practically eliminates fuel-wasting pre-ignition!

EXTRA antiknock!—More antiknock is refined into new D-X Ethyl at the start. After the refining process the antiknock is boosted still higher by the addition of exclusive UCL-plus!

EXTRA mileage—Check your speedometer when you first try new D-X. Check again when you refill. You'll find D-X adds up to better mileage, because it makes your engine more efficient than you ever thought possible.

EXTRA performance—Faster starts, more pickup, more passing power—you've never felt the kind of performance you'll get from your engine with this new D-X Ethyl with UCL-plus!

WE GUARANTEE IT—You must get all these extras and more in new D-X, or we'll refund your money. Accept our written, signed Trial Bond guarantee. Then try the only gasoline with all the extras, D-X Ethyl with UCL-plus!

We have the proof—Flaming Proof—that D-X gives you more. Get it at your nearby D-X Dealer's now!

D-X High Official Praises Weeklies

"Newspapers are still the basic advertising medium in America," declares T E Fitzgerald, vice president of the Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation in charge of sales. This comment was made in conjunction with Mid-Continent's launching of one of its biggest advertising campaigns to date.

The Independent will carry the new campaign ads, which will promote the new D-X all-weather motor oil and D-X ethyl gasoline with UCL-plus. These products are carried locally by Berns D-X station.

Weekly newspapers in the 18-state midwestern area where the campaign will be conducted are assigned a heavy share of responsibility for "putting over" these new, high-quality D-X products. Mr. Fitzgerald calls newspapers "the backbone of communications in America," and regards the weeklies as a vital means of commanding the public's attention.

To introduce the new D-X products, some 10.000 Mid-Continent distributors, salesmen and dealers are being called to a series of 28 dinner meetings throughout the midwest. Representattives in this area met Wednesday of last week at Mason City. There they were addressed by a number of company officials, including D. C. Rogers of Tulsa, Okla., advertising-sales promotion manager for Mid-Continent.

Gerald Berns, proprietor of the local D-X station, attended the dinner. He was accompanied by Ray Pals and Dave Robertson, station employees.

RECESSION? BOLD, IOWA INDUSTRIALIST SAYS THIS IS A TIME OF OPPORTUNITY!

For our money, the most intelligent observation we've read lately in regard to this nation's much-publicized but barely detectable "recession" was made by Walter A. Sheaffer II, president of Sheaffer Pen company at Fort Madison.

His firm had the largest sales volume in its history during its latest fiscal year. It's not difficult to understand why tough-times talk strikes Mr. Sheaffer as so much baloney. He says:

"The gloom spreaders seem to be singing the economic blues simply because industry, for the first time in many years, is faced with good, old-fashioned competition and the need for hard selling. And they're afraid industry can't take it. In my book, the kind of conditions they moan about are exactly the conditions that bring out the best in our free enterprise economy.

"Some say the American economy is due for a setback because there no longer is a war-created back-log of demand, because the dollar is gaining stability and because we won't be having such huge expenditures for munitions of war. What they are really saying is that our industrial economy isn't dynamic enough or forceful enough or enterprising enough to get along without bloodshed. without pump-priming and without injections of artificial stimulants."

If the nations' industry views current conditions as a challenge rather than a threat, as Mr. Sheaffer plainly does, we need have no fear of the recession bugaboo.

DICK HOBBS IS BRINGING TO BELMOND A FORMIDABLE RECORD AS A COACH

We believe Belmond sports fans will find the new BHS athletic director and Bronco football and basketball coach a man much to their liking. There is every reason to believe Dick Hobbs will fit into the athletic set-up here like a hand in a glove.

Reading Mr. Hobbs' credentials, several things caught our eye that convinced us that the coach-selection committee made an excellent choice.

Particularly gratifying was a statement from R. H. Hoffman, who was high school principal for four of the five years that Mr. Hobbs was at Sigourney. Mr. Hoffman commented: "Our injuries have practically been eliminated through proper conditioning and rigid training rules."

When any coach achieves unprecedented athletic prestige for a school, such as the new mentor did at Sigourney, there's certain to be a number of reasons. Personal knowledge of the sports coached and a man's popularity with the boys he guides are important; but steady development of new talent is an equally important key to success.

For that reason, we were impressed when Mr Hoffman related, "Coach Hobbs has spent endless Saturdays and holidays during his five years here with the junior high boys. From this start, he has developed a group of boys who KNOW fundamentals."

Mr. Hobbs' former superintendent at Essex volunteered the information, "I have had officials tell me that he had the best coached team around this area."

Capably coached, well-conditioned teams inevitably win their share of games, and members of the committee that picked Mr. Hobbs to fill the coaching vacancy here are supremely confident that the newcomer will produce teams at Belmond in which local sports followers can take deep pride.

Mr. Hobbs could have returned to Sigourney at a nice increase in salary. But he decided to move on, seeking bigger worlds to conquer. We're satisfied that the Broncos' opponents will provide him with a challenge to suit his fancy. And we'll take the liberty of speaking for the community in saying, "Welcome to Belmond, Coach Hobbs."

JAKE MORE THINKS THAT USING MONEY IS A STUPID WAY TO BUILD HIGHWAYS

Jake More, state chairman for the Democratic party, is going to be in a heck of a shape before this election year is over. He's been doing one of the fanciest jobs of simultaneously straddling the fence AND keeping his ear to the ground that we've witnessed in many a moon—and he's getting pretty badly warped in the process.

We look forward to his weekly handouts, because they are always good for a chuckle. His inconsistencies are really something to contemplate. If there's one thing that perplexes him more than anything else at the moment, it's the highway situation. On this issue, he spins around like a weathervane.

There's only one thing crystal clear in Jake's mind where the roads are concerned. Thirty more people have been killed on Iowa's highways so far this year than in the same period a year ago; and this truly unfortunate situation is attributable to the fact that the Republicans have been in office too long.

Jake thinks Iowa has the poorest primary road system of any mdwestern state. But he hasn't a glimmer of an idea what can be done about it. At least, he's had no suggestions of a concrete nature to offer. He says the Republicans have been spending altogether too much money on Iowa's highways and now talk of boosting the gas tax so there'll be more to spend. But it's perfectly clear to Jake that THAT isn't the way to go about highway improvement.

Though this writer doesn't do much gadding about, he's traveled over hundreds of miles of widened highway in Iowa in the past few years. Jake, he's a homebody. He doesn't know about those widened highways. He thinks a shake-up of the Highway Commission might be in order. Perhaps it should be investigated, too, he adds. There's a FRESH idea, anyway.

Now there's no use pretending that the Republicans have any cause for extensive pride in their highway achievements. But they aren't deceiving themselves that there's any way for us to get BETTER highways than to PAY for 'em. If Jake wants to make a hero of himself and get some votes for the Democrats, he can certainly do it by trotting out an idea for building highways without using money.

Hot Weather—Coming Up

Spring is here And unless the Russians have sabotaged the seasons, summer will follow. And summer means hot weather. Hot weather means uncomfortableness — if there is such a word — for everybody, including chickens.

Some people let the hens out in hot weather. While it keeps them cooler, it doesn't pay to do it. Hens roaming all over the farm spread diseases to the baby chicks. The hens don't get enough water or the right kind of feed. And they lay their eggs under the corn cribs instead of in nests. Sure, you should make the hens comfortable — but not so comfortable that you lose money at it.

Your hen house can be made cooler in the summer There are several ways. One is to install an air conditioning unit. But since most folks will want one in their own house before they put one in their chicken house, let's put first things first.

You must have proper ventilation in the house. Good ventilation will take the moist air out of the house. And you know that dryer air feels cooler than sultry air at the same temperature.

Second, have plenty of waterers filled with cool, clean water. Layers drink a lot more water in the summer than at any other time. So put an extra couple of waterers in the place. If the chickens won't use them, you can soak your feet in them on a hot day.

Keep on culling — especially in the summer. These unthrifty birds cost you money and don't repay it. Besides, they crowd the house and the less birds in there, the more comfortable it'll be for the survivors.

And if you feel you have to let your hens outside, let them out in a small, shaded pen. Don't let them roam all over the place.

Just keep them comfortable and well fed. They'll do a good job for you — if they are well bred birds. There's no point in wasting good management on birds of mediocre breeding which are incapable of responding profitably to your good management.

TWELVE PAGES

VOL. 34 NO. 31 | OFFICIAL CITY PAPER | BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, MAY 13, 1954 | OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER | THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Last Saturday's WHO broadcast of the Belmond Town and Country Quiz was heard in Springdale, Ark., by a former resident, L. L. Putnam. Now a CPA, Mr. Putnam was associated with the sugar plant here for two years in the early 1920's as assistant general manager.

In a letter to The Independent, Mr. Putnam sends "cordial greetings to Belmond" and asks to be remembered to such of his old acquaintances as are still living here.

He added, "My recollection is that the then editor of the Independent was an admirable young man named Roy Rankins — a wheelchair cripple with a clear head and courageous spirit, who died a few years later." Mr. Putnam says that C. F. Fenton, promoter of the Iowa Valley Sugar Co., is still living and resides in Minneapolis.

—M-S—

Seems that a cop can't tell these days whether to expect a poke in the eye or a slap on the back. We have a gesture of the latter variety to pass along to Police Chief Art Awe. Praise of a recent courtesy gesture performed by Art was received Tuesday by The Independent in a letter from one Harry J. Groves of Des Moines, traveling representative for a line of women's foundation garments.

Wrote Mr. Groves: "I am very grateful to your Chief of Police for the warm friendship shown me, which should make us realize more fully what a wonderful country we are privileged to live in."

From the gist of the letter, we gather that Mr. Groves experienced car trouble while passing through Belmond and that Chief Awe came along and offered assistance. Not only did Art correct the difficulty, but he followed the Groves car for several miles along the highway to make certain the engine wasn't going to fail again. Courtesy "beyond the line of duty," Mr. Groves called it.

—M-S—

Little did Mainstreeters No. 1 and 3 ever suspect that paternal modesty on the part of No. 2 would ever be responsible for The Independent being "scooped" on a news story. Nevertheless, it was through the Mason City Globe-Gazette that we learned last week that Dick's daughter, Margo Gowdy, has been awarded a scholarship to Cottey college, a two-year, PEO-sponsored school at Nevada, Mo.

George and Pat are both proud that an offshoot from the Mainstreeter triumvirate should prove so able a scholar as to qualify for an honor of this nature.

Margo will receive an annual grant of $150 towards her college costs. She's done her parents proud by her fine record at BHS, both in scholarship and school activities—including (we're gratified to say) journalistic endeavors on "Hoofbeats." . . . We can see we must take Dick aside an have a little talk with him on this "humility" business as a precaution against being scooped again at a later date.

—M-S—

We suspect you'd look a long way to find a prouder set of parents this week than Mr. and Mrs. Al Hanson. Today's paper carries stories telling of their son Jerry's initiation into Phi Beta Kappa at St. Olaf and daughter Karen's recognition as salutatorian of the BHS Class of '54. If Jerry — who was valedictorian of the Class of '50 — should ever take on superior airs because his sister ranked only SECOND in her class (which, knowing Jerry, we doubt), she can put him in his place by noting that HER high school grade average was 3.74, while a "meagre" 3.718 sufficed to put her brother at the top of his class.

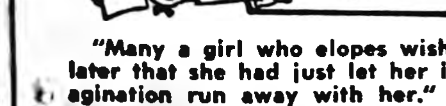
—M-S—

We confidently expect to hear of a two-headed calf or a six-legged chicken making its appearance in a certain neighborhood east of town just any day now. First, Mrs. Onno Suntken brought in to The Independent office those behemoth eggs that one (presumably its the same chicken in each case) of her hens has been laying. Then last Saturday Mrs. William Vierkant came in with a white mouse her husband had captured in the corn crib while Bill was grinding corn.

The friendly little critter is a true albino, white as snow and with pink eyes. Bill caught him Wednesday of last week, and the tiny rodent seems to be thriving despite being in captivity.

Bill makes a practice of snatching mice for the farm cats when he spots any (mice, that is) in the corn crib. He stuns 'em and then tosses them to the waiting felines. Mrs. V. told us this very matter-of-factly, as if snatching a frightened mouse was the easiest thing in the world. We know that catching a mouse on a kitchen floor, with no hiding places accessible, is no trick; but the same stunt in a corn crib, offering innumerable holes to duck into, impresses us as somewhat of an achievement.

—M-S—



"Many a girl who elopes wishes later that she had just let her imagination run away with her." — Robert Fitch.

"In the spring a young man's fancy turns to what the girls have been thinking of all along." — Arthur Godfrey.

FIRST IN COMMUNITY SERVICE TO INDEPENDENT AGAIN

The Belmond Independent at last week's state convention of the Iowa Press association was, for the second time in three years, awarded first place in the community service competition. Since a state winner is ineligible to compete for the same honor two years in a row, this is the maximum numbers of firsts that a newspaper can attain in community service in the stated period of time.

Judges of the contest selected the Belmond paper as having performed the most valuable community service of any weekly or small daily in the state during 1953 on the strength of five projects that The Independent carried on during the year.

Apparently the variety of community service undertakings, plus the fact that all but two issues during the year found The Independent promoting one service project or another, gave this paper top honors in the strong field of contenders.

Winning Projects

Second place in the contest went to Decorah's twin weeklies, the Journal and Public Opinion. Third was awarded to the Forest City Summit and the Iowa Falls Citizen was given honorable mention.

Projects which brought the highly coveted community service plaque to The Independent were: (1) sponsorship of the BOOK FRIENDS club, which added new books having purchase value in excess of $800 to the shelves of the Belmond city library; (2) news and editorial coverage of the reorganization movement that led to establishment of Belmond Community School district.

(3) Promotion of General Mills Appreciation Days; (4) publicity for the Wright County Tuberculosis association's chest x-ray program, which the director of the state association credited with prompting a much higher than average participation by people living in the Belmond area; (5) the circulation campaign which provided Belmond High school with a new television set and netted the FHA and FFA some $290 in cash.

Sigma Delta Chi Award

The Iowa State college chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national honorary journalistic society, sponsors the community service contest and provides the handsome plaque that is awarded to each year's winner. The Independent had previously won the award in 1952, on the preceding year's projects.

Don Reid, executive secretary of the Iowa Press association, says that insofar as he can recall this is the first time one newspaper has succeeded in winning the community service trophy two "consecutive" years — consecutive in the light that a winner cannot enter any state contest for one year after having won it.

Belmond's Biggest 8th Grade Class Will Graduate Thursday, Next Week

Belmond's largest eighth grade class in history will hold its Class Day program on Thursday of next week at the high school auditorium. Eighty-seven will graduate into high school in the course of the annual class commencement exercises, which start at 2:00 p. m. This class numbers more than 25 larger than any previous eighth grade class here.

Gladys Darrah, junior high principal, will present the class and acceptance of the members into high school will be spoken by Supt. Don Faris. Other highlights of the program will include: Class History, given by Judy Oberhauser; Class Poem, William Kaufman; Class Will, Fred Cronk.

Chorus Will Sing

Invocation and benediction will be pronounced by Rev. Leo Widdel. Jeanette Neuman will present Palmer certificates to those who qualified for them in penmanship. Musical entertainment will include several numbers by the junior high chorus and a group of accordion numbers by William Halfwassen.

Jenison, Kalkwarf

Band, Glee Club, Mixed Chorus All Get Top Ratings

All three Belmond entries in the state music contest for large groups held last Friday and Saturday at Story City—the concert band, girls glee club and mixed chorus—were awarded Division I ratings. This brought to 11 the total number of I's earned by BHS in state competition this spring and marked the school's most successful contest season ever.

This was the first time in a number of years that the Belmond band has rated in the superior class and crowned with success two years of determined effort by Director Roland Brom to raise the standards of the instrumental music department. He had 60 musicians in the band group that competed in the contest. Only 11 of 31 bands got I ratings.

Eldoris Bunnell saw both her glee club and chorus winning top ratings for the third consecutive year. There were 69 voices in her glee club and the chorus included 71, a total of 36 boys and 35 girls. Twenty-three schools had entries in both the glee club and chorus contests. Only five of the glee clubs received Division I ratings and six mixed choruses.

Hobbs to Direct PTA Recreation, Sports Program

Dick Hobbs, new BHS athletic director and head coach in football, basketball and track, has accepted responsibility for directing this year's PTA summer recreation program. It will not be a new undertaking for Mr. Hobbs, as he has filled similar positions at both Indianola—during the time he was attending Simpson college there, and at Sigourney—where he is completing a five-year stint as high school coach.

Because of the small interest that girls have shown in the summer program in the past few years, no effort is being made this year to include girls' activities in the recreation plans. Baseball will be allotted a major amount of the time, but other boys' sports will also be given attention.

Two Baseball Groups

At the wish of the American Legion, the Junior Legion baseball program will remain separate from the PTA program this summer. Freed of responsibility for coaching the Junior Legion squad, Mr. Hobbs will be able to devote more time to the boys in the 13-15 age bracket than was possible last year. Peewee ball, for boys up to and including the age of 12, will again comprise an important phase of the recreation program. Both a Peewee league and Little Bigger league will be formed, according to present plans.

Other sports will be incorporated in the program in accord with interest shown by the youngsters participating. Mr. Hobbs has had considerable experience instructing in archery and coaching track events, and these activities will probably be included.

Special Days Planned

Mr. Hobbs, who holds a Red Cross senior life saving certificate, has volunteered to accompany local swimming groups to the Clarion pool this summer and to assist with instruction—if his services are wanted by the pool management. No manager for the Clarion pool has been appointed, as yet, but it seems probable that his offer will be gratefully accepted.

Several special-event days are planned for the recreation program and these will be open to girls as well as boys. Arrangements are already well started for the second, annual Kids' Fish Day, which has been scheduled for June 25.

It Rained Cash! $350 Claimed

After a long drought, money rained down on Cash Gift Day loot-seekers Tuesday afternoon. Altogether, $325 of the $650 that was up for draw had found claimants by the time the excitement was over a little past 3:00 p. m. Mrs. Margaret Manifold hit "pay dirt" first by holding No. 1,418, which was good for $25 at 2:00 o'clock. Then at 3:00 p. m., two of the three $150 numbers were turned in. Mrs. D. L. Rankins, who checked the winning digit combinations at Adams Pharmacy, turned in No. 1,589; and Mrs. Cleatis Harty came forth with No. 2,121. She was having a cup of coffee at Alderson's Cafe—where Mrs. Manifold works in the kitchen. What's that about lighting striking twice? Next Tuesday there'll be seven $25 numbers at 2:00 p. m. and one $150 number at 3:00.

DARYL HANSON TO TEACH AT WISCONSIN COLLEGE

Daryl Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hanson, will teach next year at Superior (Wis.) State Teachers college as instructor in piano and musical theory. He has been band director and instructor of instrumental music at Clarion High school for the past three years and the preceding year held a similar position at Fertile.

A graduate of Belmond High school, Daryl began his college education at Iowa State college but transferred to Iowa State Teachers and received his Bachelor of Arts degree from the Cedar Falls school in 1949. He took advanced work at Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y., receiving his Master's degree from that institution in 1950.

Janelle Johnson Top Scholar, Class Of '54; Karen Hanson, Salutatorian

Valedictorian of the BHS Class of '54 is Janelle Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Johnson, and salutatorian is Karen Hanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hanson. In announcing the scholastic leaders of this year's senior class, Principal Clair Hugh stated this week that Miss Johnson's four-year grade average was one of the highest in Belmond High school history and the best that has been achieved in recent years.

During only one semester did Miss Johnson fail to maintain a straight A average; and during that half-year period her grades averaged A-. Out of a maximum grade-point total of 4.0, the valedictorian had an average of 3.98 for her four years. Miss Hanson had an average that was high enough to win valedictory honors many previous years, 3.74.

Miss Johnson has been a leader among her schoolmates and has participated in quite a range of extra-curricular activities, while doing her outstanding work as a scholar. She was president of her class during its freshman year and is retiring president of BHS chapter of Future Homemakers of America. She was a member of the Girls Athletic association for four years and its president as a junior. She sang with the girls' glee club for four years and was a member of the Pep club for two years.

Music has been Miss Hanson's major activity. She sang with the glee club and mixed chorus four years and her past two years has sung with the trio and sextet and as a soloist. She was a twirler with the marching band for her last two years.

As a member of the FHA, she served that group as historian and as treasurer. She belonged to the Pep club for four years and to the GAA for three. Karen also was a member of the "Hoofbeats" staff and her work on the student newspaper won her membership in Quill and Scroll, national interscholastic honorary society for journalists.

Tegland Discovers Mayor No Target To Take Swing At

Paul Tegland, local trucker, was serving out a 30-day jail sentence and facing of a $100 fine this week as a consequence of striking two city officials during a hearing at the city hall last Thursday evening. Police Chief Art Awe and Dr. H. J. Classick, mayor pro tem, were victims of the fist-swinging.

Belmond police had been summoned to Mosiman's Texaco service about 6:30 p. m. on a complaint that Tegland was disturbing the peace. He was taken before Doctor Classick, filling the mayor's role in the absence of Mayor Henry Hokel. Tegland was given a lecture and told to go to his home. He disregarded his instructions and returned to the station.

Not long afterward, the police were once more called and the young trucker again found himself facing the mayor pro tem. This time a lively exchange of words ensued, culminating when Tegland took a swing at Doctor Classick. Chief Awe attempting to pinion Tegland's arms caught a fist in his right eye. The blow resulted in a sizeable gash, although the policeman's glasses were not broken.

Sheriff Bob Blecker and Deputy Dale Walrod were summoned from Clarion and returned Tegland to the county lock-up. Heard by Mayor Henry Jenkins the next day, Tegland pleaded guilty to two separate counts of assault and battery. The first charge brought the jail sentence and the second the fine—which will call for another 30 days in jail if it is not paid.

Tegland was named defendant in still another court action recently, this one being in the form of a petition for judgment of $341.91 plus interest and court costs. It was filed by Doug Walrod in district court at Clarion and states Tegland owes the defendant the specified amount for goods and merchandise purchased from Skelly Service station when Walrod was its proprietor. The bill was run up between Oct. 1 and Dec. 26 of last year, according to the petition.

Bookkeeping, Tax Firm Opens Here

Willis Sims, who has moved to Belmond from Harvey, Ill., a Chicago suburb, announces in this issue that he is opening a bookkeeping and tax service. He and his wife are living in the Hokel apartment over Alderson's cafe and Mr. Sims will conduct his business from those quarters. He is already known to some people in this vicinity, being a brother of Mrs. William Morris of Meservey.

Mr. Sims says he has 20 years experience in the field of accounting. He was most lately engaged in operating a self-serve laundry at Harvey, but has spent most of his adult years as a bookkeeper and accountant. He will specialize in assisting business firms and farmers with their record keeping during the year and in preparation of tax returns at the end of the year.

Clark Will Head Future Farmers

Airell Clark, who last month had the degree of Iowa Farmer bestowed upon him at the state convention of the Future Farmers of America, has been elected as president of the Friendly Service chapter of FFA for the 1954-55 school year. He succeeds Bob McLaughlin as head of the BHS organization.

Newly elected vice president is Kyle Mennenga, who, like Clark, is currently a junior. Boys who will be juniors next year were chosen to fill the rest of the elective offices. They are: Gary Gabrielson, secretary; Tim Trees, treasurer; Larry Wolters, reporter; and Tom Stadtlander, sentinel.

Class Night Set For Next Monday; Sr. Play Tonight

Belmond High school's 69th commencement program will be climaxed on Wednesday evening of next week at 8:00 o'clock when 45 will receive their diplomas from the hands of Mrs. A. C. Hanson, member of the school board. Principal Clair Hugh has announced that the scholastic leaders of the Class of '54 are Janelle Joan Johnson and Barbara Karen Hanson as valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively. A separate story on their high school achievements will be found elsewhere on this page.

Ken Vernon Loats is class president and will present the words of welcome at the Class Night program on Monday at 8:00 p. m., which, like the graduation exercises, will be held at the high school auditorium.

Class Members Listed

Baccalaureate Sunday

First event of the commencement program is the class play, which will be presented Friday evening at the auditorium. Details regarding the play were reported last week. Curtain time is 8:00 p. m.

On Sunday evening baccalaureate services will be held at the same time and place. Rev. William Schorman of the Congregational church will deliver the sermon. Processional and recessional music will be provided by Maryellen Johnson, at the piano. Other musical divertissement will be offered by the high school boys' quartet and the madrigal group. The invocation and benediction will be spoken by Rev. Ralph Meyer of the Bethany Reformed church.

Monday's Class Night program, will find Mary Thompson present-

Have You Donated To Station Fund?

A number of additional donations to the Belmond Fire department for its station fund have come in since the recent publication of donors' names, Treasurer George Hansen reports. In fact, the $700 deficit that existed at that time has been reduced to approximately $300.

However, members of the department know of quite a handful of individuals who have expressed definite intention of contributing to the station fund, but who have so far neglected to do so.

Next week a final listing of contributors to the department's building project will appear in The Independent. Those still planning to make donations, and who would like to have public acknowledgment of their gifts, are advised by Mr. Hansen that their contributions must be in his hands before next Tuesday evening.

Collinsons Accepted as Methodist Missionaries

Mr. and Mrs. Don Collinson were formally accepted late last month by the Mission Board of the Methodist church as foreign missionaries, culminating a period of more than a year during which they had been working toward this goal. Actually, both of the Collinsons had aspirations to enter the mission field long before they even met each other. Mrs. Collinson declares she's had this career in mind since she was 12 years old; and Mr. Collinson says it has been his ambition since he was a high school youth.

According to present plans, they will locate at Wemba Nyama in the central part of the Belgian Congo when their training has been completed, some 27 months hence. Final confirmation of their appointment will be pending until they have satisfactorily gone through the prescribed course of training and have passed final health examinations.

Between now and the time that they actually enter upon on their missionary assignments the Collinsons must learn French (both studied it some in college) and the native language of the area where their station is located. In addition, both will undergo a period of intensive study to prepare for their specific teaching assignments.

Don will instruct the natives in general agriculture, operate the mission farm and be in charge of extension work. Mrs. Collinson, who holds a college degree in education and is a former teacher, will likely teach children's classes at the mission.

This summer, Don expects to take an extension course which the U. S. Department of Agriculture conducts at the University of Arkansas. His wife will attend summer school at Scarritt College for Christian Workers at Nashville, Tenn. Both will probably attend Scarritt during the 1954-55 college year. Summer of '55 they will spend at Yale university, "cramming" on French.

It will behoove them to master the language, Don says, as the following year will be spent studying at Brussells — and their courses will be taught exclusively in French. Here they will be instructed in Belgian colonial policy, tropical medicine and a number of other subjects pertinent to their new careers.

Their entry into the missionary field is for a lifetime, Don says. They will be allowed to spend a one-year furlough back in the United States every sixth year; but except for these leaves, the Belgian Congo will be their permanent home. They will, of course, be accompanied by their two little daughters—Virgina, who is now five, and Susan, age three.

Don remarks that an applicant for an FBI appointment surely could be interrogated, examined and investigated no more rigorously than he and his wife have been since they applied for their mission assignments. They have undergone mental, physical and psychiatric tests by the dozen; and they know that their backgrounds have been minutely inspected.

Both are extremely happy that they successfully qualified and look forward with avid anticipation to launching on their missionary careers.

50 YEARS A MASON

George Elder was honored Tuesday evening by fellow members of King Solomon Masonic lodge, No. 310, on the occasion of his 50th anniversary as a Mason. A dinner was held at Veterans' Memorial hall, after which the group retired to the Masonic hall for a social evening. Mr. Elder was presented with a 50-year certificate and a lifetime membership card in the lodge.

Support Sought for Club's Project To Beautify Belmond with Petunias

Members of the Progress club would like to see Belmond adopt an official city flower and its residents plant it so widely that beds of the chosen posy might become an identifying characteristic of the community.

Mrs. Ella Luick has been appointed by the club president, Mrs. Pat Gallagher, to investigate the possibilities of such a project and to solicit support for it. Mrs. Luick believes the petunia would be an apt choice of flower and suggests as a motto for the season, "Beautify Belmond with the Humble Petunia."

"This summer," urges the project chairman, "let Belmond blossom forth with petunias in every yard. Even drought does not affect the petunia's blooming. Other towns have carried out the slogan, 'petunias in every yard,' and everyone benefited from the combined effort.

"Many organizations in our town are getting behind the project to beautify Belmond this year. Will you help by planting a few, or many colorful petunias this month? All together does it! Come on!"

The petunia has proved a popular choice for similar projects in other towns for several very good reasons. The seed is reasonably priced and the plants re-seed themselves for about three years. The flower is easy to raise and can be obtained in quite a range of lovely colors.

Mrs. Luick woul be happy to hear from any groups that would like to take an active part in carrying out the plant-petunias campaign.

Hospital-Surgical Protection Drive Slated Here Soon

An important announcement on another page of this issue of the paper gives detailed information concerning the hospital and surgical protection which will soon be available to residents of Wright county. The National Benefit Insurance company, with the Home Office in Des Moines, is the author of the hospital and surgical program to be introduced to the residents of the county.

This plan of protection against the expense of hospital and doctor bills has benefited residents of many other communities. National Benefit is now in its 44th year of service.

Many authorities believe that one of the most effective means of combating socialized medicine is the ever-increasing number of families who are protecting themselves by participating in a voluntary plan of hospital and surgical protection. These same authorities are convinced that the American people prefer to choose their own plan of protection against hospital and doctor expenses, rather than be forced into some system of government-controlled medical or hospital care.

The announcement carried elsewhere in this issue will give residents of Wright county an opportunity to participate in such a voluntary program providing protection against hospital and surgical expense. It is pointed out that families living in the rural areas will be contacted during the next few weeks, as well as town people.

Residents will be interviewed by an authorized staff representative who will carry proper credentials signed by an officer of the company.

Final 4 GHS Seniors Will Receive Their Diplomas Wednesday Evening

Final graduating class of Goodell High school, the Class of '54 will hold its commencement next week and its four members will receive their diplomas on Wednesday evening. Those students having the distinction of being the last seniors to graduate from GHS are Ruth Fuller, Larry Langlitz, Virginia Veldhouse and Gail Ver Helst.

First graduates from Goodell High school received their diplomas in 1916. In that class were: Walter Beier, now of Fort Dodge; Howard Kepner, East Moline, Ill.; Ivan Lowenberg, Clare; Florence McNulty, deceased; Henning Sandberg, Clear Lake; and Lawrence Smith, Wesley.

Saw Days of Glory

G. H. Tomkins, who for the past 36 years has been grade school principal at Garner, was the first superintendent. Goodell enjoyed days of glory in the declamatory field in its earliest years. Also at one time the school boasted a fine concert band and there were periods when its baseball and later basketball teams were highly respected throughout this part of the state.

Enrollment at GHS has varied considerably over the years. At one time the student body was more than 50, compared to the 20 presently enrolled. The senior class roll has ranged from as many as 15 to — on several occasions — one.

New District Joined

Passing of Goodell High school was signaled when patrons of the Goodell Independent School district last December voted to throw their lot with the Belmond Community School district, starting July 1. On Tuesday of this week, all students in the three lower classes at GHS spent the day attending Belmond High school, acquainting themselves with the halls and classrooms that will be "theirs" next fall.

Last Saturday night the final Goodell commencement was given a gala send-off when the Junior-Senior banquet was held at the dining room of the EUB church. The room was made gay with circus decorations and the same motif was carried out in the dinner and program. Underclassmen served and contributed to the entertainment.

Banquet Speakers

Loretta Foss expressed the Juniors' welcome, during the toast program and the response was given by Gail Ver Helst. Lew Waage gave the class prophecy, Larry Langlitz the class history and Virginia Veldhouse read the class will. A farewell to the seniors was spoken by Supt. Donald Oviatt.

Baccalaureate services will be held at the EUB church Sunday at 8:00 p. m., with Rev. Park E. Miller delivering the sermon. The graduation exercises next Wednesday will be held at the community hall, starting at 8:00 p. m. Dr. L. W. Sampson, president of Buena Vista college at Storm Lake, will present the address.

During World War II, Goodell High school was forced to shut down for a year due to the teacher shortage and its students enrolled at Belmond or Klemme, according to their preference. But conclusion of Wednesday night's ceremonies will see the curtain permanently rung down on GHS and youngsters of the Goodell community hereafter pursuing their studies and seeking extra-curricular honors as students of BHS.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Barry and two little girls went to Fort Dodge Saturday where they spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. F. A. Harbacheck.

Sunday dinner guests in the H. L. Carpenter home were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peters and son Roger of Kanawha, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Graeber and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sorenson, Larry and Jean.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Boller and Carolyn drove to Waterloo Sunday and spent the day with relatives, the Tony Bollers and Don Nolans.

Mrs. Wilmer Hauge was a guest at a pre-nuptial shower Saturday held in the Gerald Swenson home at Belmond. Miss Jackie Hartwick of Brush, Colo., was the honored guest. She will become the bride of Jerry Hanson of Belmond in June.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Holmes of Kit Carson, Colo., came Saturday and visited until Tuesday with the former's mother, Mrs. Bertha Holmes, and his sister, Mrs. Marcellus Fuller, in the latter's home. Mr. and Mrs. Gregg Holmes and Dianna of Storm Lake and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Holmes, Carol Ann, Thomas and Steven of Carroll came on Sunday and were Mother's Day guests in the Fuller home. These men are also sons of Mrs. Holmes.

Sunday guests in the Wilmer Hauge home were Mr. and Mrs. Josh Montgomery of Reinbeck, Mrs. Gus Okrueg and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ruka. That afternoon the group attended the musical recital given by Jerry Hanson at the Trinity Lutheran church at Belmond. Jerry is a senior at St. Olaf college in Northfield, Minn., majoring in voice.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carolus of Garner and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Neuhring and Marvin of Kanawha were Sunday guests in the Leroy and Harlan Carolus home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Brede, Judy and Delwyn, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Halfpop and children in company with Mrs. John Stith and Cindy of Eagle Grove were dinner guests Mother's Day in the parental Roy Halfpop home.

Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Harris enjoyed a trip to Orange City Sunday, where they viewed the tulips which make that town popular.

The Earl Ver Helst family with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ollinger of Clear Lake, went to Dows Sunday and were guests in the home of Mrs. Ver Helst's sister, Mrs. Duane Bridges.

Boy Scouts Attended Splash Party At Britt

Gerald Burk took a group of local Boy Scouts to Britt Thursday evening where they attended "A Splash Party" held at Britt High school swimming pool by the members of the Winnebago council of Boy Scouts. Those going from here were Kay Burk, Leland Ver Helst, Billy Ayers, Tommy and Duane Lowenberg, Larry and Kenneth Langlitz. Everyone reports a fine time.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brede attended church services at Garner Sunday and were dinner guests in the home of friends, the Ray Fords. In the afternoon, the Bredes went to Britt and visited in the Lars Johnson home. Mrs. Larson, an aunt of Mrs. Brede, is very ill.

Mrs. Kenneth Boller was hostess to the Contract Bridge club in her home Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Rena Landon of Belmond spent the weekend in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Halfpop. Mother's Day, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Watermiller and children of Thornton, the Earl Hinman family of Belmond and the A. G. Thompson family of Mason City came to the Halfpop home for a picnic dinner in honor of the four ladies' mother.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Boller and Jerry of Charles City spent Friday evening in the parental Anton Boller home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Green and two children of Boyden were Sunday dinner guests in the home of relatives, the Walter Bollers. The Greens were en route from Iowa City where they take their year old daughter to a child specialist for examinations.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Pearson, Vickie and Bonnie of Garner were Thursday evening callers in the Harlan Carolus home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Van Noy and Roxie went to Wallingford Friday and visited until Sunday in the parental A. M. Christopher home.

Mrs. Matt Smith and her sister Mrs. Louise Johnson of Belmond in Company with the Jack Hosslers of Eldora were guests Sunday in the Glen Walton home at Eldora. En route they visited relatives, the Kermit Smiths, at Iowa Falls. Tuesday of this week Kermit had major surgery at the Ellsworth hospital there.

Marilyn McNutt Heard in Recital

Marilyn McNutt, senior at Iowa State Teachers college, was one of three music students presented in a recital held at Gilchrist hall on the Cedar Falls campus Monday evening. She was heard in eight selections, two of which were sung in German and two in French.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McNutt, Marilyn's parents, went to Cedar Falls to attend the recital. They were accompanied by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McNutt, Jr., of Belmond.

Next month Marilyn will receive her bachelor of arts degree in music education from ISTC. She will teach next year at Reinbeck Consolidated school.

Albert Schlichting of Ventura visited his sisters, Mrs. Gilbert Kropp and Leona Schlichting, Monday.

Mother's Day guests in the Charles Halfpop home were Roger Cline, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cline, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Harrington and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lowenberg, Judy and Larry, all of Mason City.

Rev. and Mrs. Floyd Klotzbach, Noel and Cynthia of Hamilton, Ohio, visited from Wednesday until Friday in the parental Levi Klotzbach home. They also visited his two sisters, Mrs. Leslie Smock at Belmond and Mrs. Walter Braner at Alexander. From here they went to Monona to visit his brother Walter and family, returning home Sunday to hold the Mother's Day service in the church which he serves.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schleiffarth of Belmond were supper guests on Friday in the Anton Benson home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Brede spent Friday in the home of their son Bob at Dows. Their granddaughter, Kaye Brede, accompanied them home for a weekend visit.

Mrs. H. L. Carpenter returned home Friday evening from attending the EUB conference at Riverview park, Cedar Falls. She came home by the way of Reinbeck to bring Mrs. Josh Montgomery home with her for a few days' visit.

Sunday callers in the Sandberg-Hanson home were Mr. and Mrs. Josh Montgomery of Reinbeck, Leo Gribben and Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Sandberg of Clear Lake, Mr. and Mrs. George Jenison and Tommy, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson, Elna Jenison and Mrs. Bob Jenison and Ricky of Belmond.

The Owen Van Buskirk and Earl Van Buskirk families of Brownsdale, Minn., spent Mother's Day in the home of their mother, Mrs. Loyd Van Buskirk. The Earl Van Buskirks also visited in the parental Ora Johnson home. Mattie Brass of Des Moines spent the weekend visiting her sister, Mrs. Van Buskirk.

Mrs. William H. Sheriff attended a W. S. C. S. officers meeting of the Belmond Methodist church held at the L. M. Helland home at Belmond, Wednesday.

Legion Auxiliary Met At Ira Langlitz Home

Mrs. Maurice Buckley of Klemme and Mrs. Ira Langlitz were hostesses to the Legion Auxiliary last Thursday evening in the latter's home. Reports were given on the visit to the county home and county meeting held at Kanawha. A card of thanks from Cliff Estel, who lives at the Iowa Soldiers' Home, for the renewal of the Garner Leader was read. The members and Boy Scouts will sell poppies Saturday, May 29th. There will be election of officers at the June meeting with Mrs. Anton Boller and Mrs. Arthur Ruka as hostesses in the latter's home.

Broncs Place 5th in NI Track Meet

Forest City came through with a 4th place in the final event of the North Iowa conference track meet held Thursday on the Indians' home track—the mile relay—to gain a tie with Lake Mills for the team title. Each outfit tallied 60.25 points.

Lake Mills went unplaced in that final relay; but Buffalo Center, Garner and Belmond finished ahead of Forest City, preventing the Indians from winning enough points for exclusive claim to the championship. Buffalo Center placed 3rd with 48.37. Garner was 4th with 36, Belmond got 20.75, Britt 16.37 and Northwood 8.

Big Jon Swenson of Lake Mills was individual high scorer with 1sts in the shot put and discus and a 3rd in the football throw. Dwight Beavers was highest place-winner for the Broncos with 2nd in the mile run. Bruce Hall grabbed a 5th in the 440, 5th in the broad jump and ran on the BHS mile relay quartet.

Other Bronco point-getters were: Don Hoppel, 4th in the 220; "Joe" Smith, 5th in the 880. Keith Madsen, 4th in the broad jump; two-mile relay team, 4th; 880-yard relay team, 4th; Ron Steenblock, 3rd in the 440; Smith and Hoppel, tie (with six others) for 4th in the high jump.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Berhow accompanied their daughter and family, the Scott Davis' of Belmond, to Austin, Minn., Sunday where they spent the day in the home of the former's brother, Ardo Berhow. The latter had major surgery and was dismissed from the hospital on Friday. They were pleased to find him feeling quite well.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Nashel of Mason City spent the weekend in the parental F. C. Dominy home. Sunday afternoon, the Dominys and Smiths went to Belmond and visited relatives, the Leo Smith family.

Bob Schneider took Mesdames L.W. Wesenberg, Herman Cunningham, E. J. Schneider, Dan Martin and Amos Hanson to Belmond Wednesday evening of last week where the ladies attended Eastern Star lodge. The three latter were hostesses.

Belmond Locals

Don Thompson of Marshalltown visited over the weekend in the parental Harley Thompson home.

Mothers' Day dinner guests in the Joe Brooks home were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ohden and children of Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harty of Des Moines.

Frances Chapman of Cedar Falls and two of her friends, Connie Olson of Onawa and Audrey Becdar of Colo., spent the weekend in the home of Frances' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Chapman.

Alex Nine Plays BHS Here Today

Belmond High's baseball team, with only one defeat on its record in four starts this season, will take on the Alexander nine this (Thursday) afternoon at 4:00 o'clock on the local diamond. This may possibly be the Broncs last home appearance this season, so Coach Jim Grimmings hopes that a larger crowd than usual will be on hand to see the boys play.

Except for a weakness in the hitting department, the BHS crew has been showing up well and has been playing a brand of ball that is well worth watching.

In last week's sectional tournament at Kanawha the Broncs bowed out in the first round when Klemme posted a 2-1 victory on a no-hitter. Dennis Haefner was the winning twirler. Gene Mehl held the Bulldogs hitless for 6 1/3 innings but weakened abruptly and had to be replaced by Ken Loats.

Don Hoppel had scored an unearned run for Belmond in the 5th, coming home on a pass ball after gaining base on an error. A pair of two-baggers allowed by Loats in the 7th and 8th innings gave Klemme a tally in each of those frames and made Ken the posing pitcher.

YE ED FORSAKES A WEEKLY CHORE TO ATTEND THE PRESS CONVENTION

Since last week was the occasion of Ye Ed's annual attendance at the state press convention, he took the liberty of clipping three borrowed editorials in lieu of personal musings to fill this column. We were happy to return home once again with the 1st place trophy for Community Service. Again we wish humbly to acknowledge that no paper can win such an honor by itself. In the last analysis, it is the achievements of the community, itself, that make a newspaper's leadership appear effective—or woefully the opposite. If we take pride in that plaque, it's only a reflection of the pride we feel in "our town."

SATURDAY NIGHT CLOSING WAS TRIED, AND FOUND SADLY WANTING, AT BOONE

(Pella Chronicle)

The experience of merchants of Boone, Iowa, is interesting. Ten months ago they decided to close their places of business on Saturday evening and keep them open on Monday night. Recently a majority of merchants voted to return to the old way—keep open Saturday evening and forget about Monday night opening. The ballot was secret.

The merchants are now trying to get banks and other business houses and offices which had closed at noon on Saturday to say open in the afternoon.

Here's how Cliff Nystrom expressed it at the merchants' meeting: "A noble experiment has just been concluded. Few have profited by the closing while the majority has been injured financially. We are still a country town dependent on the working man for our livelihood."

Story behind the story — the farmers and workers went elsewhere on Saturday to trade. Moral—city airs don't pay off in a country town.

HOW WOULD OUR OWN COUNTY BOARD MEASURE UP ON THESE PRACTICES?

(Des Moines Tribune)

The Des Moines Tribune this week has carried a series of four news stories telling about purchasing practices of the Polk county board of supervisors. We don't think most people were aware of these practices and think that many will be shocked by the views of some of the supervisors.

The buying methods apparently are legal. The supervisors seem to think some of them are good policy as well as good politics. We doubt that—and also doubt that the buying methods are efficient or economical. We also think that a continuation of present practices almost inevitably would lead to corruption and graft.

The news stories revealed:

That in the last five years over $300,000 worth of road equipment has been purchased without bidding.

That two women secretaries to the board—paid $3,150 each annually—buy most of the supplies (such as stationery) for county offices and food for county institutions. They do telephone price shopping.

That some supervisors have gone on Minnesota fishing trips as guests of companies which sell machinery to the county; that board members are frequent guests at luncheons and dinners given by people who have something to sell the county.

That the supervisors seem to be quite well satisfied with present buying practices.

At least one supervisor—one who has no county road crew under his direction—is critical of buying machinery without public bidding.

Others argue that bidding might result in buying from firms not located in Polk county or in getting the cheapest, but not the best, equipment. Such arguments are without merit.

The county should make the best buys possible—whether from Polk county or Scott county companies. The best buy isn't always the cheapest machine but specifications can be written to require good machinery and bids can be rejected. What's important is that all suppliers have an opportunity to bid; that there be an opportunity to compare prices and products; that the buying practices be in the open.

The excuses for accepting favors from outfits seeking county business include: "there's nothing crooked about it," auditors, treasurers and supervisors from other counties also go on free fishing trips; "I'm not influenced in the least by such favors;" "firms don't expect special consideration in return for such favors;" and "it's done here no more than any place else."

We wonder—is this the kind of government that Polk county wants, expects and deserves?

WHAT DO YOU KNOW? A KIND WORD BESTOWED UPON THOSE TEEN-AGERS!

(Eagle Grove Eagle)

There has been a lot of publicity recently about the rowdyism of high school students and teen agers when they are turned loose in a strange town. But Eagle Grove has had an entirely different experience.

There were 900 high school seniors in Eagle Grove last Wednesday for Career Day and there wasn't a single incident of rowdyism or any trouble for the police officials at all.

Two hundred and 12 of them went through one restaurant during the noon meal period and there wasn't a missing salt shaker or any unwarranted damage during the rush. The police had no trouble at all not even any traffic calls and many of the students had their own cars here for the day.

We compliment the seniors from the North Central Conference schools and Goldfield and Woolstock who were such well behaved visitors last week.

CHICK CHATS
PRODUCE EGGS CHEAPLY
Have you ever heard a poultryman say, "I'm not getting many eggs but I sure save on feed"? Sounds kind of ridiculous, doesn't it. His saving in feed is costing him plenty. Here's why.
A rooster won't lay any eggs. He will eat feed — but not as much as a producing hen. So to cut feed costs, we ought to have all roosters in a flock, because they'll eat less feed than the hens.
That of course, is pretty silly. But it shows that "non-producers" will eat feed whether they lay or not. Up to a certain point, the hen uses feed just to keep body and soul together. After that point, she puts the feed into the eggs. The more eggs she produces, the more feed she eats. But the feed cost for just "keeping body and soul together" is spread out over more dozens of eggs — the feed cost per dozen goes down.
So, high production is the key to lowering the feed cost per dozen. And feed cost per dozen is important when the egg price drops off.
To keep production high, feed good feed and plenty of it. Your poultry service man can give you good feed recipes. Keep plenty of feeders around, too. Give all the birds a chance to eat — at the same time.
Water is another important ingredient for high production. The more waterers, the merrier. And put fresh, clean water in clean waterers for best results. Water is cheap — use plenty of it.
To top this off, keep the chickens as comfortable as possible. Keep the temperature comfortable, eliminate drafts and keep the litter dry.
And remember, it cost less to pay more for your flock's feed.

LEEBRICK-PETERSON NUPTIALS CONDUCTED TUESDAY AT ALDEN

Miss Eleanor Bell Leebrick, daughter of Mrs. and the late John H. Leebrick of Belmond, became the bride of James Charles Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Peterson of Goodell, at a ceremony performed Tuesday morning at 10:00 o'clock in the Methodist church at Alden. The Rev. Harlan Faris officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Nuptial music was provided by Miss Deloria Faris, organist, who accompanied Richard Faris as he sang "Because".

The bride wore a white suit with pink and navy accessories and a pink carnation corsage. The bridegroom wore a navy blue suit with a boutonniere.

Following the ceremony, dinner was served to members of the immediate families and close friends at the dining room in the Arling hotel at Iowa Falls. The three-tier wedding cake was decorated with pink and blue forget-me-nots and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

The bride is a graduate of Alexander High school and of the Hamilton School of Commerce of Mason City and has been employed in the office of the Iowa Electric Light and Power company at Belmond for the past four years.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Goodell High school and served four years in the Armed Forces. He was co-owner and operator of the C & P Grocery store in Goodell, now the Goodell Grocery and Lockers.

After a wedding trip to Niagra Falls, the couple will be at home in Belmond.

Democratic Women Commend Gillette

A resolution congratulating Sen. Guy M. Gillette on receipt of the peace award from the American Freedom Association was passed by members of the Democratic Women's Club of Wright County at a meeting held Monday afternoon. Fourteen women attended the meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Olaf Eliason.

Senator Gillette was presented with the 1953 World Peace Award on May 2, being cited as "the American making the greatest contribution to education in the field of freedom and peace through effective world law."

Speaker at the Democratic Women's meeting was Virginia Chrystal of Scranton, 6th District chairman of the club. Mrs. Martin Hill reviewed the book, "Deadline Delayed," written by members of the Overseas Press club. In the book, President F. D. Roosevelt is credited with having warned in 1944 that Indo-China should be granted independence or rebellion risked. He advised it be placed under a UN trusteeship, upon establishment of the United Nations.

MOTHER DIES AT HOME

Mrs. Lloyd Buterbaugh received word by mail this week of the death of her mother, Maria Mastrojanni, 61, at Rome, Italy on May 2. Mrs. Buterbaugh's grief at the news was softened somewhat by the fact that she had had the opportunity just last summer to return to Italy for a visit with her mother and the rest of her family.

Mrs. Ella Schneider is visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Tice, in Mason City.

Fatal Car-Tractor Collision Prompts Suit for $42,000

Two suits asking combined judgment of $42,000 have been filed in Wright county district court as an outgrowth of a car-tractor collision on Aug. 5 of last year that caused fatal injury to Donna Jean Sturgeon of Dows. The 11-year-old girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Sturgeon and granddaughter of Mrs. Florence Sturgeon of Belmond.

Defendant named in both suits is Fred Mensing, farmer of the Dows vicinity, who was driving the tractor that collided with the Sturgeon's '51 Chevrolet sedan, driven by Mrs. Sturgeon. The tragic mishap occurred on a county gravel road about 5½ miles northwest of Dows at the crest of a hill. The tractor was pulling a hay baler and flatbed wagon.

Gene Sturgeon, as administrator of his deceased daughter's estate, seeks judgment of $22,000. The figure includes $939.88 medical and hospital expense, funeral $1,060.50 and the balance because of his daughter's death. In a combined suit, Gene and Mabel Sturgeon seek judgment of $20,000. Of this amount, $1,200 is asked for damage to the auto and the rest for permanent injury suffered by Mrs. Sturgeon and for medical expense, past and anticipated, due to her injuries.

It is contended in the two petitions that the defendant's negligence was the sole cause of the collision, that he failed to yield half the road and that the units he was pulling exceeded legally premissable length and width. Donna Sturgeon died at the Clarion hospital from her accident injuries just a week after the collision happened.

Over One Million Pike Fry Planted

Fishing enthusiasts of this vicinity will take pleasure in information released this week by Conservation Officer Bill Ayers of Goodell. He states that more than a million fry of the walleye and northern pike species have been released in waters of this area just lately by the state conservation commission.

Lake Cornelia and waters of the Boone river received 400,000 walleyes each and 100,000 northerns were placed in Elm lake. Fifty thousand northerns-to-be went into the Iowa river near Belmond, a similar quantity near Rowan and another 50,000 near Dows.

MAY DRAFT LIST

Golda B. Hecox, clerk of the Wright county selective service board, reports that three men will be inducted into the armed forces next Monday to fill the county's May quota. They are John W. Ofstethum, Clarion; Charles W. Helgason, now of Des Moines but formerly of Clarion; and Gaylord L. Claude, Woolstock.

3 Persons Hurt In Car Collision

Three persons were injured in an auto accident last Thursday about 6:20 p. m. when two cars collided head-on in front of the Edward Kuhlers farm 1½ miles north and a half mile west of Meservey.

Hurt in one car were Mrs. John Lauen, 46, of Goodell and her mother, Mrs. Ernest Unverferth, 68, of Meservey; Mrs. Lauen was at the wheel. Driver of the other car was Donald LaRue, 16, of Thornton, a Meservey High school senior.

Mrs. Unverferth, who suffered internal injuries, is reported to be making satisfactory progress toward recovery at Mercy hospital, Mason City. Mrs. Lauen was also hospitalized with a fractured knee and fracture of the opposite ankle. Both legs had to be placed in casts.

Young LaRue had several ribs fractured and, like the women, suffered multiple contusions and lacerations. He was scheduled to fill a role in the MHS Senior Class Play on Friday night but his part had to be taken by Charles White, the dramatic coach.

Mrs. Lauen was driving east and LaRue was coming from the west when their vehicles collided at the crest of a hill on the county gravel road they were traveling. That neither car was traveling at excessive speed at the time of impact prevented the injuries from being far more serious.

CHESK-CHA-MAY GROUP

The Chesk-Cha-May group of Camp Fire Girls met last Thursday afternoon at the home of Joyce Widdell. Mary Lou Cox served treats. Friday after school the girls went out to Tyrrell's Grove to have a weiner roast and to help clean away dead branches and brush.

PKB Membershp To Jerry Hanson

Jerry Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hanson, on Friday evening of last week was accorded the highest scholastic honor that can be won by an American college or university student — initiation into Phi Beta Kappa. This is the nation's oldest honorary scholastic society and membership in the organization is aspired to by senior students in leading educational institutions throughout the United States.

Twenty-six St. Olaf college seniors were made members of Phi Beta Kappa during ceremonies held at Agnes Mellby hall on the Northfield, Minn., school's campus. For young Hanson, the recognition came as a climax to an outstanding scholastic career that was started in Belmond High school and has continued throughout his period of college study.

As a member of the 1950 BHS graduation class, Jerry was valedictorian with a four-year grade average of 3.718. He was a compeitor in football, basketball and baseball and active in vocal music. At St. Olaf, he has been a member of the school's noted choir for four years and has achieved rank as one of the top officers in the Air Force ROTC detachment.

Watch what happens to you . . . when you drink 3 glasses of milk every day you FEEL better
LOOK better
WORK better
LIVE better
Plenty of milk in your diet ends calcium starvation, builds strength, eases nervous tension, helps you sleep better, improves your complexion. Milk is the very best source of the calcium, protein, riboflavin and Vitamin A you need every day to keep strong and healthy. Just three glasses of this refreshing beverage give you your daily requirement of these essential vitamins and minerals. You never outgrow your need for milk. So, for your health's sake, drink at least three glasses every day.

IT'S AMERICA'S "BEST SELLER"

Because it's America's Best Buy

Ford has pioneered in bringing the most worth-while things to the most people . . . and more and more people are now buying Fords

FOR A LONG TIME, people have recognized that Ford is the "Worth More" car. And they have been expressing their preference in a great and growing volume of purchases.

The reason is simple. More and more people have found in Ford everything they want and need.

If you're in the market for any new car, Test Drive a Ford and find out what a brilliant performer it is and you'll really understand why Ford is America's Best Seller and America's Best Buy.

In the first place: Ford offers the two most modern engines in the industry: a new 130-h.p. Y-block V-8 and 115-h.p. I-block Six.

As for comfort—Ford is the only car in its field with Ball-Joint Front Suspension for handling and riding ease.

Choice, too, is a department where Ford excells. You'll find just exactly the car for you among the 14 body styles and more than 100 body color and upholstery combinations in Ford's three great lines.

Ford is a completely modern car. The advanced fine-car features that make it "Worth More" when you buy it, will also make it "Worth More" to someone else when you sell it.

Why not accept our invitation to Test Drive a '54 Ford . . . and see why America's best seller is your best buy!

Average $1.30 MORE income per hen

A fat egg check can be your weekly reward for buying Hy-Lines. In over 1,000 Divided Flock Tests, Hy-Lines brought in $1.30 more income per hen than other chickens, using average egg prices for the test years. And that's $1.30 more in only 11 months of lay.

Because Hy-Lines don't take as much feed per dozen eggs produced, not such a big chunk of your egg check goes for feed. That fat Hy-Line egg check leaves lots of room for groceries and clothes.

IMPORTANT NOTICE!

INTERVIEWS WILL BE CONDUCTED HERE FOR THE National Benefit PLANS OF PROTECTION

HOSPITAL, SURGICAL, MEDICAL, NURSING

All residents of Belmond and Wright County will have the opportunity to have the National Benefit Plans of Protection. These famous plans now protect thousands of individuals and families against expensive hospital, surgical, nursing and doctor bills for either sickness or accident. The program to explain this protection to all residents of the county is now beginning and it will continue until all residents of the county have been contacted and the National Benefit Plan of Protection explained to them.

TWO GREAT NATIONAL BENEFIT PLANS

Plan A: Hospital, Surgery, Nursing

Plan B: Medical, Surgery, Nursing

This is the tremendously popular Hospital, Surgical and Nursing plan. It now protects thousands and thousands of individuals and families. If you and your family are not protected under this plan you may now learn how it may be available to you if you qualify. This is the Plan that pays toward Doctor Bills in the home, at the doctor's office, in the clinic, in the hospital—in fact everywhere. It covers sickness, accident and delivery charge for childbirth. The benefits for doctor bills, operations and nursing will give added protection to the National Benefit Hospital, Surgical and Nursing Plan to any other protection plan.

COUNTY WIDE PROGRAM

We are pledged to interview all county residents. The National Benefit Plans of Protection will be explained to individuals and families.

During the time necessary to contact all county residents, representatives will be interviewing individuals and families. The National Benefit Plans of protection will be explained by fully qualified, specially trained representatives. They are pledged to contact all residents and to make plans available to all who qualify.

—A FEW MINUTES TIME IS ALL THAT IS NEEDED—

Just a few minutes of your time is needed to receive a full explanation of the Plans. The representative who calls on you will arrange a time that is convenient for you to receive full information.

INCOME PROTECTION: Ask the representative who calls on you about the National Benefit Income Protection Plans that give you a monthly check when you are sick.

These Famous Plans of Protection Provided in Specific Amounts for:

PLAN A

HOSPITAL ROOM AND BOARD

In the hospital of your choice for either sickness or accident.

HOSPITAL EXTRA EXPENSE

SURGEON'S BILLS

CHILDBIRTH

Double benefits for twin births.

HOME NURSING

For either sickness or accident.

PLAN B

For visits in the hospital.

For treatments at doctor's office or clinic.

For doctor's calls to your home.

Here Are a Few Reasons Why It Is Important for You to Hear a Full Explanation of the National Benefit Plans . . .

THEY ARE A SAFEGUARD AGAINST GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF HOSPITALS AND DOCTORS:
Socialized medicine is unnecessary for you when you and your family are protected under National Benefit Plans.

HOSPITAL AND MEDICAL CARE HAS BECOME TREMENDOUSLY EXPENSIVE:
If you or a member of your family has been recently hospitalized and has had medical or surgical care you know the importance of a National Benefit Plan to prepay the cost of this necessary but expensive care.

ONE PERSON OUT OF EVERY TWO FAMILIES WILL BE A HOSPITAL PATIENT THIS YEAR:
The advance medical techniques and ultra modern facilities are being used now more than ever to safeguard health and prolong life. If you or a member of your family ever takes sick or meet with an accident, you too, may become a hospital patient. And six of every ten hospital patients require expensive surgical operations.

YOU MAY PREPAY EXPENSIVE HOSPITAL, SURGICAL, MEDICAL NURSING CARE AT LOW COST.

IF YOU ALREADY HAVE A PLAN, HAVE YOU ENOUGH PROTECTION–

You possibly now may have a National Benefit Hospital and Surgical Plan or you may have some other plan or be protected through employment in a Group Plan of some kind. GET A MEDICAL PLAN, TOO. REMEMBER—National Benefit pays direct to you, or to the hospital or doctor as you direct. Benefits never prorated or reduced on account of any other protection you may have or any payments you receive from any other source. A low cost National Benefit Plan will give you the portection you need.

Staff Representative Wanted

Because of the ever increasing popularity of National Benefit Protection Plans, we can use more salaried interviewers at this time. Wonderful opportunity for ambitious, industrious young men of unquestioned integrity. Write to Vice President, Box 1296, Des Moines, Iowa.

You Will be Contacted—Watch For the Man with This Card

VOL. 34 NO. 32 — OFFICIAL CITY PAPER — BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY, MAY 20, 1954 — OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER — THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Who hasn't conjectured just what the result would be if the arrival of noon sometime exactly coincided with a fire alarm? Of course, the repeating wail of a fire warning on the city siren is clearly distinct from the single scream of the noon "whistle"—but if an alarm was sounded right on the dot of noon, would the "smoke-eaters" be confused into a momentary delay?

It just about happened last Saturday. Actually, the summons calling the Belmond Fire department to the "Barney" Koenen farm fire was about a minute before 12:00.

It can be said that majority of the firemen gave little pause to wonder if the wrong signal was being given. The trucks were on their way every bit as quickly as usual. Not being so well trained to act first, and THEN ask questions, many a non-fireman remained in a state of semi-suspended animation until the truck sirens gave 'em the answer.

Mrs. Richard Paule of Belleville, Ill., the former Ardith Jenison, received a pleasant surprise this week when she got through the mail her Belmond High school class ring which had been missing for a matter of nearly eight years. Ardith lost the ring at the Jenison family farm not long after her graduation in 1946.

Mr. and Mrs. Arald Riekens are present tenants of the Jenison farm. Last Thursday as Mrs. R. was doing some yard work her rake turned up a shiny object which proved to be the lost ring.

Mrs. Riekens says the ring seemed virtually undamaged by its long exposure to the elements. She adds that she has carefully raked the lawn each spring of the four years that she and Arald have had the farm and she can't understand how the ring remained so securely hidden all this time.

Unchallenged "champeen" of the BHS senior class from the standpoint of attendance regularity, was Don Hoppel. While his other classmates were, from time to time, subdued by flu bugs, blockaded by snowdrifts or victimized by severe cases of spring fever that kept them from the halls of learning, "Hoppy" missed nary a day during his four years in high school. More than that, he was never once tardy. Closest contender for the attendance championship was Richard Smith. He didn't miss a single day his first three years.

A short letter date-lined Kenai, Alaska, was received last week by the Mainstreeters from Pvt. Vernon Dippel to advise of a change in address. Vern says that winter's over, up yonder. Temperatures got as low as 35 degrees below zero, but not very often. Spring seems to have brought wind and dust.

"Can't say anything too much about what my job is here," Vern says. "This is a very new installation and is supposed to be comparatively secret. Lot of stuff even I don't know anything about."

He says his bowling (he was one of Belmond's best) is taking back seat these days; mentions seeing quite a few moose, but no other wild game except a few coyotes. Vern's already counting the days until next December, when he's due for a 30-day furlough and will be heading home for a visit.

Remember those plastic balloons the GMI's Mechanical Division so kindly provided last summer to help lend a carnival atmosphere to Appreciation Days? The daily press (as you may have noticed) announced this week that "The General" has come up with a really super-dooper model for the office of Naval research. Intended for use in study of the upper atmosphere, it should really be a sight to behold.

A couple of years ago a giant "sky hook" of similar proportions was constructed—but somewhat smaller in dimension. It was only 198 feet by 168 in size when fully inflated.

But the latest model reportedly is a REALLY big one. Just how much larger than its precessor wasn't announced, however. The first one, when filled for flight, would have stood as high as an 18-story building—but it developed a rip in the launching process and was something less than a sensational success. But when the new "sky hook" went up Tuesday, it reached a record height of 22 miles.

Belmond to Field Team This Season In 8-Team League

Plans were completed last Friday night at a meeting held at Bowl-Mor alleys for formation of an eight-team baseball league to succeed the Tri-County loop that operated in this area last year. It is being called, at least tentatively, the Quad-County league as it draws it's membership from Wright, Hancock, Cerro Gordo and Franklin counties.

Jack Lansing of Belmond has been elected president of the organization. Vice President is Jack Fitzgerald of Rockwell and Tom Pratt of Clarion will serve as secretary-treasurer.

Originally planned as a six-team loop, the league was increased to eight teams when Hampton and Latimer last week expressed a wish to belong. Other towns, besides Belmond, are Eagle Grove, Clarion, Kanawha, Rockwell and Swaledale.

All teams will be required to post a $50 entry fee. Top team in the regular season standings will receive $100. The other $300 will be divided among the four teams in the post-season playoffs, in accord with their order of finish.

A complete schedule for the season is not yet available as a card was first drafted for only six teams. The season openers will be played on Sunday, May 30. Belmond will open away from home, traveling to Swaledale.

League rules provide for 15-man rosters, with the provision that any number of high school players can be used in addition to the specified limit. No local roster has been drafted as yet. Players interested may get in touch with Lansing.

Farm Fire Damage Estimate, $15,000

Loss estimated at $15,000 was caused by a fire at the farm of Bernhard "Barney" Koenen, Jr., 11 miles east and two north of Belmond, last Saturday morning. Belmond's fire department was summoned after the blaze had gained extensive headway but succeeded, with the Thornton fire company, in preventing total destruction of a cattle shed.

Mr. Koenen about 8:00 a. m. had set fire to a big pile of trees that he'd recently had uprooted by a bulldozer. He regarded that the blaze was a safe distance from his farm buildings, but when the wind shifted during the latter part of the morning this proved a false assumption. Sparks from the oversize bonfire traveled some 200 feet to a machine shed and the structure was soon in flames.

Thornton firemen promptly answered a call to the farm but were unable to arrive in time to do anything about saving the machine shed and an adjacent double corn crib containing 1,600 bushels of corn and 100 bushels of oats. While they were keeping the nearby barn soaked down to prevent its catching fire; their truck ran out of water and the barn was quickly destroyed while a new supply of water was being obtained from a creek.

Just before noon, the Belmond Fire department was called but the local firemen found the only purpose they could serve was to help save the cattle shed. It was about a 50 per cent loss. All machinery was gotten out of the machine shed before it burned, helping to reduce total loss from the blaze.

"Barney" reports that he had insurance that will at least partially the fire damage.

SUMMERS HOME

CLYDE E. HERRING
Will "Stump" at County Rally

Herring to Speak At Demo Meeting

All Democrats of Wright county are invited to attend a party rally to be held at the basement of the Belmond city library on Wednesday of next week, May 26, at 8:00 p. m. Speaker of the evening will be Clyde E Herring of Des Moines, unopposed nominee for Democratic candidate for governor of Iowa.

Mr. Herring will be accompanied to Belmond by Jake More, long-time state chairman of the Democratic party in Iowa. Mr. Herring will have some remarks to make on his platform for the coming election and Mr. More will outline the party's plans toward making a stronger showing in '54 than it has achieved in recent elections.

Son of the Former-Governor Clyde L. Herring, the young (age 39) Democratic governorship candidate has been a practicing attorney at Des Moines since graduation from Drake university in 1940. His career was interrupted in 1941 when he entered military service as an Army Reserve officer. He served with the 168th Infantry, 34th Division, until captured by the Germans in 1943. He was a prisoner of war from that time until hostilities ended.

Mr. Herring is a member of the Iowa State Bar association and is currently serving his second term as Polk county attorney. He has been active in civic and veterans organizations and is affiliated with the Iowa Society for Crippled Children and Adults, the Des Moines Child Guidance Center and Des Moines Health Center. He is a member of the Plymouth Congregational church at Des Moines and is on its board of Deacons.

GMI Softballers Lay Season Plans

General Mills Men's club softball team has signed as a member of a six-team league that will start play Tuesday night of next week. Other members of the Little Six league will be Clarion, Renwick, Garner, Kamrar and Woolstock. Ralph Norum of Clarion has been elected league president and C. Yoder of Woolstock, secretary.

The various team managers will form the board of directors. Ed "Moke" Obrecht will again manage the Millers. He says that games will be played each Tuesday, starting at 8:15 p. m. Schedules have not yet been released, so it is not yet known who or where the Millers will play next week.

Last year the Millers were champions of the Quad-County league. They are expecting to field a strong team again this year and will bring a number of top-flight opponents to the local diamond in addition to their league foes.

Stores to Close Monday, May 31

At last week's meeting of Chamber of Commerce, the members present voted to observe Memorial Day by having Belmond business places remain closed on Monday, May 31. Stanley Ahlstrom, commander of Pierce-Zeiger post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, states that the annual observance of Memorial Day will nevertheless be held on the traditional date of May 30. Plans are now nearing completion for ceremonies at Belmond cemetery a week from Sunday at 2:00 p. m. Details regarding the complete program will be published next week.

$25 TO STATION FUND

A donation of $25 toward the Belmond Fire Department's station fund was voted Tuesday night by the American Legion Auxiliary. Information concerning the contribution was received too late for the Auxiliary to be included in the list of donors published in this issue. A contribution from Albert Fetrow also was received too late for lisiting.

Bunnell, Collier, Hiddleston New C-of-C Directors

Don Bunnell, Len Collier and Chet Hiddleston were elected as new directors of the Belmond Chamber of Commerce as members of the Chamber held their next-to-last meeting of the current season last Thursday at Veterans' Memorial hall. The new board members succeed President Bob Garms, Dr. H. J. Classick and Ted Townsan.

Election of new officers had to be postponed as there was not a quorum of the directors present at the luncheon meeting. It was planned to have the election last night at a special meeting of the board. This was past the deadline for this week's paper, so the new officers' names will be made known next week.

Secretary Luin Cox reviewed some of the major undertakings of the Chamber during the past year. Promotions included Len Howe Peanut Day, Santa Claus Day and pre-Christmas entertainment for the kiddies, Pancake Day and a share in sponsorship of GMI Appreciation Days.

In addition, the Chamber treated high school band members to a movie at the conclusion of the summer concert series; provided treats for youngsters who participated in last summer's Fish Day; co-sponsored the annual Wright County Soybean Yield contest; paid a $125 deficit towards the rental charge for the local airport; and shared cost with the Community Chest for advertising promotion of the Chest fund campaign.

Mr. Cox pointed out to the Chamber members that small attendance at the luncheon meetings was responsible for a deficit of approximaetly $460 having to be made up out of the organization's budget. It was agreed that in view of the relatively meager sum available through dues, this outlay cut heavily into funds that might otherwise have been available for constructive, promotional purposes.

There was some discussion regarding the feasibility of raising membership dues, but no action was taken. It was recommended that the board of directors study the problem of increasing the size of the Chamber's working budget. For the current year, dues brought in only $1,681.25.

Construction of GMI'S New Feed Plant in Belmond Will Start Soon; Plan Ground-Breaking Next Week

It was learned from the Minneapolis headquarters of General Mills, Inc., this week that construction of the new feed mill adjacent to the local GMI soybean processing plant will likely get underway in about 10 days.

Jones-Hettelseter Construction company of Kansas City, Mo., has been awarded the general contract for erection of the feed mill. Joe Flaspadler of Monroe City, Mo., will be construction superintendent and has notified the GMI main office he plans to be in Belmond on Monday of next week.

Informal Ground-Breaking

Mr. Flaspadler is known to a number of people here already, as he was in charge of installation of the new dryer at the soybean plant in the spring of 1952. He also superintended construction of the corrugated metal housing that encloses the dryer.

Ground-breaking for the feed mill is expected to take place the latter part of next week. No formal ceremonies will be held in conjunction with the ground-breaking. Instead, special ceremonies are planned at the time the cornerstone is laid—probably some time in July.

At that time, high officials of General Mills, Inc., and of its Feed Division, particularly, will be here to take part in the formalities. No details regarding the event have been worked out as yet.

50,000 Ton Per Year

It remains the hope of GMI officials that the new mill will be completed and ready to go into production about the end of the year, although start of construction has been a bit delayed. Its annual capacity will be 50,000 tons of feed, based on a production schedule calling for operation five days a week and 16 hours a day.

No information has been released regarding the number of employees that will be needed to man the plant. It has been suggested from informed sources, though, that a crew of about 35 men may possible be needed. A considerable number of men have put in applications for jobs during the weeks since first announcement was made that the feed mill was to be built.

Belmond and Meservey American Legion Auxiliaries will join with 462 other units in Iowa in observing annual Poppy Day a week from Saturday, May 26, according to Mrs. Bill Dempsey and Mrs. Robert Raecker, poppy chairmen for the respective communities. Goodell, too, is planning to join in this yearly event.

More than 1,113,000 poppies have been ordered by the Iowa Auxiliaries, made by disabled veterans in the state's VA hopsitals. These ex-servicemen receive an established amount for each poppy they make and the work is a welcome source of revenue to many of the men.

Major purpose of the funds derived from sale of the poppies is to carry on the national Auxiliary's veteran rehabilitation and child welfare work.

Mrs. Dempsey says, "There is no more important activity sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary than Poppy Day, where wearing of the bright-colored flowers serves to honor our nation's heroic dead of World Wars I and II and the Korean conflict.

"The story of the poppy as a memorial flower is 35 years old," the local chairman adds, "but it never grows old to Auxiliary members. To them, the flowers symbolize the entire program of the Legion Auxiliary—'service to those who did not limit their service'."

LYNN JENISON PLACES 1ST IN POPPY POSTER CONTEST

Prize-winners in the American Legion Auxiliary's annual Poppy Poster contest were chosen Tuesday night by the Auxiliary members, with first place going to Lynn Jenison. All of the 14 entrants were 5th and 6th graders.

Second was awarded to Larry Cramer and third to Nadine Johnson. Prizes were $1.00, 75 cents and 50 cents. All the other children received a quarter for their efforts.

WILLIAMS ON LEAVE

A3/c Jack Williams arrived in Belmond last Saturday on leave from Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex., for a visit in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Trev Williams. He will return to his station Sunday. Jack reports that his hometown buddy, LeRay Harty, was transferred overseas some six weeks ago and is now stationed in Germany.

HELLO WORLD

A 7 lb. 2¼ oz. baby boy was born May 13 to Mr. and Mrs. Norene Pearson of Klemme. He has been named Kevin Ray.

Susan Diane is the name selected by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sebert of Clarion for the 8 lb. 11½ oz. daughter born to them May 18.

Mr. and Mrs. John Just are parents of a 5 lb. 14½ oz. baby girl, Frances Jean, born May 18.

Only $25 Went

Rev. O. M. Severseike was the lone money-winner of this week's Cash Gift Day. He turned in No. 2,552 at 2:00 p. m. Tuesday and picked up a check for $25. The other six numbers at 2:00 o'clock and No. 2,894 at 3:00 p. m. were not presented. There will be a total of $300 subject to draw next Tuesday afternoon—six Cash Gifts of $25 apiece at 2:00 p.m. and one of $150 at 3:00. If YOU'RE on hand, one of 'em might go to YOU.

Buterbaugh Rites Conducted Monday

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Fulton Funeral Home and later at the Community Methodist church of Alexander for Mrs. Roman Buterbaugh, mother of Lloyd Buterbaugh and Mrs. Neil Flanagan of Belmond. Mrs. Buterbaugh passed away last Friday at Belmond Community hospital, where she had been a patient for four weeks. She had been in failing health for the past several yeaars.

Rev. B. R. Price, pastor of the Community Methodist church, conducted the final rites. Pallbearers were Dick Blau, Dan Schmidt, Hilko Pals, Dick Schmidt, Hero Frohling and William Vierkant. Burial was in the Alexander cemetery.

Mrs. Buterbaugh was born Virgie Valerie Brewbaker, daughter of Charles and Lillie Brewbaker, at Dallas Center on Dec. 26, 1889. She was wed to Roman E. Buterbaugh on Dec. 27, 1911. They lived for a time at Dallas Center, later moved to Britt, and in 1920 made their home at the present family farm near Alexander.

In 1906, Mrs. Buterbaugh joined the United Brethren church, transferring to the Congregational church after moving to Alexander.

She was preceded in death by her parents and a daughter, Lois Valeria, who died in 1930. Surviving besides her husband and the two children in Belmond are a son George, living at home, and six grandchildren. Other survivors include six sisters: Voila, Ruby and Marie, all living in California; Grace, and Gladys, Dallas Center; and Hilda, Lake Crystal, Minn.

Rural 8th Grades Will Promote 37 At '54 Exercises

Only 37 students from Wright county rural schools will receive promotion certificates at the annual 8th grade graduation exercises that will be held tomorrow (Friday) morning at 10:00 o'clock at the Clarion junior high school auditorium.

Closing down of rural schools in late years has greatly reduced the number of 8th-graders still attending the rural schools. Five years ago, 58 pupils were on the county promotion list; and 10 years ago there were 68.

Howard Blandau, chaplain at Iowa State Training School, Eldora, will present the graduation address tomorrow. Mrs. Howard Paine of Eagle Grove, president of the Wright county board of education, will present the promotion certificates.

Invocation and benediction will be pronounced by Rev. Victor Schuldt, pastor of the Clarion Methodist church. Scholarship awards will be presented by County Supt. C. W. Sankey.

Use of Fireworks May Prove Costly

Mayor Henry Hokel announces in today's paper that Belmond city officials are planning to clamp down on the illegal use of fireworks and that violators of the law prohibiting the firing of same will be inviting a fine of $25.

Many complaints over recent, extensive use of fireworks have been received by him and the police, Mayor Hokel says, and local policemen have been ordered to keep a sharp lookout for further violations of the law.

Both firecrackers and torpedoes have been exploding with considerable frequency around town during the past week or so. In a number of instances lighted firecrackers have been aimed at open car windows, constituting a serious threat of physical injury as well as a fire hazard.

It is Mayor Hokel's belief that the unlawful noisemakers have been ordered via coupons published in comic books. Whatever their source, he reminds would-be offenders that either possession or use of fireworks in Iowa, without special permit, is illegal. He strongly suggests that word to the wise should be sufficient.

Class Honor Roll Lists 12 Seniors

Twelve students were named on the senior class honor roll read by Principal Clair Hugh at last night's commencement exercises for the BHS Class of '54. Topping the list was Valedictorian Janelle Johnson, followed in order by Karen Hanson, Peggy Finn and Margo Gowdy.

Nine girls and three boys comprised the honor list. Top scholar among the boys was Ken Loats. Also on the honor roll were: Theatta Bunjer, Elinor Ellis, Barbara Mariga, Sandra Simerson, Jerry Toft, Patsy Tracy and Roger Ubben.

At Monday's Class Night program, Ken Loats was awarded the annual citizenship award of the Wright County Bar association. This medal goes to the member of the senior class judged to be most outstanding in the various attributes of good citizenship.

Ken's leadership qualities were attested by his election to presidency of the senior class and as president of the Student Council. As indicated above, he was also among the best scholars in his class. Ken starred in both baseball and basketball, being the first cager in BHS history to win a place on an all-state team. He was ranked on the 4th team of the Iowa Daily Press association this spring.

CHESK-CHA-MAY GROUP

Members of the Chesk-Cha-May group worked toward Woodgatherer's rank at their meeting last Thursday after school at the library basement. Dian Crimmings provided treats.

Tree-Planting Machine Used to Set Up Windbreak

Planting trees by machine—a procedure totally new in Wright county—was the method employed in establishing a demonstration windbreak on the Joe Dana farm west of Belmond a couple of weeks ago. Such windbreaks have now been set up in about two-thirds of the townships in the county.

Demonstration windbreaks are arranged by the county extension service, with the cooperation of the extension forestry department at Iowa State college. Only one of these windbreaks is allowed for each township, to be used for educational purposes.

Trees planted in the windbreak on the Dana farm were Douglas fir and red pine. A double row of firs was planted on each side of a single row of pines. One row of honeysuckle was planted as a hedge on the outside of the windbreak strip to give quick protection of the snow-fence type.

The tree-planting machine consisted of a tractor attachment, which automatically and at the correct intervals scoops a furrow to receive the baby trees. It requires a rider to hand-set the trees, and Mr. Dana himself handled that chore. A pair of wheels, set in a "V," packs dirt around the seedlings.

Extension Director Aaron Bowman made arrangements for the Dana windbreak and it was laid out by Richard Crowther of the ISC forestry department. Mr. Crowther also supervised the planting. The trees were obtained from the state conservation nursery at Ames, which provides seedlings for windbreak use at very nominal cost to a farm operator.

● ● ●

PLEASANT TOWNSHIP GAVE $140 TOWARD CANCER FUND

Mrs. Lester Buseman, Pleasant township chairman for the recent fund drive in behalf of the Cancer Crusade, reports a total of $140 was contributed in her township. She expresses her thanks to all who made donations and also to the following solicitors: Mrs. Andrew Bohning, Mrs. Carl Mennenga, Mrs. Ernest Kalkwarf, Mrs. Arald Riekens, Mrs. Donald Braner, Mrs. Albert Rabe, Mrs. Bert Heykants and Mrs. Elmer Wenzel.

ENDS NURSE TRAINING

Lila Jean Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Talferd Johnson, will receive her nursing diploma Sunday, along with 65 other student nurses, as Fairview hospital of Minneapolis holds its commencement services at the Central Lutheran church at 8:00 p. m.

Airman Bob Jenison Writes of Life Of Servicemen at Base on Iceland

Aviation Electrician 3 c Robert L. Jenison writes his wife Nancy that his new duty station in Iceland takes a bit of getting used to. He arrived on the large island in the north Atlantic on April 23rd and will have duty there for five months. He is assigned to the crew of a patrol squadron and gives the planes' electrical equipment careful inspection after they get in from their ocean patrols.

Bob reports the nights are mighty short in Iceland. The sun rises at 3:00 a.m., just a little to the right of where it set late in the evening. Just like the night, money doesn't last long either. He says that inflation has sent prices much higher than in this country and cited as an example that a carton of pop costs $1.20.

Scrip for Money

Servicemen in Iceland have only scrip to use as money and can spend it only at military establishment. It's exclusively in paper form and difficult to become accustomed to, Bob says.

The Icelanders are all of Scandanavian descent, he says. Bob infers there has been a considerable amount of infiltration by the Communists. The U. S. service personnel were restricted to their bases over May Day so that no incidents would develop as the Reds carried on the traditional Communist celebration of that date.

Iceland, itself, is of volcanic origin, the Belmond airman writes, and consists mainly of lava. There are no trees and there is no grass — just rocks, Bob says. Temperatures have been around 50 degrees. Continual winds of about 65 mph don't add anything to the pleasantness of the climate.

Navy Chow Good

Whale meat and blubber oil are the island's major products and the only native meat available is lamb, mutton — and whale meat. Apparently the Navy imports ample rations of the accustomed variety, though, for Bob says that the food the men get is very good.

Entertainment doesn't have a very wide range, he adds. You eat, sleep, watch the planes land or listen to the radio. He hopes to have the opportunity to fly to Europe in the not too distant future. The Navy quarters are pleasant, according to Bob. Four men are assigned to a room, adequately furnished, with plastic window curtains and separate, attached shower for each room; also lavatory.

His base is adjacent to the World Airport, where planes of all nations come and go. There's lots of activity in this regard, at least, says Bob. His address is: AE3/c Robert L. Jenison, 324-46-71, V-P-16, % FPO, New York, N. Y. He has advanced to Airman 3/c since his transfer to Iceland.

ISC Man to Tell About Oats Rust

Farmers interested in learning how crown rust of oats is spread, and how to combat this most costly of oat diseases, will have an opportunity to do so Friday evening.

A meeting has been arranged by Extension Director Aaron Bowman at the Harry Duit acreage on the east edge of Clarion, just north of the Thorpe hatchery. It will start at 7:00 p. m.

Formation of crown rust spores on the leaves of a buckthorn hedge on the acreage will be shown. Arden Sherf, entension plant pathologist from Iowa State college, will discuss the disease and answer questions on how to control it.

Mr. Bowman says that the rust spores live on Buckthorne leaves, which serve as a secondary host at this time of year, and later spread to the new oat leaves.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Olson and Bruce of Renwick visited in the Russell Lonnevik home Thursday evening.

BELMOND BUSY BEES

Annaul Mother's Day tea was held by the Busy Bees 4-H club at the home of Judy Obeshaurer. Sandra Swenson, Carol Ann Waddington and Katheryn Hunst were assistant hostesses. The girls gave butter cakes to their mothers. The program consisted of: a poem, read by Linda Hauge; the song, "Dreaming," by Sandra Swenson, Karon Bohning and Marjorie Johnson; and two numbers by a flute trio, Shirley Pals, Sara Simerson and Judy Oberhauser.

Gloria Rabe, the club's candidate for county office, announced she has chosen Janis Kalkwarf as her campaign speaker on Rally Day — June 5th at Belmond. Miriam Kalkwarf and Marilyn Mennenga will be the voting delegates. The following Rally Day committees were named: serving — LaVonne Wessels, Sandra Stoltenberg, Shirley Pals; greeting — Katherine McLaughlin, Gloria and Nadine Rabe, Katherine Hunst, Imogene and Myrna Strait.

Music recognition winners were: senior — Janis Kalkwarf, with Mary Alice Studebaker alternate; junior — Diane Fetrow. Selected for the senior demonstration team were Gloria Rabe and Sandra Simerson.

AVERY SUNBEAMS

Avery Sunbeams 4-H club gave a tea for their mothers at the home of Elizabeth Lemke on May 15, with Diane Avery and Joyce Nordman assisting Miss Lemke as hostesses. Corsages made by Marion James were presented to the mothers.

Darlene Ostendorf was elected as delegate to the state convention at Ames. Elizabeth Lemke and Dallas Mae Avery were chosen to attend 4-H camp.

Ruth Ann Lauster and Joyce Nordman were picked to represent the club in the Rally Day choir. Darlene Ostendorf will be the Sunbeams, candidate for county office and her campaign speaker will be Ruth Ann.

Next meeting will be an all-day meeting at the home of Joyce Nordman on June 11.

Joyce Nordman, Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. Burdell Busick were Sunday guests in the Joe Busick home at Sargent, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ruka of Des Moines were Sunday visitors in the Don Braner home.

Two Birthdays Honored At Onno J. Suntken Home

Tuesday evening of last week, Mrs. Joe Suntken, Gertie and Claus came to the Onno J. Suntken home to help Delbert celebrate his sixth birthday.

Sunday guests in the Suntken home to help Mr. Suntken celebrate his birthday were Mrs. Joe Suntken, Gertie and Claus, Mr. and Mrs. Harm Suntken and children, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fekkers and Janice, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Suntken of Latimer and Mrs. Leo Hilton of Belmond.

The Helping Hand Society will meet Thursday afternoon at the church basement.

Sunday dinner guests at the Victor Nordman home were Mr. and Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Nordman of Clarksville. The two ladies stayed over to be able to attend the eighth grade graduation Monday of their granddaughter, Joyce Nordman.

Mr. and Mrs. Loral Paul and children of Dougherty and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Zieman and children were Sunday visitors at the parental C. F. W. Paul home.

PATTY STADTLANDER WINS FIRST IN POSTER CONTEST

Patty Stadtlander was awarded 1st prize in the annual Poppy Poster contest sponsored by the Meservey American Legion Auxiliary. Other prize-winners were: Barbara Steenhard, 2nd; and Dixie Lee Koenen, 3rd.

These youngsters were presented with their prizes by Sylvia Raecker, Auxiliary president, when she visited the 4th grade room at the Meservey school last Friday.

The poster made by Patty was entered in the district contest at Osage on May 4th.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Frink of New Hampton spent the weekend in parental Frank Guth home. Janet returned home with them after spending a week with her grandparents.

Melba Ruigh, teacher in Hampton, spent the weekend in parental K. C. Ruigh home.

William "Bill" Fischer, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Fischer, left Sunday by auto for Moffet Field, Calif., where he is stationed with the U. S. Navy. He spent a week in his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Raecker drove to Callendar last week where they attended the funeral of Carl Billsted, a relative of Mrs. Raecker.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Groen and Diane returned this week after visiting in Wisconsin with relatives. Donna Groen spent the time with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin N. Smith.

Charley White, Sherli and Vicky drove to Ottumwa Friday after school and spent the weekend there returning home Sunday. Mrs. White and Debby returned home with them after spending a week there.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Schluter and girls were Sunday dinner guests at the parental Elmer Kienenberger home at Goodell. It was in honor of Sandra Schluter's first birthday and Mrs. Kienenberger's birthday.

Mrs. John Koenen was taken sick quite suddenly Sunday while in church, but was resting better at this writing. Her children are taking care of her at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hall and children of Ankeny spent the week end at the Leland Koenen home.

Mrs. Minnie Ruiter of Mason City spent Sunday at the Fred Ruiter and Raymond Kessler homes.

Pfaltzgraffs To Be Honored Sunday At Pot-Luck Dinner

A welcome potluck dinner will be held Sunday, May 23rd, in the EUB parsonage for Rev. and Mrs. P. W. Pfaltzgraff who are being returned to the Meservey church. All members and friends are cordially invited.

11 MHS Seniors Receive Diplomas

Dallas Pals was valedictorian and Larry Suntken, salutatorian, of the Class of 1954 of Meservey High school. They and nine other esniors received their diplomas at commencement exercises held last night at the gymnasium-aduitorium.

Other members of the class were: Esther Blau, Roger Fekkers, Morgan Greer, Larrie Hindman, Marlene Kaduce, Donald LaRue, Ronald Pals, Henry Schmale and Norene Vierkant. Rev. L. A. Bazuin of the Kanwaha Reformed church delivered the address.

Commencement activities were informally launched last week when the seniors made their annual trip to Chicago, Supt. Lovell Diddy and Mrs. Norman LaRue accompanying them as chaperones.

On Sunday evening, baccalaureate services were conducted. Rev. P. W. Pfaltzgraff delivered the sermon. Final commencement event will be the Class Day program, 10:00 a. m. Friday at the auditorium. It will be followed by a picnic and ball game.

On Monday evening the 8th grade graduation exercises were held, at which time the largest class in the history of the Meservey school was promoted. The class numbered 24 in total.

Mrs. Dan Schmidt Painfully Burned As Oven Explodes

Mrs. Dan Schmidt suffered painful burns and was the victim of a bad scare last Friday morning while assisting with housework at the farm home of her daughter, Mrs. Onno Suntken Mrs Schmidt had placed some meat in the stove oven to roast and apparently failed to get the gas lit.

When she found the gas was not ignited, she struck a match to light the burner and accumulated gas in the oven exploded Mrs. Schmidt was burned about the head and on her arms and legs. A rug on the floor was also set afire.

Mrs .Schmidt managed to get all the flames extinguished and then called a doctor to treat her burns, which proved not to be serious, fortunately. Mrs. Suntken was outside helping her husband with field work, so her mother was alone in the kitchen when the mishap occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Watermiller and family of Thornton and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Watermiller and Janice were Sunday dinner guests at the Kenneth Blau home.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Behrends and son visited Sunday at the Russell Behrends home at Shellrock. Sunday evening they visited at the parental Mrs. Richard Behrends home at Bristow.

Mrs. George Grosz, Karen and George and Miss Johansen were at Ames Saturday to attend the Veishea parade.

Sunday visitors at the Mrs. Lizzie Hopkey home were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reineking, Mr and Mrs. H. Freie and Mrs. Lena Hopkey, all of Latimer.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nissen spent Friday and Saturday at Ames with Mrs. Nissen's sister and attended the Veishea parade.

Mr. and Mrs. Louie Dirks of Thornton were in Meservey Sunday and took Tony Boelman home with them for the rest of the day.

13,000 Iowans Now Enrolled in GOC; But 7,000 More Sky-watchers Needed

Editor's note: In view of the fact that Pierce Zeiger post of the VFW is currently organizing a local unit of the Ground Observer Corps, The Independent plans to publish a series of three articles on the corps received from C. E. "Ben" Fowler, state director for the Civil Defense Commision. Mr. Fowler says that 13,000 Iowans are at present enrolled in this state's Ground Observer Corps — but that 7,000 more volunteers are needed to bring the corps to full strength.

Our present strained relations with the Soviet Union places atomic air attack on the United States within the realm of possibility. The current main line of air defense is early detection and early warning before enemy bombers can open their bomb bays over strategic areas. Shortage of manpower and limited budgetary provisions preclude the military from carrying the detection and warning load alone. We need civilian and military teamwork. So, the Ground Observer Corps, eyes and ears of American citizenry, has been established as an aircraft warning agency.

The Ground Observer Corps is composed of thousands of patriotic Americans whose job it is to scan the skies and report to Filter Centers the flight and movement of aircraft. Civilian filter center volunteers receive the messages by telephone, plot and evaluate the information on a table grid map, then relay the data to the parent Air Defense Direction Center

Corps Established 1950

At the Direction Center, United States Air Force personnel compare the information with existing flight plans which all pilots flying over 4,000 feet are required to file If the information does not compare favorably, Air Force fighter interceptor planes are ordered aloft to determine whether the flight is friendly or unknown If an unknown should commit a hostile act such as opening bomb bay doors or opening fire, fighter pilots are ordered to shoot the aircraft down.

The Ground Observer Corps consists entirely of civilian volunteers who are trained by United States Air Force personnel. When the Corps was established in 1950 as an auxiliary of the Air Defense Command, Air Force officials set the recruiting goal at 500,000, a figure considered sufficient to man 19,500 observer posts and 49 filter centers throughout the country.

Over 350,000 Volunteers

Over 350,000 American citizens are now engaged in Ground Observer work Thirteen thousand Iowans give their time and effort so that their trained eyes and ears might detect enemy planes in the event of an air attack on the United States.

In these days of fast flying aircraft, atomic weapons and the military potentiality of the Soviet Union, there is an ever-increasing need for well trained ground observers to supplement our radar network and our air defense system

Later Ground Observer Corps articles will further outline the need for civilian volunteer aircraft spotters Meanwhile, you can learn more about the Ground Observer Corps by contacting your State Office of Civil Defense, State Office and Laboratory Building, E 7th and Court, Des Moines, or Ed Reasoner, local GOC supervisor. If your occupation is farming, see your county extension director for the location of the observation post nearest you

BELMOND'S CANDIDATE for Queen of this year's North Iowa Band Festival is Karen Hanson, who for the past two years has been a baton twirler with the BHS marching band. JACQUELINE RIIS WED MARLYN WATERMILLER IN RITES AT SLATER

The wedding of Miss Jacquelin Elaine Riis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Freebert Riis of Slater, and Marlyn Watermiller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Watermiller of Belmond, took place recently in an evening candlelight service at Bethlehem Lutheran church at Slater. The Rev. Douglas L. Jacobson read the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. Harold Croft, organist, played the nuptial music and accompanied Glenn Accola as he sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of embroidered tulle over white slipper satin and a finger-tip veil of imported silk illusion fastened to a pleated tulle shell trimmed with iridescent sequins. She carried a white Bible with a camelia corsage.

Maid of honor was Sharon Riis, the bride's sister. Mrs. Donald Toft, the groom's twin sister, was bridesmaid and the bride's cousin, Sally Jane Rinemuth, was junior bridesmaid. They wore dresses of pink nylon net over satin.

Calvin Dorenkamp of Belmond was best man. Ushers were Donald Toft of Des Moines and Daryl Boelman of Belmond.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. Among those assisting with the serving was Mrs. Bert Heykants of Belmond.

The bride is a graduate of Slater High school, attended Waldorf college at Forest City and is now teaching at Latimer.

The groom graduated from Belmond High school and is now stationed with the US Army at Fort Sill, Okla.

Final Rites Held For 'Riley' Clark

Funeral services were held Wednesday of last week at Bohn Funeral Home in Garner for Leroy Glenn Clark, a native of Goodell. Rev. Park E. Miller conducted the rites and burial was in Amsterdam cemetery, Goodell. Pallbearers were Robert McNutt, Howard Dominy, Ernie Kurtz, Warner Butts, J. J. Cook and Amos Hanson.

"Riley" Clark, as the deceased was best known to his many friends, was born at Goodell on Nov. 13, 1884, son of George and Louise Clark. He was educated in the Goodell school and for a time served as a rural mail carrier. He was also employed on the Dominy and Hemenway farms before entering the occupation of hotel clerk.

In the latter capacity he was employed by hotels at Albert Lea, Minn., and Spencer, and for a good many years by the Cerro Gordo hotel at Mason City. He was chatting with a friend at the Mason City hotel when he was stricken with a fatal heart attack.

While living in the Goodell vicinity, Mr. Clark was a loyal participant in activities of the EUB church. Besides his parents, he was preceded in death by two sisters, Mrs. Bertha Hall of Charles City and Mrs. Mayme Brogan of Lake City, and a brother, Earl of Charles. Surviving is another brother, Eric of Clear Lake.

Mrs. J. J. Cook and Mrs. V. E. Harris went to Klemme Wednesday and were guests at a birthday party held at the Reformed church.

Messers O. Sandberg, E. J. Schneider, J. J. Cook, Willis Knisley, Dan Martin, Arthur Ruka and Amos Hanson went to Belmond Tuesday evening of last week and attended a dinner honoring George Elder, who has been a Mason 50 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Stadtlander of Latimer were Sunday supper guests in the home of her uncle, William Muhlenbruch.

Mrs. Laton Avery and Mrs. W. E. Tanner accompanied by Mrs. A. N. Ahrenkiel of Klemme went to Mason City Sunday where they visited the former's cousin, Mrs. Ida Shaner.

ISC Scholarship Honor to L. Kew

Leland Kew, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kew, was one of 45 Iowa State college senior students who are receiving recognition this (Thursday) evening at the annual Honors Day banquet being held at the Memorial Union.

Each of the students being honored boasts the highest grade point average among all seniors in his curriculum. The Alexander senior majored in landscape architecture.

Also getting recognition at the banquet are the students in each of the four classes at ISC who ranked in the upper one per cent of the five divisions within the college.

This year's Honors Day banquet replaces the annual Honors Day Convocation that was held each spring for nearly 30 years to "recognize and honor those who are making the most of the opportunities offered at Iowa State college."

Parents of the students and members of the faculty were invited to be guests at the banquet.

Mrs. Maud Coates of Sheffield spent several days in the home of Mrs. Ed Richards.

Mrs. Will Thomas and Harold of Darlington, Wis., Mrs. Emma McCormick and Jennie Jackson of Schullsburg, Wis., visited recently in the homes of Ray Richards, Mrs. Grace Richards, and George Richards.

Sunday evening, Mrs. Kenneth Myers attended a pink and blue shower in honor of Penny Rae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Rathman of Webster City, at the Harold Burmaster home near Latimer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Reed and Diane, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Nicholson of Des Moines and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tranter of Ralston were Friday overnight guests in the Hilko Pals home.

Bridal Shower Honors Mrs. R. D. Nicholson

Mrs. W. J. Reed of Des Moines and Mrs. Ormal Pals of Meservey were hostesses at a bridal shower for Mrs. R. D. Nicholson at the Community Methodist church parlor Friday evening. Mrs. Dallas Card of Allison, Mrs. Lawrence Fahrmann of Latimer and Mrs. John Rietema of Kanawha assisted them with a tray luncheon. Jeannine Barkema assisted Mrs. Nicholson while opening her many beautiful gifts. Some 50 guests were present, some coming from Dows, Rowan, Belmond, Goodell, Hampton, Ralston, Goldfield, Des Moines and Rockwell.

Hy-Line
REG U S PAT OFF
CHICKS
Average $1.30 MORE income per hen

A fat egg check can be your weekly reward for buying Hy-Lines. In over 1,000 Divided Flock Tests, Hy-Lines brought in $1.30 more income per hen than other chickens, using average egg prices for the test years. And that's $1.30 more in only 11 months of lay.

Because Hy-Lines don't take as much feed per dozen eggs produced, not such a big chunk of your egg check goes for feed. That fat Hy-Line egg check leaves lots of room for groceries and clothes.

Hoppel Earns B's As Both Baseball, Track Competitor

Individual sports achievements at Belmond High this year included two that were particularly outstanding. No. 1 was, of course, Ken Loats' selection on the Iowa Daily Press association's 4th all-state team in basketball. The second came to light when Don Hoppel was awarded letters in both baseball and track Monday evening at the Class Night program.

Hoppel was the first Bronco to letter in both spring sports since Les Classick turned the trick in 1946. Classick was a four-letter man that year. Although not an active participant in football, Hoppel won a managerial B last fall and added a second letter in basketball, thus giving him four monograms for his senior year.

Coach Jim Crimmings presented baseball letters to nine other members of the baseball squad, besides Hoppel. They were: Capt. Bob Barry, Ken Loats, LeRoy Smith, Bill Murray, Jerry Chandler, Dale Caquelin, Gene Mehl, Arlo Stoltenberg and Arlyn Frohling. A manager's letter went to Kenny Harty. All but Barry, Loats and Hoppel will be back next season, assuring that the Broncs will be able to field an experienced team next spring. Jerry Dorr and Marlan Cunningham, a junior and sophomore, respectively, got in quite a few innings of play but not enough to win B's.

Of 13 track men who were awarded letters by Coach E. R. Jacobs, only Hoppel will not be back next season. Others winning monograms in this sport were: Bruce Hall, Roger "Joe" Smith, Ron Steenblock, Keith Madsen, Dwight Beavers, Ronnie Smith, Jim Gealow, Marlin Mehl, Dave Long, Marlin Jenison, Ronnie Widdeltao and Dave Hall. All of these boys won points in individual or relay events in the course of the Broncos' brief track schedule.

It has been called to the Independent's attention that it was Ronnie Smith, rather than Roger, who took 5th place in the recent North Iowa conference meet.

SPECIAL DELIVERY

At a Manning hospital recently, some rare-type "O negative" blood was needed in an emergency operation. The blood arrived in 25 minutes, from Denison, via the highway patrol.

FOUR BHS MUSICIANS EARN RIGHT TO GET THEIR NAMES ON TROPHY

Four vocalists earned places in the BHS music hall of fame by earning enough points in musical competition this spring to give them a four-year total of 1,800 or more, Eldoris Bunnell revealed at Monday evening's Class Night program. They were Elinor Ellis, Margo Gowdy, Sandra Simerson and Karen Hanson.

Their names will be engraved on a trophy that commemorates outstanding achievements by Belmond High school musicians. Connie Benson Johnson last year became the first BHS student to win this honor.

Fourteen members of Mrs. Bunnell's and Roland Brom's vocal and instrumental departments brought their music-point totals up to 1,000 and as a consequence were awarded honor pins by the music instructors Monday night.

In this select group were: Carolyn Classick, Ronnie Hansen, Audra Jenison, Geraldine Jenison, Eloise Johnson, Joan Kalkwarf, Carol Leinbach, Gene Mehl, Norman Pals, Pat Smith, Patsy Tracy, Kenneth Halfpap, Margaret Mussell and Phil Schmitz.

Ronnie Hansen was also among the 20 students who brought their totals up to 400 points for the first time and earned letters for music participation. Others among the letter-winners were: Jerry McLaughlin Larry Mennenga, Marlene Smith, JoAnn Steenblock, Neva Kyser, Annette Swenson, Mary Ellen Johnson, Marcia Henn, Elna Jenison, Bradley Hammond, Roger Lathrop, Bob McLaughlin, Joan Kriens, Carol Waddington, Karen Bohning, Shirley Pals, Faye Janssen, Paul Nassen and Gary Gabrielson.

BHS Nine Drops Last Two Games To Hampton, Alex

Belmond High's baseball team wound up its season last week with a pair of losses, giving it a 3-won, 3-lost record. On Tuesday afternoon the Broncs bowed to Hampton, 7-2, and Thursday on the local diamond they dropped a close one to Alexander, 4-3.

Dale Caquelin pitched five innings against the Bulldogs, allowing five hits and six runs. Larry Kinseth took the mound in the 6th and was touched for one hit and one tally. Hampton scored three in the first inning and another in the second to control the game from the outset. Belmond gathered only three hits, Don Hoppel and LeRoy Smith each connecting for singles and Arlyn Frohling smacking out a three-bagger

Against Alexander, the Broncs led 3-2 going into the final inning. But a costly error and a passed batter with the bases loaded brought in two runs for the visitors in the 7th and decided the issue Ken Loats, hurling for Belmond, gave up only two hits and fanned 11 batters, but three walks in the final frame were his undoing.

Denny Scott pitched for the winners. He fanned 13 men, but gave up five safeties Jerry Chandler and Bill Murray got consecutive singles in the 2nd and Capt Bob Barry and Chandler repeated the performance in the 4th These hits accounted for all the Belmond runs. A single by LeRoy Smith in the 5th completed the Bronco bat work.

Spitler and Clark Accorded Highest FFA Recognition

Top honors in BHS vocational agriculture achievement were awarded by Don Collinson, FFA advisor, during Monday evening's Class Night program to Jack Spitler and Airell Clark. Both boys' outstanding records as Future Farmers were recognized earlier this spring when they received the degree of Iowa Farmer

As the most outstanding senior in the vocational agriculture deparment, Spitler was recipient of the DeKalb Agricultural Achievement Award. His name will be engraved on the DeKalb plaque, which is a permanent part of the school's trophy display, and he was given a medal denoting the honor bestowed upon him

Clark was honored as the outstanding underclassman in "voc. ag." His name goes on the Tomahawk Agricultural Achievement plaque and he, too, was presented with an individual medal

FFA letters were awarded to these two boys and to eight others, constituting the top 25 per cent of the Future Farmers chapter in regard to accomplishments during the year. Spitler, along with Richard Christensen and Herb Pals, received their letters at the FFA Father-and-Son banquet several weeks ago. All are seniors.

19 Girls Awarded GAA Letters, Pins

Three girls received large-size letters for participation in activities of the Girls Athletic association as honors for work in the GAA were presented by Patricia Motter at Monday evening's Class Night program The girls given recognition for meeting letter requirements for three, consecutive years were Colleen White, Margaret Eccles and Jean Tendall.

Another three girls were awarded GAA pins for having accumulated 500 points in sports activities for two years: Marcia Henn, Corrine Davenport and Susie Halfpap.

Thirteen girls earned 500 points for the first time and received GAA letters of smaller size. In this group were Sandra Smith, Carol Pals, Janet Slining, Shirley Pals, Caren Coulson, Mary Alice Studebaker, Joan Kriens, Betty Eccles, Kaye Wagner, Sandra Simerson, Karon Bohning, Sondra Kamm and Karen Hansen.

Five points are given for each hour of supervised recreational activity and four for out-of-school recreation in specified categories. Favorite non-supervised activities are dancing, roller skating, bicycling and horseback riding Purpose of the GAA is to encourage the girls to participate in a wide variety of pastimes, either individually or in groups.

College Figures In Plans of 15 BHS '54 Grads

Exactly a third of the 45 members of this year's BHS graduating class plan to continue their education by entering college according to Hoofbeats, the student newspaper. Fourteen intend to enroll for regular college courses while another—Larry Mennenga—has in mind taking a short course in agriculture at Iowa State college before launching on a farming career.

Valedictorian Janelle Johnson will attend Luther college, Decorah; her tuition will be partly paid by a $150 scholarship she has been awarded. Another Lutheran school, St. Olaf college at Northfield, Minn., has been chosen by Karen Hanson, Sandra Simerson and Sam Leinbach. Bob Barry will go to Loras college, Dubuque, and Roger Ubben will study engineering at Iowa State college.

Two Going to SUI

Larry Larson will enter the State University of Iowa to study dentistry and Barbara Manga will enroll at the university for a course in dental hygiene. Dick Jacobson plans to attend the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis. Paul Oberhauser will enter the school of civil engineering at University of Notre Dame, South Bend, Ind.

Margo Gowdy has a scholarship for Cottey college, a two-year school at Nevada, Mo., and plans to complete her work for a bachelor's degree at Iowa State Teachers college. [illegible] will go to Waldorf college at Forest City and Treatta Bunger will enroll at the Omaha Bible Institute. Don Hopper will pursue his aspirations to enter the coaching field by continuing his education but he hasn't yet decided on the school of his choice.

Four to Enter Nursing

Four girls have their eyes on the nursing profession. Patsy Tracy will take her training at St. Joseph's School of Nursing, Sioux City; Colleen White at Mercy hospital, Mason City; Elinor Ellis at Iowa Methodist hospital, Des Moines, and Regina Dickinson at a nursing school still to be chosen.

Specialized training in a selected field is contemplated by Herbert Pals, who'll attend a Dearborn, Mich., school to qualify as an automotive electrical technician; Jerry McMurray, who wants to become an aeronautical engineers, and Richard Kling, who'd like to become an electrical or mechanical engineer.

Farming Attracts Six

Boys who like Larry Mennenga have farming careers in mind are Wayne Pastour, Kenneth Halfpap, Jack Spitler, Richard Christensen and Merlin Stockseth. Larry Nelson wants to get into some phase of the heavy construction field. Seniors with jobs waiting for them are Ardell Kadube, Belmond Auto company; Peggy Finn, First State bank. Susie Halfpap and Jean Tendall are interested in obtaining secretarial work.

Entry into one or another of the armed forces is planned by five boys. Richard Smith and Jerry Toft will enlist in the Army, Don Sjoberg and Dallas Trager in the Navy and Ray Busick in the Marine corps.

Half Dozen Undecided

Matrimony figures in the immediate plans of two girls, Audrea [illegible] and Sharon Strait. The former will be wed next week and Sharon plans to marry next fall.

Only a half dozen of the graduates are still uncertain as to what courses they will pursue now that they have obtained their diplomas. The [illegible] are Ken Loats, Malcom [illegible], Irvin Van Gerpen, Pearl Mehus, Janet Brooks and Mary Thompson.

3 College Grants Offered to BHS '54 Valedictorian

College scholarships have been offered to three Belmond High school seniors, Principal Clair [illegible] revealed at the annual Senior Class Night program Monday evening. Valedictorian Janelle Johnson had a choice of grants from three different schools and has stated her intention of accepting one for $150 that was offered by Luther college, Decorah.

She was also eligible for a [illegible] to Morningside college, Sioux City, or one in the amount of [illegible] if she had chosen to attend Waldorf college, Forest City.

Morningside also offered [illegible] to the 2 girls who held 2nd [illegible] on the class [illegible] Hanson and Peggy Finn. [illegible] Miss Hanson [illegible] at St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., and Miss Finn [illegible] further [illegible] First State bank.

WE WISH THOSE SENIORS "THE BEST;" IT'S A GOOD TIME TO BE COMMENCING

We hestiate to palm off any unsolicited advice on the 45 Belmond High school seniors who proudly received their diplomas last night. We've been following our own advice for more years than we like to think, and we can't say it's merited us too much. We would, though, like to offer in behalf of the entire community sincere congratulations and earnest, good wishes that each and every one of these young people will find the future fruitful and satisfying.

Never have frontiers appeared broader than they are right now, in 1954. True, the frontiers are no longer geographical; but this does not alter the fact that they exist and stand ready to yield rich rewards to those who explore them. And even to the unadventurous, the good life lies open—to be won by reasonable effort. It's a good time to be "commencing," and we're confident that the Class of '54 will earn its share of distinction and enjoy its due portion of contentment.

PROBLEM OF REAPPORTIONMENT CALLS FOR REVAMPING STATE LEGISLATURE

Every 10 years, after taking of the federal census, the problem of reapportioning representation in the state legislature devolves upon the existing general assembly. But each time the matter comes up, legislators from the centers of greatest population eye with distrust those from the small towns and rural areas—and vice versa—with the ultimate result that the final reapportionment meets with the approval of no one. It doesn't seem such an insurmountable problem, actually; but certainly the way it is now handled has proven unsatisfactory.

Rep. Clark McNeal believes that one of the most obvious shortcomings of the present arrangement is that it disregards a basic principle of representative government. A legislative body should safeguard territorial interests, just as it should provide equitable representation on the basis of population. In the U. S. Congress this is achieved by allowing each state an equal number of senators, while its House delegation reflects its relative size population-wise. This allows for practical checks and balances, legislatively—especially when levying of taxes and setting of appropriations are concerned.

But this is not the case in the Iowa legislature. By some mischance of nomenclature, our House of Representatives is a counterpart of the U. S. Senate. At least, it is obvious that this was the original intent. And our Senate corresponds to the U. S. House of Representatives. This unfortunate reversal of identifying titles seems to have confused a good many of our state law-makers and to be, at least in part, responsible for the present tendency to forget that territorial interests are as deserving of fair consideration as are population blocks.

There can be no denying that the more populous areas of the state should have voice in the legislature proportionate to the numbers they contain. But as it stands, the constitution prohibits any county from having more than one senator. That leaves the "territorial body" of our legislature as the only avenue for approaching the problem of reapportionment, with the result that BOTH houses are tending to derive their membership on a basis of population. That precedent was established when the total number of representatives was gradually increased from 99 to 108.

Concerns of primarily rural counties will ever continue to be at variance with those of predominantly urban counties, and agricultural interests must inevitably remain distinct from those of industry. It is important that the principle of equal county representation be re-established by returning to a 99-man House. If obstacles exist that prevent equitable representation in the Senate on a population basis—and they DO—the answer is to eliminate these obstacles. Trying to correct an error with a compensating error is a poor way to go about setting a situation right.

And before leaving the subject, we'd like to add a word in favor of establishing a legislative council, empowered to investigate needed legislation and PROPERLY draft appropriate laws during the interim between general assembly sessions. Our legislators simply haven't the time during the rush of regular business to do the research that such problems as that of reapportionment call for. Our legislature would find many of its major headaches reduced to minor ones with a competent legislative council abetting its efforts by year-around study of essential improvements in and additions to our statutes.

WE WANT NO BELLIGERENT OLD LADIES DUMPING THEIR PEANUTS ON OUR DESK

One of the responsibilities that rests on the shoulders of a conscientious newspaper is to put its readers next to good bargains in its advertising columns. But an equal responsiblity is protecting them from unscrupulous advertisers (out-of-town, exclusively, of course) who would fleece the gullible, if given half a chance.

Among the worst offenders in this category are distributors of vending machines who either (1) wish to palm their contrivances off on the unwary at several times the proper price; or (2) sell peanuts or candy to be vended—likewise at exhorbitant cost to the merchandiser.

A couple of weeks ago a vending machine firm of unestablished repute flooded the Iowa weekly press with paid-in-advance orders for classified display advertising. The Iowa Press association's weekly bulletin has campaigned strenuously for prompt rejection of all such advertising, unless carefully investigated before publication; and inquiries by the dozen descended upon Executive Secretary Don Reid of the IPA. He was happy over this exhibition of alertness—until the office girl laid on his desk clippings from 47 weeklies that HAD run the ad.

During the state press convention he questioned the publishers of seven papers that had accepted the two-buck fee accompanying the order and had inserted the the advertising. In every case he discovered the ad had been inserted by an office employee, without the boss's knowledge. Which, Don observed, will provide little solace if "some day a belligerent, or perhaps sorrowful, Little Old Lady walks into the office and explains that through her trust in (the offending newspaper's) columns, she is $500 poorer—in money, and $500 richer—in peanuts."

Mr. Reid further comments to those inadequately alert publishers, "She'll likely ask what you are going to do about it. We have no theories as to what you should tell her, but we've a hunch that if you offer to buy a few sacks yourself, it won't be the right answer."

The Independent, we might observe, sent the $2.00 back where it came from. We make an earnest effort to guard our readers from money-making schemes of doubtful advertisers. We don't want any Little Old Ladies bringing their troubles—or their peanuts, to us!

Dear Sir:

There is a wide variation in benefits offered by insurance firms writing hospital and medical protection and this writer's experience suggests that caution should be exercised by anyone applying for such a contract. In making this observation, it is not my intention to recommend any particular plan. Rather, I wish to make a few suggestions to such persons as might contemplate obtaining insurance protection of this nature, as a basis for judgment regarding the type of plan best fitted to their needs.

In a number of cases, patrons of Belmond Community hospital who considered they possessed adequate hospital insurance have discovered that benefits under their policies were disappointingly limited. Very often, in such instances, they have expressed a regret that they had not paid a moderately higher premium to obtain more comprehensive coverage. These same persons have also frequently remarked that they wished they had compared the contracts of several companies before making an application.

In discussing any purchase of hospital and medical insurance, it is wise for the potential buyer to demand that described benefits be specifically pointed out in a sample policy. This can often prevent misunderstanding and later disappointment. Some contracts contain so many restrictions and limitations as to seriously minimize their actual value as a safeguard against heavy hospital and medical expense. Economy is often proclaimed as a major virtue of these plans; but it can prove false economy if it simply enables the saving of a few dollars annually at the cost of placing too rigid limits on the benefits payable.

There are many phases of coverage that should be borne in mind when buying hospital insurance. The amount payable per day toward room cost and period of time covered is, of course, a major consideration. But other benefits are virtually as important. A purchaser should inquire carefully and specificially into a plan's provisions in regard to cost of drugs, dressings, various medical tests and specialized services that involve extra charges. The important consideration here is not IF such costs are covered, but to what EXTENT.

We at the hospital have found patients most often satisfied with their insurance protection when they had policies obtained from local sources, from agents whom they could hold directly responsible for prompt and satisfactory settlement. We have also found the insured best satisfied if he purchased his policy with an eye to the scope of its coverage rather than to its cost, alone.

It isn't my intention to cast doubts on any particular hospital insurance company or any particular plan. However, the purchase of such insurance is such an important step that I sincerely recommend careful investigation and thoughtful consideration of ANY plan before an application is made.

Sincerely yours,
John R. Shepard
Administrator

13-Year History of BHS Class of '54 Reviewed

By Mary Thompson

On September 3, 1941, 31 eager youngsters entered the Belmond halls of learning. They were Bob Barry, Ray Busick, Bonnie Carter, Charles Crabtree, Karen Hanson, George Hardwick, Margo Gowdy, Carolyn Jones, Richard Kling, Larry Larson, Samuel Leinbach, Barbara Mariga, Patsy Tracy, Keith Madsen, Darwin Dippel, Elinor Ellis, Bonnie Fleener, Donald Hood, Audra Jenison, Junior Kaufman, Johnnie Negrete, Eugene Mehl, Bill Meints, Larry Ruiter, Donald Steenblock, Roger Steenblock, Ronald Steenblock, Harvey Tudor, Arley Harty, David Engel and Mary Ann Scanlon.

Luckily, we could not foresee the hours of studying that lay before us, nor did we realize at the time how much pleasure the next 13 years had in store for us.

12 Joined in 2nd Grade

In second grade there was quite a change in the class. Gary Brothers, James Martin, Ardis Meyers, Malcolm O'Connor, Dallas Trager, Helen McNulty, Kyle Mennenga, Jay Tomson, Eugene Nicholson, Berdette Cook, Rae Jean Tudor and Everett Wilcox all joined our group. We lost Donald, Roger, and Ronald Steenblock, Jay Tomson, Everett Wilcox, Keith Madsen, and Junior Kaufman. Our teacher that year was Miss Lake.

10 Newcomers in 4th

Linda Hawley, Donald McCann, Jack McGrath, Henry Pederson, Ronald Steenblock, Harold Whistler, Ruth Wantz, Norman Walsh and Gary Dippel entered in the third grade. Samuel Leinbach left us for a few months and attended school in Virginia. Jack McGrath Helen McNulty, Henry Pederson, Ronald Steenblock, Kyle Mennenga and Norman Walsh also left during the year.

Our fourth grade teacher was Miss Parker. Here we were joined by Carol Hemmingson, Donald Hoppel, Stephen Hosler, Gordon Morris, Henry Steinwandt, Sandra Simerson, Ardell Kaduce, Donald Simpson, Virginia Trees and Gary Trees. Again we had several students leave our group. They were James Martin, Linda Hawley, Donald McCann, Rae Jean Tudor, Helen McNulty, Berdette Cook, and Stephen Hosler.

Three Classes Formed

In the fifth grade we were divided up into three classes, some of us being with part of the fourth graders and others with sixth graders. Our teachers were Miss Goranson, Miss Read, Miss Christie and Miss Sailor. Jean Tendall, Regina Dickinson, Darwin Dippel, Phyllis Harstad, Dennis Scott, Richard Smith and Donald McCann joined us and Charles Crabtree, Gordon Morris, Phyllis Harstad and Dennis Scott left.

Miss Goranson taught us again in the sixth grade. Two girls, Peggy Finn and Theatta Bunjer, joined our group, while we parted with only one classmate, Darwin Dippel.

Presented Operetta

Seventh grade was a new experience, as we had three teachers: Mrs. Jones, Miss Darrah and Mr. Lauffer. We were joined by Janelle Johnson, Susie Halfpap, Roger Ubben, Jack Spitler, Richard Christenson, Jerry McMurray, Arnette TerHark, Herbert Pals and Paul Oberhauser. Richard Smith, Harold Whistler Eugene Nicholson, Donald Simpson, Gary Trees, Virginia Trees and Donald McCann left us.

Miss Darrah was our eighth grade home room teacher. Here we were joined by David Christenson, Janice Kickbush, Colleen White, Bruce Ruka Don Sjoberg, Merlin Stockseth, Richard Smith and Mac Mitchell. We parted with Carol Hemmingson and David Christenson. That year our class, together with the seventh graders, gave the operetta "Tom Sawyer."

14 New Freshmen

In our freshman year we had an increase of 14 fourteen pupils. Our new classmates were Larry Mennenga, Kenneth Halfpap, Pearl Mehus, Ken Loats, Byron Koenen, Wayne Pastour, Jerry Toft, Mary Thompson, Janet Brooks, Carolyn Carolus, Aileen Modderman, Donna Lee, Elaine Summers and Sharen Strait. These students, along with the rest of us, took part in initiation, an event which we shall never forget. Mac Mitchell moved away during the year.

Our sophomore year was relatively quiet as compared with the rest. One of the most interesting features was Career Day at Forest City. For the first time in the history of our class, there were no new pupils. We parted with Mary Aarons, Byron Koenen, Aileen Modderman and Ruth Wantz.

Senior Year Memorable

In our junior year we were joined by Beth Knoedler and Ewald Ehresmann, while Beth Knoedler Janice Kickbush, Carolyn Carolus, Arnette Terhark, Carolyn Jones and Ardis Meyers left our group. Two highlights of this year were the Junior-Senior Banquet and the class play.

As seniors, we parted with Bill Meints, Bonnie Fleener, Elaine Summers and Ewald Ehresmann. This was a year of great activity. The Junior-Senior Banquet, the Senior Class Play, Baccalaureate, and Commencement will never be forgotten; nor will the many other events that have made our senior year—yes, all our high school days—so wonderful.

Iowa's BALANCED Farming

Again, we're first in corn. Also in meat production, including pork. And we're 'way up there in butter, eggs, clover seed, popcorn, etc., etc.

"It isn't only that we're FIRST," says Extension man Clem Clemons. "It's the fact that our farming's so well-balanced, too." Yes, and that balance goes for most everything else, including our thinking, habits, and way of life. That's what makes Iowa a wonderful state ... not for just ONE kind of people, but ALL kinds!

Clem and I don't always see alike, but like most Iowans, we recognize the other's right of choice, and he recognizes ours. Even in little things, such as Clem's preference for riding his bike—or my liking a temperate glass of beer on a hot evening ... or Cousin Edna's weakness for graham gems.

Balanced thinking makes us tolerant of the other person's rights. And such tolerance and broad-mindedness make for the true Iowa brand of balanced living.

83 Kindergarten Tots Registered To Start School Here Next Autumn

Belmond Community School district will have a bumper crop of kindergarteners starting school next fall, the recent pre-school roundups indicated. Nurse Alta Smith reports that 83 first-year pupils were registered, and several mothers phoned to say that measles and mumps made it impossible for them to bring their youngsters for registration at the specified time.

It is possible that the record-breaking total of 87 that enrolled for kindergarten at Belmond last year may be equalled or exceeded when school takes up this coming fall. Four of the pre-schoolers were registered at Goodell and the rest at Belmond.

Goodell Starters

Belmond — Madonna Marie (Albert) Luick, Ardell Joann (Irvin) Soma, Robert Curtis (Curtis) Rise, August Daniel (August) Wallinder, Jerald Emory (George) Wessels, Arnold Scott (Cecil) Killius, John Patrick Michael (J.C.) TWELVE PAGES

VOL. 34 NO. 33 · OFFICIAL CITY PAPER · BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA—THURSDAY MAY 27, 1954 · OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER · THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

MAIN STREET

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

This is a tale of two worms: or perhaps we should say it's about two tails of a worm. Anyway, George Crawford brought into the Independent office this week a squirming specimen of angleworm shaped like a "Y". Since it crawled in the direction that its single end was pointed, we presume it had one head and two tails. George, Jr., captured the critter while picking up bait in the wake of his dad's garden plow. George said he'd never before seen the likes of it. Neither had we.

—M-S—

Edith Hill's motel enjoys an ever-widening reputation for the excellence of its service and the comfort of its accomodations, but she did run into a prospective customer last week whom she couldn't satisfy. This lady wanted a room to sleep four people and was well satisfied with the price quoted.

But she asked to see the room before taking it and was dismayed to find it possessed an attached bathroom. After having inspected it, she inquired, "Don't you have an outdoor toilet?"

Edith had to admit that ALL the rooms possessed indoor plumbing and that an outhouse wasn't included in the motel's facilities. The woman wagged her head disapprovingly and Edith sent her on her way with the advice that she might find the "conveniences" she sought at the Greyhound station.

—M-S—

We respectfully call your attention to the ad for Thompson Clothing that Manager George Keleher has in this week's issue. Somebody's going to win a free topper by correctly identifying the four individuals who are pictured (back view) therein. We'll give you a little tip. Three of the men are Mainstreeters and the other a well known farmer of this vicinity.

—M-S—

Ernest Palmer, Jr., the Fort Madison attorney, is youngest of the six GOP candidates for the governorship nomination; but publicity released from his headquarters this week plainly seeks to make it clear that he's not "too young." He points out that he is the same age as Vice President Richard Nixon, Governor Crosby of Nebraska and Governor Stratton of Illinois. The Lee county state representative and Rep. Clark McNeal have become close friends during the past two general assemblies and are ardent admirers of each others capabilities. Both have stamped themselves as outstanding among the state's younger legislators.

—M-S—

Except for W. H. Nicholas, who's deserting his home territory to work farther afield (and Ben Ellsworth of Ottumwa, who's just a-sittin'), all of the GOP gubernatorial candidates are spending part of their time during the current week "stumping" in this part of the state. Palmer is slated to appear in Northwood and Mason City today. A. B. Chambers is also tubthumping in Mason City today and will be in Hampton tomorrow.

Only candidate scheduled to make a Belmond appearance is William S. Lynes, who'll be in town sometime tomorrow. He's calling in Northwood and Forest City today; will make Garner and Hampton, along with Belmond, on Friday.

Attorney General Leo Hoegh will tend fences at Hampton tomorrow. Can't recall when north Iowa has received such a concentrated dose of campaigning as its due to receive today and Friday. Busiest candidate this week will be Lynes, who has 30 different "ports of call" officially listed. Close behind is Palmer with 16. Nicholas will "officially" visit 11 cities; Hoegh and Chambers, five each.

—M-S—

Clyde E. Herring, the lone Democratic candidate for the governor's chair, made his bow to "Main street" with an appearance at a Demo rally last night at the library basement. No doubt the Republican hopefuls regard Herring's lack of opposition with more than a little envy. He'll have his licks to get in, though, once the primary is out of the way.

—M-S—

We went astray last week in spelling the name of the construction superintendent who'll be in charge of building the new GMI feed mill. Misread the handwriting of the gentleman's wife, who had written an advance note to Bookkeeper-Society Editor Louise Johnson of The Independent (they're friends of long-standing). Anyway what looked to us like Flaspodler turned out to be Flaspohler. So Joe Flaspohler, it is.

BALL PRACTICE TONIGHT

After this issue's sports section had gone to press, Jack Lansing called The Independent to announce that first practice for the Tomahawk baseball squad has been called for this evening at 6:30 o'clock. Any players interested in seeking a position on the Tomahawk team are urged to report at the high school diamond at that time.

Question of New County Jail Up to Voters in November

Supervisors Have Beuttler Drafting Tentative Plans

It is the plan of the Wright county board of supervisors to submit to the voters in this fall's general election a special proposition on the question of whether a new county jail should be built and necessary bonds issued to finance the undertaking.

At a meeting of the supervisors held at Clarion on Monday, Chairman John Greenlander was authorized and empowered to enter into an agreement with William Beuttler of Sioux City for architectural services in connection with the proposed jail building. Mr. Beuttler was architect for Belmond Community hospital, Ramsay Elementary school and the remodeling of Steele Memorial clinic.

Would Cost About $65,000

Mr. Greenlander informed The Independent on Tuesday that the supervisors have in mind replacing the repeatedly condemned, present jail with a new structure on the same site and to serve the same multiple purpose. The existing jail building also provides living quarters for the county sheriff and his family.

According to tentative plans drafted by Mr. Beuttler, the new jailhouse would be a one story building constructed of brick. Mr. Beuttler estimates the construction cost would approximate $43,000, jail equipment would run about $16,000 and contingent costs would put the total in the neighborhood of $65,000.

Grand Juries Asked Action

District court grand juries for the past several years have filed resolutions with the clerk of court recommending that the jail be replaced and that action to this end be initiated by the board of supervisors. The aged, rickety brick building is about 80 years old and has been deteriorating rapidly in recent years.

After inspecting the jail last year, State Fire Marshal Zack Cook drew up a long list of improvements and repairs that would be necessary to place it in satisfactory condition, even on a temporary basis.

Repair Impractical

Mr. Greenlander stated that such a rejuvenation project would cost around $15,000. It would be very impractical from a financial standpoint, he added, in view of the buildings general obsolescence.

County Attorney Ben Birdsall is currently investigating the correct legal procedure that will have to be followed to submit the special proposition at the November election. In the meantime, Mr. Greenlander said, detailed plans and specifications for the contemplated new building are expected from Mr. Beuttler within a couple of weeks.

Tyrrell's Grove Eyed as Scout Camp Site

Tyrrell grove and some adjacent land to the south of Belmond is currently one of several sites under consideration by the Winnebago Council of Boy Scouts as a new location for its Scout camp. Two visits to Belmond were made last week by Pete De Jong of Mason City, council Scout executive, and Frank Rogers of New York City, civil engineer on the staff of Boy Scouts of America Inc. to investigate the matter.

According to Mr. De Jong, real estate development in the vicinity of Camp Roosevelt, the present council camp, has made clear that the period of usefulness for its present purpose is nearly at an end. There are only 23 acres in the Roosevelt camp site and it is becoming more and more closely hemmed in with each passing year.

Several Sites Considered

Both the Winnebago executive and Mr. Rogers have been looking into a number of potential camp sites in the council area to determine which has the most merit. They regard that the wooded area near Belmond has a number of attractive aspects, but no decision on the matter will be made immediately. There is no reason at this time to believe that the local site is under any more serious consideration than several others.

The two Scout representatives conferred Friday night with R. W. Courson, district Scout chairman, Chet Hiddleston and Luin Cox, Chamber of Commerce president and secretary, respectively; and Dr. L. R. Parsons, who some 15 years ago led a move toward establishment of an artificial lake in the grove area. Mr. De Jong and Mr. Rogers returned Sunday morning to go over the land in question and they have requested an air map of the area for further study.

Lake Would Be Created

Should the Belmond camp site be selected, a lake would be created by damming the creek that runs through it. The development would be strictly a private one under sole jurisdiction of the Boy Scouts. The rugged beauty of the timberland and the practicality of establishing an artificial lake on the site impressed the visitors favorably.

Back in 1937-38 the effort to have a lake constructed in virtually the same location seemed to be headed for success and only final details remained to be worked out. A change in state administration resulted in an abrupt turnabout on the project, though, and a great deal of work done by Doctor Parsons and some others keenly interested in the project went for naught.

Attendance at Camp Roosevelt has been steadily increasing in late years and this summer a total of at least 800 Boy Scouts and Explorers are expected to spend time there between its opening on June 13 and the closing date of July 24th. This year a staff of 21 persons will be required to conduct the various phases of the camp's operation.

SEVEN SHOTS All Misses

Nary a cent left the till as a result of Tuesday afternoon's Cash Gift Day drawings this week, although some near misses were bemoaned as the seven winning numbers were announced. Consequently, another $75 is being added to next Tuesday's "kitty," bringing the total available cash to $375. Prizes at 2:00 p. m. will remain the same — a half dozen worth $25 each. But to this week's $150 prize for the 3:00 o'clock draw will be added a second one worth $75. With vacation time coming soon, who couldn't use a nice windfall? You gotta be present to win the dough, tho.

Scouts in Annual Spring Camporee

Belmond Scouts rather stole the show as 170 Boy Scouts, Explorers and their leaders participated in the annual spring camporee of Arrowhead District, which was held last Saturday at Beeds lake near Hampton. Belmond had the largest delegation present — 36 boys and three leaders; also took top honors when advancements were awarded.

Thirteen Scout troops and Explorer posts from Wright and Franklin counties took part in the camporee. Bud Packard, Glen Eccles and Dick Evenson accompanied Belmond Post 16 and Troop 16 as leaders.

At the court of honor held in conjunction with the closing ceremonies, Bill Kaufman and Douglas Saunders of Belmond were elevated to Star Scout rank. Thirteen local boys became Second Class Scouts: Kenneth Hawley, Jeff Hansen, Thomas White, John Murray, Walter Hotvet, Jerry Kaduce, Robert Lerdal, Howard Mussell, Alan Flanagan, Roger Hoppel, Michael Long, Robert Stadtlander and Howard Johnson. Star Scout rank was also bestowed on Dick Evenson.

Approximately 150 parents and friends joined the campers at noon Sunday for a picnic lunch. Members of the Hampton Archery club gave a demonstration in the afternoon.

Doctor Classick's Father Succumbs

D. W. Classick, 88, father of Dr. H. J. Classick, passed away very unexpectedly of a heart attack last Sunday night at Sioux Falls, S. D. Doctor and Mrs. Classick and Carolyn had been at Sioux Falls on Saturday and Sunday and the elderly gentleman had seemed in customary good health when they departed for home.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at Hurley, S. D. Doctor Classick and his wife and daughter were present for the rites, as were the Classicks' two sons — Harold, Jr., of Bartlesville, Okla., and Les of Cedar Falls — and their families.

Surviving besides the son living in Belmond are Mr. Classick's wife, three other sons and five daughters.

FIRST BAND CONCERT

Director Roland Brom announces that the Belmond High school band will present the first of a series of summer concerts next Wednesday evening at the city park, starting at 8:00 o'clock.

Niece Endeavors To Set Aside Will Of Walter Davis

On Wednesday of last week, Berniece I. Jacobson of Belmond filed in district court a petition asking that a document dated Nov. 12, 1952, and purporting to be the last will and testament of her late uncle, Walter M. Davis, be declared invalid. She asks that, instead, an earlier instrument dated April 3, 1951, be declared as his legal will.

Defendants named in the petition are Luin B. Cox, designated in the '52 will as executor of Mr. Davis' estate, and the benificiaries thereunder — Grace B. Davis, Vernon E. Davis, Henry G. and Lucille Mennenga.

Claims Undue Influence

It is contended in Mrs. Jacobson's petition that her uncle was of unsound mind when he executed the 1952 document that superceded the previous will. She further contends that Mr. and Mrs. Mennenga wielded such influence over Mr. Davis in inducing him to execute the second instrument that "the mind of the deceased was overcome."

The initial will left Mr. Davis' tools and household goods to Elmer Jacobson, the plaintiff's husband, and named Mrs. Jacobson as beneficiary with her uncle's son, Vernon Davis, to share equally in the liquidated proceeds of the elderly man's estate.

Equity Petition, Also

On the same day the petition was filed, R. A. Henderson appeared in district court in behalf of the four defendants and asked that the court quash service of original notice of Mrs. Jacobson's action. He also asked that the action be dismissed on the grounds that the original petition was not filed in district court, as the notice declared had been done.

A week earlier, Mrs. Jacobson had filed another court action — a petition in equity — naming Henry G. and Lucille Mennenga as defendants. Mrs. Mennenga is also a niece of the late Mr. Davis. This petition asked the court to cancel a deed by which Mr. Davis had given the Mennengas possession of a piece of Belmond property.

Defendants Ask Time

It is contended by Mrs. Jacobson that the deed was drawn as a result of undue influence wielded over Mr. Davis by the Mennengas. He had agreed to give them the property, states the petition, in return for their providing room and board. He was 79 years old at the time, Mrs. Jacobson states, and the consideration paid by the defendants subsequent to the property transfer aggregated less than one-half the market value of the premises in question.

Two Honors to Alice Ann Fischer For Record as SUI Student Nurse

Alice Ann Fischer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman C. Fischer of Meservey, has recently received two honors at the State University of Iowa, where she is a senior student in the school of nursing.

Latest recognition came in the form of the Carmolita Calderwood Scholarship, which is awarded annually to an SUI senior in the school of nursing. The $250 grant for advanced study in nursing was won by Miss Fischer on the strength of the fine record she has made as an undergraduate student.

Another distinction came Miss Fischer's way this month when she was initiated as a member of the Gamma chapter of Sigma Theta Tau, the only national scholastic honorary society in nursing in the U. S. Membership is based on scholastic, professional and personal qualifications.

Last summer and summer before, Miss Fischer spent several weeks of vacation from school duties at work on the Belmond Community hospital nursing staff. She plans to take a position on the University hospital staff at Iowa City for a year before making use of her scholarship.

TWO FORMER BELMONDITES LEAD PEACE OFFICERS' PISTOL SHOOT

Annual pistol shoot of the Wright County Peace Officers association was held Monday at Kerchival's gravel pit, southwest of Belmond, with former members of the Belmond Police department grabbing a lion's share of the honors. Firing was done with a .38 pistol, 12 gauge shotgun, .45 Thompson sub-machinegun and .30 calibre rifle.

E. W. "Curly" Lucas, erstwhile Belmond officer who is now a member of the Clarion police force, was all-events winner and topped the 15 competing peace officers in two of the individual events — revolver and sub-machinegun.

Former Belmond Police Chief Dale Walrod, now deputy sheriff, achieved a perfect 10-out-of-10 score with the riot gun to take that division. It was the first perfect score ever turned in at one of the county pistol shoots.

Sheriff Rob Blecker led the parade with the 30-cal. rifle. Six communities had representatives at the shoot. Chief Art Awe, Harold Smith and Harry Lamb were present from Belmond. Conservation Officers Bill Ayers and James Gregory served as range bosses during the full day of firing.

"These shoot are very essential training for the county's peace officers," Sheriff Blecker observed in reporting the results of the competition. "It is important that all of them know how to use all these weapons. A fall shoot is also planned this year, to provide the men with additional practice."

Rites on Tuesday For Mrs. Braner

Mrs. Henry Braner, for 70 years a resident of the Belmond community, passed away last Saturday at the age of 91. Funeral services were held at Immanuel Reformed church Tuesday afternoon, Rev. O. G. Poppen officiating and Fulton Funeral home in charge. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Surviving are two sons, Wessel and Harm Braner, and a daughter, Mrs. H. B. Gruis, all of Belmond. Mrs. Braner also leaves 10 grandchildren and 17 great grandchildren. A complete obituary will appear next week.

Early Enrollment For Annual Swim Course Requested

This year's water safety program for the children of Belmond and vicinity, under sponsorship of the Belmond chapter of the American Red Cross, will get underway about the middle of June. Mrs. Robert Garms will be in charge assisted by Mrs. L. M. Helland. Tom Hand, Clarion High school coach, will be pool manager.

According to Mr. Hand the exact date on which the pool will open is still uncertain. Nevertheless, Mrs. Garms would like to get registration started at once so the bulk of it will be out of the way before swimming classes start.

Children in the chapter area between the ages of seven and 15 inclusive, are eligible to register. The fee will, as usual, be $2.50. This covers less than a third of the cost. The balance of the program's expense is met out of local Red Cross funds. At present, it is contemplated that the entire Belmond group will go to the Clarion pool three mornings each week, over the six-week period.

Youngsters can register any day next week between 2:00 and 5:00 p. m. at the home of either Mrs. Garms or Mrs. Helland. Mrs. Garms urges that a parent accompany each child at the time of registration and that the $2.50 fee be paid when the child is enrolled.

It is important that the total enrollment be known as soon as possible so it can be learned how many busses will be needed for transportation and to enable the pool director to schedule the classes.

Mrs. Garms also asks that mothers or others who might be willing to accompany the busses as chaperones should give their names to her or Mrs. Helland.

Holiday Monday

Belmond Chamber of Commerce publishes a reminder in this issue that local business places are to close next Monday, May 31, in formal observance of Memorial Day. Because of the holiday, The Independent will be published one day later than usual. So if you don't get your paper at the customary time, be not dismayed. It will be along with the next mail delivery.

BUTERBAUGH MEMORIALS

Mrs. Neil Flanagan reports that $25 in memorials have been received in the name of her mother, the late Mrs. R. E. Buterbaugh, and the money has been presented to the Alexander Community Methodist church to be added to its foreign missions fund.

Belmond Will Pay Annual Tribute To Departed Servicemen on Sunday

Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock tribute will again be paid to those Belmond men who lost their lives while wearing the uniform of their country and to others who saw service in the armed forces and have since passed on. This year's Memorial Day services will be in the charge of Pierce-Zeiger post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. They will, as customary, be held at the city cemetery.

Following the plan of previous years, the color guard and firing squad of the American Legion and VFW posts, the high school band, Explorer Scouts and Boy Scouts and the Camp Fire Girls will form up at Veterans' Memorial hall. These groups will parade from the hall to Main street and then east to the Rock Island tracks, where transportation will be provided the rest of the way to the cemetery.

Servicemen Invited

Participants in the parade are asked by VFW Commander Stanley Ahlstrom to gather at the Vets' hall at 1:30 p. m. All veterans of the two World Wars and those who saw service during the war in Korea are also urged to take part in the parade. A special invitation is issued to any men currently in uniform, who may be home on leave, to join in the Memorial Day march. Veterans and men in uniform are requested to gather a half hour earlier, at 1:00 o'clock.

Widdel to Speak

Flags will be placed on all servicemen's graves by the Explorer Scouts and the graves will be decorated with flowers by members of Boy Scout troop 16 Sunday morning. Rev. Leo Widdel will deliver the commemorative address at the city cemetery and the traditional song, "Sleep, Soldier Boy, Sleep," will be sung by Gene Mehl. Commander Ahlstrom will read the tribute to the war dead and the honor roll will be read by Dr. R. E. Misner.

Concluding the rites, the band will play the "Star Spangled Banner," a salute will be fired by the firing squad and taps will be sounded as the colors are raised to full mast.

HONOR ROLL ON PAGE 6

Annual publication of Belmond's Memorial Day Roll of Honor, listing names of those men who have died while wearing the uniform of their country, is to be found on Page 6. It is printed under the sponsorship of the local posts of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Ted Bonte Sells Hardware Store

Announcement was made this week by Ted Bonte, proprietor of Bonte Hardware, that he has sold his business to Lloyd Lewis of Northwood. When Mr. Lewis takes possession of the business on July 1, it will mark the retirement of one of Belmond's oldest business men from the standpoint of years of activity in local business circles.

Mr. Bonte has been in the hardware trade here for 32 years, with only a brief interval at other lines of work just prior to the opening of his present store 11 years ago. He got his start in the hardware business as clerk for Johnson and Wright, for whom he worked nine years. He later worked for Cato Griesy for 12 years.

It is Mr. Bonte's plan to take life easier after helping the new owner of the store inventory the stock about the middle of next month. Mr. Lewis plans to do a considerable amount of remodeling after he takes the store over.

Mr. Lewis is married and has one child, a son nine months old. He is an experienced hand at the hardware business. He was employed for some time by Kurtz Hardware of Des Moines and the past five years has worked for Nelson Hardware at Northwood.

Rally Day Slated Here on June 5th

Belmond will be the site of this year's 4-H Rally Day, top event of the club girls' spring and summer activity season. It will be held at the high school on June 5, a week from Saturday, starting at 10:00 a. m.

Major events on the program are campaigning for and election of county officers, their installation, initiation of honorary members, the music recognition contest and music by the 4-H chorus.

Six clubs have nominated candidates for county office and managers to direct those candidates' election campaigns. Girls who have been nominated for office are: Gloria Rabe, Belmond Busy Bees; Kay Whitten, Iowa U-Go-I-Go; Jeanine Hardy, Grant Go-Getters; Shirley Martinson, Lincoln Lassies League; Sharon Bruhl, Dayton Dandies; and Yvonne Campbell, Woolstock Willing Workers.

PLANS SET FOR POLICE RADIO STATION HERE

Belmond will within a few weeks become headquarters for a police radio base station, the seventh such station that has been set up to service the state. Actually, it will be located on the R. E. Courson Estate farm located 4½ miles north of town, which is tenanted by George Roskamp. Two acres of land were purchased as site for the station.

Besides a 320-foot broadcasting tower, the station will include a 24x46 foot frame building that will house the transmitting and receiving equipment. A staff of four will man the station — three operators and one maintenance superintendent. Personnel will be on duty 24 hours a day. One man, and sometimes two, will have the duty at a time.

Boyd Porter of Des Moines, director of the radio communications division of the state department of safety, was in Belmond on Tuesday clearing final details preparatory to erecting the station. He says the total cost of the establishment will run from $30,000 to $35,000. In today's paper, on page 2, Mr. Porter invites sealed bids on construction of the station building.

Contract for building the local station house will likely be let by the state executive committe on June 21, according to Mr. Porter. Construction of the radio tower will be started the first week in June, according to present plans, and the building will be put up as soon as possible after the tower is completed.

Present base stations nearest Belmond are at Storm Lake and Cedar Falls. Neither does a satisfactory job of covering the territory in which the new station will be centered. These base stations maintain contact with the state highway patrol and the Federal Bureau of Investigation and also link with county and city police radio systems.

Equipped with a three-kilowatt transmitter, the base stations are able to broadcast effectively up to 100 miles, with best reception possible up to 60 or 75 miles.

Mr. Porter states that the station will be equipped with a transmitter of the latest type, which will have a surpressor especially designed to reduce interference with TV to a minimum. Since the police circuit operates on a frequency of 42.58 megocycles, sets with 40 megocycle intermediate frequency may suffer some distortion if within 600 to 700 feet of the tower. Mild interference may be experienced up to a mile away.

Owners of sets that seem to be affected by the police broadcasts can cure most of their difficulties by having their serviceman install a proper filter, Mr. Porter says. He adds that the station is usually "on the air" not more than an hour to an hour and a half each day, aggregate time.

Disorganized Tomahawks Scheduled For First Quad-County Tilt Sunday

Belmond's Tomahawks are scheduled to make their season's start this Sunday at Swaledale in a Quad-County league game, but at mid-week the local ball team appeared something less than well organized. No initial practice had been called and no manager was lined up to handle the team in its opening contest.

At a meeting held last Thursday evening at the Bowl-Mor, a joint managership was worked out to direct the team during the season — if a full-time manager cannot be obtained.

Jack Lansing, Charley Studebaker, Gus Taylor and Claude Larkin agreed to handle the Tomahawks on alternate Sundays; but none of the four will be available for the first game. Ways and means of financing the team and acquiring some needed, new uniforms were also up in the air. But there appeared to be plenty of players interested in contending for positions on the team if the other details can be worked out satisfactorily.

At last week's meeting, a full league schedule was charted for the eight teams in the Quad-County loop. The card calls for the Tomahawks to make their first home appearance on Sunday, June 6, with Eagle Grove furnishing the opposition.

In the meantime, all of the volunteer, part-time managers would be happy to step back for a full-time successor if one can be found. Anyone interested in survival of semi-pro ball in Belmond, who would be willing to guide the Tomahawks through their '54 campaign, is asked to contact Lansing or Larkin and make that willingness known.

Baltimore Orioles To Hold Tryouts Here on June 4-5

Jack Lansing has received word from Hugh Lott, chief midwestern scout for the Baltimore Orioles, that a two-day tryout camp will be held here on June 4-5. This is the third year that Lott has conducted trials here. The two previous camps were sponsored by the now extinct St. Louis Browns, who were replaced in the American league by the Orioles.

Last year five ball players aspiring to big league careers were offered contracts on the basis of their performances during the Belmond tryout. Lansing expects a good turn-out of boys again this year, since a camp of this sort constitutes one of the best opportunities for a promising player to get a start in "pro" ball.

Only candidates who have graduated from high school are eligible for contracts, under major league regulations. All try-outers are asked to come equipped with baseball shoes, glove and uniform. Full-day sessions will be held both Friday and Saturday, June 4th and 5th, if the number of players on hand requires. Trials will get under way on the first morning at 9:30 o'clock.

One of last year's candidates was offered a $1,000 bonus if he'd sign a contract, Lansing reports; and another was sent south for spring training. So a genuine chance to "break into the game" is offered by tryout camps like the one scheduled here.

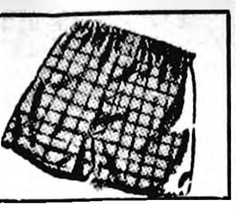
—PAT'S— SPORTS SHORTS



Coach Dick Hobbs, who'll be taking the reins as BHS athletic director this fall, had to swallow a bitter cup of brew at the Class B state high school track meet Saturday. His Sigourney team figured to be one of the top contenders for the title, with a big share of its chances riding on the hefty arm of Kerlin Steinmetz, his weight star. Steinmetz was a lead-pipe cinch to win both the shot put and discus, on the basis of past performances.

So what happens? The Sigourney squad arrives at Ames with the burly Steinmetz complaining of severe abdominal pains — and he's clapped into the Iowa State college infirmary with acute appendicitis!

In his district meet, Steinmetz had tossed the shot 53 feet 10 inches and the discus 142-5. The Class B state championship performances in those two events were 50-7½ and 137-1¾. So Sigourney ended up with only 12 points and way down in 11th place instead of having a total of 24 for 3rd place. Hobbs nevertheless produced one state title-winner. Ken Bales took the mile run in the fine time of 4:33.9.

—PSS—

North Iowa conference athletes, as usual, cut a very small figure at the state track meet. Two got "in the money" in the Class B competition. Big Jon Swenson racked up three points for Lake Mills with a third in the shot put; and Jim Nielson of Britt finished 4th in the 440 to count a couple of points for the Eagles. . . . With Hobbs' enthusiasm for track, could be that Belmond will be in there pitching for state meet points within a year or so, mebbe?

—PSS—

Status of the Belmond entry in the Quad-County baseball league stands very much in doubt, right at the present. Nobody seems to want to manage the outfit — or take responsibility for getting it squared away financially. Eagle Grove was in the same situation from the money standpoint until the town's fans were told there would be no organized ball unless a minimum of 200 season tickets were sold at $6 per.

Within three days, a total of 208 season ducats were peddled to give the Legionnaires sufficient capital to start out on. Wonder if that would work in Belmond? It would unquestionably help attendance if a couple of hundred seats were already sold in advance of each game

Belmond has been a fair to middlin' baseball town for a good many years — and there are a lot of young fellows around here who would like to play this season. But no team can exist without managment and financial backing. True, managing a semi-pro team is pretty much a labor of love. But there should be SOMEONE around who likes the sport well enough to step into the gap. Who'll it be?

—PSS—

Peewee ball isn't due to get underway, officially, until the PTA summer recreation program starts a couple of weeks or so hence. But there's no lack of interest detectable in the small-fry ranks. At the rate the kids have been going at it, they should be in mid-season form by the time Peewee League play begins.

Present plans call for a four-team loop, as usual, with the four quarters of town being divided into the Yanks, Cubs, Cards and Braves.

First "regular" game of the season was played last week between the Yanks and the Braves, which the latter won by a 13-12 count. A highlight of the battle was a home run by Tommy Middleton. Mark Mason and Robbie Courson twirled for the winners, with Johnny Murray behind the plate. Jeff Hansen and Emmett Studebaker pitched for the losers and Gary Porter caught.

Picnic Concludes School Activities

Goodell's school concluded its final year of existence under jurisdiction of the Goodell Independent School district with a picnic last Friday on the school grounds. In an accompanying ball game, the dads showed members of the school team that the old skill was still there by handing the GHS nine a trimming.

Next fall, children from the Goodell area in the six upper grades will attend school at Belmond. The first six grades will continue to function at Goodell, but under administration of the Belmond Community School district. Goodell teachers for the coming year will be Mrs. Grant Chapman, Mrs. Carl Robbins and Mrs. Jim Carlson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Green and two children of Renwick spent Sunday in the home of his nephew, Lyle Green.

BOY SCOUT TROOP ENJOYS OUTING AT LAZY-H RANCH

Carl Green and Arthur Lowenberg loaded their cars with the 11 local Boy Scouts and took them to Lazy-H Ranch near Pilot Knob, Forest City, Saturday morning.

There the boys set up camp and Mr Green remained with them during the day. Gerald Burk, the Scout leader, went to the ranch to stay overnight with them.

Sunday the families of the Scouts went to the ranch for a picnic dinner. The Boy Scout members were presented their camporee badges on Sunday before returning to their homes.

Mrs. Joseph Burgess has signed a contract to teach in the Klemme school. Mrs. Leaown Proper who has taught there the past few years will again teach 6th grade there.

Ernest Palmer

Republican Candidate for Governor

THIS is your opportunity to vote for your own betterment. Palmer's pattern for progress includes: Stepped-up efforts to bring new industry to Iowa with emphasis on plants to process farm products; • increased agricultural research to develop new uses and markets; • far-reaching road improvement program on a pay-as-we-go basis • a special program to eliminate chronic accident spots on roads in every county; • a juvenile conference plan to work with juvenile delinquents and their parents to prevent court records; • no increase in income, property or use taxes. . . . Palmer has worked closely with all branches of state government. He knows the job and is qualified to do it well.

DICK BARKEMA, JR.

Had the pleasure this week of visiting with one of this bank's newest depositors in the person of Dick Barkema, Jr., who is now farming on his own for the first time on the recently purchased 160 acres just west of Goodell.

Dick was also recently married, just last September, to Kathryn Halfpap.

When we spotted Dick he was in the hog house looking after his 12 sows and about 90 spotted Poland China pigs, and we observed that all the pigs were doing well, except one. Dick will also have 21 head of cattle on pasture this summer. His wife will tend to a flock of 300 Leghorn pullet chicks which were already 4 weeks old at the time of our visit.

Dick a former army man with 14 months in Japan is pretty happy with his set up. Farming beats army life all hollow even when you must start fresh and buy all new machinery to begin operations, which he did. He is also happy over the first improvement on the farm, the extension of the water system to the barn and hog house.

He has his crop plans all set up and is off to a good start.

NOTICE

Resolution For the Destruction of Noxious Weeds

To All Property Owners:

BE IT RESOLVED, by the Board of Supervisors of Wright County, Iowa:

That pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 317, Code of Iowa, 1950, as amended by Chapter 108, Acts 54 G. A., it is hereby ordered:

1. That each owner and each person in the possession or control of any lands in Wright County shall cut, burn, or otherwise destroy all noxious weeds thereon, as defined in this chapter, at such times in each year and in such manner as shall prevent said weeds from blooming or coming to maturity, and shall keep said lands free from such growth of any other weeds as shall render the streets or highways adjoining said land unsafe for public travel. Noxious weeds shall be cut or otherwise destroyed on or before the following dates and as often thereafter as is necessary to prevent seed production.

Group 1. June 1, 1954, for Leafy Spurge, Perennial Pepper grass, Sour Dock, Smooth Dock, Sheep Sorrel.
Group 2. June 1, 1954, for Canada Thistle, Russian Knapweed, Buckhorn, Wild Mustard.
Group 3. July 15, 1954, for Field Bindweed, Wild Carrot.
Group 4. July 15, 1954, for Horse Nettle, Perennial Sow Thistle, Quack Grass, Butter-Print, Puncture Vine, Cocklebur, Bull Thistle.

2. That each owner and each person in the possession or control of any lands in Wright County infested with any noxious weeds including quack grass, perennial sow thistle, Canada thistle, field bindweed, horse nettle, leafy spurge, perennial peppergrass, Russian knapweed, shall adopt a program of weed destruction, described by the Weed Commissioner, which in five years may be expected to destroy and will immediately keep under control such infestations of said noxious weeds.

3. That if the owners or persons in possession or control of any land in Wright County fail to comply with the foregoing orders, the Weed Commissioner shall cause this to be done and the expense of said work, including costs of serving notice and other costs, if any, to be assessed against the real estate.

4. That the County Auditor be and is hereby directed to cause notice of the making and entering of the foregoing order by one publication in each of the newspapers of the county.

CHICK CHATS

PULLETS AND PUDDLES . . .

Here's hoping we have a lot of damp days this spring. We sure need the dampness. But damp weather threatens the chicks on range. Seems like the blessing is a bit mixed.

Let's say puddles turn up on the range. Puddles make a super dandy place for germs and bugs to grow. And chickens will take to these puddles for drinking—just like a kid who likes to drink out of a hose rather than the glass in the kitchen. If some of these large puddles do turn up on your range, fence them off. Make the birds drink the nice, clean water you give them. If they have enough waterers, maybe they won't fly over the fence to the puddles.

Damp ground is an ideal place for the worm eggs and coccidiosis bugs to board, too. Fact of the matter is that sometimes even dry ground will hold these bugs.

So check for worms and coccidiosis regularly on range. Worm a small sample of the least thrifty birds every month. Coop them up on wire at worming time. Examine the droppings for worms. If there are worms, worm the whole flock. In fact, worm them twice — two weeks apart. Get 'em cleaned out. No use in feeding worms too when the chickens will eat enough as it is. Some flocks need to be wormed monthly throughout their lifetime.

Keep checking the flock for coccidiosis. If you see a number of droopy birds, call the service man. He'll post one and tell you the trouble — and how to cure it. If it's coccidiosis, especially if it's chronic type, you'll want to treat for it as soon as you can. It can really cost you chickens now and eggs later.

These troubles come calling especially in damp weather. Like I said, I hope we get some damp weather. But along with it, watch your chickens. Damp ground may make it tougher to keep them healthy. And healthy chickens are the only kind that'll do anybody any good.

Wright Bond Sale Over Half Million During 1st Quarter

Charles Kramer of Clarion, Wright county chairman of the savings bonds division, announced recently that purchases of series E and H savings bonds in the county during March amounted to $214,157, compared with March, 1953, sales of $127,284

Total purchases of E and H bonds in the county for the first quarter of this year reached $569,618 for 42.03 per cent of the 1954 quota, Mr. Kramer said.

Purchases for all counties in Iowa totalled $16,744,854 during March, bringing the first quarter sales to $51,736,781 for 37 per cent of the state's 1954 quota. The three-month total was 35 per cent greater than the first quarter of 1953.

National Sales Good

Nationally sales were good, too, according to Mr. Kramer. Total sales in March of series E and H bonds were $474,120,000, making a three-month total for 1954 of $1,380,571,000. This put the nation at 26 per cent of its 1954 quota, and 15 per cent ahead of the first quarter of 1953.

Savings bonds purchases for the first quarter, and percentages of annual quotas attained, in adjacent counties were: Hancock county, $135,132, 42.22 per cent; Franklin county, $139,101, 44.59 per cent; Humboldt county, $111,704, 41.92 per cent; Hamilton county, $102,462, 36.56 per cent.

Quota Over Half Reached

Purchases of series E and H bonds in Wright county during April amounted to $154,188, bringing the four-month total to $723,736 or 53.4 per cent of the year's quota. Mr. Kramer reports that April purchases for the entire state amounted to $12,920,466, an increase of 23.19 per cent over April, 1953.

Not only have sales in most Iowa counties been outstanding, says Mr. Kramer, but it is encouraging to note that bond owners are continuing to hold them. Of all the series E bonds which have matured since 1951, only 25 per cent of them have been redeemed.

April sales in neighboring counties during April were: Franklin $76,794, Hancock $77,693, Hamilton $77,167 and Humboldt $84,115.

Republicans Pick County Delegates

Names of delegates to the Wright county convention of the Republican party from Belmond and vicinity were released this week by County Chairman M. B. Crabbe of Eagle Grove. This convention will be held at the district courtroom at Clarion on July 2.

Belmond will have 14 delegates, five each from the 2nd and 3rd Wards and four from the 1st. They will be: 1st Ward — H. C. Stokke, Rita Schaal, D. R. Schaal, Cora Greenlander; 2nd Ward — C. C. Christie, Miriam Gowdy, Dr. C. J. Neuman, Mildred Schultz, R. B. Thompson; 3rd Ward — Gladys Henderson, Clark McNeal, Elsie Pitcher, J. R. Gallagher, Don Bunnell.

At the Belmond township caucus the delegates named were: L. B. Oberhauser, Leona Bras, Friend C. Bras; Pleasant — Mrs. Henry Menenga, Walt Hotvet; Norway — Lewis Tesdahl, Hubert Heimstra, Gerhard Thompson.

One of the heavier-voting precincts in the 1952 general election was Iowa township, which is entitled to seven delegates to the county convention. Those selected were: J. I. Knuths, Nina Knuths, Marc Ihm, Katherine Ihm, F. A. Whitten, Preston Tyrrell, H. L. Pesch.

BOB BENSON DISCHARGED

Robert Benson, son of Ben T. Benson, on Tuesday morning returned home after receiving his release from the U. S. Air Force. He had been in uniform for four years, spending much of that time in England as a USAF fire-fighter. He had attained the rating of Airman 1/c. En route home he stopped over at Quincy, Ill., to visit his brother Albert and family.

Don Spier of Lincoln, Nebr., was a weekend guest in the Joe McLaughlin home. On Sunday, Mr. Spier, Mr. and Mrs. Joe McLaughlin and Joey, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Tideback, Bill Tideback, Sr., and Craig Tracy enjoyed a picnic in Mc Intash park at Clear Lake.

Final Rites Held For Mrs. Egemo

Funeral services were held Monday at 2:00 p. m. at the Lutheran church of Kanawha for Mrs. Howard Egemo, 45, of Eagle Grove. The deceased was a sister of Mrs. Marson Nelson and Mrs. Arald Riekens of Belmond. Rev. Perry Sampson conducted the final rites and burial was in Kanawha cemetery. Mrs. Egemo died very suddenly last Thursday night following a heart attack.

Born on Oct. 29, 1908, Esther Marie Berhow was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Berhow. The family lived on a farm west of Goodell for about 30 years. After the mother died in 1927, Esther helped care for her younger brothers and sisters until her marriage to Howard Egemo of Goodell. Mr. and Mrs. Egemo lived at Goodell, Osceola and Cylinder prior to moving to their present home at Eagle Grove.

One child was born to the Egemos, a son who died in infancy. Surviving are Mrs. Egemo's father and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. James (Clara) Jackson of Yakima, Wash., Galen Berhow of Kanawha, Mrs. Albert (Ruth) Lotspeich of Mojave, Calif., Mrs. Onno (Edith) Ter Hark of Clarion, James Berhow of Joice, Mrs. Arthur (Ruby) Zeigler of Goodell, Verla Nelson and Edna Riekens of Belmond.

". . . that these dead shall not have died in vain"

On Memorial Day, how better can we honor our departed heroes than to rededicate ourselves to the cause for which they gave "the last full measure of devotion?" Let us so live as to prove worthy of their supreme sacrifice. Let us be constantly alert to guard the priceless heritage of Liberty they fought so nobly to preserve. In their memory, let us pledge our thoughts, words and deeds to the single high purpose of keeping America strong . . . so that America may remain forever free.

Tiny Fawn Seen By Local Angler

Doug Sharp, Belmond Barber, reports seing a tiny fawn near the Iowa river bank while he was fishing south of town last weekend. The little animal was so "new" it was still stiff-legged and wobbly; Doug estimates it was probably no more than a week old.

Although he is sure its mother was nearby, Doug says he saw nothing of the doe. He was able to walk right up to the fawn and pet it, but refrained from the impulse to take it home.

The state conservation commission says that many "lost" wildlife babies are foolishly "kidnaped" at this time of year and censures the practice as cruel as well as unlawful.

By "rescuing" baby animals, picnickers and fishermen more often than not sentence the little creatures to an early death. If they do survive, they can never return to their wild state because they have lost their fear of man. Many even become quite dangerous and there have been several cases of Iowans being attacked and injured by "pet" deer, the commission reports.

PAYS OFF WITH BIGGER YIELDS

Knock the weeds out of your growing crops with a Winpower Rotary Cultivator. The off-set "cross-cut" tooth action gives you greater soil disturbance and better cultivation. Break crusts, break clods, pulverize the soil the way you like it. Crops grow faster — stay greener with this type of cultivation.

Come and see for yourself how this tillage tool makes bigger, better crops. See the heavy-duty construction that will give you years of trouble-free service. Give your crops this faster, cleaner start with a WINPOWER Rotary Cultivator.

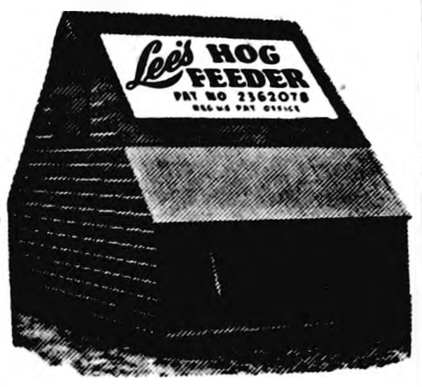
MESERVEY NEWS

BY MRS. MOODY QUANDT

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin N. Smith spent the weekend in Wisconsin visiting their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Miles and Kathy. Kathy returned home with them Sunday to spend several weeks.



● Give your pigs a good start on clean ground with a Lee self- feeder. Get them away from filthy contaminated yards.

● The only big Gravity Type Self-feeder on the market that will feed all kinds of mixed ground grain at all times and in all kinds of weather without bridging over next to feed trough. The secret that makes this feeder feed without bridging is this short throat and features thereof.

● This feeder is built with a short throat in the center and directly under the feed bin. At the top of this short throat are the feed breakers, which protrude over the air space.

● As the feed falls down from feed bin above by gravity these so-called feed breakers break up the feed so it isn't compact as it falls into the short throat. That leaves the feed loose along the sides of feeding troughs, making it easy to agitate the feed control swing gate.

● The so-called feed brakers besides breaking up the feed so it is loose, also act as a supporter to hold the weight of the feed above, off the feed in this short throat. This throat is short and doesn't hold much feed, therefore the weight of the feed in the throat itself will not cause it to become compact again.

● The big air space allows a good air circulation directly above the feed in throat and under feed breakers; it lets the heat out and lets cool air in to mix with the ground feed as it falls or rolls down the camel back, and it also keeps the feed in this short throat from heating again.

SEEMS LOGIC GOES OUT THE WINDOW WHEN POLITICAL CAMPAIGNS HEAT UP

Have you ever reflected upon the peculiar lines of reasoning that politics brings to the surface? Logic often goes out the window when politics flies in. For example, we note the Wright county chairman for the Republican party, our brother editor Maurie Crabbe at Eagle Grove, advocating that his cohorts get strongly behind Bill Nicholas — because the turkey-raising candidate for governor lives in north Iowa. As near as we could gather from Maurie's comments, Nicholas' No. 1 qualification for the job is geographical. To paraphrase an old and familiar joke, we'd say that is an 'ell of a way to choose a governor!

Then comes William S. Lynes with a sneer at Attorney General Leo Hoegh for promising an administration that would provide continued, conscientious law enforcement. Lynes has had four terms in the House and has been speaker during the past two general assemblies. He regards it as pretty ridiculous that his fellow candidate should consider law enforcement an issue of any consequence. It must follow that the Speaker of the House attaches no importance to the fact that Hoegh and his predecessor, Bob Larson, have maintained the strictest observance of gambling and liquor laws that has ever been achieved in Iowa.

The Democrats blithely promise a magical advance in highway improvement, inferring that THEY can do it without using money. Several candidates have been promising vast increases in state aid to schools, with never a hint as to how the funds are going to be obtained.

Of course, the voter is played as a sucker more often than not when a political race really gets hot. For some reason, the candidates feel they HAVE to talk big, whether good sense underlies their statements or not. To date, it strikes us that Ernest Palmer and Hoegh have — more than any of the other GOP governorship candidates — given the voters credit for possessing reasonable intelligence.

One thing we're sure of; when we cast our ballot on June 7th, we're going to be governed by the sense each candidate's campaign talk has made — NOT by where he lives.

BELMOND'S HOUSING CRISIS CALLS FOR SOME CONCERTED ACTION — NOW!

Anyone who has tried to find living quarters in Belmond in recent months — or attempted to help a new arrival find a house or apartment — is well aware that we have a housing problem here that has reached serious proportions. And it is certain to grow much, much worse in the not distant future. More than that, there seems to be utterly no prospect that it will solve itself. In fact, we'd say that it behooves all who are interesting in seeing Belmond grow and prosper to do some organized thinking and planning toward the end of alleviating the situation.

There has been no official announcement from General Mills regarding the number of families that the new feed mill will be bringing to Belmond, but if only 10 or a dozen should be involved it will critically complicate the housing situation. Tomahawk Hybrid Corn company is unquestionably destined to grow and will need to bring new personnel to town. Reorganization of the Belmond school district promises to add to the problem, as the faculty next fall will be larger than ever before and the peak has not yet been reached.

Conservatively speaking, it is possible that Belmond could put into prompt use at least 25 new housing units in the next year's time. The future development of our community hinges importantly on whether or not some valid steps can be taken to meet this problem. It's a problem to which both the Chamber of Commerce and the city administration should be devoting serious thought. An answer MUST be found.

In the meantime, it might help a little if a housing committee of some sort were set up that could keep on file an accurate, up-to-date list of all living accomodations available in Belmond. That would by no means be a solution, but it would save from hours of futile searching those newcomers to town who are getting their first impression of Belmond while conducting a desperate hunt for a house or apartment. Let's put our best foot forward.

DRIVE SENSIBLY, OR YOUR GRAVE MAY BE DECORATED NEXT MEMORIAL DAY

Ironically enough, 10 Iowans are marked for death during this coming Memorial Day weekend, when thousands of families will be taking to the highways to visit former homes and pay tribute at the graves of loved ones who have passed on.

That's the death toll that traffic accidents are destined to take if the casualty rate the state has been maintaining thus far this year prevails over the weekend, according to Pearl W. McMurry, state safety commissioner.

Patrol Chief David Herrick says there is little that his limited number of patrolmen can do to thwart the Man with the Scythe if drivers persist in the carelessness and indifference that have brought about Iowa's record-breaking total of highway fatalities in 1954. Each driver must take responsibility for his own safety, Chief Herrick warns. Your chances will be considerably improved, he adds, if you:

(1) Start early enough so you can arrive without speeding and drive a car that's been checked for mechanical safety. (2) Never pass unless there is ample clearance ahead, and OBEY those yellow lines. (3) Keep your attention on the road and traffic.

(4) Don't depend on the other driver to do the right thing. YOU do it. Yield right of way when in doubt. (5) Don't turn temper and impatience into foolish speed. Keep your car under control by keeping a conservative foot on the gas pedal.

· BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

It's not our wish to be critical regarding the product of Belmond's latest manufacturing concern, the Mar-Don company. But we feel they should know that that Lok-Tite fishmouth-spreader that was recently given to Gallagher in appreciation of publicity services rendered doesn't work. And it was "right out of the wrapper" when Pat got it, too.

The back shop gang saw it lying on Gallagher's desk. First Duane Anderson tried to put the snatch on it; then George (bolstered by seniority rights) asked to borrow it for his Canadian fishing jaunt. George got it.

And that's where Pat's complaint comes in. Along with all of George's fishing gear, that fishmouth spreader now lies on the bottom of Lac Seul. And it doesn't work any more. Not down on the bottom of that lake, it doesn't. Of course, if George had gone down with it—as he came uncomfortably close to doing—he probably wouldn't work very good right now, either.

—M-S—

We got chopped down to just about so big—and rightly so—for a thoughtless remark in last week's Main Street. While not intending to cast any aspersions on the facilities which the Greyhound cabin camp offers its guests, it was called to our attention that one comment certainly seemed to do just that. We're sorry and offer the Greyhound folks our apology. Actually, the camp provides its clientele up-to-the-minute accomodations in which the proprietors take justified pride.

Tuesday at Garner, GOP Governorship Candidate Ernest Palmer created somewhat of a statewide furor when he declared Attorney General Leo Hoegh of Chariton to be Governor Beardsley's "hand-picked" candidate for the Republican nomination. By an odd turn of events, the governor had an indirect hand in getting Palmer a good scolding as he was about to leave Belmond for Garner. Mainstreeter No. 3 was in the back seat of Palmer's car, so he can vouch for the incident.

Seems that Governor Beardsley sent out telegrams the other day to all sheriffs, police chiefs, etc., urging them to clamp down on traffic violators—but good. Apparently Chief Art Awe may have had this message in mind when he saw Palmer's car roll up to the stop sign at Main street and the highway.

To Art's notion, the car didn't make a thorough enough stop and he hailed the party down. The young ex-Marine who's currently chauffeuring Palmer on his rounds was covered with chagrin as the chief gave him and Palmer a stern, though friendly, lecture. Ye Ed will attest, however, that the young driver was otherwise about as cautious at that wheel as a man can be. Believe it or not, the car even passed through Goodell at only 25 miles an hour. It was a new experience for Yours Truly.

—M-S—

Palmer didn't get as much hand-shaking done in Belmond as he'd originally hoped. By the time he got here, he was so fagged out from his exhausting travels of the past few weeks that he took the opportunity to nap for a half hour at Clark McNeal's home before he went his way. If things turn out right for the young Fort Madison attorney, come next November the McNeal's may be able to tack a sign on the guest room door, "Governor Palmer slept here."

Many compliments have been received by the Belmond firemen, now that the new fire station is "up." It is a handsome addition to the town and a tribute to the high esteem in which the volunteer smoke-eaters are held. Incidentally, a fair share of the credit for the nice appearance of the building go to A. J. Dorr Sons, contractors responsible for its construction. The proprietors of the firm, in addition, made a cut in their charges that constituted a generous donation to the project.

Edna Krebs Hired As Hospital Nurse

Mrs. Ted Krebs, whose husband recently started a feed grinding and mixing business here, on Tuesday of this week joined the Belmond Community hospital staff as a general duty nurse. She was Edna Mennenga before her marriage and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mennenga.

A graduate nurse, Mrs. Krebs took her training at the Broadlawns hospital school of nursing at Des Moines about 10 years ago. During World War II she served a year in the U. S. Army Nurses corps.

GOP GOVERNOR NOMINEE RACE DOMINATES ELECTION INTEREST

In Wright county, as elsewhere in the state, greatest interest in next Monday's primary will not involve county political scraps but will be concentrated on the six-way race for the Republican governorship nomination.

Only one office on the county level will be contended for by rival GOP candidates. Myron Price of Clarion and Carroll Paulson of Dows both seek their party's nomination to the post of auditor.

This year's Democratic primary ballot will be unusual from the standpoint of listing a county candidate for state representative, William A. Cressey of Clarion. He is unopposed, as is the Republican candidate and incumbent, Clark H. McNeal of Belmond.

Four Seeking Reelection

All county office-holders will be running for reelection except Clerk of Court Bessie Johnson, who is currently filling that position by appointment after retirement of R. V. Goslin. Unopposed for GOP nominations, which in Wright county seems to be the equivalent of election, are: Sheriff Robert Blecker, Treasurer Harold E. Sullivan, Recorder Grace L. Fletcher and Attorney Ben Birdsall. Mrs. Johnson will be a first-time candidate and is also unopposed.

Among the half dozen Republicans after the governorship nomination, Ernest Palmer of Fort Madison and William Nicholas of Mason City reportedly have the heaviest backing. The other candidates are Attorney General Leo Hoegh of Chariton, Speaker of the House William S. Lynes of Waverly, A. B. Chambers of Des Moines and Ben Ellsworth of Ottumwa.

The Beardsley "Blight"

Wright county voters in 1952 showed a marked antipathy towards Gov. William Beardsley, and it appears likely that the Beardsley-candidate label which Palmer effectively pasted on Hoegh this week will diminish an earlier enthusiasm that had been shown for the Chariton attorney.

Polls will be open between 8:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. and will be located at the customary sites: 1st Ward — city library; 2nd Ward — city hall; 3rd Ward — high school. Newcomers to the community are reminded that the ward territories are divided as follows: 1st — all area south of Main street; 2nd — north of Main street and west of the library corner; 3rd — all east of the library corner and north of Main street.

FREE RIDES OFFERED

Belmond's League of Women Voters is again offering free transportation to the polls to any voter in need of a ride next Monday. A car will be dispatched if the voter calls No. 433. The league also plans to follow its past practice of identifying those persons who have exercised their franchise to vote by pinning a gold feather on them as they leave the polls. The Camp Fire Girls will do the pinning.

$100 CLAIMED THIS TUESDAY

Two Cash Gift Day prizes found claimants on Tuesday of this week, for a total of $100. At 2:00 p. m., Mrs. Klaas Wieman of Alexander came forth with No. 142, which was worth $25. At 3:00 o'clock, Ed Reasoner presented No. 1,167 and picked up a check for $75.

This coming Tuesday there will be seven cash prizes at stake. Once more, six $25 awards will be offered at 2:00 o'clock and at 3:00 p. m. there will be a draw for a single $150 prize. Presence in any of the participating stores at the time of drawing qualifies a lucky number-holder for a prize. It must be claimed within five minutes after the winning numbers are announced.

Shepard to Leave Hospital Position

Jack Shepard, administrator of Belmond Community hospital since its opening in June of 1952, has informed the hospital board of trustees that he is resigning from that post as of Sept. 1.

R. W. Courson, chairman of the trustee board, reports that Mr. Shepard advised that group that he intends to take a graduate course in hospital administration at the State University of Iowa.

Mr. Shepard told the trustees that he will not expect to return to Belmond upon completion of his advanced study. He plans to seek a position as administrator of a larger hospital at that time.

Belmond has been Mr. Shepard's home since he obtained his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Iowa early in 1946. His college work was interrupted by a period of time in uniform during World War II. He was employed by Christie and Larson, livestock buyers, prior to accepting the hospital administrator's job.

Mr. Courson says, "It was with deep regret that the hospital board learned of Jack's plan to leave his position here. He has done a very outstanding job at the Belmond Community hospital and much credit is due him that the hospital got off to such a fine start.

"On the other hand, the trustees believe he has the ability to go far in his chosen field and certainly wish him the best of success."

PIANO RECITAL FRIDAY

Piano pupils of Maxine Jenison will be presented in a recital at the Methodist church this Friday evening, starting at 7:30 o'clock. Approximately 35 boys and girls will take part.

So THAT'S Over!

Little Stanley Boelman, 2½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Boelman, was brought home from Rochester, Minn., last Sunday by his parents after submitting to surgery for the sixth time in his young life. He'd been at the Methodist hospital at Rochester for three weeks. Stanley was born with a cleft palate and all the operations have been for the purpose of correcting that condition. Mrs. Boelman says this is the last time Stanley was scheduled to face the scalpel until he reaches the age of 12—which is undoubtedly to the tot's liking.

STAR BAKE SALE

This Saturday morning, starting at 9:00 o'clock, the Eastern Star lodge will conduct a bake sale at the Tip Top grocery.

Oberhauser New Lions President

Others named to officers for the coming year were: R. B. Thompson, 1st vice president; L. W. Murray, 2nd vice president; Cecil Carstens, 3rd vice president.

R. W. Courson, Tail Twister; Dr. P. A. Rietz, Lion Tamer; George Infelt, secretary-treasurer; and as directors for terms ending July 1, 1956, W. H. Trafford and C. C. Hiddleston. Continuing as directors of the club are Len Collier and Bill Shirer.

POLITICAL VISITOR to Belmond on Tuesday afternoon was Ernest Palmer of Fort Madison, candidate for the Republican nomination to the governorship. It was his second stop here; he made it before (just by coincidence) on the first day of the pheasant season last fall. In the course of his campaigning he has been in 97 counties and traveled well over 26,000 miles.

Police of Midwestern Area Alerted To Keep Lookout for Check-Passer

Law enforcement authorities throughout this part of the country were asked this week to keep watch for an ex-farmhand whom Sheriff Bob Blecker would very much like to lay his hands on. The individual in question worked from March 11 until the early part of last week for Foster Barkema, who farms to the east of Belmond over the line in Franklin county.

He gave the name "Delbert Lawson" when he was hired by Mr. Barkema. It has been since discovered that his real name is Gayle W. Legan, that he's 29 years old — and that, for his age, he has built up quite an impressive criminal record.

No Bank Account

Between the dates of May 19 and 25, Legan passed a number of checks in Belmond, Rowan and Alexander, all written on the First State bank of Belmond. Unfortunately, he had no account at the bank. He'd also done business in Belmond in the form of a car purchased at Belmond Auto company. He bought a '41 Pontiac, with the help of a mortgage.

Sheriff Blecker became interested in Legan, alias Lawson, as one after another of the recipients of the bogus checks made inquiries regarding the check-passer. Then the Lamb Body Shop at Thornton called to say "Lawson" had traded cars at their place and paid a balance of $229.50 with an n.g. check. The proprietor learned that he'd been done in even worse than suspected, since he'd accepted a mortgaged car in the exchange.

Identity Discovered

When Legan had been hired by Mr. Barkema, contact had been made through a Des Moines telephone number. So Sheriff Blecker went to the capital last Friday and spent a good share of that day and part of Saturday investigating the missing check artist.

He learned the man's true indentity and found that Legan has served sentences of five and two years in the Missouri state penitentiary for forgery and has had numerous scrapes with the law over the past decade. He also learned the addresses of various members of Legan's family — two brothers live in Des Moines — but he found no trace of the fugitive.

As things stand, Legan is wanted for forgery and for selling mortgaged property. And so far as his victims and Sheriff Blecker are concerned, he's wanted very badly.

Dows School Plan Gets Voters' OK

Wright county's third school reorganization proposal — Belmond's and Goldfield's preceded—was approved at a special election Tuesday when 11 of 14 districts involved gave their approval to establishment of Dows Community School district.

Originally drawn to encompass approximately 88 sections, the area lost 8 sections and 160 acres when Vernon township districts No. 3, 5 and 9 rejected the proposal. Both No. 3 and 5 involved complete, four-section districts, while only 160 acres in No. 9 was in the planned area.

A switch of two votes would have put the proposal over in No. 5, where the count was 12 in favor and 15 against. Inclusion in the reorganization was flatly rejected in No. 3, where the vote was 5 to 24. Both voters in No. 9's 160 acres cast their ballots against the plan.

Total vote in the election was 680 in favor and 150 opposed. The new district will include land in Morgan and Oakland townships of Franklin county and in Wright's Blaine and Vernon townships.

WINNERS MIXED UP

Winners in the American Legion Auxiliary's recent Poppy poster contest were listed in the wrong order when reported to The Independent. First place went to Larry Kramer, second to Nadine Johnson and third to Lynn Jenison. Mrs. Ray Pals reports that the Buddy Poppies enjoyed a good sale last Saturday and brought in a total of $149.96. Solicitation of the residential districts by the Camp Fire Girls accounted for $71.82 of that amount.

Details Released Concerning Size of New GMI Feed Mill

Entire Plant Will Cover Total Area About 170x70 Ft.

Details regarding General Mills new feed mill, to be built here shortly, were made known this week by Joe Flaspohler, superintendent in charge of its construction. As recently announced, Jones-Hettleseter Construction company of Kansas City, Mo., has the general contract. Only work that has been done to date has involved extension of the sprinkler system line to the site of the new structure.

All three units of the feed mill—bins, manufacturing area and warehouse—will be built compactly adjacent to each other in a rectangular space directly adjoining the meal warehouse at the south end of the soybean processing plant. It will cover over-all ground space of about 170x70 feet.

Bins 108 Feet High

Thirty-two relatively small bins, extending to a height of 108 feet, will occupy the bin area, according to Mr. Flaspohler. This space will be 40½x48½ feet in dimension. The bins will be constructed of reinforced concrete and go up directly to the south of the meal warehouse.

Just beyond these bins, and connecting with them to the south, will be the manufacturing unit. This will be a three-story building, 29¾x48½ feet, and of structural steel construction. It will be covered by a sheathing of heavy, corrugated asbestos. There will be a full basement beneath the bins and about a half-basement under the manufacturing unit.

L-Shaped Warehouse

Mr. Flaspohler says the one-story warehouse will form an "L" to the south of the other two units and along their east side. The main warehousing area to the south will measure 100x70½ feet. The extension east of the bin and manufacturing unit will be 70 feet long and 22 feet in width. The warehouse will be constructed of pre-cast, steel-reinforced concrete panels that will be poured on the building site.

The superintendent says that this type of structure is of "tilt-up construction," in the vernacular of the building trades, since the pre-cast slabs are simply tilted up into their proper place and fitted together to form the outer wall.

In addition to the three units described, the mill will possess a track and truck scale housed with structural steel and enclosed with asbestos siding.

Asking Excavation Bids

It is Mr. Flaspohler's estimate that excavation for the basements beneath the bin and manufacturing unit will not be started for a

Former Belmond Minister Injured

Rev. John Buthman of Cedar Rapids, former pastor of the Belmond Methodist church, and his wife were injured on Wednesday of last week in a highway collision on Highway 30 near Cedar Rapids that claimed three lives.

Mrs. Buthman, by latest report, is in St. Luke's hospital at Cedar Rapids with serious injuries that included a hip fracture and severe facial and arm lacerations. Her husband was less seriously hurt, suffering lacerations about the face and on one leg.

It was reported that the Buthmans were run into by an Indiana car as it endeavored to pass another auto on a hill. An elderly man driving the Indiana car, his wife and another occupant of the vehicle were fatally injured in the smash-up.

Belmond Foursome on Canadian Fishing Excursion Barely Escapes Tragedy When Boat Suddenly Sinks

Two members of a four-man fishing party from Belmond escaped death by an extremely narrow margin a week ago Sunday at Lac Seul, Ontario, Canada, when a boat in which they were riding suddenly swamped in the wave-swept lake. George Hansen and Dr. A. M. Larson were in the boat when it foundered, along with an Indian guide.

The other two members of the party, John O. Chapman and R. A. Henderson, fortunately were nearby in another boat when the one bearing their companions capsized. A hurried rescue effort on their part was successful in saving the other three men as they battled to keep afloat by clutching at the overturned craft.

According to the principals involved, the near-tragic mishap occurred when the guide asked Hansen to pass back a frying pan with which to bail out water that had gathered in the boat as it was pounded by the waves. While the utensil was changing hands, the boat lost headway when the motor suddenly failed.

Quite heavily loaded with supplies for setting up camp on a nearby island, the boat settled into the water as it lost speed and totally submerged except for a small portion of the prow that was kept above the surface by an air pocket. The men left afloat were all heavily clothed and were in prompt difficulty as their apparel quickly filled with water.

Chapman and Henderson immediately noted what had happened and sped to the foundering trio as rapidly as they could. At first the rescuing boat took off for shore, about a half mile away, with Hansen, Larson and the Indian clinging to the side. It soon became apparent that the combination of ice-cold water and the drag of their soaked clothing would not allow the three men to hold out until the shore had been reached.

Forced to gamble on whether the remaining boat could stay up with the added load, the men holding to it gave what assistance they could to Chapman and Henderson as the latter undertook the strenuous task of hauling them aboard. To the gratification of all concerned, the struggling craft managed the balance the shoreward trip safely.

It was a close call for all involved—especially for the three who had been left adrift—and what had been planned as a 10-day holiday was cut short at the sixth day as the nightmarish experience robbed the venture of all its fun.

DIES AT AGE OF 96

Mrs. Lewis Johnson, long-time resident of Goodell, died Wednesday of this week at the age of 96. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the Trinity Lutheran church. Rev. O. M. Severseike will officiate over the rites and Fulton Funeral Home will be in charge. Burial will be in St. Olaf cemetery.

MEDICS HEAR LEINBACH

Dr. S. P. Leinbach was recently invited to address the senior medical class at the State University of Iowa. He was asked to comment on the various aspects and attractions of a rural practice, as contrasted with following the medical profession in a city. His address was followed by a brisk question and answer period.

ARCHERY SHOOT SUNDAY

Chamber Plans Sign Over Highway to Point Out Business District

Concrete progress is being made towards erection of a sign over Highway 69 at its junction with Main street to direct transient traffic to Belmond's business district. There has long been need for such a sign, in the opinion of many local merchants.

Some weeks back a motion was made by George Keleher at a Belmond Chamber Commerce meeting that a committee be named to investigate the possibilities of obtaining such a sign. Bob Garms, then president of the Chamber, appointed Mr. Keleher as chairman of the suggested committee with Ed Gentry and Jim Cairns as additional members.

After making extensive inquiries into the matter, the committee last week received from the Bob Smythe Sign company of Cedar Rapids specific figures on the cost of a sign such as contemplated. Mr. Keleher told the Chamber at its last Thursday's meeting that a sign 16 feet long and three feet in depth could be purchased for $450. Incidental expenses of transportation and installation might add another $100 or so to the total cost.

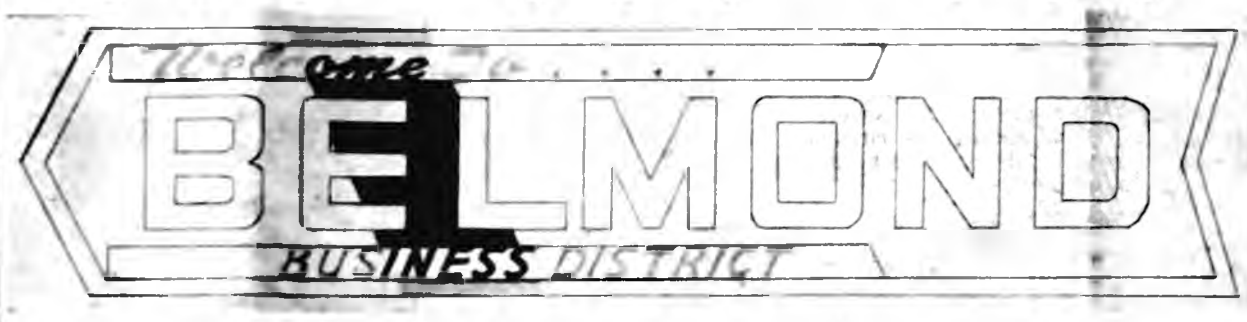
This sign would be constructed of heavy plastic and illuminated from within. It would be on the same order as the sign which hangs in front of the Iowa Electric Light and Power company office. It would be double-faced and be easily legible from the outskirts of town, both to the north and south on Highway 69.

Chamber members present at the meeting were enthusiastic over the prospectus presented by Mr. Keleher and suggested that his committee proceed with efforts to purchase either the Smythe sign or one similar. Other firms will be invited to submit cost figures.

A motion was passed that the Chamber confer with the city council on the possibility of a moderate share of the expense being met with municipal funds. If this proposal meets with the council's approval, the balance of the sign's cost would be met by local business concerns—either by its inclusion in the Chamber budget or, more likely, through individual subscription.

Cecil Carstens, office manager for the Iowa Electric Light and Power company, has informed Mr. Keleher that the utilities firm has volunteered to provide support poles for the sign, provide for its transportation to Belmond and provide labor for erecting it over the highway.

• • • • • • • • •



IF PRESENT PLANS materialize, a sign similar to the artist's drawing shown above may before long direct transient traffic on Highway 69 to Belmond's business district. The band across the drawing indicates the colors suggested. The word "Belmond" would appear in white letters against a red background and the entire sign would be bordered in pearl grey. "Welcome to" and "Business District" would be printed in black on a white background.

SPORTS

'Hawks Lose in 11; Rockwell, Sunday

Belmond's Tomahawks lost a heart-breaker in their Quad-County league opener at Swaledale last Sunday, leading 1-0 unti the 8th inning and then bowing by a 2-1 count in 11 innings. The team will make its first home appearance this Sunday, with Rockwell furnishing the opposition.

Jake Koenen pitched the first seven innings for the 'Hawks and was relieved in the 8th by Dennis Scott. Belmond went in front in the 1st inning when the first man up, Don Hoppel, was walked and Don Faris soon afterward brought him home with a clean hit.

Koenen kept the Swaledale nine well under control, allowing only three hits during his stint on the mound. The tying run off of Scott in the 8th was unearned, resulting from a pair of errors committed by Bill Barz at shortstop. The only hit given up by Scott was a fatal one in the 11th. After walking the first man at bat and retiring the second on a grounder, Denny was touched for a solid safety by Goffner that brought in the deciding tally.

Koenen fanned eight men and Scott, two. Belmond's four hits were produced by Faris, Murray and Koenen (two).

Sunday dinner guests in the Donald Markham home were Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard Mayer of Renwick and Mr. and Mrs. Roy McClure and Donavan.

Christie Selects Club Committees

President C. C. Christie last weekend drew up the lists of committee members who will share responsibility for various phases of the Clarmond Country club program for the current year.

He also announced that the Clarmond Invitation Amateur tournament is again listed on the Iowa State Golf association's tournament calendar for the season and will be played on July 3rd and 4th.

This event promises to become a permanent and popular fixture. The precision with which the meet was run off last year, despite a mid-afternoon rain storm, very favorably impressed the many visiting entries. As a result, it is believed that the total entry list this time may run as high as 140.

Following are Mr. Christie's committee appointments:

Club improvement — Mrs. Gladys Tyrrell, chairman; Mrs. Dorothy Christie, Bob Davison and Bert Samson.

Entertainment — Mr. and Mrs. Russell Schaal, co-chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Tyrrell, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Bunn, Mr. and Mrs. George Sharp, Robert Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Christ, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Root.

Membership — C. H. Crowe, chairman; Bert Samson, Dale Kessler, C. R. Banwell, C. A. Handfeldt, W. P. Tyrrell.

—PAT'S— SPORTS SHORTS

Coach Dick Hobbs moved to town last weekend and is rarin' to go on the summer recreation program. He's also anxious to make the acquaintance of all the boys who will be getting out for BHS athletic teams next year.

He asks that all who plan to be candidates for one or another of the sports squads meet with him this Friday evening at 7:00 o'clock at the gymnasium. On the basis of what he's heard about the crop of Bronco athletes that will be on hand for the 1954-55 seasons, he has high hopes for a successful year.

Like his predecessor, Jim Crimmings, Dick has very definite ideas as to what he'll expect of his athletes and wants the boys to be familiar with those ideas, from the beginning. The right start will go a long ways towards achieving the right ends, Dick believes.

—PSS—

Incidentally, everyone who's had the opportunity to meet Dick since he arrived in town has seemed to be very favorably impressed by the new coach. In the first place, he strikes you as a "good Joe." And in the second place, he clearly knows his business. We predict that the Broncos will find him the kind of coach they'll like to work under—and for.

—PSS—

Jack Lansing tells us that close to 100 aspirants to "pro" baseball careers are expected to show up for the Baltimore Oriole try-out camp being held here Friday and Saturday. They'll be coming from a wide area, reaching from central Iowa up into Minnesota. Quite a handful of candidates will be on hand from Minnesota, in fact.

Paul Bruns, Carroll High school coach and scout for the Carroll Merchants, is bringing a number of players up to do their stuff under the watchful eye of Hugh Lott, chief midwestern scout for the Orioles. Bruns will also be looking for prospects for his Iowa State league team. This loop is one of the strongest semi-pro leagues in the state and has served as a "springboard" for more than one player who has ultimately made the grade in "pro" ball.

There aren't very many local hopefuls likely to receive serious consideration at the trials. But it's the viewpoint of some Belmond ball fans that there are boys in the younger age bracket that may be knocking at the door before many years have passed. Several ex-peewees of a few seasons back are developing at a rapid pace.

—PSS—

A major weakness of last year's summer recreation program lay in the fact that Coach Crimmings was able to devote little time to the 13-15 age group because peewee and Junior Legion ball required so much of his time. With the Legion assuming responsibility for management of its junior team this summer, Dick Hobbs will have more opportunity to work with the older age group. Since swimming will be just a three-mornings-a-week proposition this year, Dick hopes he can work in some morning time with the boys 13 to 15 and get them started in Little Bigger league competition.

Pete Oberhauser of Minnesota U., nephew of L. B. Oberhauser, tied for runner-up honors in the Big Ten conference golf tournament at Minneapolis last weekend. Pete was an unsuccessful contender for the championship in Clarmond's first annual invitational amateur last July 4th.

One of the two club-swingers who shared next-to-lowest score with the 6-foot, 6-inch Minnesota star was John Barton of Davenport, University of Iowa linksman who eliminated Fred Gordon from the Iowa State Amateur at Mason City last summer.

Incidentally, Fred appears to be rounding into mid-season form in short order this year. Last Sunday at Clarmond the former state champ notched a 35-33—68 for 18 holes, four strokes under par. He'll be in the Belmond contingent at the Hampton Amateur this Sunday.

SHOT OF VACCINE WORTH POUND OF SULFA

The sulfa drugs are wonderful, even for chickens. They can cure a lot of diseases. Consequently, they save poultrymen a lot of money. But poultrymen could save more by giving the birds a shot of the right vaccine at the right moment.

Pox and Newcastle disease are a couple of things that can be headed off by a "stick" in time. Yes, you can stick a bird with a little bitty drop of vaccine and she'll stay clear of Newcastle for the rest of her life. At most, a shot of that vaccine will cost you a nickel. And look what it can save you.

Let's say a pullet laying 20 eggs a month gets Newcastle. You can expect her production to drop to nothing and stay there for at least a month. With eggs at 36c a dozen, that's 60c down the drain. (I picked 36c because it's easier to figure with. Let's hope the price will be higher.) What's more, the bird will probably stay out of production longer than a month—and will come up in production very slowly. And then most likely the egg whites will be watery the shell will be rough and thin. Newcastle can cost plenty. And it costs just a little bit to prevent it.

Pox is hard on the egg check too. There are other diseases that can clobber your wallet.

See your poultry service man this summer—now is even better—and ask him to outline a vaccination program. He can help you save a lot of money. And like it or not, money is all something we can use at any time of the year.

Incidentally, vaccinating sick birds can do them far more harm than good. Try to keep them healthy all the time but be certain they are in good condition when you stick the needle in 'em. Vaccination of a flock which is showing just a little coccidiosis or a little cold can result in a serious reaction and mortality may be heavy.

Mrs. E. Richards Died Last Sunday

Funeral services were held Saturday at the Community Methodist church for Mrs Elizabeth Richards, one of Alexander's oldest residents, who died at her home early Wednesday morning of last week. Rev. B R. Price conducted the rites and two of Mrs. Richards' favorite hymns were sung by Dennis Scott.

Pallbearers were Willard Latham, Ben Peil, Jack Hill, C. J. Stoffer, H. A. Peters and Lloyd Green. Burial was in the Alexander cemetery.

Elizabeth Ann Jackson was born Oct. 27, 1869, at New Diggins, Wis., the third child of Thomas and Mary Jackson. The family lived at New Diggins for 13 years after Elizabeth's birth, then moving to Schullsburg, Wis. Here she met Ed Richards and they were married on March 12, 1890.

Two sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Richards, Ray and Edward. The latter died in infancy. The Richards moved near Alexander in 1909 to a farm they purchased south of town. In 1921 they retired, turning operation of the farm over to their son Ray and moving to the home in town which Mrs. Richards since that time had occupied.

Mrs. Richards joined the Congregational church in 1911 and in 1950 transferred her membership to the Methodist church. She was active in the Ladies Aid societies of both churches.

Surviving are her son Ray; two grandchildren, George of Alexander and Marjorie Schoenwetter of Belmore, N. Y.; and two great grandchildren, Barbara and Carol Ann Schoenwetter. Also survivors are three sisters, Mrs. Emma McCormick, Mrs. Will Thomas and Miss Jennie Jackson; and one brother, Frank Jackson—all of Schullsburg, Wis.

She was preceded in death by her husband and son and by two brothers, Richard and Simon Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Arends of Des Moines were guests in the home of Mrs. John Arends on Memorial Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Latham and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Aldinger attended a Republican dinner at the Coonley hotel in Hampton Friday evening.

Cattlemen Expect Fall Beef Price Up at '53 Level

Cattle feeders in Wright county are quite optimistic about the fall price of fat cattle, if their guesses at this spring's Cattle Feeders dinner at Eagle Grove is any criterion, according to Aaron Bowman, county extension director.

These cattle feeders estimated the price of the top carload of fat cattle at Chicago for the week of Oct. 25-30 and the average of 329 guesses was $30.70 per cwt. Top price last fall was $30.25. The range in prices expected showed a wide disagreement among the cattlemen, with low guess in the $17 bracket and the high in the upper $40's, per cwt.

Hog men, at their annual meeting in March, were definitely pessimistic in comparison with the cattlemen. With hogs selling for well over $25 per hundred at that time, 158 hog raisers guessed that hogs would reach a low of $17.75 sometime in December of this year.

Anticipation of a price drop on hogs may be well founded, Mr. Bowman observes, if data collected at the Cattle Feeders banquet on sow farrowing intentions is any indication of what all hog raisers are going to do. Farmers at the dinner were asked to state the number of sows they have farrowing this spring, compared to last; and the number of sows to farrow this fall, in comparison with last year.

These figures indicated that Wright county farmers have increased the number of sows to farrow this spring by 6.7 per cent over a year ago; and the total of sows to farrow in the fall is up 36.8 per cent over last year. The big increase in fall farrowing is due to the fact that 27 per cent more farmers expect to have fall litters this year than bred sows sows for fall farrowing in '53.

Cancer Memorials Honor Total of 31 Wright Countians

Memorial Day 1954 found that "living memorials" have been set up by friends or relatives for 31 deceased Wright county people, according to "NEW HORIZONS," Iowa's free cancer magazine. "By using grief to prevent grief," the magazine reports, "a lasting and meaningful tribute is paid. Funds are used to save lives tomorrow through cancer research and lives of others today through cancer education."

Cancer memorial funds have been established in the name of 1,600 departed Iowans, the magazine stated.

A living memorial may be started by writing to "New Horizons," Mason City. On receiving a contribution, a letter and card will be sent to those members of the bereaved family designated, telling them that a memorial has been established. If a memorial has already been established the family will be notified of the additional gift.

The name of a person for whom a memorial has been set up will be inscribed in the permanent "living memorials" book of Iowa and will be honored on the pages of future issues of "New Horizons," official publication of the Iowa division of the American Cancer Society

Mrs. Chris Hansen, Arthur Hinman, Mrs. Pearl Holt, Mr. Jacobson, R. Dwight Ketchum, Mrs. J. E. Kirstein, S. Knutson, Fred Loeffler, Jr., Mrs. Stella Matson, Mrs. Merle Meade, Florence Meier, Laura Morrow, O. P. Morton.

● OBITUARY

HILKA BRANER

Mrs. Henry Braner, nee Hilka Pastour, was born Sept. 16, 1862, in Ditzummer Verlaat, Eastfriesland, Germany, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harm Pastour. She emigrated to the United States in the spring of 1884 and the Belmond vicinity was her home the rest of her life. She was wed to Henry Braner in 1886, the marriage ceremony taking place at hte then newly established Immanuel Reformed church, the late Rev. Reemt Janssen officiating.

Mrs. Braner became a member of the Immanuel Reformed church on confession of faith during the same year that she was married. During the passing years, she frequently expressed regret that she didn't join the church as a charter member, since she was present on the day the Immanuel Reformed was organized.

Mr. and Mrs. Braner made their home east of Belmond, where she lived until 1917. After the spring of that year, she made her home with one or another of her children. Mr Braner passed away March 9, 1906. Five children were born to the Braners. Two daughters prceded their mother in death, at the ages of five and eight years.

Surviving are two sons, Wessel and Harm, and a daughter, Mrs. H. B. Gruis, all of Belmond. She also leaves 10 grandchildren and 17 great grandchildren and a number of other relatives.

Final rites were held at Immanuel Reformed church on Tuesday, May 25. Mrs. Braner died at the Belmond Community hospital on May 22. Rev. O. G. Poppen conducted the funeral services and burial was in the church cemetery. Pallbearers were Harvey Gruis, Alvin Braner, Walter Braner, Donald Braner, Lambert Pals and Dale Hauge.

Steam Train Excursion on June 7 Should Devive Old-timers' Memories

Time was when a train trip to a neighboring town was taken for the pure fun of it. That was, of course, back in the more leisurely days when steam giants huffed and puffed their way along the rails. For those who look back nostalgically upon those earlier times, an opportunity is planned to recapture the old thrill of travel-for-fun. It is to be sponsored by the National Railway Historical Society.

On Sunday, June 27th, a chartered steam train will carry a happy crowd of rail enthusiasts from Webster City to Alden, going by way of Gifford and Iowa Falls. The route between the latter two communities is reputed to be one of the most scenic in the midwest and was a favorite of recreational travelers of earlier times.

For the benefit of camera fans, picture stops will be made along the line, both on the going and return trips. Lunches may be obtained Alden, where about an hour's stop will be made, while the engine is being turned around.

Dr. Robert B. May, Knoxville, Ia., is in charge of the junket and suggests this may be a last chance to once more enjoy the thrill of riding behind a chugging, steam locomotive. Reservations must be made with him, c/o VA Hospital at Knoxville, by June 18. Adult fare will be $5; children under 12 ride at half fare.

The excursion will take off from Webster City about 8:15 a. m. on June 27th. Ye Ed, from gathering 'Way Back When items for The Independent, suspects there may be some local old-timers who would delight in a lark like this. And perhaps some not-so-old-timers, too. That's why we decided to devote a little space to letting them know about it.

GOODWILL TRUCK COMING

A regular visit of the Goodwill truck will be made to Belmond on June 17. Mrs. Clyde Jennings asks that appropiate items be left at the Methodist church basement; or a phone call to her or the Methodist parsonage will suffice to arrange for pick-up of the articles. Household items are badly needed, she adds, to replace articles lost in last year's flood at Sioux City.

'52 County Costs Rose Only Little Over Year 1951's

Combined costs of all administrative offices in Wright county during the year 1952 showed somewhat of an increase over the preceding year, but the increase was considerably less than that reported in most Iowa counties with less than 20,000 population.

A survey of county administrative costs released lately by the Iowa Taxpayers association — which omitted costs of the offices of county superintendent and engineer but included all other administrative expense — set Wright's total '52 expenditures in this category at $66,855. With a population of 19,652, this set the per person cost at $3.40. In 1951, the Wright p. p. c. had been $3.31.

Average per person cost in the 63 counties having less than 20,000 population was $3.79. Neighboring counties showed per person costs for 1951 and 1952 as follows: Humboldt $3.75 and $4.01, Hancock $3.56 and $3.78, Hamilton $3.36 and $3.76, Franklin $3.15 and $3.33.

Included in the summaries were costs of the boards of supervisors, recorders, auditors, treasurers, clerks of court, sheriffs, and county attorneys Wright county's costs, in comparison with others in its population group, benefited by the fact that the board of supervisors in 1952 showed a decrease over the previous year It was the first time in quite a number of years that the board's administrative expenditures had shown a decline

TWO BELMOND STUDENTS NAMED TO ISTC HONORARY

CEDAR FALLS — Shirley Bohning and Frances Chapman of Belmond have been named to membership in Purple Arrow, honor society for freshman and sophomore women at Iowa State Teachers college.

Both of the Belmod students are completing their freshman year of school at ISTC.

New members of the college honoraries were recognized at a convocation which climaxed Women's Day, recently held on the campus.

Belmond Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Macri and children of Des Moines spent Sunday and Monday in the Harry Slining home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiert Willensen of Kanawha were Monday afternoon visitors in the George Roskamp home.

Mrs. Leota Singmaster of Des Moines, Mrs. P. J. Bamford, Mrs. Walter Schleiffarth and daughter Betty visited Mrs. Lottie Bamford in Iowa Falls Monday.

The four Wald sisters of Minneapolis, Minn., and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wald and five children of St. Paul, Minn., spent Memorial Day in the Harold Simerson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Jenison and Billy of Des Moines visited her, mother, Mrs. Julia Packard, and other relatives over Memorial weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mennenga and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mennenga returned on Tuesday of last week after a weekend visit with relatives at Freeport and German Valley, Ill.

Independent Will Again Have Kids Pictures Taken

In collaboration with Woltz Studios of Des Moines, The Independent plans to run another series of children's pictures this summer from photographs to be taken at the Belmond hotel on Wednesday of next week. Woltz will have an expert in child photography here to take the pictures for the newspaper.

Children may have their photographs taken at any time between the hours of 10:00 a. m. and 5:30 p. m. There will be no charge and parents need not be subscribers to The Independent to avail themselves of this opportunity. Neither is it required that any orders be placed from the proofs that will be returned to the parents. It will, of course, be possible to order prints if desired.

As an added inducement to get as many children photographed for the "World Builders of Tomorrow" picture series, Woltz is participating a nationwide cutest child contest and will enter all of the pictures taken for The Independent. Top prizes will be $250 to both the cntest girl and cutest boy. Personality, rather than beauty, will be the basis for judging. Both indiviual and group pictures will be judged in this contest.

MONEY ORDER WINDOW NOW OPEN HALF HOUR EARLIER

Postmaster J. C. Brady announces that the local post office last week returned to the practice of opening its money order window at 8:00 a. m. He says that an 8:30 opening hour has been followed since a reduction in total clerical hours was ordered by the postal department back in 1952. Saturday afternoon closing was ordered at the same time.

Requests for the earlier opening of the money order window had been made by quite a number of persons, Mr. Brady says. The 8:00 o'clock opening will make it possible for paper carriers to send money orders before school begins and businessmen to get orders off when on the way to work in the morning.

Mrs. Milo Roberts attended the graduation exercises in Hampton Tuesday evening of last week. A nephew was a member of the class.

PRESENTS CLASS GIFT

Daryl Boelman, BHS alumnus who has been vice president of the senior class at the University of Dubuque this past year, played a part in the annual Senior Class Day program on the Dubuque campus. He presented to President Gaylord Couchman a gift to the school from the Class of '54 in the form of a basketball scoreboard.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Hughes and Howard of Kanawha were Monday afternoon visitors in the Mrs. Martha Riekens home.

The above headline is from a "boner" found in an advertisement. In all probability no harm was done the advertiser—the "boner" most likely helped get attention giving the advertisement more drawing power.

The headline does remind one that it's true many times in case of printing supplies. It happens too often that a customer gets caught short—down to the last envelope or letterhead—and then places a rush order. The result is that both the printer and the customer gets a little older faster than need be.

Plans Complete for 4-H Rally Day Here Saturday

A crowd approaching 350 in number, comprised of 4-H girls, leaders and parents, is expected to attend the annual Wright county 4-H Rally Day that will be held this Saturday at the Belmond High school auditorium. As usual, election of new county officers in the morning will be one of the day's high points. A period of campaigning — complete with speeches, posters and rallies — will precede the election.

Mrs. Art Homervold of Belmond township will also conduct the senior and junior music recognition contests in the forenoon. A covered-dish luncheon will held in the hot lunch room at noon. After lunch Robert Smith, an International Farm Youth Exchangee from Iowa, will give an illustrated talk on his experiences as a guest in a farm home in Greece last summer.

Welcome by Luin Cox

Mrs. Clarence Whitten of Rowan, county girls' 4-H chairman, will preside over the afternoon session. Glenda Wilson of Eagle Grove, county girls' 4-H president, will preside during the morning program.

Mrs. Ed Campbell, leader, and the Dayton Dandies will be in charge of registration from 10:00 to 10:30 a. m. After the call to order by Miss Wilson, Rev. J. Heber Miller will pronounce the invocation and the 4-H'ers will be welcomed to Belmond by Luin Cox, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Then three numbers will be presented by the girls 4-H chorus, with Mrs. Homervold conducting and Carol Ann Poulson as accompanist.

Panel on 4-H Work

Roll call of the clubs by the president will precede conduct of the annual business meeting. Gloria Arends of Iowa U-Go-I-Go will present the secretary's report for Dawn Whitten, who will be unable to attend Rally Day. Treasurer Janice Sann will give her report, followed by that of the historian, Sharon Strait of the Belmond Busy Bees.

A panel discussion on "4-H Work in Wright County" will be conducted by the various club presidents, with Mrs. Fred Kirstein as moderator. After instruction of the voting delegates by Mrs. Merle Poolman, Janice Sann will then preside as the campaigning for county officers is carried on.

Office Candidates

Contending for county offices will be: Gloria Rabe, Belmond township; Sharon Bruhl, Dayton; Jeanine Hardy, Grant; Kay Whitten, Iowa; Shirley Martinson, Lincoln; Connie Jergenson, Norway; and Yvonne Campbell, Woolstock. After the ballots have been cast, Mrs. Homervold will conduct the music contest as the concluding item of morning business.

After lunch, the new county officers will be installed. Participating in this ceremony will be the retiring officers, the Wall Lake Wee Women and their leader, Mrs. Merle Poolman. Following this, a nutrition skit will be presented by the Lincoln Lassies League.

Honorary Members

Initiation of honorary members will then be held, the ritual being conducted by the Little Liberty Ladies and Eagle Red Peppers, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Mathre of Norway township. Then the Farm Youth Exchangee, Robert Smith, will be heard.

28 to 4-H Camp From This County

Wright county's delegation of 28 boys and girls, plus leaders, will help make this summer's 4-H district camp at Clear Lake the largest in the state. The North Central district already held the distinction of having been first in Iowa to conduct such a camp.

4-H boys and girls from 11 counties will gather at the Methodist camp on Clear Lake during June 9-11. About 425 young people are expected and their leaders and extension personnel will very likely swell the camp attendance to more than 500.

During two morning assembly periods, two outstanding speakers will present information on current youth problems. Other morning activities will include instruction in handicrafts, games and other types of recreation. Additional organized recreation is planned for the afternoons. A special campfire program is planned for the first evening and the second will be spent at Bayside amusement park.

This county's delegation will travel in a single group, aboard a chartered bus. Enrolled for the camp from the general Belmond vicinity are: Janis Kalkwarf and Myrna Strait, Belmond Busy Bees; Tom McNulty, Pleasant Pioneers.

Belmond Locals

Mr. and Mrs. George Keleher and Gloria spent the weekend at Clear Lake.

Ray Waddington of Minneapolis, Minn., spent the weekend at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mima Waddington.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Roof and Mrs. Hazel Hiddleston of Kansas City, Mo., visited over the weekend at the Chet Hiddleston home. Mrs. Roof is a sister and Mrs. Hiddleston the mother of Mr. Hiddleston. Roberta accompanied the folks home to Kansas City for a three-week visit.

Visiting around Iowa

by Joe Marsh

Iowans Get Around

"No wonder Iowa folks get around a lot," says Joe Esnor down at the gas station. "We have more surfaced roads per square mile than any other state."

Well, I looked it up and Joe is right. Every city, town, and hamlet is on a surfaced road. I say that's another reason for Iowa's fine brand of democracy. Our network of roads makes us all better neighbors.

And, the more neighborly we are the better we understand the other fellow's tastes and viewpoints . . . and he understands ours. We eat sauerkraut with the folks at Ackley or Lisbon, Kolaches at Cedar Rapids, Dutch bologna at Pella. I drive up to my good friend Ole's and always find coffee simmering on the stove. But Ole always brings out a temperate glass of beer for me, because he knows that's my preference.

Visiting around does make good neighbors, broader minds. We learn that everyone is different, and by understanding the other fellow's ideas we're more likely to have his understanding of ours.

AUDRA JENISON WED TO WILLIAM SUMMERS AT ST. JOHN CHURCH

Audra Jenison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vere Jenison, became the bride of S/Sgt. William Summers, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Summers, Wednesday evening of last week at 8:00 o'clock at St. John Lutheran church. The Rev. Leo Widdel read the double-ring ceremony.

Bridesmaid was Geraldine Jenison, sister of the bride, who wore a navy blue suit with white accessories and a red rose corsage. The best man was the groom's brother, Robert.

Shirley Pals, organist, played the nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Conger White of Goldfield as she sang "Because" and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

The immediate families of the bride and groom and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Anna B. Jenison, witnessed the ceremony.

The groom is a Staff Sergeant with the medical corps of the US Air Force and just recently returned from a year's service at Goose Bay, Labrador. He is now stationed at Biggs Air Force Base in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Summers left for Texas, following the ceremony, and after June 2nd are at home at 1900 N. Stanton, El Paso, Texas.

couple of weeks. At the moment he is soliciting bids for the excavating work. He says that setting of an exact date for starting this phase of the job awaits receipt of word that the reinforcing steel for the foundation is en route to Belmond.

When interviewed Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Flaspohler said that a contract for lumber required by the plant construction had been let to Fullerton Lumber company only an hour or so earlier and that the lumber would be provided through the firm's Belmond yard.

It is planned by Jones-Hettlester to employ local labor on the construction job, insofar as possible, Mr. Flaspohler stated. He has already received job applications from some 4½ dozen men living in Belmond and vicinity. He added that no hiring has been done, as yet.

FATHER OF MRS. HAMILTON VICTIM OF STROKE MAY 20

Funeral services were held a week ago Saturday at Browerville, Minn., for Alva Sarff, age 86, father of Mrs. Walter Hamilton. He died at his home in Browerville on May 20, following a stroke.

Mr. Sarff had just returned to his home after having spent the winter at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton. He had spent the past seven winters with the Hamiltons.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton attended the funeral services, as did Earl Hamilton and Evelyn Marcus of Clarion.

C-of-C Strongly Endorses Council's Program to Expand Sewage System

Efforts of the city council and Mayor Henry Hokel in the direction of expanding and modernizing Belmond's sanitary sewer system received the enthusiastic endorsement of the Chamber of Commerce as that organization held its final meeting of the 1953-54 year last Thursday. A resolution was unanimously passed that the city administration be formally commended at its regular June meeting next Monday night.

Present plans of the council are two-fold. First, the groundwork has been laid for construction of an up-to-date sewage disposal plant adjacent to the Iowa river at the south edge of town; and second, provision is being made for addition of two relief lines in the sanitary sewer system that will more than double the area that the system will be able to service.

Will Allow City Growth

For sime time the system's main outlet, which runs under River avenue (Highway 69), has been hardly capable of carrying the volume of sewage produced by the steadily increasing number of housing units in Belmond. But with installation of the proposed relief lines, new residential areas from the north around to the southeast on the perimeter of Belmond can be developed without overloading the enlarged sanitary sewer system.

It is further contemplated that the expansion program will allow for linking the west part of Belmond across the river with the system in due time. One of the relief lines would extend along First avenue from Third street NE to the M. & St. L. right-of-way, where it would link with the present trunk line. The second auxiliary line would run east along the same railroad right-of-way to the Rock Island tracks and thence north to Third street.

Plant Permits Expansion

Making this expansion of sewage facilities possible is the new disposal plant, on which final planning is nearly completed. As was announced some time back, this is to be financed by a combination of revenue bonds — redeemable through funds derived by levy of sewer rental; and general obligation bonds.

This combination provides for the bulk of the cost to fall on those residents whose homes now are served by city water. It is likely, though, that all homes in the city that want to be connected with city water and sewage lines will have those services accessible to them before the bonds financing the disposal plant and expansion of the sewage system are paid off.

New Building Encouraged

President Chet Hiddleston says the Chamber of Commerce highly approves of the council's endeavor to make municipal sewage disposal available to the entire community. Equally important, in the viewpoint of the Chamber, is the fact that the way is being opened to extensive new growth of Belmond's residential area.

With new housing so critically needed, Mr. Hiddleston points out, this will constitute vital encouragement to the opening of new residential developments.

Community Chest Officers Elected For Year '54-55

Mrs. James Barry was elected president of the Belmond Community Chest council at a meeting of that organization held Friday night of last week at the city hall. Re-named to offices they held during the past year were: Dr. P. A. Rietz, vice president; Matilda Skovlin, secretary; and Luin Cox, treasurer.

Appointed to serve on the council's executive committee with Mrs. Barry and Doctor Rietz, who are ex officio members, were George Infelt, Nymer Christiansen and Mrs. R. H. Gowdy, the retiring president. This committee acts on administrative matters which require decisions between regular meetings of the Chest council.

New Council Members

Council terms of five members expired this spring and the successors to four of them were elected at last week's meeting. New members and the organizations they represent are: Bud Packard, Boy Scouts; George Infelt, Chamber of Commerce; Dr. P. A. Rietz, American Legion, reelected; and Nymer Christiansen, St. John Lutheran church.

Mrs. Ted Meyer concluded a term as representative of the Fundamental Baptist church, but no successor was proposed by that body. Those who retired from the council were: Dan Boone, Scouts; E. J. Elliott, Chamber; and Bill Shirer, St. John church.

Council Size Enlarged

Two new groups were given representation on the council, which were not in existence when the Community Chest was originally organized. They are the Bethany Reformed church, whose council member will be Mrs. Ralph Meyer; and the Lions club, who will be represented by Retiring President Cecil Carstens. Their appointment brings the total council membership to 17.

Since the Parent-Teachers association has been following the practice of naming its current president as a member of the council, Walt Hotvet succeeded J. C. Brady as the PTA representative.

Cecil Carstens agreed to serve as campaign manager for the 1954 Community Chest fund drive, which will be conducted in October, as usual.

Dean Griffen Wins 2 School Honors

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Lieuwen have been informed that their grandson, Dean Griffen, was recently chosen most representative boy student in the 8th grade graduating class at Montebello school, Natchez, Miss. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Griffen. His father was for four years band director at Belmond High school.

In addition, Dean was awarded an American Legion school award for individual achievement, which brought him a medal and certificate. The citation listed as bases for Dean's selection, "Honor, courage, scholarship, leadership and service."

Young Griffen plans soon to come to Belmond to spend the summer months with his grandparents.

YOUR REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE
A.B.CHAMBERS
SAYS:

COST OF GOVERNMENT "I believe that sound business principles applied to government can produce more efficiency and a great saving of tax payers money.

HIGHWAYS "I believe that our highways must be modernized. I will see that every available state and federal dollar is wisely spent on making our highways safer.

SCHOOLS "In my opinion property taxes are at a saturation point. Some other way must be found to provide adequate financial support so that our Iowa children receive education second to none. I advocate supplying more school support by the state through sound business formulas that will be fair to all.

LIQUOR CONTROL "Twenty-one years' experience has proved that the present Iowa law does not give us adequate liquor control sufficient to protect our homes and highways. The legislation which I propose can increase state income 7 to 8 million dollars without increasing the amount of liquor sold.

FARM SUPPORT "I will insist upon a vigorous promotion of Iowa farm products through an Iowa Farm Products Promotion Commission adequately financed so that a greater demand will be created nationally and internationally for Iowa products."

Goodell Approves Franchise on Gas

Voters of Goodell on Wednesday of last week overwhelmingly approved a proposal to grant Iowa Electric Light and Power company a 25-year franchise to provide their community with natural gas. Only two ballots opposed the proposition, while 130 expressed their favor.

Turn-out for the election was highly remarkable, especially considering the fact that only 38 voters went to the polls when the latest town election was held last fall. It is reported that all but 15 of the qualified voters residing in Goodell cast ballots on the franchise question and eight of those were away from town at time of the election.

According to Cecil Carstens, Belmond manager for IEL&P, the utilities company will now make application to the Federal Power Commission for an allotment of gas with which to service the Goodell community. It would be obtained from the Northern Natural Gas company, which has a pipeline extending through Hancock county just a mile and a quarter to the west of Goodell.

Mr. Carstens anticipates there will be no difficulty in getting the allotment from the FPC. He expects approval will likely be received next year in time that necessary installations can be made to provide Goodell with natural gas before cold weather begins in '55.

Mrs. Georgia Galbraith of Waterloo attended Memorial Day services here Sunday and was a dinner guest in the Sandberg-Hanson home.

E. W. Berkey of Garrison and Mrs. R. Bakkus and Rodney of Cedar Rapids were guests Saturday and Sunday in the home of her uncle, Robert McNutt, and aunt, Mrs. E. C. Kienenberger, coming especially for Memorial Day services.

Your Good Appearance Is Our Business

This week treat your family to BUTTER

MAYBE they don't complain much about that butter imitation. But why not give them a real treat this week . . . and every week. Let 'em spread their bread with delicious (Name Brand) creamery butter. And serve their food with big tempting chunks of golden (Name Brand) butter melting on top. You wouldn't do it with that butter imitation. You couldn't. It doesn't have the flavor. We'll make a wager with you. Serve your family (Name Brand) butter this week and see if you don't hear lots of compliments.

There are 4 pints of cream in every pound.

LET THE CITY FATHERS KNOW THAT YOU APPROVE OF THEIR GOOD WORKS

Elsewhere in this issue is reported the progress that the city council is making in its plans to bring Belmond's system of sewage disposal up to date. We were rather surprised to learn the other day from one of the city fathers that he and his fellow council members have approached this project with qualms, for fear of public disapproval of their efforts.

It is true that construction of the new sewage disposal plant and necessary expansion of the sanitary sewer system is going to cost quite a chunk of money. On the other hand, we regard that the city administration would be doing less than performing its duty if it DIDN'T undertake this vital project. But the current administration has been progressive and forward-looking ever since it has been in office and it is characteristic of this group of men that they have gone ahead with these important plans with the hope that public approval will follow when the need is fully appreciated.

It would certainly speak poorly for us voters who put them in office if we failed to give the mayor and council our solid suport in this matter. The future development of Belmond literally depends upon our sewage system being improved and expanded. Belmond gives promise of growing more during the current decade than any community of similar size in all of north Iowa. As was pointed out in this column last week, we could put into use in the next year's time at least 25 family housing units more than we have.

These will have to be built, to a very large extent, in newly opened residential areas. The state health department had told the council that NO MORE sanitary sewer lines could be installed unless a disposal plant were built that would end pollution of the Iowa river with our sewage. That left the city fathers with no choice but to comply with the state's directive or see the growth of Belmond come to a grinding halt.

In the long run, it will profit us all that the city administration is taking this step to open the way for continued growth. New housing developments will mean more assessed valuation subject to taxation—and either lower millage rates for us "old residenters," or provide MORE improvements for our tax dollar. Not only that, but it will mean a bigger and BETTER Belmond. Bearing these facts in mind, we suggest that YOU make it clearly undertood by the city fathers that their efforts ARE approved and appreciated.

SWIMMING POOL IN BELMOND WOULD BE A DISTINCT ASSET TO THE COMMUNITY

We note in last week's Garner Leader some observations by Editor C. D. Elling on that perennial question, "How about a swimming pool?" It's a query that is heard periodically here in Belmond, and with increasingly good reason as the number of children participating in the annual Red Cross water safety program steadily increases.

It was pointed out by Mr. Elling that Guthrie Center (pop. 2,042) is building a pool this spring on the strength of a special election last fall which approved a bond issue to finance the project. Guthrie Center's pool will be 40x100 feet in dimension and the cost will be slightly under $54,000. The Leader editor further observes that both Whittemore and Wesley boast swimming pools, though their populations are only 678 and 509, respectively. Whittemore's, Mr. Elling adds, "is a dandy."

As is the case at Garner, there can be little question but what a pool in Belmond would be well patronized and serve a highly useful purpose. In the past several years, enrollment for the Red Cross swimming program at the Clarion pool has grown from about 150 to 225 children; and almost inevitably participation is destined to increase. The number of children in the eligible age group, 7 to 15, is larger than ever before and still increasing.

We checked with B. C. Hewlett, Red Cross treasurer, to learn just what the expense to that organization has been in operating its swimming program the past three years. Total outlay has amounted to more than $4,400, of which close to $2,900 was paid by the Red Cross. The rest of the cost was met from the modest fee of $2.50 per child which is charged for registration.

It is not the intention of The Independent to sponsor personally any movement toward obtaining a swimming pool here, municipal or otherwise. We do, however, feel that a need for one exists and that a pool would be a distinct asset to the community. And if any group or organization feels inclined to undertake the promotion of such a project, it can count on the full support of this newspaper.

"HIGHWAY ROULETTE" CAN MAKE ANY STRETCH OF HIGHWAY A DEATH TRAP

Last week the Iowa Highway Patrol listed about two dozen stretches of highway in this state that have proved themselves "killers" by the toll of lives they have taken in the past 4½ years' time. Well up on the list was that portion of Highway 69 that extends from Jewell to Forest City.

It is noteworthy that this is one of the straightest stretches of highway in Iowa. Off hand we can think of only about eight curves on the entire stretch — plus the "bulge around the barn," a short way south of the Greyhound junction.

That makes it clearly apparent that it's carelessness on straight, open road that reaps the greatest harvest of traffic fatalities. Speed, disregard of yellow lines, and general negligence cause a bulk of the accidents. Widening Iowa's highways might permit more people to save themselves from their own darn foolishness, but it will certainly prove no cure-all for the epidemic of highway deaths.

Whenever we see some fool passing on a hill in defiance of the yellow line, it reminds us of nothing so much as an up-to-date version of "Russian roulette" (in which the "gambler" fills one chamber of a revolver, gives the cylinder a twirl, then pulls the trigger with the muzzle against his temple to see how good his luck is). So long as drivers persist in playing "highway roulette" on stretches like that deadly one on No. 69, they're bound to turn up the loaded chamber with due regularity.

BY GEORGE, DICK, PAT

Oren Hanson is spreading a rumor (untrue, incidentally) that business has been so slow at Belmond Auto company these past few months that Louie Tokman has gone into the duck-raising business to pad out his income. Fact of the matter is that Louie does have A duck—or did have, last week. We happen to know, though, that it didn't represent a new sideline for the Ford agency.

It seems that three or four years ago, Oren and Louie made a bet with a duck as the stakes—and Oren lost. Periodically since then, the co-proprietor of Belmond Auto had been riding the loser to "pay up."

So last week, Oren showed up at the garage with a duckling. Louie argued over the age of the fowl, but Oren insisted a duck is a duck. He also refused to reveal where the tiny critter's mother could be found when Louie talked of returning the duckling to the bosom of its family. So, when last heard, Mr. Tokman was still in possession of the duck—or vice versa.

—M-S—

MAIN STREET

If the curiosity of anyone was aroused by the strange-looking bus parked at George's Auto-Electric last week, we can put his mind at rest. Behind the vehicle lies quite a story. It's a former school bus which was bought by members of a Mason City group that calls itself the Lunker Club. Eighteen men comprise the club and the bus will be used cooperatively for Canadian vacation jaunts. George Swaroff, proprietor of the auto-electric shop and a friend of most of the club's members, was engaged to re-wire the bus for its new life of usefulness.

Six couples, including Mr. and Mrs. Swaroff, rode in the bus as it was tested on a shakedown cruise to Mille Lacs last weekend. George says its commodious interior and special accomodations make it a real luxury craft.

All the old bus seats were torn out and the floor covered with cork. Its new seating appointments include four lounge chairs, each capable of serving as a bed. There's a "game corner" for cards, a gear cupboard at the rear for fishing paraphernalia, an oversize luggage rack on top capable of carrying a large boat—and, as might have been expected, the club members' wives have made attractive curtains for the windows. George says half the "Lunkers" go far north in June and the others go in the fall. The bus fits into their scheme of things ideally.

—M-S—

In case you get to wondering just how the four lounge chairs mentioned in the above item slept six couples during the weekend excursion, the answer is, they didn't. Their wives along, the Lunkers weren't "roughing it" and they'd engaged a cabin.

—M-S—

While by no means a "gabby guy," Don Collinson usually has a ready command of words and it is not easy to conceive of him being left speechless by any development of events. Nevertheless, he WAS stricken literally speechless with surprise when he was asked to come forward at the Methodist church Sunday to receive a purse of money. It was made up by the congregation to show the esteem in which he and his wife are held.

A tape recording was made of the service, and the playback identifies the moment of presentation with a period of several seconds' complete silence.

Don never did muster words to speak what his heart felt. But he and his wife Mary are devoting serious thought to the subject of how that $156 can be spent to best contribute to their African missionary work. It would be our guess that Don Collinson has made more loyal friends in a shorter period of time than any newcomer to Belmond in a good while. His many unselfish services to community, school and church will be keenly missed.

—M-S—

Mrs. "Hub" Colby brought in to the Independent office Tuesday a locket she'd unearthed while doing work in her garden. It has an enambled front in a floral design and contains a tiny snipping from a snapshot—so small that we couldn't identify the individual pictured, strain our eyes though we would. If this is a keepsake of value to someone reading this item, it can be claimed if the owner will simply call at The Independent.

—M-S—

Vernon Dippel writes that we made an "error" in our recent Main Street comment on his Alaskan adventures as a soldier. Before it got into print, he advises, he'd been promoted from Pfc. to Cpl. (or E-3 to E-4, as today's Army puts it). Can we help it if we're unable to keep up with your progress, Vern? He adds that there's 21 hours of daylight out of the 24, up at Kenai at this time of year, making it "hard to get a night's sleep."

—M-S—

...AND I QUOTE

"If you want to keep up with the Joneses, just live your own life. In a few years you'll meet them coming back." Anon.

CITY BUYS OIL DISTRIBUTOR FOR STREET USE

Dr. H. J. Classick, chairman of the city streets and alleys committee, made known this week that the city has recently purchased from Roscoe Manufacturing company of Minneapolis a street-oil distributor and auxiliary equipment at a cost of $2,600. This equipment will enable the city to carry on the dust-elimination program launched last summer without bringing in an outside contractor.

A second-hand truck is also to be purchased and the city will mount the distributor on it. Doctor Classick says his committee believes the street-treatment outfit will cost, in its entirety, no more than was paid out last year to have penetrating asphalt applied to the streets by contract. Expense of last summer's program ran about $6,000, with approximately half of that amount going for the street oil.

Buying Oil Direct

This year, the oil is being purchased directly from Standard Oil and the committee figures this step will also result in an appreciable saving of money. Last year about 80 blocks of city street were were treated to eliminate dust. This summer's program will involve an additional 20 or 30 blocks; but at the quoted price, the oil can be purchased at only about a 10 per cent increase over the cost in '53.

Four tanks cars of oil will be ordered for the city's portion of this summer's dust-abatement program. Dr. Classick says there have been numerous inquiries from private individuals and business firms regarding the cost of oiling parking areas, driveways and the like, and the total area involved in this "custom" oiling may require the purchase of one or two more carloads of penetrating asphalt.

Talked with Manufacturer

Doctor Classick and Lem Long, while on a northern fishing trip, stopped at Minneapolis and negotiated directly with the Roscoe company. They feel that this enabled them to obtain an especially good price on the equipment.

Mayor Henry Hokel says that the street program will get underway as soon as the oil distributor arrives. In the meantime, he has a word of advice to Belmond residents that he thinks will help them to enjoy the best street surface possible for the penetrating asphalt to provide. Briefly, that advice is, "Pick up the rocks."

Stones the approximate size of a baseball or larger frequently are responsible for the initial breaks in the surface of a treated street; and these breaks in due time develop into the "chuck holes" that car owners view with disapproval.

City Will Remove Rocks

City street employees will try to remove most of the larger stones, but Mayor Hokel believes a more thorough job can be done if block residents cooperate in clearing rocks from their own streets.

These rocks should be gathered in a single pile, at some point along the street, and they will be picked up by a city truck and removed. Mayor Hokel believes this bit of personal effort will be well repaid in the form of smoother, longer-lasting street surfaces. He urges that blocks wishing to follow this advice should do so promptly, so the rocks will be out of the way by the time the treatment project gets started.

Church Members Honor Collinsons

Members of the Methodist church honored Mr. and Mrs. Don Collinson with several courtesies Sunday in recognition of their imminent departure to enter the foreign mission field. At the close of the morning service, a purse of $156 was presented to the popular couple as a gift from the congregation.

Following the worship service, the Young Married Methodists Sunday school class, which Mr. Collinson has served as teacher, held a picnic in the city park for the young missionary couple. They gave Mr. Collinson a compact leather folder to hold personal credentials and for jotting down memoranda.

At 3:00 p. m., when the picnic broke up, an open house was held at the Methodist parsonage. This also honored the Collinsons and served to recognize their sixth wedding anniversary, which was Sunday.

Rev. J. H. Miller To Another Post

Rev. J. Heber Miller has been notified that he will be transferred next week from Belmond to Manchester. Formal announcement of the new assignment will be made at the Iowa Methodist conference to be held at Sioux City next Tuesday.

Manchester is about 50 miles west of Dubuque and is county seat of Delaware county. It has a population of approximately 4,000 and the Rev. Mr. Miller's new church has a membership of 900.

The Millers, with their daughters—Judy, age 10, and Linda, six, will move to Manchester on Thursday or Friday of next week and the departing pastor will conduct the first service in his new church on June 20.

Belmond's Methodist church was the Rev. Mr. Miller's second charge after completing his preparation for the ministry. He served for six years at Graettinger before coming here.

No announcement has been made, as yet, regarding who will fill the pulpit vacancy here. Members of the Miller family made many good friends during their five years in Belmond and their departure will be widely regretted; but the Rev. Mr. Miller is also receiving congratulations on the fine advancement that his new post represents.

Curt Luick Buys Cafe From Halls

Curt Luick has purchased Hall's cafe of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hall and the restaurant has been closed this week while the new proprietor has the interior renovated and redecorated. Under the new ownership it will be known as Luick's cafe.

The eating place will be reopened to business on Saturday of this week. Between 2:00 and 5:00 p. m. the public is invited to enjoy free coffee and doughnuts as a welcome on the part of Mr. Luick to his new place of business. There will be treats for the kiddies, also.

Tallman, Clarion, Heads Commerce Commission Field

Wright county gave its support in Monday's primary election to William Nicholas of Mason City, among the six candidates for the GOP gubernatorial nomination, as the turn-out of voters throughout the county totaled little more than 2,500. Nicholas tallied 1,089 votes compared to 608 for Leo Hoegh, 346 for William Lynes, 192 for Ernest Palmer, Jr., 156 for A. B. Chambers and 56 for Ben Ellsworth.

Belmond, on the other hand, followed the state pattern that unexpectedly gave Attorney General Hoegh the outright nomination with a share of better than 35 per cent of the total vote cast. The Chariton attorney polled 57 votes here, Nicholas got 47, Palmer 36, Lynes 35, Chambers 9 and Ellsworth 1. Only 227 Belmond voters exercised their franchise—Ward 1, 59; Ward 2, 86; Ward 3, 82.

Tallman A Surprise

Contending closely with the GOP governorship race for interest in this county was the surprising success of John Tallman, retired Clarion railroadman, in the six-man race for the two Republican nominations to the state commerce commission. Loser in a similar effort in 1952, Tallman was leading the field this time with only 12 scattered precincts still to be heard from. With the vote count this close to complete, the Clarion candidate led his nearest competitor—Incumbent John Ropes—62,988 to 61,804 and his nomination seemed a certainty.

Wright county gave Tallman staunch support. He drew 1,572 votes to R. O. Youngerman's 587, Ropes 396, Richardson 256, D. B. Long 222 and E. A. Long 99. In Belmond, Tallman counted 112, Youngerman 66, Ropes 22, D. Long 14, Richardson 11 and E. Long 8.

Price Over Paulson

Myron Price of Clarion was winner over Carroll Paulson of Dows in the only contest for a county nomination. Price received 1,388 votes for the GOP nomination for auditor and Paulson tallied 870. Belmond gave Paulson a slight edge, 85 to 62.

Sheriff Bob Blecker polled more votes in the Wright county balloting than any other candidate. He was renominated, without contest, with a total of 2,168. Other Republican incumbents in county offices drew: Grace Fletcher, recorder, 2,139; Ben Birdsall, attorney, 2,117; Harold Sullivan, treasurer, 2,100; Bessie Johnson, clerk of court, 2,089. For state representative, Clark McNeal received 1,928 votes.

Kelling Defeated

There were contests for two nominations to the board of supervisors, one incumbent being successful and one failing. In district 4, George Trowbridge of Dows defeated Ora White of Galt, 257 to 171, to virtually assure a return to the board. In district 2, Goldfield regained a supervisor when Roland Trotter polled 315 to 181 for Incumbent Carl P. Kelling of Renwick. R. G. Nolte of Goldfield ran a distant third with 21. District 3 gave A. W. Christopher, unopposed incumbent, 410 votes.

Wright county followed the state's lead by giving majority support to Dayton Countryman of Nevada (845) for attorney general over W. C. Fletcher of Des Moines (707) and Henry W. Wormley of Kingsley (367); and to Treasurer M. L. Abrahamson of Boone (1,642) over John Cruickshank of Sioux City (351).

Gillette 322 Votes

Uncontested GOP nominations went to Thomas Martin for U. S. Senator, Congressman James I. Dolliver, John A. Walker of Williams for state senator, among others.

Senator Guy Gillette led in the Wright county Democratic primary with 322 votes. William A. Cressey of Clarion polled 264 to receive the Democratic nomination for state representative.

● ● ● ● ● ●

Sharon Bruhl, a member of the Dayton Dandies, was elected president of the Wright county 4-H girls' organization as more than 300 club members and leaders gathered at Belmond High school last Saturday for the annual 4-H Rally Day.

The new president is 17, has been active in club work six years and has been an honor student at Clarion High school. Last year her long-time record book was judged best in the county, she's been picked as her club's outstanding member and is now a junior leader. She won a trip to the Chicago Livestock exposition and this spring won the Farm Bureau's "Get-Out-the-Vote" letter contest.

All of the other officers elected Saturday, like the new president, can boast of exceptional records in 4-H club work. Kay Whitten of the Iowa U-Go-I-Go club was named vice president, Jeanine Hardy, Grant Go-Getters, secretary; Connie Jergenson, Norway Jolly Joy Makers, treasurer; and Wanda Jones, Little Liberty Ladies, historian.

In the music recognition contest, based on records that the girls have studied during the past year, both senior and junior winners were picked on the basis of competition held during the morning session. The two top place-winners in the senior contest were Arlene Boyington, Blaine Blue Ribbons Winners, and Gloria Arends, Iowa U-Go-I-Go. Leading the junior contestants were Janet Martin, Belles of Boone, and Mary Burt, Dayton Dandies.

Two leaders in girls' 4-H activities over a considerable period of years were rewarded for their work by initiation as honorary members of the 4-H. They were Mrs. Merle Poolman of Galt, county club committeewoman; and Mrs. C. C. Woodin of Clarion leader of the Grant Go-Getters.

Robert Smith, young Iowa State college student who spent last summer in Greece as a Foreign Youth Exchangee, gave an interesting account of his experiences and illustrated his remarks with pictures he had taken. He very nearly arrived too late to give his talk, due to his car having a flat tire six miles south of the Greyhound station. The Rally Day closing ceremony was in progress when he made his appearance.

Virtually all the 4-H clubs in the county make yearly contributions to the Foreign Youth Exchange program. Several American young people are sent abroad each summer to live for a number of weeks in foreign, rural homes, and a similar group of young people from Europe comes to this country to learn of life in American farm homes.

ROBSON APPOINTED

Judge G. R. Hill has appointed Dean G. Robson, Clarion realtor and insurance man, as inheritance tax appraiser for Wright county. He succeeds the late Harry Sumners of Clarion in that post.

Summer Recreation Program to Start Next Monday

This year's PTA summer recreation program will start next week under the direction of Coach Dick Hobbs. Governed by the very indifferent participation of girls in last summer's program, the committee in charge decided to give a boys-only program a trial this time. Two special events have been scheduled, however, in which all children up to the age of 15 be invited to take part.

As drafted by Coach Hobbs and the committee—which includes Pat Gallagher, chairman, M. B. Dannewitz and Mrs. Charles Studebaker—the '54 program will provide for directed play two mornings and five afternoons each week over a period of seven weeks. In the eighth week, the regular schedule of daily recreation periods will be forsaken to allow time for the annual invitational baseball tournament for peewee teams.

Flexible Program Drafted

Boys from the age of seven through 15 years will be eligible to take part in the recreation program. Youngsters from the country and from Goodell are cordially invited by the committee to participate. It is intended that the daily schedule be kept flexible, so it can be readily adapted to the interests of the boys enrolled. At the outset, though, the committee proposes to have Coach Hobbs observe the following schedule:

Tuesday and Thursday mornings, 9:30 to 11:30 o'clock—track and field practice, archery and supervised games for all ages, seven through 15.

Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, 1:30 to 2:30 p. m.—Little Bigger baseball workouts (ages 13-15); Wednesdays, 4:00 p.m.—Little Bigger squad games or games with out-of-town opponents.

Peewee Games Planned

Mondays, 2:30 to 4:30 p. m., and Wednesdays, 1:30 to 4:00 p. m.—peewee baseball workouts (ages 7-12).

Tuesdays and Thursdays, 2:30 p.m.—Peewee league games.

Fridays, 4:00 p. m.—Peewee games with out-of-town opponents.

Circumstances will probably modify the time schedules listed, Coach Hobbs foresees; but the boys will be kept informed of any changes that seem appropriate as the program progresses. Full-time schedules for each afternoon will be worked out, Mr. Hobbs assures. Equipment for the morning periods will be provided in the form of a new archery target; hurdles, high jump standards and other track paraphernalia; and miscellaneous game items.

Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings have been left vacant because so many children will be enrolled for the Red Cross swimming course; and Mr. Hobbs will assist with instruction at the Clarion pool on "Belmond mornings."

First of the special event days will be Friday, June 25, when another Kids' Fish Day will be held, through the cooperation of the state conservation commission. The Belmond Sportsman's club is being invited to take responsibility for direction of this event again. More complete details will be published in the next two issues of The Independent.

A second edition of last summer's highly successful Pet and Costume Parade—which was held in conjunction with GMI Appreciation Days—is planned on Friday, July 16. There will again be prizes and treats. In this case, too, further details will be forthcoming as the plans take final shape.

Track Meet on Schedule

Coach Hobbs has won a reputation as being one of the best track and field mentors in Iowa high school circles, so the committee wants to give him a chance to rejuvinate interest in that sport here. To demonstrate his progress in that direction, an evening track and field meet is planned on Friday, July 30. There will be appropriate events for all the age groups, with ribbons for the major place-winners.

There has been steadily growing interest in the annual peewee ball tournament, so this fixture will wind up the program.

5 from Belmond Don US Uniforms

Five young men of Belmond have lately donned uniform of the Marine corps or Navy. Dallas Trager '54 graduate of BHS, was the Navy enlistee.

Two of Trager's classmates, Ray Busick and Malcom O'Connor, joined the Marine corps. Entering the Marines at the same time were Gary Brothers and Darwin Dippel.

These four, accompanied by Byron Heginger of Goodell, left from Des Moines for the Marine Corps Training Base at San Diego, Calif., on Tuesday of last week. Trager left a week earlier and is now getting his boot training at the U. S. Naval Training Base at San Diego.

Both Brothers and O'Connor had to put in for honorable discharge from the National Guard in order to leave themselves clear for enlistment in the Marines.

MRS. AVERY DIES

Mrs. George Avery, 94, died at her home Tuesday night. Funeral services will be conducted from the home on Saturday at 2:00 p. m., Fulton Funeral Home in charge. Burial will be in Amsterdam cemetery, Goodell.

Pete English Finds That Ancient Venetian Coins, While "Interesting," Are Not of Valuable Rarity

Back in 1930 when Pete English, proprietor of the Candy Kitchen, revisited his native Greece, he came back to this country with a couple of aged coins in his pocket—and dreams in his mind that they might some day prove to be worth a sizeable sum of money.

While renewing old acquaintances at Hotana, his birthplace, a friend showed him 10 silver pieces that he had unearthed in the ruins of an ancient, Grecian town. The friend made Pete a present of two of the coins and urged that he investigate their value.

For nearly a quarter of a century, Pete made periodical efforts to learn something of their history and their worth. He contacted coin collectors, made inquiries at museums and followed any and all leads that gave promise of providing the information he wanted. All to no avail.

New Story Gives Lead

Earlier this year, an article appeared in the Des Moines Register regarding an ancient coin discovered in Montana. The finder learned through the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, D. C., that the coin was of Greek origin and dated back to 250 B. C. That gave Pete the tip he'd been looking for all these years.

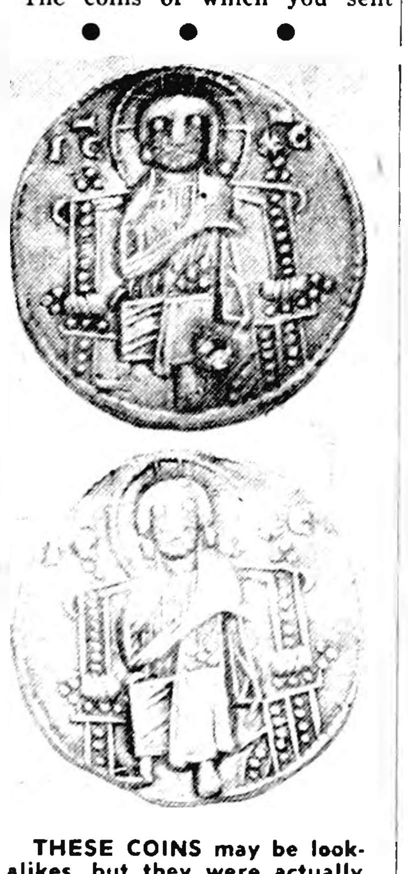
He had Don Collinson take some photographs of the coins and asked The Independent editor to write a letter to the national museum for him. The inquiry and pictures went to Washington on May 10. Before the end of the month, Pete had his answer.

Over 700 Years Old

It dashed Pete's hopes of unexpected wealth, but brought to an end his long search for specific information regarding the silver pieces. Wrote M. L. Peterson, acting curator of the Smithsonian's department of history:

"The coins of which you sent photographs are not ancient Greek. They are silver grossi of Venice The one to the left was issued by Pietro Viani, Duke of Venice, 1205 to 1229. The one to the right was issued by Jacopo Tiepolo, 1229 to 1249. While these coins are interesting historically, they are not considered to be rare by collectors."

● ● ●



THESE COINS may be look-alikes, but they were actually the personal currency of two different Venician dukes of some 700 years ago. In the adjacent story, the top coin is identified as the slightly older specimen of the two.

Naturally, Pete was disappointed to learn that coin collectors are not destined to beat a path to his door, urging piles of greenbacks on him in exchange for the coins. On the other hand, he's got a lot of respect for the Smithsonian's research department.

"Smart fellahs there," says Pete.

COLLINSON SALE SET

Mr. and Mrs. Don Collinson will sell their furniture, kitchen appliances and much of their other household goods at public auction on Friday, June 19. The sale will be held at the Collinson residence, 711 Fifth street NE, at 1:30 p. m. Ray Frye will serve as auctioneer.

No Prizes Went

Since no Cash Gift Day awards "went" on Tuesday of this week, the committee has added $75 to the 3:00 o'clock prize for next week. That will make it come to $225—a nice vacation fund, if ever you saw one! There will once again be six $25 awards offered at 3:00 p. m. Good farming weather and the North Iowa Band Festival at Mason City kept this Tuesday's crowd relatively slim; but a healthy turn-out of money-seekers is expected in town for next week's drawings.

Tomahawks Tally One in Final Frame Sunday to Nose Out Rockwell, 3-2

Belmond ball fans should have some first-class games to enjoy this summer if the Tomahawk-Rockwell battle on the local diamond Sunday was any indication of what's to be expected in ensuing tilts. This one was a thriller right down to the wire, the 'Hawks finally winning in the last half of the ninth, 3 to 2.

This gave the Belmond entry a .500 record in Quad-County league play, after losing their opener to Swaledale, 2-1. The Tomahawks will endeavor to get into the thick of the title race next Sunday when they travel to Hampton.

In other first-round games, the E. G. Legionnaires trimmed Kanawha, 5-2; Rockwell edged Clarion, 6-4; and Hampton downed Latimer, 5-2.

Count Tied Twice

Sunday's game here saw the Tomahawks go into a 1-0 lead in the 1st when Gus Taylor connected for a single and LeRoy Smith brought him in with a double. Rockwell knotted the score in the 3rd on a couple of singles and an error; but the 'Hawks went ahead again in the bottom half of the same frame when a single by Jerry Chandler score Smith, who'd gained base on a fielder's choice.

In the 5th, Rockwell got a pair of hits and pulled into a 2-all tie. Pitcher Jake Koenen kept the visitors pretty well under control thereafter, until the 9th. With two men away, Jake gave up a couple of singles—but then he retired the side by grabbing an infield grounder and nailing the batter at first for the final out.

Hoppel Run Wins Game

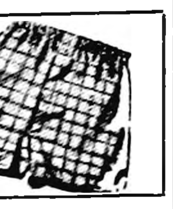
Smith figured in the deciding Belmond run, just as he had in the first two. Don Hoppel and Dennis Scott got consecutive one-baggers with one man out in the last of the 9th. Morgan Greer then flied out and Smitty produced the winning tally when he dribbled one down the third-base line. Clark, the Rockwell twirler, overthrew 1st trying to get Smith and Hoppel came home to end the game.

Koenen fanned 10 men, gave up seven hits and walked five. Claark also struck out 10, surrendered eight hits and issued only three passes. Belmond hits, in addition to those already mentioned, included a double by Ozzie Nelson, a single by Bill Murray and a second one-bagger by Hoppel.

Box score:

		R	H	E
Rockwell	001 010 000—	2	7	4
Belmond	101 000 001—	3	8	1

—PAT'S— SPORTS SHORTS



Forty-five diamond hopefuls showed up for the Baltimore Orioles' try-out camp here last Friday and Saturday. Several of the most promising prospects deserted the Belmond trials on Saturday to display their wares at a similar camp that the St. Louis Cardinals were conducting at Omaha.

Two were asked to show up for another try-out at an Oriole camp that's being held tomorrow at Hastings, Minn. They were Jack Pierick, Manson, a likely looking 3rd sacker; and Bob Locker from Slater, who impressed Hugh Lott, the Orioles' chief mid-western scout, with a fine catching performance.

Darrell Newhouse of McIntyre, who has pitched the past couple of seasons with Upper Iowa University, Fayette, may possibly get a Class D contract, according to Assistant Scout Lansing. If the deal is made, there is a good chance Newhouse will go to Aberdeen in the Northern league. All the aspirants were given ample chance to show their talents in a 3½-hour "game" that started at 1:00 p. m. Saturday and lasted until nearly 4:30.

—PSS—

Lansing says Lott tells him there's been a noticable shortage of heavy-hitting outfielders among the prospects the Oriole ivory-hunter has looked over this year so far. And that seems to be the Orioles' most critical need — not only on the Baltimore squad, itself, but on its farm teams. It takes a really classy pitcher or infielder to catch the eyes of the Oriole scouting staff, Lott admits; but they'd sure like to spot some dependable "pasture men" who can pole that horsehide.

—PSS—

Coach Dick Hobbs was out at the diamond watching the tryouters go through their paces; but he seemed to be somewhat distracted by the poor condition of the high school running track that encircles the athletic field. There's no doubt but what he's firmly resolved to see track and field competition reinstated as a "major" sport at BHS. As he eyed the weedy and poorly cindered oval with disapproval, we heard Dick mutter, "I'm going to have to do something about this track—right away."

—PSS—

According to Dr. L. L. Vidall, manager of the Hampton Amateur Golf tournament, Fred Gordon set a new scoring record for the meet with his wind-blown 108 Sunday afternoon. The Hampton veterinarian, who's had a finger in the tourney since its inception, says that never before has par been broken by the winner of the 27-hole test.

Fred's three-under performance was made under far less than ideal conditions. The wind was so strong that at times it actually blew putts off line; and what it did to fairway shots was a caution!

The field included a former state amateur champ (beside Fred), a two-time Iowa Masters winner, former state junior champ and several previous winners of the Hampton tourney — but none of them mastered the gale like the Belmond ace. It was on and around the greens that Fred really starred, though. At one time during his opening round, he single-putted five greens in a row; and most of those dropped from 10 to 20 feet out!

—PSS—

Your scribe really "rode the gravy train," having Fred as a partner in the best-ball twosomes. The presence of Yours Truly improved on Gordon's score by only a stroke in the 18 holes of twosome play. With a partner worth his salt, Fred would have been on top of the heap in that event, too. He durned near did it all by himself.

—PSS—

A manager for the Belmond Tomahawks has at last been found. Bob Keleher of Rowan, a former player with the local semi-pro, has agreed to guide the 'Hawks during the current season. Three cheers for Bob!

Millers Win 2nd Little 6 Victory

Friday night at Woolstock, the GMI Millers softball team chalked up its second Little Six League victory of the season by walloping their hosts 12 to 2.

Duan Thompson pitched for the Millers, striking out 12 batters. Don Echelberger was the other end of the GMI battery. Roger Kinseth wielded the big bat for the Belmond crew; his hatfull of hits included a home run.

This Friday, the Millers will have a game on the home diamond with Latimer probably furnishing the opposition. Their league game next Tuesday night will be played at Kamrar.

Manager "Moke" Obrecht has been negotiating for a game with the strong Bud's Used Car team from Mason City and the tilt has been tentatively scheduled for a week from this Friday. The M.C outfit is one of the strongest in this part of the state.

Gordon Beats Par To Take Hampton Golf Tournament

Fred Gordon, known throughout Iowa golf circles as "the pipe-smoking florist from Belmond," gave indication Sunday that the 1954 tournament season may be one of his best. He made a complete runaway of the annual Hampton Amateur, finishing seven strokes ahead of his nearest competitor with a three-under-par 108 for the 27 holes.

His 36-37-35 over the par 37 layout was nothing less than sensational in view of the stiff wind that sent the scores of other top-flight golfers kiting. Gordon missed par on only two holes during the day and more than made up for those momentary slips by carding five birdies. He received a Keystone Bel Aire movie camera as the championship prize.

Gordon's fine shooting was also instrumental in giving him and Pat Gallagher a tie for first in the best-ball two some competition that was conducted in conjunction with the tournament. The Belmond pair shared low score of 72 with Dick Davis, Albert Lea, Minn., and Don Narveson, Cedar Falls, and with Kenny Draves and Art Koch—the latter like Gordon, a former Iowa state amateur champ—both of Waterloo. Each of the six men got five golf balls for his efforts.

Only two other Clarmond club-swingers finished in "money places." Leo Hilton, Jr., tied for first in the 5th flight with a 51-45—96 and went home with an outdoor, charcoal broiler when he won the flip. George Infelt figured in a three-way tie for third and fourth in the same flight but lost out on the draw.

Behind Gordon in the battle for the championship was John Marschall, young Hampton star, with 38-40-37—115. A stroke farther back was Koch with 37-38—41.

TO A GREAT INDUSTRY

JUNE IS DAIRY MONTH
1ST in FOODS

The health of our nation depends in a large part on the dairy industry. Dairy foods are an important part of our diet from birth on throughout our lives. To the dairy farmers, the creameries, the dairies, the cheese makers, the ice cream manufacturers and all processors of dairy products, we tip our hat. They have set high standards for freshness, purity, wholesomeness and nutrition and supply all of us with good food for our daily meals.

Mrs. Lee Robbins Elected President Of Auxiliary Unit

Mrs. Lee Robbins was elected president of the Goodell unit of the American Legion Auxiliary when that group met on Thursday evening of last week at the home of Mrs. Arthur Ruka, with Mrs. Ruka and Mrs. Anton Boller as hostesses.

Others voted into office were: Mrs. Bert Groen, vice president; Mrs. V. E. Harris, secretary-treasurer; Barbara Peterson, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Amos Hanson, chaplian; Lula Wilkins, Mrs. Laton Avery and Mrs. Charles Peterson, members of the executive committee.

Installation will be conducted at the July 1st meeting, which will be held at the social room of the EUB church. A lunch will be served at that time.

It was reported at last week's meeting that $52 was realized from the sale of Buddy Poppies. The Auxiliary voted to give $5.00 to the Boy Scouts toward the expense of a camping trip they plan soon, and the Scouts were formally thanked for conducting the Poppy sale.

Mrs. Kenneth Eldredge, retiring secretary-treasurer, was presented with a going-away gift. Cash gifts were sent to new babies of two members of the Goodell unit. Recipients of the gifts were little Mary Lou Buckley of Klemme and Ralph Steenblock.

Mrs. Lucy Proctor of Cheyenne, Wyo., was a guest last week in the Avery Bier and Merle Avery homes. She also visited her aunt, Mrs. George Avery, in Belmond.

Celebrated Birthday Of Mrs. Frank Kemp

Mrs. Frank Kemp was pleasantly surprised Friday evening when a group of neighbor ladies came in to help her celebrate her birthday. They presented her lovely gifts and after a social time served a nice lunch. Those coming were Mrs. J. E. Savogue, Mrs. Laton Avery, Mrs. W. E. Tanner, Mrs. Theodore Kemp, Mrs. Herman Cunningham, Ione Christie and Leona Schlichting.

Mrs. Usher Dies At Age 53 Years

Mrs. Worthie Usher, 53, of Klemme passed away at her home from a heart attack shortly before midnight on Monday of last week. She had been in poor health for many years and was a patient this spring in the Belmond Community hospital.

Recently she had been feeling better and on Monday had attended Memorial Day services and that evening visited with her sister, Mrs. Anton Ahrenkiel. She became very ill soon after retiring and her attending physician was unable to revive her.

Minnie Blank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Taalkeus Blank, was born at Klemme on Nov. 19, 1900. She was educated and grew to womanhood there. In 1924 she married Worthie Usher of Palo and for a time they lived in Goodell when Mr. Usher was employed in the Thada general store.

For many years the Ushers operated a grocery store at Rowan, moving to Klemme a year ago due to her poor health. Mr. Usher has been employed as a janitor at the grade school.

She leaves her husband; two sons —Rev. Worthie Usher, Jr., of Smithland and Carroll Usher, who is studying for the ministry; one grandson; two brothers—Ralph Blank of Iowa Falls and Fred of West Bend; three sisters—Mrs. Anton Ahrenkiel, Mrs. Conrad Quandt and Marie Blank, all of Klemme.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at the Klemme cemetery.

The local WSWS is invited to the Guest Day meeting of the WSWS at Stilson on July 1st. The Rev. Donald Varce of Portland, Ore., is the newly assigned minister to the Stilson church. His brother is minister in Des Moines and his sister, Pauline, teaches at Britt. Their father, the Rev. G. Harry Varce, is a retired minister at Dumont and about 40 years ago served the Goodell church.

THAT YOU KEEP YOUR GAS PILOT LIGHT ON ALL SUMMER

IT COSTS ONLY PENNIES TO PROTECT YOUR VALUABLE HEATING SYSTEM

You'll be money ahead to keep the pilot in your gas heating system lighted during the coming summer months. Even though the flame is small, the pilot can do a big job of protecting your heating system from damaging rust, moisture and corrosion. It also means you can have instant heat on unseasonable cool days—and when fall rolls around again, your furnace is ready to serve you without any delay.

● OBITUARY

MRS. LEWIS JOHNSON

Henrietta Farason was born near Lansing, Ia., on Oct. 25, 1857, the daughter of James and Marie Farason. She passed away at the home of a daughter, Mrs. John Hagen of New Richland, Minn., on June 2, 1954, at the age of 96 years, seven months and seven days.

Mrs. Johnson grew to young womanhood at Lansing and was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran church there. As a young woman, she came to the Belmond vicinity to make her home. She was married on March 25, 1882, to Lewis Johnson of Belmond. They lived on several farms to the north and west of Belmond before retiring from farming and moving to Goodell in 1915.

Seven children were born to the Johnsons, all of whom survive except one son, Harry, who died in childhood. Those living are: Mrs. John (Millie) Hagen, Mrs. Eric (Mable) Osman, Ludvig Johnson and Mrs. Ole (Alma) Nordstad, all of New Richland, Minn.; Mrs. Harry (Nettie) Trumbell and Mrs. Clara Smith, both of Goodell.

Mrs. Johnson had been in failing health for some time and had been bed-ridden since last October. The immediate cause of her death was a stroke. Funeral services were held Friday, June 4, at St. Olaf church, which Mrs. Johnson joined soon after moving to the Belmond community. Rev. O. M. Severseike officiated and Fulton Funeral Home was in charge.

Burial was in St. Olaf cemetery. Pallbearers, all grandsons of Mrs. Johnson, were Orland, Jasper, Clayton and Leslie Hagen, Orvin Nordstad and Maurice Trumbell.

Local children attending religious school at St. Francis Catholic church in Belmond are Maxine Robbins, Duane Kramer, Theressa Lowenberg, Lorainne and Allen Fuller.

Mrs. Paark E. Miller entertained the EUB choir following the regular practice in their home Thursday evening. The previous week the choir met in the Robert Mc Nutt home and enjoyed a social hour and refreshments.

Mrs. Ray Hawley of Garner and Mrs. Chris Wagner visited a week ago Tuesday in the Mrs. Laton Avery home.

Several local folks went to Belmond Friday afternoon to attend the funeral of Mrs. Lewis Johnson.

Roy and Margaret Brede are improving their home with an addition of another bedroom, hall and bathroom. Their nephew, Edgar Reed of Mason City, and brother, Henry Brede, are helping them with the work.

Mrs. Vernon Diemer of Freeport, Ill., accompanied Edith Sandberg, Mrs. Laton Avery and Mrs. Amos Hanson to Klemme last Thursday afternoon and the two latter ladies called in the W. C. Usher home.

Mrs. Levi Klotzbach is assisting in the Miland cafe.

Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Fuller and four sons, who were life long residents of this vicinity and who have lived in Clear Lake for a few months, moved last week to Belmond.

Levi Klotzbach spent the latter portion of last week in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Walter Braner, near Alexander.

and attended Memorial Day services on Monday. She accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Dale Van Noy and Roxie home that evening, they having enjoyed the weekend in the parental A. M. Christopher home.

EUB LADIES AID SOCIETY SPENT $1,299 DURING YEAR

Nearly $1,300 was spent during the year ending May 1 by the Ladies Aid society of the EUB church, according to the annual report of the treasurer, Mrs. Carl Green.

Largest expenditures were for construction of rest rooms in the church, purchases of coal and payment of insurance premiums for the church.

Exact amount paid out came to $1,299.35. The year's income totaled $1,277.97. These funds were derived from dues, the Silver Tea, dime-card party, banquet and cashing of two government bonds.

Pet Dog's Attack Hospitalizes Tot

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Peterson made regular visits to Belmond for several days last week to be with their little three-year-old grandson, Delwyn Peterson, who was a patient at the Belmond Community hospital after being severely bitten by a dog.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Peterson of Hanlontown, Delwyn was playing with the family pet when the dog suddenly turned on him and bit him about the face. The tot's parents rushed him to a Clear Lake doctor, who recommended he be hospitalized.

A number of stitches were required to close wounds on the lad's face and inside his mouth. His mother stayed at the hospital with him while he was recovering from the painful injury. Delwyn was released on Friday.

Mrs. Amos Hanson went to Belmond Saturday afternoon and represented several local members at the Eastern Star food sale. Edith Sandberg accompanied her and they called on Mrs. Oscar Lein who is employed in the Mrs. Marvin Christie home.

Farewell Party Honors Mrs. Kenneth Eldridge

Mrs. Ray Barry invited 15 ladies of the community to her home Wednesday of last week as a farewell courtesy to Mrs. Kenneth Eldredge. She was presented a gift. Following a social time, refreshments were served with Mrs. William Ayers pouring.

Coach Kenneth Eldredge, Mrs. Eldredge, Douglas and Christie moved Saturday to Hayfield where the former will be coach of Hayfield consolidated school. His mother, Mrs. Marion Eldredge of Racine, Wis., was here and assisted them in the move.

Mrs. Mary Diemer concluded a week's visit in the Mrs. Matt Smith home and left Friday for Spring Valley, Minn., to visit over night in the home of her niece, Mrs. Arnold Mayland. The Maylands then took her to her home at Freeport, Ill.

ATTEND COMMENCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McNutt attended commencement exercises held last Friday at Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls, during which their daughter Marilyn received her Bachelor of Arts degree. She majored in music and next school year will be instructor in music in the Reinbeck schools.

OPEN HOUSE TO CELEBRATE MRS. HOUGHTON'S BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Rose Houghton is soon to reach her 80th birthday and in honor of the event her children will hold open house at the Houghton home, 910 South 9th ave. in Marshalltown, this Sunday, 2:00 to 4:00 p. m.

Goodell friends are especially invited as Goodell was the home town of the Houghtons for many years previous to their moving to Marshalltown. Those unable to attend are urged to send greetings.

All of her children except Joe of Houston, Tex., will be on hand for the occasion.

Lula Wilkins is improving her home with new slate shingles. A firm from Mason City has the contract.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Nolte and Mary Ann went to Mason City and were Sunday guests in the William Hammervold home. The two ladies are former schoolmates, Mrs. Hammervold being better remembered as Marlene Dettman.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sellers and Donnie of Thornton were Thursday evening visitors in the home of his sister, Mrs. Bernard Nolte.

Mrs. Henry Miller of Albion came a week ago Wednesday and is making a visit in the home of her cousin, Lula Wilkins. On Sunday, these two ladies accompanied by Mrs. Dan Miller went to Dows where they were guests in the home of Mrs. Henry Miller's son, Clyde. The occasion honored her birthday. They also enjoyed visits with many other relatives who attended.

Oscar Olson accompanied by Bob Sellers of Thornton spent last week fishing at Big Turtle Lake, Minn., and stayed at Johnson's Island View while there. They report that Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson and Mrs. Blanche Johnson are getting along fine in their new business and are kept very busy. Mrs Olson accompanied the two men as far as Buffalo Center where she spent the weekend with Mr. Olson's sisters

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Anderson, Vickie and Nancy of Royal spent a few days last week in the parental O. W. Myers home.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis McClintic of Des Moines spent Monday of last week in the home of his aunt, Mrs. O. W. Myers. His mother, Mrs. Bonna McClintic, also of Des Moines who had spent several days visiting her sisters, Mrs. Myers and Mrs. Olson, accompanied them home.

Belmond Locals

Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. George Coburn and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hokel helped Leona Bras celebrate her birthday at her home.

Rev. and Mrs. A. T. Rollene, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Meyer and Theatta Bunjer attended the Kempton-Pals wedding at Omaha, Nebr., Tuesday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Griffen and family of Natchez, Miss., arrived Friday at the parental A. C. Lieuwen home to spend a week. Mr. and Mrs. Leland Lieuwen of Kirksville, Mo., joined them on Sunday for a family reunion.

Locals folks attending the Iowa Electric Light and Power company annual picnic Sunday at MacIntosh woods near Clear Lake were Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Stoltenberg and family, Gene Broderson, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sorenson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Reichardt and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Talley and family.

[illegible]mond Ground Observer Corps Unit In Statewide Exercise Next Monday

Ed Reasoner, Belmond supervisor for the Ground Observer Corps, reports that the recent request for volunteer observers brought forth a very satisfying response and the local unit now boasts 49 members.

He appointed Bud Packard as chief observer and assistant chiefs are Russ Dougherty, Archie Allen, George Jenison and Keith Chandler.

Next Monday, June 14, from 1:00 to 4:00 p. m. the Belmond GOC unit will participate in its first statewide Ground Observer exercise. These are usually held on a Sunday between the hours of 8:00 a. m. and 4:00 p. m., but the June exercise is planned as a special weekday test.

Post on High School

Belmond's observation post is on top of the high school building and the phone in Principal Clair Hugh's office is used to report plane sightings to the state GOC headquarters at Des Moines. Four observers will man the post at a time, during exercises, serving a one-hour shift. Reasoner, Packard and each of the assistant chief observers will be in charge of shifts, and temporary chiefs will be appointed to head the other crews, as needed.

When an exercise is being conducted, every sighted plane that is not a local craft will be reported to Des Moines. Advising the Clarion switchboard that the message is an "Aircraft Flash" assures a cleared wire. Altitude, type of plane and other pertinent information is reported so the flight can be plotted at state headquarters.

Volunteers Listed

In case of an actual emergency, all GOC posts would be kept manned 24 hours a day. Under existing circumstances, though, monthly exercises suffice to train the observer crews.

Beside the unit officers already mentioned, the following Belmond volunteers have been enrolled: Marvin Pals, Leo Dorr, Jr., Douglas Sharp, Earl Cronk, Marvin Meinders, Ernest Johnson, Bob Churchouse, Martial Holtzbauer, Alvin Braner, Arnold Alderson, Gus Taylor, Frank Retleff, Stanley Ahlstrom, Howard Bond, Stanley Moe, Joe Dana, Jerome Dorr, Allen Meyers.

ACP Regulations Now Allow More Leeway in Filing

Farmers who failed to apply for government cost-sharing conservation practices when the 1954 ACP plan was submitted at the start of the year but now have need of such work should file their requests promptly at the county ASC office, according to O. J. Hanson, office manager. Requests may also be filed by farmers who have found need of more comservation under ACP this year than they originally planned, he says.

In past year, application for ACP cost-sharing had to be filed by a deadline date which generally fell just before or just after the start of a new year but under the present rules requests for cost-sharing practice may be made at any time during the program year.

Will Consider Requests

The county committee is in a position to consider a number of requests at this time, as a result of previously pledged amounts of the county's cost-sharing apportionment becoming available for reassignment. The availability of funds at this time is due to the failure of some farmers to meet completion dates which were set on ACP practices approved for them on early requests.

Fixing of completion dates and reassignment of funds forfeited by failure to comply with such dates are provided by new procedure intended to assure full use by the counties of their apportionments of national ACP appropriations.

Farmers who have forfeited cost-sharing by their failure to complete their practices are eligible to file requests at this time the same as any others, Mr. Hanson states. They may even ask for the same practices which they were unable to complete, providing such practices are still practicable and providing further that the farmers signify a definite intention to do the work.

Ask Time Extension

In that connection, several who forfeited their cost-sharing approvals had been unaware of their right to apply for an extension of time in event there were good reasons for not completing a practice by the specified date, Mr. Hanson adds

The ASC committee urges all farmers having approved cost-sharing requests to check up the completion dates on the notices they received in the mail. If they determine the practice or practices for which they have been approved will not be completed on time, they should promptly ask the committee for an extension of time. If the practice or practices will not be carried out this year as originally planned, the committee should be notified at once so that the pledged funds can be made available to other farmers on later-filed requests.

11 Wright County Girls Will Attend State Convention

Glenda Wilson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wilson of Eagle Grove, will be one of only eight candidate from the whole of Iowa contending for state office when the 25th annual state 4-H girls' convention is held at Iowa State college, Ames, June 16-19. More than 1,500 club members and leaders will attend the convention, representing Iowa's some 23,00 4-H girls.

Candidates for state office will be presented before the convention on Thursday night of next week. Four officers will be elected. Glenda's chances are regarded as good, in view of her excellent club record and winning personality. She was an outstanding member of this year's senior class at Eagle Grove High school.

Was County President

She is retiring county president, having served in that post during the 1953-54 year. Glenda has been in 4-H club work for eight years. She was selected as Wright county's outstanding 4-H girl last year and was one of the winners of a trip to the International Livestock Exposition. She has held all the offices in her township 4-H club, the Eagle Red Peppers, has been a soloist with the county chorus and was a blue ribbon winner in the county "better grooming" contest.

Gloria Rabe of the Belmond Busy Bees will be one of the county's official delegates to the state convention. Others will be: Connie Jergenson, Norway Jolly Joy Makers; Kay Whitten, Iowa U-Go-I-Go; Jeanine Hardy, Grant Go-Getters; Edwina Cleveland, Eagle Grove Red Peppers.

Mrs. Homervold, Chaprone

Joyce Kraft, Belles of Boone; Beth Robie, Dayton Dandies; Wanda Jones, Little Liberty Ladies; Shirley Martinson, Lincoln Lassies League; Phyllis Wigg, Wall Lake Wee Women; Dorothy Claude, Woolstock Workers. The girls will be accompanied by Mrs. Art Homervold of Belmond, county committeewoman, and Mrs. Marvin Hilpipre of Woolstock, leader of the Wee Women's club.

"Working Together for World Understanding" will be the theme of the Silver Anniversary convention. Observance of 25 years of growth by the girls 4-H clubs of Iowa will take place on Friday evening of next week. A historical festival symbolizing 4-H traditions will mark the occasion.
